State Police Complex Here?

By FRED DELANO

Col. John R. Plants, commander of the Michigan State Police, hopes that in 1972 his department's headquarters for the entire metropolitan area can be moved either to Plymouth or Northville.

At the present time, the regional Detroit post at Grand River and Seven Mile Rd. also provides space for the second district command office, and Plants envisions a new three-purpose complex in the Plymouth - Northville area which would:

1. Be adequate for Second District headquarters, commanding operations of the posts at St. Clair, Romeo, New Baltimore, Pontiac, Ypsilanti, Flat Rock and Erie.

2. Permit shift of personnel from Grand River and Seven Mile in a relocation of most of that post's normal functions, leaving that location as an investigation center.

3. Provide a new site for the crime laboratory which now is located near downtown Plymouth and which Plants says "is bulging at the seams."

THREE SITES have been proposed by various local sources in both communities, but Plants indicates that until detailed cost and layout plans are presented it will be impossible to judge their relative merits.

One is in the vicinity of Five Mile and Northville Rds. about a mile from the heart of Plymouth.

A second involves Seven Mile Rd. property adjacent to Northville State Hospital.

The third involves the state police taking over two vacant buildings on the grounds of the Wayne County Child Development Center on Sheldon Rd., between Five and Six Mile Rds.

Tomorrow (Thursday), the Wayne County Board of Commissioners will consider a recommendation from its Health, Education and Welfare committee which, if approved, would authorize negotiations between the county and state police for those buildings.

However, even if the county takes this expected step, it will serve only to put that site officially in the running, and does not involve state police acceptance of it in preference to the others.

"WE'D RATHER have a new building large enough to accommodate all our needs -- district headquarters, the post unit and the crime lab. But if the plans don't materialize, we're still interested in the county buildings for the post and crime lab," said Plants.

Plants explained the desire to locate new facilities in the Plymouth - Northville area with the statement, "Freeways are our life blood." He pointed to the fact that I-275 and I-96 soon will criss - cross here and thus provide quick access to all points in southeastern Michigan.

Overcrowded conditions both at Redford and at the Plymouth crime lab have created the need definitely to find new quarters for these services, it was indicated.

The crime lab is housed in a building at Church and Main Sts., across from City Hall, which is owned by the Detroit Edison Co. and formerly was that utility's Plymouth headquarters.

Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice M. Breen is spearheading the effort in behalf of having the state police locate the complex which Plants suggests in the Five Mile - Northville Rd. area.

FIRST DAY BUSINESS was brisk Monday when Manager Roland De Young (foreground) opened Plymouth's new Secretary of State's branch office at 819 Penniman Ave. De Young said 280 customers were served during the day. about 30 of them on applications for driver's licenses. This office replaces the former branch located at 238 S. Main. (Observer photo by Harry Mauthe).

No-Return Bottle Ban Sticks, 3-3

Plymouth's municipal ordinance banning the sale of throwaway beverage bottles withstood a roll call challenge within the City Commission Monday when a motion to repeal the measure lost on a 3-3 tie.

However, this obstinancy was tempered when a 5-1 majority voted to give first reading to an amendment changing the effective date of the measure from Jan. 1, 1972 to Jan. 1, 1973.

Second and final reading on that provision is scheduled for Dec. 6 by which time commission balance on the highly controversial issue may be influenced by appointment of a successor to the recently resigned Donald Bidwell.

Food retailers, Chamber of Commerce representatives and spokesmen for the beverage industry who had descended en masse on the commission Oct. 18 to protest the ban were aghast when Commissioner Robert Sincock's motion for repeal was killed by lack of majority support.

Siding with Sincock in favor of instant repeal of the measure adopted in June were Commissioners William Silvis and Ernest Henry.

Those whose votes resulted in keeping the ordinance on the books were Mayor James McKeon and Commissioners Harold Guenther and Beverly McAninch.

IT WAS Guenther who then presented the motion to delay the effective date of the ordinance for one year after declaring:

"I am not about to place Plymouth merchants in a non-competitive position, but we have a growing ecological problem to which we must relate. A delay of one year will give all of us a chance to go to work on this and see what we can do."

Only Sincock voted against the one-year delaying amendment. His motion for repeal had been explained as being based upon the fact that no neighboring communities have adopted such an ordinance, and that recent state legislation now requires merchants who sell returnable bottles to redeem them.

LEADERSHIP for the campaign in favor of the Plymouth ban has been provided since the issue first came up in the spring by a group of ecology - minded students, and their persistency also has brought about plans to establish a glass recycling collection center here soon.

Mrs. McAninch supported their position by stating, "My strong feeling is that we should give it a try. If no one does it, it never will be accomplished anywhere."

Henry declared, "It doesn't seem to me that a little oasis in Michigan like this would do any good."

WHEN THE commission had disposed of that thorny environmental issue, at least for the nonce, it heard a recommendation from City Manager Norman Gaffney asking consideration of a ban against metal garbage cans.

Making it mandatory for householders to use polyethylene or heavy paper trash sacks might save the city as much as 20 per cent in refuse collection costs, he said.

The commission then directed him on a 5-1 vote to prepare such an amendment to the present refuse ordinance for study. Henry cast the lone negative vote.

Constitutionality Appeal On Charter Is Planned

The three-man tribunal of the United States District Court of Appeals in Cincinnati will be asked to rule on the constitutionality of Plymouth's city charter provision that no one can become a candidate for local office until after two years of residency.

Federal Judge Damon J. Keith of the Eastern Michigan District recently held that prerequisite to be in violation of the equal protection clause of the 14th amendment of the U.S. Constitution and thus invalid.

Keith also ruled as unconstitutional Plymouth's companion requirement that a candidate must also have been a local property owner for at least two years. While the city government will appeal the residency decision, it will not do so on the property question.

These decisions were made Monday when the City Commission heard a briefing from its special legal counsel, Russell Schmidt, on the case which had been instituted by defeated commission candidate Mahlon D. Green.

"IF YOU appeal on the property issue, you are very much weakening your legal position," Schmidt told the commission. "That question has been settled. In fact, no attempt whatever was made on my part to defend the property ownership requirement. That phase was conceded, as it already had been outlawed.

"However, insofar as residency is concerned, I maintain that the proper test should be as to its rational basis and that the city does have a right to set certain residency qualifications. I would like to see what the three-judge panel in Cincinnati would say on this thing."

Commissioners reluctantly resigned themselves to the fact that the qualification of property ownership for local candidacy now is dead for all time, but by a 5-1 vote they decided to appeal the residency question.

Only Mrs. Beverly McAninch voted against taking this step, and she said she did so "because I feel we're just throwing good money after bad."

DURING THE course of his briefing, Schmidt commented, "You have no charter provisions whatsoever at this time regarding qualifications a candidate must meet, but an appeal would have the effect of keeping that provision alive until such time as there is a final ruling."

If the Court of Appeals upholds the charter, then no further action would be necessary. If it does not, then the city would have to decide at that time whether to carry the question to the United States Supreme Court.

It is expected that an opinion will be rendered by the court in Cincinnati long before the issue becomes paramount again, the next municipal election not being scheduled until 1973.

Schmidt pointed out that under the Keith decision, the only requirement for candidacy appears to be that a person have status as a qualified elector. This means residency in Michigan for a minimum of six months, and in Plymouth for 30 days, for any persons of the age 18 or older.

Schmidt also emphasized that the appeal must be on the two-year provision as written in the charter.

Police Accept Grid Challenge For Saturday

It will all be for a good cause Saturday afternoon when the members of the City of Plymouth police department accept the challenge of the Plymouth High School NADS Club on the gridiron behind Central Junior High.

Circumstances have dictated that this contest be of the seven - man flag football variety, and Officer Carl Berry has accepted assignment as coach of the law enforcement squad. Ken Case heads the NADS.

Kickoff is scheduled for 3:30 p.m., and proceeds from the 50 - cent ticket donations will go toward providing clothing for children at the Plymouth State Home and Training School.

John M. (Mike) Hoben and James Doyle of the school administrative staff will officiate.

Zany Cagers Face Faculty In PHS Game

The Varsity Club at Plymouth High School will sponsor a comedy basketball game at 8 p.m. Friday between the traveling Harlem Diplomats and the faculty "all stars."

Tickets are on sale in advance at the high school and the Trading Post, and will be available at the gate.

The Diplomats couple good basketball with comedy throughout their appearances, many of their stunts being patterned after routines of the Harlem Globetrotters.

Included are their own versions of football and baseball, gags involving the fans, and general razzle - dazzle that befuddles even their own referees. Four elementary teams will appear in preliminary games starting at 7 p.m.

THE 45TH ANNIVERSARY of the local Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution was celebrated Monday at a luncheon in the Mayflower Hotel. Guest speaker for the occasion was the DAR's highest ranking Michigan officer, the state regent, Mrs. Leslie O. Carlin (left) of Mt. Pleasant. Greeting her is Mrs. John Armstrong of Plymouth, who is state first vice regent. (Observer photo by Harry Mauthe).

Marijuana Dangers: 'Fantasies'

By EDWARD WENDOVER

The real dangers of marijuana are the "fantasies" connected with it, according to Robert Moorman, a former colleague of LSD advocate Timothy Leary.

Moorman, whose six years of drug experimenting landed him in jail, told a Schoolcraft lecture series audience last week that better drug education is needed.

He criticized many present drug education programs that use scare tactics and spread "fantasies" about drugs.

"PROBABLY the most damaging statement I've ever heard in drug education is that marijuana leads to heroin," Moorman said.

"They get these 'facts' from surveys of drug addicts in hospitals, and they (the addicts) say they had smoked marijuana before they tried heroin. It's like interviewing alcoholics and concluding that since they first drank milk, milk leads to alcoholism."

Moorman said he had given up drugs and now used meditation as his "escape from reality," but realized that this was not "everybody's thing."

"The real answer to drugs is to give some alternatives," he said, criticizing "society" for steering youths towards drugs.

"You've been conditioned to pills all your life," the former drug user said. "The TV ads promise you instant relief from your problems just by taking a little pill. You see that from the time you're a little kid."

MOORMAN PASSED up the speaker's rostrum and paced the floor during his speech, using exaggerated gestures to mock some habits of drug users. He recounted several humorous tales from his drug-use days in an Arlo Guthrie type narrative, complete with a Southern twang.

One real threat from marijuana is its illegality, Moorman said. Marijuana users are forced to go "underground" where they encounter an entirely different kind of society that often pressures them into using harder drugs, he said.

These laws hamper research on marijuana, Moorman said. "Hello sir," he said mimicking a drug researcher in a man-on-the-street interview, "have you ever experimented with marijuana? Yes? All right buddy, come with me down to the (police) station."

Moorman said that if marijuana was legalized, many people from different walks of life would surface as long-time pot-users.

Final PCF Report Due Thursday

PLYMOUTH

Plymouth Community Fund workers will learn Thursday night whether they have gone over the top in their quest to at least match the $150,000 raised in 1970 and, if possible, to attain a new goal of $175,000.

The volunteers who have been involved in the campaign since Sept. 28, will have their annual banquet at 6:45 p.m. Thursday in the Mayflower Meeting House, with the eagerly awaited final committee reports coming as the highlight of the program.

At last count, the PCF was still about $13,000 shy of matching the 1970 total.

Wayne County Probate Judge George N. Bashara will be the guest speaker at the banquet, which also will include a message from PCF President Joe West. Master of ceremonies will be Ron Coosaia, general chairman of this year's fund raising drive.

Entertainment will be provided by a musical group called The Purple Song.

plymouth THROUGH BIFOCALS

By FRED DELANO / Editor, Mail & Observer

CECELIA PHELAN ultimately will be the subject of this essay, but not until it is explained why Wayne Woodrow Hayes isn't being given his accustomed attention in this, my Wednesday lecture preceding Ohio State's biennial humiliation on the University of Michigan playfield at Ann Arbor.

My usual fair-minded, objective and impartial gaze through these Bifocals admittedly blurs when it comes time for the Wolverines and Buckeyes to do battle, not the least of reasons being that it is sheer fun to twit those of the scarlet and gray who don't recognize that Ohio is indeed a four-letter word.

Then, too, there is the arrogance of the aforementioned W. W. Hayes, mentor of the Buckeyes. Woody, as he is known, has had the audacity several times in his OSU career to send such sheer brutes against Ann Arbor scholars that the latter had little choice but to let the Hayesmen have their way.

Three years ago, Michigan tired of the bully tactics and found a man named Bo Schembechler who could match fire with fire. He lit Ohio's fuse the very first chance he had, just as it said here he would, and since then such local Ohio Staters as Fred Hill, Tom Lewis, Denver McCord and even ONI's own Richard T. Thompson have shown a little more respect for those words, "Hail to Michigan, the champions of the west."

For many weeks it looked as though this week's OSU-Michigan game would decide the Big Ten title and Rose Bowl designee. Then Ohio kept losing, Michigan kept winning and now it's to be just a showcase for Michigan's might. Some of us have this thing about showing up in Kellogg Park at the stroke of six the night of this game to sing the other guy's victory tune. I think Saturday we'll let Hill et al off less embarrassingly with something like "California, Here I Come."

CECELIA PHELAN? Oh, yes. She cut quite a swath in Plymouth for several years, remember? Her beauty added glamor to GOP leadership, she was the most important campaigner of all in putting the Detroit water issue across in the special election last year, and many talked of her optimistically as a potential candidate for city commission or school board.

Then the fates that rule such successful business careers as that of her husband, Roy, dictated that these Philadelphians depart their adopted Plymouth for Illinois.

I don't know whether she wrote to make us jealous, or with tongue in cheek, but from Rolling Meadows, Ill. comes a line saying, "Thought you'd enjoy some happy news." It was accompanied by a clipping from the Rolling Meadows Herald which talks about the possibility of Phelans' new home town becoming "a taxless city." That's honestly what it says -- "taxless."

She pens: "Re garbage collection, we've always gotten the bags FREE OF CHARGE. They GIVE you a gadget that holds a heavy, large paper bag and has a lid that covers the hanging open bag. Great! Thought City Fathers of Plymouth would be interested."

THE NEWS CLIPPING from the Herald starts out: "In heaven, it's said, the streets are paved in gold, and milk and honey ooze from the branches of every tree. In heaven they must have a budget surplus, just like Rolling Meadows.

"The city is threatening to become a fiscal Eden-on-Earth. Too much money. Repeat that. It takes a while to get used to. Too much money.

"The city of 18,000 persons is about half-way through its fiscal year, and there is a budget surplus of about $500,000. And Mayor Roland Meyer has predicted casually that a year from now the surplus may be more than doubled."

The story goes on to say that Rolling Meadows has expanded services and facilities "almost like a woman on a mad shopping spree" and that plans "are brewing" to eliminate the only remaining city tax levy, that being the library fee.

This bonanza stems from some quirk in the percentage Illinois pays back to cities from the state sales tax. But whatever the source, it proves that not all those who leave Plymouth find life insufferable.

Come to think of it, maybe we should be jealous, starting with Mayor Jim McKeon and Commissioners Bill Silvis, Bob Sincock, Harold Guenther, Beverly McAninch and Ernie Henry, plus whoever is appointed to succeed Don Bidwell.

City To Start Karate Series

PLYMOUTH

A new series of karate classes sponsored by the city recreation department will open Thursday night, Nov. 18, in the Plymouth High School gym.

Director Stanley Stenek said enrollment is open to anyone from age six on up, and that classes will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. each Tuesday and Thursday.

Cost of the course is $10 per month and those interested in participating should call the recreation office in City Hall. Instructor for the classes will be James B. C. Yu, a fourth degree black belt winner.

Canton Expects Shopping Area On Warren Rd.

By MARIE McGEE

CANTON TOWNSHIP

If the developer's promise holds true, Canton Township may see the construction of its first supermarket in spring.

The supermarket would be part of a nine - acre neighborhood shopping center at Warren and Canton Center Rds. which the Canton board recently approved.

The site, at the north - west corner of the intersection, owned by the Southfield - based Gay - Mar Investment Co., was formerly zoned residential and had to be changed to C-2 (commercial). It was the last of the three corners to be rezoned for commercial use.

FOR A WHILE, it seemed that the planning commission would not approve the rezoning after Planning Consultant Michael Manore recommended that it be denied.

During the months of discussion, the Southfield planning consultant firm of Vilican - Leman presented an extensive feasibility study showing that the area can support a shopping center, and also that at the present time there are no large food markets in the township.

To that, Manore replied: "The marketability study was enlightening ... but it did not give enough attention to the neighborhood shopping center service, nor did it emphasize existing planned shopping centers."

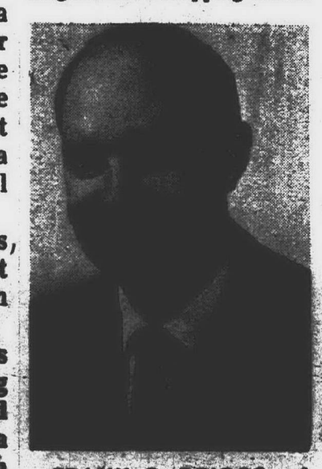
BY THAT last statement, Manore was pointing out that a 40-acre shopping center is scheduled to go up directly across the road.

Manore also said, "A shopping center does not generate new business; it divides existing business."

Apparently township officials felt this was not a strong enough argument since there is no existing business to carve up. The Gay - Mar offer is the first concrete proposal to be filed with the board. The other for the 40 - acre center is still in the "talking stage."

Questioned by Planning Commissioner Bart Berg recently on how soon construction would begin, Gay - Mar officials said work would probably start in the spring.

At least one big food store as well as a bank, savings and loan association and two major drug chains are interested in the site, according to the developers.



FRANK G. BRIGGS, of 1280 Palmer, Plymouth, has been appointed to the board of directors of the Detroit Sparks, national wheelchair basketball champions three times in the last eight years. Briggs is superintendent of maintenance at Ford's Sheldon Rd. plant and is cub master of Smith School Pack 1536. He is a graduate of Ohio State University.

Plymouth Brevities

HELEN RICHARDSON, Plymouth Township clerk, has been authorized by the board of trustees to realign Precincts 1 and 8, both in the Lake Pointe area, before the '72 elections to give them better population balance.

Precinct 1, which is the largest in the township, has 1,141 registered voters and Precinct 8 only 227. Both use Farrand School as a voting site.

Total number of registered voters in Plymouth Township now stands at 6,532. In the city, the number of voters eligible to participate in the recent city commission election was 4,817.

THE APPROXIMATELY 150 boys who play in the Plymouth Junior Hockey Association will be conducting a candy sale during the next two weekends to raise funds to help meet league expenses.

The money goes toward such things as uniforms, equipment and rental of ice time. Plymouth has no group as anxious as these kids for construction of the Recreation and Cultural Center, which will provide this community its first indoor rink.

THE AUXILIARY of Mayflower Post 6695 of the VFW presented their fourth district president, Mrs. Juliette Swarthout, a check for more than $50 Tuesday night to be forwarded to the Multiple Sclerosis Association for children's Christmas toys and gifts.

Members of the auxiliary also are completing this week the Christmas packages that will be sent to Plymouth servicemen overseas. During the last five years, nearly 150 such boxes have been sent.

THE SENIOR CITIZENS Club of Plymouth will have its annual Thanksgiving dinner at 12 noon Thursday, Nov. 18 in the Tonquish Creek Manor. Entertainment for the program will be provided by the music department of Plymouth High School.

Reservations also will be taken at this time for two special trips which are on the club's calendar. The first occasion will be a shopping trip Nov. 22 to downtown Detroit, and the second will be the opportunity to see "Fiddler On The Roof" Dec. 1 at the Northland Theatre.

PLYMOUTH CAMERA addicts are invited to a meeting of the Northville Camera Club at 7:30 p.m. tonight (Wednesday) at the Wayne County Child Development Center on Sheldon Rd.

Feature of the program will be a seminar on nature photography led by Mrs. Vella Sanders of Detroit. Persons attending should use the center's civil defense entrance.

CRAIG WHITE of 8025 Sheldon Rd., Plymouth, will be among 200 students of Western Michigan University who will be participating Friday night when the school's music department presents its third annual band spectacular.

The production of James Miller Auditorium features performances by the university symphonic band, wind ensemble, jazz lab band and marching band.

THE FIRST ANNUAL alumni "Harvest Moon" dance of the Plymouth Dance Club will be held at 9 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 20 at the VFW Hall, 1426 S. Mill.

This dance has been planned for the pleasure of all former and present members, and music will be provided by the Merrimen. Persons interested in activities of the club may contact Mrs. Charles Lang, 47555 Powell Rd.

ANN ARENDSEN of American Airlines will present a slide film on the history and development of flying at the Lions Club's annual sons and daughters banquet Thursday night in the Thunderbird Inn.

The Lions, who recently inducted six new members, are planning to have their usual ladies night Christmas party Dec. 16.

THE CANTON JAYCEE auxiliary will sponsor their fourth annual Christmas bazaar from 3 to 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 19 in the Fiegel Elementary School on Joy Rd.

Activities will include a rummage sale, cake walk, bake sale and sucker game. Christmas handicrafts also will be offered. Refreshments will include hot dogs and pizza.

SMITH SCHOOL emerged last week as champion of the flag football program conducted among boys from the fourth and fifth grades in eight schools.

In a single elimination tournament held at Central, Smith won the title by beating Allen by two points in overtime. The program enabled 230 boys to learn the fundamentals of football without the use of complete contact.

BOOK FAIRS are on tap at both Gallimore and Bird schools this week, a period which is being highlighted throughout the school system by parent-teacher conference days.

Gallimore will open its book fair Wednesday, with Bird getting under way Friday. Gallimore's will run through Monday and at Bird books still may be purchased Tuesday.

1 Million Deer Herd? It Can Be Done

The following article is a condensed version of the lead story, "1,000,000 by 1980," which appears in the current issue of Michigan Natural Resources, the DNR's bi-monthly magazine. Author of this timely piece is Merrill L. Petoskey, chief of the DNR's Wildlife Division and is reprinted with permission.

"Dear Sirs:

"I am writing concerning the deer situation in northern Michigan and pleading on behalf of every hunter I have talked to this past season. We all seem to feel the reason for our nearly dilapidated deer herd is the fact that you have been allowing us to shot does and fawns far too long."

"Dear Sirs:

"When we first started going up to our cabin in northern Michigan, we could go for a ride and see 20 to 40 deer in an evening. I have just returned from a week's stay at our cabin, and saw only three deer in one week.

"I am against doe hunting. Each year since this doe permit hunting began the deer have slowly dropped off to none. The winter kill all of you boys say is what takes them. I disagree, I have walked the woods time and again and have never seen a winter kill of deer. . ."

HUNDREDS, sometimes thousands, of such letters arrive in the wildlife division of the Department of Natural Resources each year. Most say they want doe hunting stopped, and they blame doe seasons for the slow, steady decline in Michigan's deer herd.

If only it was so simple. If only we could turn the clock back to the days of the late 1930s and the 1940s simply by stopping doe hunting. Michigan back then probably had about 1,500,000 deer in the woods each fall. This fall and for the last five years or so, the total has skimmed along at about 400,000.

The DNR's Wildlife Division is committed to a program aimed at having 1,000,000 deer in Michigan's woods by the fall of 1980. That means we've got to more than double our deer herd in less than ten years. That's one helluva tough assignment we've given ourselves, and frankly at this point we don't know if we can make it or not.

But here are the possibilities:

First of all, we are absolutely certain that doe hunting has very little if anything to do with total deer numbers in the woods at the start of each deer season. Some of the finest scientific brains produced in this country have studied this question thoroughly, and the result is always the same. Doe hunting just does not make a difference in total deer numbers from year to year.

SO WHAT IS cutting Michigan's deer herd down from year to year? We all agree, the herd strength is far less than it was 25 years ago. What we want to know is how to bring the herd strength back up to strong levels so we can see a lot more deer and take home a lot more deer, and on this point we have some very clear and basic answers.

Let's look, for example, at a very interesting case right in the heart of Michigan's deer country, the Mid-Forest Lodge forest land in Roscommon County owned by about 500 families. Mid-Forest is 18,000 acres in size, about 28 square miles.

For many years, dating back to the mid-1940s, Mid-Forest has kept records of the number of hunters who use the area and the number of deer taken each year. In the period from 1949 through 1957, the total kill remained more or less the same from year to year, with the one exception of 1952, when the first large antlerless (doe) season was held.

The 1952 season boosted the 10-year average kill, but after that "slaughter," the people of Mid-Forest voted not to shoot does on their property. However, not all members agreed, and five years later, in 1957, this decision was changed.

MORE IMPORTANT in 1957 – far more important – the people of Mid-Forest decided to embark on a long-range and large-scale tree cutting and range management program. They did this for one basic reason. They wanted more deer.

They called in foresters, biologists, and range management people to discuss the problem. They called some of us from the DNR. They called foresters from commercial paper companies. The recommendations were the same all around. If you want more deer, cut more trees, cut the right trees, and handle your land for the main purpose of increasing deer food.

The cutting program started in 1958. At first it was slow going, and results were slow in coming. However, the people of Mid-Forest stuck to the program and gradually the total kill began to edge upward. In 1962, it took a dramatic jump and since then it has continued at a high level.

At the same time, the total number of deer hunters who use Mid-Forest each season has remained just about the same from year to year. In 1954 it was 534 hunters; last year, it was 540.

Mid-Forest hunters have taken about 10 deer per square mile each year for the last 10 years. It means more than half the hunters have taken home a deer each year, and they've been doing it year after year for 10 years. Some of those deer are bucks, and some are does, and doe hunting obviously hasn't hurt their hunting at all.

While Mid-Forest hunters have been taking an average of 10 deer per square mile, hunters in the rest of the northern Lower Peninsula have been taking three to four per square mile. In the Upper Peninsula, where the kill once was highest in the state, it's now down around one or two deer per square mile and it's moving steadily lower.

SO WHAT'S the secret at Mid-Forest? Well, it's not really a secret, it's just plain old range management. Producing deer food by making cuttings and openings.

There are also many areas of public land where [illegible] management has been [illegible] enough and consistent [illegible] to keep local deer [illegible] relatively high. But [illegible] whole, the people of Mi[illegible] have not provided [illegible] funds or support for this [illegible] and that fact has slowly [illegible] catching up with us.

Fortunately, that pic[illegible] now about to start [illegible] dramatically. Last year, [illegible] example, only $120,000 [illegible] made available for [illegible] habitat improvement work in Michigan. This year, $616,000 has been made available as a starter. In addition, enough hunters got together to support a license fee increase this year so that $1.50 of each deer hunting license will now be committed directly to the state's growing range improvement program.

That means about $1,000,000 should go into the program before July 1, 1972 – an increase nearly 10 times the amount allotted last year.

DNR wildlife biologists know that 361 of Michigan's townships produce 75 per cent of all deer taken each year. A township is 36 miles in size. Mid-Forest Lodge is 28 square miles, so this means we have 361 king-sized Mid-Forest Lodges on which we hope to improve the deer range before 1980.

THE WORK to be done includes a variety of standard range management practices. Also, a field survey is presently under way to locate and buy key parcels of deer land within those 361 townships. This will include swamps, swamp edges, and certain types of forest [illegible] where management work can be done.

The DNR now has a sizable fleet of bulldozers, rolling cutters, drag chains, and other equipment available for range management work, and more will be purchased this year. More controlled burns will be used in the years ahead to keep the range young and productive of deer food. Pulp cutting programs and timber sales on state lands will be boosted [illegible] to help the program along.

Much of this habitat work was formerly carried out mainly during winter months; now it will be done on a year-round basis.

There is no question that the task is staggering in size. We have vowed to increase the size of Michigan's deer [illegible] from the present 400,000 to 1,000,000 by 1980, and the [illegible] from the present five-year average of 97,000 to a take of 150,000 to 200,000 per year. To accomplish such a goal will require an enormous amount of "deerland farming" as well as man-sized support from the public. But we do have the know-how, we are getting the tools, and most important, public support in the form of new funds is now at hand.

The time is here to reverse the downward trend in Michigan's deer herd. We intend to do it.

Medicare Carry-Over Explained

Doctor bills for October, November, and December may in some cases be counted toward the $50 annual deductible for both 1971 and 1972 under the "carry-over" provision of the medical insurance part of Medicare, according to Sam F. Test, social security district manager of the Detroit-Northwest Social Security Office at 17500 Lahser Rd.

The deductible is the first $50 of covered medical expenses accumulated in a calendar year, Test said.

"Before any payment can be made by Medicare," he said, "your record must show that you have met your deductible. So, as soon as your bills come to $50, attach them to a Request For Medicare Payment form, and send them to the carrier that handles your Medicare claims."

THE "CARRY-OVER" rule helps the beneficiary who might otherwise have to pay the $50 deductible twice in a short period of time – at the end of one year and at the beginning of the next year, Test said.

"Even if you have not met the $50 deductible before October," he said, "be sure to send in all the bills for covered services you receive in October, November, or December. They can help meet the deductible for 1972."

The medical insurance part of Medicare pays 80 per cent of the reasonable charges for covered expenses after the first $50. The program is funded by individual premiums that are matched by the federal government. The hospital insurance part of Medicare is financed by regular social security contributions. Medicare is administered by the Social Security Administration of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Nature Lectures Available

Park naturalists of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority are now providing lectures, accompanied by films or slides, with an environmental theme to schools in the counties of Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne. This service is provided from November of 1971 through March of 1972.

Two different programs are available, with one for kindergarten through second grade and one for grades three through 12.

The first program is entitled "From Nature's Nursery" and shows scenes of nesting birds, young opossums, raccoons, cottontail rabbits and turtles.

Topics for grades three through 12 include "Insects," "Amphibians and Reptiles," "Spring" and "Ecology."

Parks Set To Offer Winter Fun

Two major parks of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority will offer Observerland residents the following facilities for winter recreation during 1971-72 when Michigan's winter weather arrives.

Kensington Metropolitan Park, near Milford, is one of the most popular areas in southeastern Michigan and has facilities for tobogganing, skating, sledding, ice fishing and picture taking. Catches of bluegills and crappies are taken by many fishermen who enjoy fishing on Kent Lake.

Skating hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily (weather permitting) and the rinks are located in front of the boat rental building, which is open 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday and 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and during the school vacation week (Monday Dec. 27 through Friday, Dec. 31). The building has a heated lounge with a fireplace, restrooms, food service and vending machines.

Ideal for sledding and tobogganing are the hill slopes at the winter sports area which has an enclosed warming shelter with a fireplace and tables. There are five toboggan tracks and a separate area for sledding.

The Clarenceville Junior High is in need of photographic equipment for use in conjunction with publication of the school newspaper and yearbook. Anyone who has any equipment to donate, such as an enlarger and any developing equipment, may contact Principal Arthur Mann at the Junior High.

OCC Library Tech Grads Find Jobs

The Oakland Community College Library Technical Assistance program has been placing its graduates through its own job placement service for the past year and a half. Mrs. Betty Dimitry, assistant professor and coordinator of the program, and Mrs. Barbara Kabcenell, director of the service, have devised portfolios for their students who wish employment as paraprofessionals in the library field.

Graduates and undergraduates of the program are being placed in full-time and part-time jobs in school, medical, law, public, and industrial libraries. The library technical assisting program gives the student experience in audiovisual materials, library circulation procedures, cataloging, and library materials recording.

Interested employers or students may contact Mrs. Kabcenell at the college.

Oakland Lists Clinic Dates

The Oakland County Health Department has announced the dates for immunization clinics and vision testing.

Immunization clinics will be conducted the second Thursday of each month in the United Methodist Church, 33112 Grand River, Farmington. Hours are 10 a.m. until 12 noon.

Pre-school vision testing is held the third Wednesday of each month from 9 a.m. until 11 a.m. at he Oakland County Health Department, Greenfield and Catalpa, Southfield.

Insulation can save you cold cash

Get All The Heat You Pay For

Saving cold cash on winter heating is more than just a figure of speech — you could be paying for more cold than is necessary. Insulation saves you heating dollars by slowing down the rate of heat that's escaping to the outside and providing resistance to the flow of cold air entering your home. In fact, insulation can reduce your heating bill substantially (in many cases as much as one-third). Consumers Power Company neither sells nor installs insulation, but, for a number of years we have encouraged our customers to investigate the benefits of insulating their home. It saves money on fuel costs and increases personal comfort.

Plymouthite And FBI Disagree On Shooting

PLYMOUTH

It was all a mistake, said a 29-year-old Plymouth man who was wounded three times in a gun battle with what he thought were thieves but who turned out to be FBI agents.

Edward J. Rye of 465 N. Sheldon was arraigned in federal court Monday on charges of assaulting four FBI officers during a gun battle at the City National Bank branch at Fenkell and Burgess in Detroit early Sunday morning. He was released on $5,000 personal bond pending his examination Dec. 3.

Neil Welch, chief of the FBI Detroit office, gave the following account of the shoot-out to the Mail and Observer:

FBI AGENTS had received a report from the branch bank officials that someone had been tampering with the bank's night deposit box and four of them were assigned to keep the box under surveillance Saturday night and Sunday morning.

Rye appeared at the box at 3:15 a.m. Sunday and remained there "for a prolonged period of time."

The agents approached Rye and identified themselves, and he opened fire "point blank." The agents returned gunfire and took cover behind their car.

They identified themselves as agents once more, and Rye fired more shots, one of which shattered the windshield of the FBI 's car. Rye was captured after he fled to a nearby home.

He was wounded three times in the side and right leg, which was fractured by a bullet.

RYE SAID he had no idea the men who were firing at him were FBI agents. Rather, he thought they were bandits trying to steal his nightly deposit of receipts from the Chick-N-Joy restaurant at Fenkell and Heyden, of which he is co-owner.

He said he began carrying the licensed gun last Thursday after he was held up again. He said he had been held up several times in the past three years.

Rye said he took a long time at the box because his deposit envelope would not fit through the slot and he was fumbling for a key to open the larger box drawer when the men approached.

The FBI has not charged Rye with any crimes relating to tampering with a night deposit box.

WHAT IT IS, is basketball -- or so the Harlem Diplomats claim. This touring comedy team, actually made up of outstanding players with fine competitive backgrounds, will display its routines Friday night at Plymouth High School against a faculty team. This scene is just one way the Diplomats "bend" the rules to get laughs.

Road Commission Thanks Township

PLYMOUTH

Plymouth Township is the latest community to officially approve the planning of a regional highway system and now has a plaque to prove it.

During the past week, Supervisor Maurice Breen was presented a certificate of acknowledgment from Robert Larson, planning and negotiating engineer for the Wayne County Road Commission.

Through inter-county highway planning, southeastern Michigan will have a continuous and uninterrupted highway system and local communities will still retain their individual integrity through the cooperative program.

SINCE THE START of 1970, the Inter-County Highway Commission of Southeastern Michigan has been presenting certificates to those local units of government that have adopted or approved the I-C.H.C. plan and right-of-way requirements.

The I-C.H.C. plan has been prepared by the commission in conjunction with the county road commissions and the local units of government in the seven counties of southeastern Michigan.

The counties of Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St. Clair, Washtenaw and Wayne are members of the commission.

The commission's area of service is more than 4,500 square miles, encompassing 3.2 million persons, of which 1.7 million live within the communities that have approved the I-C.H.C. plan.

Under this plan, those living within these communities are protected in the future against the chance of hardship relating to highway expansion.

The plan is a continuous working program and is in constant development as changes within the metropolitan area relate to the total highway system.

Each community has the ability and the responsibility to keep as current as possible and still maintain the initial goal of one highway system serving all the people in southeastern Michigan.

Through this type of planning, utility companies and other public works bodies have the opportunity to share in the public right-of-way reserved under the commission's program, thus limiting a duplication of effort of public and private bodies.

'Dropping Out' An Over-Rated Problem

Current anti-dropout campaigns insist that students who stay in school long enough to get their high school diplomas have a better chance of "making it" economically – an argument termed "highly deceptive" by University of Michigan researchers.

Jerald G. Bachman, Swayzer Green and Ilona Wirtanen of the university's Institute for Social Research (ISR) in their new monograph "Dropping Out – Problem or Symptom?" suggest that it is really the young people who go to college that have a markedly better chance. Anti-dropout campaigns seldom mention this fact, the U-M researchers note.

Furthermore, they say, "even if potential dropouts were clearly shown that college is the real issue, their limitations in ability, past school performance, and motivation toward equal status there very poor prospects for a successful college experience."

Dropping out of high school is overrated as a problem in its own right, the U-M researchers say. They contend that dropping out is more accurately viewed as the end result or symptom of other problems which have their origin much earlier in life.

The study, conducted by the ISR's "youth in transition" project, reflects measures of a representative group of more than 2,000 young men over four years of high school and post-graduation experience.

Earlier reports have utilized the resulting information to control such critical youth problems as drugs, the Vietnam war, race, social class, an all-volunteer army, effective learning environments, population control and others.

"The difficulties experienced by the dropouts we studied – the low aspiration and accomplishment, and even the limitations in self-esteem and self-concept – were already present or predictable by the start of 10th grade, and there is little evidence that dropping out made matters worse," the U-M report explains.

THE NATIONAL concern over the "dropout problem," and resulting campaigns to get dropouts back in school, the authors add, are often based on the wrong kind of information – measurements taken only after youngsters have dropped out.

What such studies usually show is that there is a substantial difference between those who dropped out and those who stayed in school, particularly those who enter college.

This difference, the report insists, existed well before the actual act of dropping out. The long-range ISR study, "before - and - after" design, was able to demonstrate that in nearly every case a difference which turned up at the end of the study was present and equally strong at the start – before dropping out occurred.

The U-M researchers conclude that dropping out is only a symptom, and that the real problem is a "serious mismatch between some individuals and the typical high school environment."

They cite some problem areas involved in school dropouts:

1. FAMILY BACKGROUND: The lower a family's socio - economic level, the more likely a boy is to become a dropout.

He is also more likely to drop out if he comes from a large family or a broken home.

The study found that reports of parental punishments occur more frequently among dropouts. It is not clear, the authors say, whether this is a cause of dropping out or merely a reaction by the parents to the kinds of behavior which eventually lead to dropping out.

2. ABILITY LIMITATIONS: The study found some difference in tests of intelligence and academic ability between dropouts and those who stayed in school.

Surprisingly, the differences were small – the equivalent of five IQ points on the average. Larger differences appeared between those boys who later went to college and all those who did not.

3. PAST SCHOOL FAILURE: Two of the most important predictors of dropping out are poor classroom grades and being held back, the U-M study indicates.

It estimates the dropout rate at about 40 per cent among boys who have failed a grade in school, compared to 10 per cent among those never held back.

The authors say further studies will be needed in order to determine whether the experience of failure itself causes still more failures and possibly dropping out, or whether poor grades and school failures are simply indicators of a more fundamental inability to do well in an academic setting.

4. REBELLIOUS AND delinquent behavior: Boys who drop out of high school are more likely to have a background of delinquency.

Other personality characteristics also tend to mark the potential dropout in some degree.

The report cites (a) lower than average self-esteem and need for self-development, commitment to social values and personal efficacy, and (b) higher than average in physical and emotional complaints.

In summary, more than scores of personality and behavior dimensions over the first year study period, the authors say, they found that "there are very few changes of any consequence and virtually none that would support the argument that dropping out damages a young man's mental health and his commitment to society's values."

The report also examines the frequently used argument that dropping out leads to a higher rate of unemployment - - often double that of those who stayed in school.

The authors suggest such figures are misleading because they do not indicate whether it is the actual dropping out that causes the higher rates of unemployment or other factors such as the dropouts' lower intelligence scores and lower socio - economic level.

The study indicates that unemployment can be predicted more accurately by using background and ability measures than by using dropout data, and that the best prediction is made when the two types of data are combined.

"We conclude that dropping out probably makes it more difficult to obtain employment," the U-M researchers write. "However, the more important causes of unemployment are those pervasive differences in background and ability which precede and help determine the act of dropping out.

"The overall impression to be gained from the data is that dropping out does not change things a great deal – at least not in ways that are apparent by the time a young man reaches the age of 19 or 20.

Guard Seeks Enlistees

The Michigan Air National Guard, located at Selfridge Air National Guard Base near Mt. Clemens, is seeking new enlistees.

There are openings in every branch and section of the 127th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing, according to the wing's director of personnel, Lt. Col. Melvin A. Weber.

Weber is interested in interviewing men and women 17 years or older who are interested in fulfilling their military obligation by serving six years in the Air Guard.

Col. Weber's office is in Building 304 at Selfridge ANG Base.

The Stroller . . .

Trip's Been Worth It

By W. W. EDGAR

Father Time, the kindly old gent with the flowing white beard, the hour glass and the scythe, is checking off another milestone this week on The Stroller's journey through life—and he can't help reflecting on what a wonderful trip it has been—thus far.

The Old Gent may be running out of numbers one of these days, but until he does The Stroller hopes to enjoy a good many more laughs along the way.

For instance, along about this time each year The Stroller is bombarded with questions about how long he has been on the road and what unusual things he can remember about his journey.

Well, there is no secret regarding the amount of time he has been on the road.

Unlike his paternal grandfather who could date his birth only to the "year of the big wind," The Stroller can go back in time to his start.

It was in the days before automobiles, radios and airplanes, and seeing events as they happen on a screen in your living room was just a figment of a dreamer's imagination.

IN THOSE days Plymouth was "away out in the country" ...Livonia was the cheese capital of the world...and most of the City of Detroit was confined to the area inside Grand Boulevard. In fact, the boulevard served as a sort of Chinese wall when it was built.

There was no such thing as the American League in baseball, and the horses were racing on Woodward Ave. on the site of the present Art Museum. Washington Boulevard was an avenue of homes with fancy lawns and white picket fences.

Now that the start of the journey has been established, what were some of the most unusual things sighted along the journey?

Naturally, the coming of the automobile, radio and television were the main highlights thus far. It still seems incredible that a person can pick pictures out of the air and have them shown on a screen in his living room...that football and baseball games can be viewed from the peace and quiet of his armchair.

Unusual as they are, The Stroller can't help pausing along the way to review the changing times – and the twists in trends of the human race.

BACK IN THE days of his early youth, The Stroller recalls that there were three big events to which you looked forward.

First, as a youth he scarcely could wait until he got his first pair of long pants. The switch from bloomers (or plus-fours, as they were called later) to long pants was considered the first major step toward manhood.

Next – and this may cause a laugh – was the day when he could have a private shaving mug, complete with gold identifying initials, on the shelf in the village barber shop.

And then came the big day – the day when you reached the age of 21 and "became your own boss."

My, how times have changed!

NOW, AS YOUTH, you start with long pants, and you don't wear shorts until you become a man of affluence around the country clubs and beaches.

And the old time shaving mug has long been assigned to the limbo of forgotten things by electric razors. If today's barbers had to depend on customers' shaves they'd be residents of the Alms House in no time.

Along the way The Stroller well remembers the little house in the back yard with the crescent cut in the door, and that bums and hoboes were the only hardy souls who cooked and ate outdoors.

Now the "outhouse" has been moved inside; and it is fashionable to have steak barbecues in the back yard.

What a switch!

Yes sir, it has been a wonderful trip.

And here's hoping that you have a wonderful birthday, too.

Township Fire Runs Increase

PLYMOUTH

The Plymouth Township Fire Department's October report shows that an increased demand for its services continued to push departmental responses above last year's figures.

Last month the department made a total of 51 runs compared to 39 made in October last year. So far this year, the township firemen have responded to 566 alarms compared to 461 at the same time last year.

The total fire loss for October was $17,855 according to the monthly report. The report also shows it received five assists from the Plymouth fire department during the month.

Not Visible

Persons suffering from unalleviated hearing losses seldom are shown the concern extended to individuals with other types of handicaps because a hearing loss is not a visible impairment.

Negotiating Team Is Set

PLYMOUTH

The Plymouth Board of Education appointed personnel director Norman Kee to head the administration's negotiating team for 1972-73 labor bargaining.

The team will be made up of Kee, chief negotiator, and Earl Gibson, the assistant superintendent of community relations.

Names as consultants to the team were Supt. James Rossman, Asst. Supt. of Education John Hoben, and Asst. Supt. of Business Melvin Blunk. Legal counsel to the administration will be appointed at a later date.

BEFORE MAKING the appointments, the board discussed a proposal by trustee John Hanskat that it hire a professional negotiator to head the team.

In its motion, the board paved the way for hiring a professional at a later date by including a provision that the status of negotiations will be reviewed in March.

Hanskat, who voted against the final motion, said that hiring a professional in the near future would avoid the anxiety of the threat of bringing a professional in during the middle of negotiations.

He also said a professional would be advantageous because he would become the target of any animosity that might develop and then would leave the school system, removing the target.

Though some board members agreed with him, George Lawton said he would prefer to review the situation in March and decide at that time when more is known about the financial state of the schools.

Bus Delay Will Pass -- Broomfield

WASHINGTON

The much publicized amendment to delay any court-ordered bussing plan until all appeals are exhausted is almost assured of final passage, according to its sponsor U.S. Rep. William Broomfield (R-Royal Oak.

Broomfield introduced the amendment during debate on the school aid bill on Nov. 4. It passed in a 235-135 vote, then was referred to a conference committee.

"The amendment I offered was to prevent any federal judge from imposing any far-reaching plans until all parties have been heard," Broomfield said.

THE IMPOSITION of any bussing plan will have far-reaching affects on the school districts throughout the country, he said, adding that it shouldn't be enforced until all appeals are heard.

Broomfield said the overwelming majority of his mail from his 18th District constituents (including Southfield) has been in favor of his amendment and opposed to forced bussing. To date he has received "75,000 to 100,000" letters.

"I do hope Congress, the state legislatures and the local school boards in the country will begin to bring up educational standards so that all children will have equal education," Broomfield, who has opposed bussing for racial balance, said.

Broomfield pointed out the fact that one school district in Iowa is spending more money on bussing than on education.

"That shows the enormous cost factor involved," he said.

THE SCHOOL aid bill is currently in a conference committee, and Broomfield said he is "reasonably sure of its final passage."

Voting for Broomfield's amendment from Observerland were U.S. Reps. Jack McDonald (R-Farmington), William Ford (D-Taylor) and Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor).

Broomfield said he voted for two other amendments tacked on the bill, as did McDonald, Ford and Esch. One amendment was to prohibit use of federal funds for bussing and to prevent the federal government from requiring that a state spend its own funds for bussing.

Esch Bussing Plan Defeated

Federal funds should be granted to defray costs of transporting students to achieve racial balance in school districts acting under a court order, according to U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor).

In an effort to help local school districts straining under court orders, Esch proposed an amendment to the federal school aid bill on Nov. 4 that would require the federal government to share some of the financial burden.

The amendment was defeated 216 to 146 in a vote that showed no partisan split or north-south split, Esch said.

"MY AMENDMENT would have affected those school districts that were already under court order," Esch said. "The children suffer when the money is going out of the district to pay for bussing.

"If the federal government had ordered through the court that bussing was necessary to achieve racial balance, then I felt we had to help the local school districts."

Esch said he voted for the Ashbrook amendment proposed by Rep. J.M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, which in general would prohibit use of federal funds for bussing to overcome racial imbalance.

The difference between the proposals is that Esch's would have given aid to just those districts acting under a court order.

Nearly half of the school districts currently bussing to achieve racial balance are acting under the direction of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

OBSERVERLAND'S other Congressmen opposed the Esch proposal. Voting against it were U.S. Reps. William Ford (D-Taylor), Jack McDonald (R-Farmington) and William Broomfield (R-Royal Oak).

At the end of October, Esch made a statement in the House in which he voiced opposition to bussing because of the financial and educational costs.

"The student himself must be the center of our concern," he said. "It has been shown time and again that students do not necessarily achieve more in an integrated setting.

"If the schools do not provide the education, then all the social contact in the world cannot improve the student's lot. It is the equality of the courses offered and the staff available, not just the racial mix of the students and teachers involved, which determines achievement.

"In my view, spending money on special programs for the deprived is far more important than spending it on pupil transportation."

Esch told the House that he supported the neighborhood school concept because "children need a sense of community, a stability, if they are to develop most effectively."

Biodegradable

Environmentally, timber products offer a winning combination: Wood is biodegradable when discarded; wood is renewable in the forest.

Goal-Line Stand Fires Up Eagles

Thurston Dazzles RU In 28-8 Upset

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

Thurston knew it had to win and win big to regain face in Redford Township after last year's 44-0 loss to community rival Redford Union...this is exactly what the Eagles accomplished in a 28-8 upset over highly rated RU.

The Eagles outrushed, outpassed and outscored the "flat" RU squad who were 7-1 before the clash. Thurston concluded season play with a 6-2-1 record while RU finished at 7-2.

The story of the game can be told in one goal-line stand by a rugged Thurston defense. RU was trailing 7-0 with three minutes remaining in the half and the ball on its 39. Panther quarterback Glenn Richmond went to the air and hit on passes to Scott Bjerke and Tom Tullock and the Panthers were on the Eagle three with a first down.

But Thurston had different ideas. Defensive end Bob Graustein caught Tullock for a loss after Richmond had reached the one.

THE PANTHERS were faced with a third down situation on the Eagle two and Tullock got the call again but was stopped on the one. A five yard offside penalty against RU pushed the ball back to the six where a Richmond pass was broken up by Mark Miller.

EAGLE ON THE MOVE -- Thurston's Gary Chappell (20) breaks loose past the outstretched hands of RU's Jerry Petsch. (Observer photo)

With 10 seconds remaining in the half, Thurston took over. The RU momentum was gone with Thurston never looking back.

The first quarter ended 0-0 with neither team crossing the midfield stripe.

With eight minutes remaining in the second quarter Thurston took over on its 20 after a 27 yard field goal attempt by RU's Bill Humphrey fell short.

THURSTON started moving with Miller picking up yardage on the ground and Graustein combining with Greg Scott in the air.

A 15-yard penalty against RU moved the ball to the Panther 36 and Graustein went to the air combining with Miller for 17 yards to the RU 19.

Miller advanced to the 12 where Graustein did what he does best - threw a 12 yard touchdown pass to sophomore Dave Harding.

Miller converted and Thurston was up 7-0 with three minutes in the half.

RU drove deep into Eagle territory only to be stopped on the one and Thurston held a 7-0 halftime lead.

Thurston received the second half kickoff and marched 75 yards, aided by a roughing the kicker penalty, to score and take a 14-0 lead.

Graustein connected on passes to Bob Ghannam, Harding and Miller and the Thurston offense was moving. Miller slanted three yards off tackle to pay-dirt and followed with the conversion to put Thurston up 14-0.

Thurston used up eight minutes in the third quarter drive.

RU was not one to hold onto the ball long as a Richmond pass went astray on its second offensive play and Miller intercepted for Thurston on the 40 and sprinted to the RU 26.

Halfback Gary Chappell dashed to the 13 and Ray Ivey climaxed the turnover drive with a 13 yard spurt. Miller converted and Thurston had scored two touchdowns in a matter of 63 seconds to up the score to 21-0.

A GRAUSTEIN PASS was intercepted by RU's Dave Windmueller on the first play of the fourth quarter and the Panthers took over on the nine. On the second play Richmond fumbled and Jeff Smrtka recovered for Thurston.

The Eagles capitalized on the turnover with Miller scoring his second touchdown of the day on a four yard off tackle play. Miller split the uprights and Thurston held a convincing 28-0 lead with RU fans sitting in disbelief.

RU finally got on the board with Richmond tossing a 15 yard TD to Dean Naudi. A Richmond to Bjerke pass accounted for a two-point play and the score stood at 28-6 with five minutes remaining in the rival clash.

"It was just beautiful," said Thurston Coach Bill McDonald. "My boys played hard and deserved the victory and it was plain to see that they were out there to play."

"This victory makes for a pleasant winter," added McDonald. "It is always nice to close out the season with a win, and this one against our rival Redford Union makes it that much sweeter."

GRAUSTEIN went 11 for 16 totaling 101 yards in the air and rushed for 58 yards himself in 13 carries. Miller picked up 63 yards in 19 carries and scored two touchdowns to raise his season total to 15.

The season finale clash was a simple case of one team being up while the other was down. RU closed out its season with its second loss but can boast of its 7-2 record - the best in RU history.

BREAKING UP A PASS is Redford Union's Glenn Richmond (6) while Thurston receiver Bob Ghannam (85) fights for control, and to keep the RU defender off his back. The pass fell incomplete and there was no passing interference called but Thurston toppled RU 28-8. (Observer photo by Tom Donoghue)

Borgess Falters In Its Bid For Catholic League Title

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

"Our defense made a tremendous effort," said Brother Rice Coach Al Fracassa after a 20-0 Catholic League championship win over Bishop Borgess. "Borgess never crossed our 37."

Divisional champions, Brother Rice and Bishop Borgess clashed before 8,000 at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium with Rice proving the better.

Rice finished with a season mark of 8-0-1 while Borgess dropped its second of the year to conclude with a 7-2 standing.

This is the first championship crown for Brother Rice and its first undefeated season. Rice fell to Shrine last year in its only other championship game.

"This has been a tremendous fall at Brother Rice," said Fracassa. "Our freshmen and JV squads both won league championships as well as our golf and cross country squads. The pressure is on the basketball team now."

Borgess, which enjoyed its first winning football season, played its heart out against a rugged Rice defense.

BORGESS WAS held to 23 yards on the ground and 67 in the air on seven of 12 passes with three being intercepted.

Rice collected 126 yards on the ground and quarterback Mike Ryan connected on 10 of 15 passes for 157 yards and all three touchdowns.

Ryan was voted the game's outstanding offensive player and awarded the John Shada Award.

Borgess' Frank Knasik received the defensive John Shada Award. (The award is given to prep standouts in the Catholic Finals in memory of the popular Catholic League coach who died at the championship contest two years ago.)

Rice put together the first offensive drive late in the first quarter on the arm of Ryan and the rushing of John Cullen.

RICE WAS faced with a third and five situation on the Borgess eight and Ryan went up the middle but was dropped on the line of scrimmage.

With six seconds remaining in the quarter, Dan Damiani plunged forward on a reverse but was hit by a wall of Borgess defenders and dropped on the six. Borgess took over.

Borgess' Mike Retzler punted the Spartans out of trouble and Rice took control on its 35. On the first play Ryan tossed a 19 yarder to Damiani for a first down on the Borgess 46.

Scott Lucas went up the middle on the next two plays for another first down on the 34.

An offside penalty against Rice pushed the ball back to the 39 but Ryan came back with a scoring toss to Jim Brunetto. A Ryan conversion attempt failed but Rice led 6-0 with 3:37 remaining in the half.

Borgess took the kickoff and marched to its 44. Quarterback Jerry Sharon was thrown for an eight yard loss on the 36 and was faced with a second and 20 situation.

On the next play Sharon was rushed and got off a poor pass that was intercepted by Rice's Bob Zych who sprinted to the 26.

RYAN TOSSED to Mark Wojeichowski on the first play for a first down on the Borgess six. Ryan came back with another pass to Wojeichowski for a six yard touchdown play.

A two-point conversion failed but Rice held a 12-0 halftime lead.

On the first play of the fourth quarter, Rice's Mike Stroegbaur intercepted a Sharon pass on his 39.

Ryan advanced it to the 49 for a first down on a keeper play and a pitch to Cullen was good for 13 yards to the Borgess 36.

Cullen drove up the middle for another first down on the 21. After a short gain Ryan combined with Lukas for a 21 yard touchdown toss.

Cullen sprinted around end on a two-pointer and Rice was ahead 20-0.

GREG DRYPEN took over quarterbacking duties for Borgess but had a pass go astray and Stroegbaur intercepted his second to end all hopes of a Borgess score.

BORGESS HALTED -- Quarterback Jerry Sharon found things rough going against a fired-up Rice defense. Borgess was held to only 23 yards rushing. (Observer photo)

Steve Danosi Places Third In Fencing

Steve Danosi, Wayne State University freshman from Southfield and son of Tartar fencing coach Istvan Danosi, placed third in the sabre competition at the annual Canadian Memorial Hero fencing tournament in London, Ont.

The 18-year-old WSU fencer, 1971 national 19-under champion, was one place behind Southfield's Bill Goering in the standings. Danosi was two touches shy of first place in the tournament which is conducted via round-robin competition.

Young Danosi was 1970 Michigan senior foil champion and won the Canadian National junior foil championship in 1969 and 1970 before being converted to sabre in the summer of 1970.

Garden City East Gets Revenge; Belts West 33-14 In Rival Clash

Clutch fourth down plays and two shifty backs helped Garden City East belt Garden City West 33-14 and gain revenge for West's upset tie last year.

The well-coached Panthers broke open a tight game in the second half for their seventh football win of the season.

East, a Mid-Wayne Conference champion, was led by junior halfback Dennis Burton, who gained more than 200 yards in 26 carries. West, a Tri-River Conference co-champion, had a 6-2 record before the game, identical to East.

THE GAME began as a possible repeat of last year's tie with West's defense holding East to two touchdowns in the first half. West's offense perked up in second half and at one point East led 13-8.

West's Ron Wolfrom came up with a great play on the second play of the game, stealing an interception on a Steven Orr to Jim Wisniewski pass. East's defense plugged the middle against West's stack I offense and scored after a West punt.

Orr, East's 5-feet-8 quarterback, whipped a 16 yard pass completion to tight end Luis Santos, Burton ripped off nine yards on a run and Orr added six to give the Panthers a first down on the West 34.

After gaining only three yards on three tries, Orr zipped 31 yards for the touchdown on an option. Orr and Burton spent most of the evening running out of West tacklers' arms.

East drove to the West 17 after stopping West on its second offensive try, but a fumble killed the scoring chance. During the drive, Burton broke the 1,000 yard barrier. He ended with more than 1,200 yards for his first season as a starter for East.

A 40-yard drive produced the next East touchdown. A roughing the kicker penalty let West get out of a deep hole, but a short punt gave East the ball on the Tiger's 40.

A key play in the drive was Orr's sneak at the West 30 on a fourth down. With inches to go, Orr just barely squirmed past the first down marker.

Burton seemed to have a touchdown one play later, but ran into his own tackle just as he broke into the open. Alex Patterson covered the last 14 yards on the next play, though, to give East a 13-0 lead with about eight minutes left in the first half.

West seemed to get its offense moving just before the end of the half but an interception ended the drive. Jim Arner picked off a Dave Wiacek pass; the half ended without further scoring.

WEST'S JIM SIMMS, one of the Tiger captains, took over the game at the beginning of the second half. Simms blasted through the East line an incredible 12 carries in a row, moving the ball from the West 25 to the East 10.

Simms came off limping slightly, obviously weary, just in time to see his replacement score. Bill Wilcox scored the touchdown and also ran in a two point conversion, making the extra miss after East's second touchdown look important.

However, the Panthers came back to move comfortably out of reach by the end of the third quarter.

Burton picked up important yardage in the drive, including another crucial fourth down gain. An Orr to Wisniewski pass, a fourth and seven play, gave East a first down at the West 10. Orr scored from nine yards out and East led 20-8 at the beginning of the fourth quarter.

West kept the game close with a drive early in the fourth quarter. Simms started where he left off on West's first scoring drive. He slashed for 10 yards, the Dave Wiacek hit Steven Jacunski on an 18 yard pass play.

Wiacek missed end John Murray on the next pass play but it didn't make any difference as East's Rich Jose was called for interference. West had a first down on the East 24 when Simms shot for 14, then carried for the touchdown on the next play. West trailed only 20-14 with 9:30 left after missing a try for two on the extra point.

Two long gainers put the game away for East. Patterson raced for 45 yards to the West 17, West co-captain Kirk Lewis saving a touchdown with a tackle. From there, East struggled across for the score, again needing a clutch fourth down play.

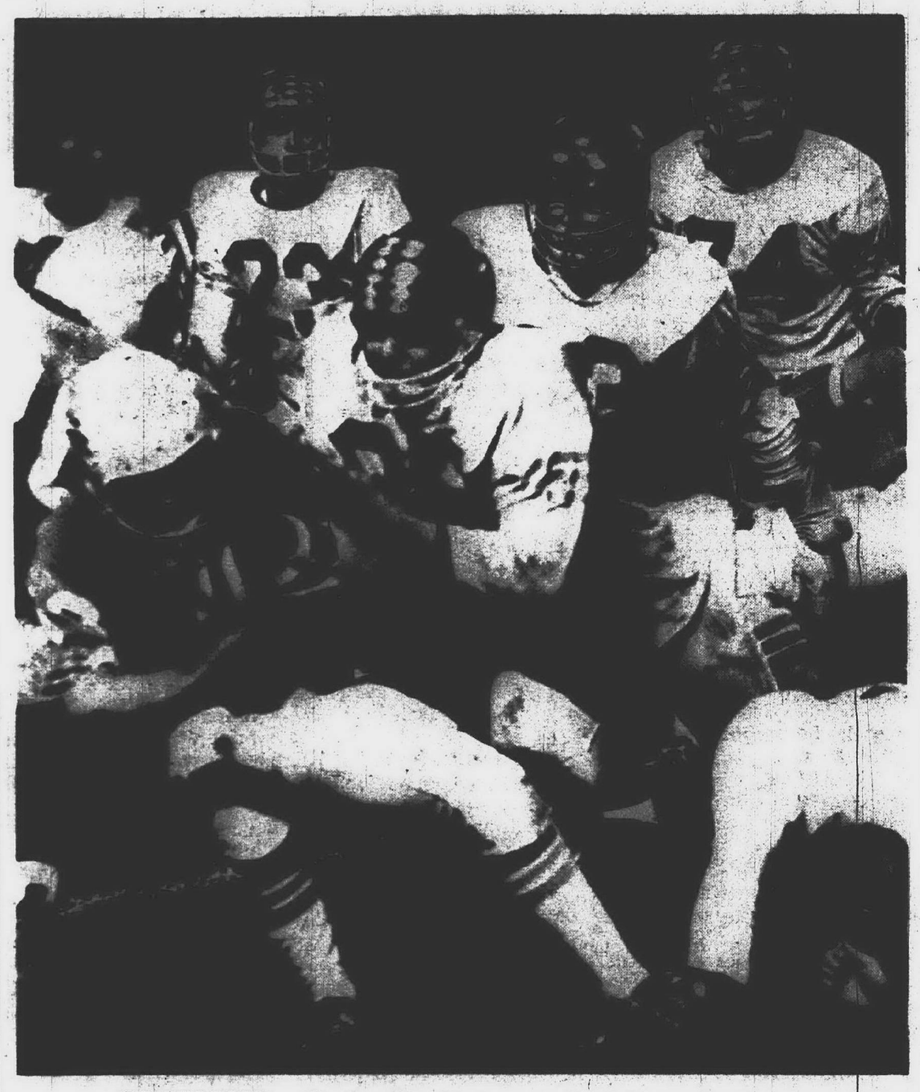
A fourth and two at the nine became a first down by inches on a Patterson run. Patterson got the touchdown on the next play, a kick for extra point was good and East led 27-14.

Burton showed his heels to West on the final scoring play of the game. On the first play after East took a punt, Burton blasted through a crack in the left side of his line and ran untouched for 68 yards.

Wiacek led West back with time running out with fine passing. Wiacek completed five of seven passes during the drive and hit a receiver in the hands with another effort.

The long gainer was a 31 yard screen pass to Bill Baker, a pass which Wiacek threw up for grabs while under great pressure from East linemen.

Wiacek fired a sharp pass on the next play, but it was right into the hands of East linebacker Mike Small.



QB STOPPED -- Garden City East quarterback Steve Orr is swarmed under by West tacklers on this sneak play. East was not caught swarming over West in its 33-14 triumph. (Observer photo by Bob Woodring)

Orchard Ridge Wins Ice Hockey Opener

The Oakland Community College hockey team opened its 1971 Midwest College Hockey Association season with 5-3 victory over Hillsdale.

OCC, behind 3-1 at the start of the third period, scored four goals in an impressive, come-from-behind victory.

Two Farmington residents, left wing Tim Audette and goalie Paul Thompson, figured prominently in the Raider-dominated third period.

Audette, a 1967 graduate of Our Lady of Sorrows, returned to the hockey team after two years of military service, including a tour of duty in Vietnam. He started the OCC comeback at 10:32 of the final stanza, by scoring the team's second goal and closing the margin to 3-2.

He was also a member of the first hockey team formed at the Orchard Ridge Campus when it opened in 1967, but the Hillsdale game marked his first goal in Midwest College Hockey Association competition.

Paul Thompson played goal on the 1969 Raider team and has also rejoined the squad after having completed military service.

Thompson, a 1968 graduate of North Farmington High School, held the Hillsdale team scoreless after they tallied their third and final goal at 19:16 of the final period.

SIX MINUTES after Audette's goal, freshman Chuck Rossie tied the score at 3-3 with a slap shot into the upper corner of the net, beating Hillsdale goalie Pat Quinn cleanly.

The winning goal was scored one minute later, with freshman defenseman Lee Weitzman out-maneuvering Quinn. Rossie then put the game out of Hillsdale's reach with his second unassisted goal of the game with 2:49 remaining.

OCC outshot Hillsdale 38-34, but Hillsdale dominated the penalty statistics, being assessed a total of 16 minors and 42 minutes of penalty time. The Raiders were charged with six minors and collected a total of 22 penalty minutes due to a 10 minute misconduct.

BOTH TEAMS are members of the Northern division of the MCHA, along with Central Michigan University, and all are in competition for one of two playoff spots for the March MCHA championship tournament.

The Southern division consists of Oberlin College, Dayton University, Toledo University, and Miami University.

Last season was OCC's first in the league and if finished third.

The Raiders had three men named to first team all-conference honors in 1970, including last year's captain, Tim Harrigan, and alternate captain Steve Akins, both products of the Farmington Flyer teams coached by Doug Akins.

OCC plays its home games at the new Royal Oak Municipal Ice Arena, and will open its home season on Wednesday, Nov. 24 at 7 p.m. against the same Hillsdale team.

The hockey team will donate all profits from the sale of tickets to the campus Emergency Student Loan Fund.

The 25 game Raider season includes Lambton College (Sarnia), Bowling Green State JV, Toledo, Macomb CC, St. Clair CC, Michigan State JV, U. of Illinois, Dayton, Oberlin, Central Michigan, Western Michigan, and Kent State University.

Coach of the OCC squad is John Gumbleton, and the hockey program is directed by Lawrence Gage.

Bentley Bullfrogs Swim By Stevenson

The Bentley girls' swim team, known as the "mighty bullfrogs," swam to 10 firsts in 11 events to topple rival Stevenson, 67-40.

Four girls scored eight of the 10 firsts for Bentley. Double winners for the bullfrogs were: Beckey Brown, 100 breaststroke and 100 freestyle; Linda Gravila, 50 and 100 backstroke; Sue Marshall, 100 individual medley and 50 breaststroke; and Sue Mooradian, 50 freestyle and 50 butterfly.

The lone Stevenson victory was in the 200 freestyle relay.

The bullfrogs were not allowed to swim in the league meet. They were voted out by the other teams, all of whom Bentley beat during the season.

The summaries:

200 FREESYLE RELAY -- Won by Bentley (Debbie Stone, Gail Tooley, Debbie Walkowiak, Pam Barnett). Time 2:12.3.

Lathrup Is Our No. 1

The high school gridiron season is over . . . footballs packed away . . . chalk boards cleaned and all the second guessing and strategies have produced another exciting season.

Southfield Lathrup holds the No. 1 position in the Observerland final ratings. The Chargers extended their unbeaten streak to 17 games in a 27-6 wrapup with Birmingham Seaholm.

Lathrup finished with its first perfect season and successfully defended its Inter-Lakes crown.

Catholic League champion Brother Rice captured the No. 2 spot with a 20-0 win over Bishop Borgess in the finale. Rice remained undefeated with an 8-0-1 record, a tie with Redford St. Mary at 14-14 marred a perfect season.

North Farmington moved into the No. 3 slot by virtue of its 41-13 clipping of Farmington and Redford Union's loss to Thurston.

Redford Union slipped to No. 4 rating after a 28-8 defeat at the hands of an inspired Thurston squad. RU enjoyed its best season in history, with a 7-2 record.

Garden City East moved from the No. 7 to No. 5 with a victory over crosstown rival Garden City West. East tied with Wayne for first place in the Mid-Wayne Conference, and concluded play with a 7-2 record.

Bishop Borgess ended its finest year in football with a 7-2 mark good enough for No. 6. Borgess won its division but lost to Brother Rice in the Catholic League final.

Franklin holds No. 7 with a 6-1-1 record. The Patriots tied for second with Thurston in the Northwest Suburban League. Their only loss was to North Farmington.

Thurston clinched No. 8 with an upset victory over rival Redford Union to round out its season at 6-2-1.

Garden City West slipped to No. 9 with a 6-3 record. West fell to Taylor Kennedy to settle for a three-way tie in the Tri River League, and then lost to East 33-14.

John Glenn clutched No. 10 with a 5-3 record concluding play with a 13-0 win over Robichaud.

NF Raiders Sparkle In Finale

North Farmington clipped the wings of the Farmington Falcons in a high-flying 41-13 crosstown battle.

It was more of a one-sided scoring effort with North pushing its 19-7 halftime lead to 33-7 by the end of the third quarter.

The Raiders finished 8-1 for the year with the lone defeat from Oak Park which finished with only one win in the Northwest Suburban League. The Raiders have compiled 19 wins in 20 games over a three-year span.

Farmington completed season play with a 3-6 record. The Falcons won three of four games but ended the season with five straight losses.

"It was a great defensive year for us," said North Farmington Coach Ron Holland. "Our defense allowed only five points a game while the offense totaled 20.7 points a game."

"There are three items that stand out this season," added Holland. "The first being our offensive line, the second the running of Craig Gow and the third the sparkplug quarterbacking of Marty Raymond."

NORTH FARMINGTON took the opening kickoff and marched 70 yards with Brad Pease scoring on a 30-yard end sweep and John Dwyer converting to put North up 7-0.

Farmington struck back late in the quarter on a two-yard touchdown rump by Tony Wenson set up by a punt return of 40 yards by Lee Blodgett. Brian Chesley converted to tie the score at 7-7.

The Raiders struck twice in the second quarter on a two-yard touchdown by Raymond and a four-yard scoring toss from Raymond to Bill Gilmour.

Farmington rebounded late in the half with Wenson and Jeff Baker combining for a 30-yard pass play to the Raider eight.

With 28 seconds remaining, Raymond halted the Falcon drive on a pass interception and the half ended with North leading 19-7.

North's Tom Weaver set up the fourth Raider score on an interception at the Farmington 20. Two plays later Pease went over from the 12 for his second score.

PEASE totaled 180 yards in 23 carries to lead all rushers.

Late in the third quarter North drove 60 yards with Chuck Wolfe capping the drive on a one-yard plunge. Raymond passed to Weaver for two points and North was up 33-7.

Farmington tallied early in the fourth with Bob Holton leading the Falcon charge on short passes to Jeff Baker. Baker capped the 65-yard march on a four-yard thrust, to cut the lead, 35-13.

The Raiders scored their final touchdown on a 40-yard scoring toss from Raymond to Weaver.

NORTH totaled 20 first downs to nine for Farmington, and outrushed the Falcons 380 yards to 87.

Raymond was six of 12 for 123 yards. The Falcon combination of Wenson and Holton went seven of 24 for 147 yards and four interceptions.

Harrison Storms By Plymouth; Manos Rushes For 215 Yards

By FRED DELANO

The brand of football that carried Farmington Harrison to the Western Six title also led to a 28-13 mauling of the Suburban Eight's Plymouth Rocks Friday in the season's finale for both teams.

It took Coach John Herrington's Harrison club a quarter to find itself, but after spotting Plymouth an early seven points the Western Six champs grabbed an 8-7 halftime lead and then stormed to three second-half touchdowns on the sensational running of Dave Manos.

The victory enabled Harrison to close its campaign with a 5-4 mark after fielding its first football team only last year. The host Rocks dropped to a season's mark of 4-5 after finishing in a fourth place tie in league competition.

Manos personally ripped Plymouth's defense for a net of 215 yards on rushing plays, carrying on 30 of Harrison's 52 ground plays. In contrast, Plymouth's total ground attack netted only 114 yards, including just six yards in each the second and fourth quarters.

Along the way Harrison caught Plymouth flatfooted by pulling from Herrington's bag of tricks such plays as a successful run by Manos from punt formation when it was fourth and seven, a two-point conversion on a pass play from a placekick alignment, and against-the-grain bucks that continuously garbled Rock defensive assignments.

PLYMOUTH drove easily and quickly from the opening kickoff and scented a romp that was not to be when Mike Tiano plunged over from the one, with Jim Szilagyi kicking the point. A 32-yard burst by Tiano highlighted the 74-yard march, but Rock optimism was misled by the fact that Harrison hadn't yet had the ball.

Harrison put on a long drive at the opening of the second period, only to lose possession and then regain it immediately when the Rocks fumbled. The march that followed put Harrison ahead for keeps.

A pass from Chris Pagnucco to Bill Herpick gained 31 yards to the Plymouth 16 and the touchdown came on a 10-yard toss from Pagnucco to Dan McConeghy. Manos passed to Dennis Thibodeau for the two-pointer that made it 8-7.

Harrison pushed it to 15-7 in the third period when it took Manos only three runs to collect the last 39 yards of a 45-yard drive, then kicking the extra point himself.

THE FOURTH QUARTER saw Harrison boost its margin to 22-7, Manos scoring this time from the three and kicking the point, before Plymouth could find the range again. The Rocks came to life when Steve Crowther ran a kickoff to the Harrison 40 and then lugged a Szilagyi aerial all the way to the five before Szilagyi scored on a keeper. An unsuccessful attempt to run for the two-pointer left it at 22-13.

Manos closed out the scoring when he got his third touchdown on a 20 yard cutback after his own 22 yard sprint had put Harrison in scoring position. Plymouth stopped his plunge for the conversion, but it was 28 points and more than 200 yards too late.

NF Graduate Is Co-Captain

Norm DeCourcy, 1968 North Farmington grad, has been selected co - captain for Central Michigan University's final home football game.

DeCourcy, a six-foot 185 pounder who lettered at quarterback in 1969 and then lost all of the 1970 campaign with a shoulder injury, has played both the wide receiver and swingback positions this fall.

He was a prep standout at North Farmington High and is expected to pass up his final year of varisty eligibility to attend law school.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

Judging from the figures for the 90 day meeting at Hazel Park, which ended Saturday to be followed by the cheaper 30 day campaign which opened Monday, the new owners from Southfield face quite a rebuilding job if and when the sale of the plant is completed.

Southfield developers Herbert Tynor and Bernard Hartman have put in a bid of $14.3 millions for the physical assets of the Hazel Park Racing Association. The bid has been accepted by the directors but has to go before the stockholders before it becomes official.

Tynor and Hartman will take over an operation that wound up the summer meeting with sizable drops in attendance and wagering.

SATURDAY'S crowd of 12,719 gave the track a total attendance of 867,104 for 90 days. The average crowd was 9,857, the lowest since 1949 when the track opened.

Crowds at the east side plant have dropped steadily since an all-time average high of 12,874 in 1965. A year ago the turnstile count averaged 10,680 for 90 days.

The total mutuel handle was $80,069,513, well below the $86,977,276 of a year ago. That was far behind Hazel Park's record of $93,281,002 in 1969 when play averaged $1,036,456 daily.

The average for this year's 90 days was $889,661, the lowest since 1964, reflecting the poor quality of horses and in a measure the tight economic conditions.

It also points out that the track management of both Hazel Park and the Detroit Race Course know of what they complain when they ask the state legislature for a boost in the track's share of the mutuel handle.

There isn't any question that the Detroit tracks are unable to compete with Chicago or any of the tracks in the east for better horses unless they can boost purses.

And the only way purses can be boosted is for the lawmakers to hike the mutuel handle so that the track and the state will have more to operate with.

One doesn't need to be a Solomon to decide whether to ship horses to Chicago where they will run for purses of $3,500 and more or in Detroit and Hazel Park where the minimum has practically become the maximum.

A prime example was Saturday's program at Hazel Park where the top purse was $4,000. On the same afternoon Cleveland, which attracts horses far below the Hazel Park standard, offered $27,500 for its top race.

These are just a few of the things the new owners will have to face. Declining attendance, a decided drop in wagering and some of the cheapest horses ever to race at a major track in the mid-west.

There isn't any question that the quality of horses for the final 30 days will be lower than that of the summer-fall meeting. That was known from the moment Racing Commissioner Leo Shirley extended dates for each of the running tracks from 90 days to 120.

But none had any idea that many of the major stables, most of which made Detroit their home for the entire spring, summer and fall, would decide to go elsewhere where the purses are better.

There are a couple of answers...each track should look around for a top racing man who can induce stables to come in, a person who is busy throughout the winter rounding up stables from the southland.

From our viewpoint, neither track has that type of an individual. Each has a director of racing but one wonders whether either is doing the job that must be done for Michigan racing.

Judging from the caliber of horseflesh that appeared on the scene this year, either track could have done just as well by sending out condition books and stall applications and forget about personal representatives.

That doesn't bring in the best...as was clearly shown.

WHAT DOES harness racing mean to a community such as Northville...home of Northville Downs?

Aside from the benefits of merchants and owners of eating places derive from the thousands of nightly visitors, the city picked up a total of $139,167 from the state for its share of the state's take from the mutuel handle.

Under guidelines set by the Legislature, a city in which a track is located is eligible for 20 per cent of the state's share of the wagering with a ceiling of $600,000.

Naturally, Northville isn't in a position to receive the maximum which goes only to Hazel Park and Livonia but $139,167 is a big boon to the city's treasury.

There'll be another check forthcoming from the current Jackson-Northville meeting which ends Dec. 18.

Incidentally, while on the subject of Jackson-Northville, did you note that Jackson beat Windsor in business on Friday and Saturday for the second straight weekend.

Jackson was $50,000 ahead of Windsor Saturday and the only complaint came from President and General Manager Leon Slavin who was hoping for a $400,000 night and fell $13,000 short.

There isn't any question that Jackson will go past $400,000 in the near future, perhaps this Saturday.

RU Dominates Loop All-Star Selections

Redford Union High's footballers didn't win the Suburban Eight League championship, missing out by a lone loss to Allen Park, but some idea of the strength of the Panthers comes from the annual selections for the all-league offensive and defensive teams.

In the voting, no coach is permitted to select players from his squad.

RU RECEIVED three first team berths on the first offensive team, five on the second, four on the all-league defensive unit and four on the second team.

Champion Allen Park received two spots on the first offensive team and one on the second. The Parkers took three spots on the second offensive team.

The Panthers placed guard Kurt Fritz, center Ron Respondek and fullback Tom Burk on the offensive team.

Those on the second team from RU included: end Dean Naudi, tackle Bill Humphrey, quarterback Glenn Richmond and halfback Tom Tullock.

Members of the squad winning first team berths on the defensive unit were: end Tom Tullock, tackle Kurt Fritz, linebacker Ron Respondek and defensive back Glenn Richmond.

Second team spots went to end Dean Naudi, middle guard Mike Barker, linebacker Tom Burk and defensive back Bill Petsch.

Plymouth placed end Ron Egloff on the first offense team and Bentley's Ron Reardon was placed at tackle.

Reardon also won a spot on the first defensive team along with Bob Harteg of Plymouth as a middle guard.

The selections:

FIRST TEAM DEFENSE

Ends - Kim Bond, Edsel Ford and Tullock, RU.

Tackles - Fritz, RU and Reardon, Bentley

Middle Guard - Harteg, Plymouth.

Linebackers - Respondek, RU and Mike Seid, Edsel Ford.

Defensive backs - Richmond, RU; Randy Owen, Edsel Ford; Mike Dansard, Belleville; and Doug Davis, Dearborn.

FIRST TEAM OFFENSE

Ends - Egloff, Plymouth and Rob Berce, Edsel Ford.

Tackles - Keith Simmons, Belleville and Reardon, Bentley.

Guards - Bruce Placek, Allen Park and Fritz, RU.

Center- Respondek, RU.

Quarterback - Mike Booth, Edsel Ford.

Backs - Don Trionfi, Allen Park; Burk, RU; and Frank Pizzo, Trenton.

SECOND TEAM DEFENSE

Ends - Frank Mohasci, Allen Park and Naudi, RU.

Tackles - Joe Arp, Allen Park and John Popp, Edsel Ford.

Middle Guard - Barker, RU.

Linebackers - Brian Lott, Allen Park and Burk, RU.

Defensive Backs - Gary Cline, Trenton; Jim Cameron, Edsel Ford; Petsch, RU; and Dave Meisner, Dearborn.

SECOND TEAM OFFENSE

Ends - Ralph Plummer, Edsel Ford and Naudi, RU.

Tackles - Ralph Griswold, Trenton and Humphrey, RU.

Guards - Doug Mehrhof, Trenton and Jim Taylor, Edsel Ford.

Center - John Myers, Belleville.

Quarterback - Glenn Richmond, RU.

Backs - Brian Lott, Allen Park; Mike Dansard, Belleville; and Tullock, RU.

Ski Heil

By

BILL CAMERON

Good news for skiers - Mt. Brighton will open for business Dec. 6. Gene Hill, congenial owner of the area, made this announcement at the Ladies Ski Day Registration and Fashion Show at the Livonia Family Y last week.

Instead of beginning our program on Jan. 6 as originally scheduled, the first session will be held on Dec. 16 at Mt. Brighton.

For those of you who have never been on skis, an orientation session will be held at the "Y" at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 8. We'll discuss skis, bindings, clothing, etc., and I'll even show you how to get up after you fall down.

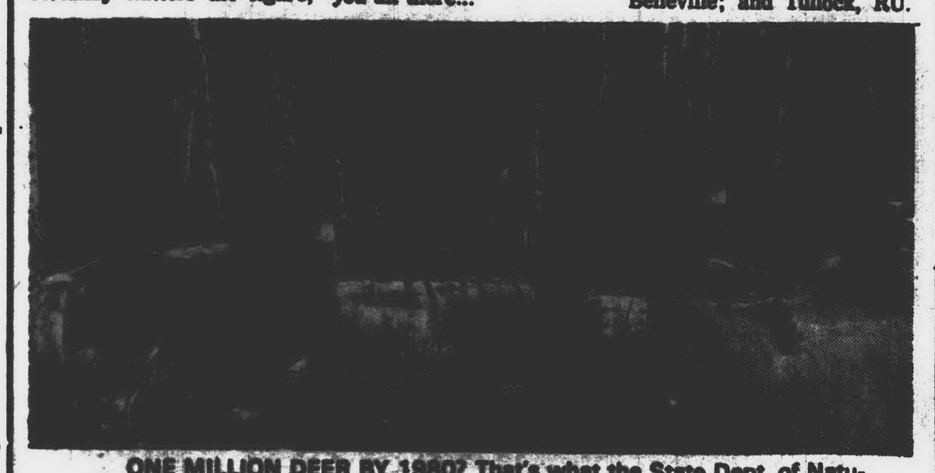
Remember we ski from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. each Thursday. Equipment rental, tow fee and lesson are $6 for those registered in the program. Sign up now at the Y, registration fee $3 for Y members, $5 for non-members.

Those of you who attended the fashion show were treated to a delightful display of ski clothes furnished by the Viking Ski Shop. Ski clothing certainly flatters the figure, although the gorgeous models we had would have looked good in anything.

THE GALS WERE impressed by the apré-ski clothes designed and made by Northville's Bud Shelton. Bud, as he prefers to be called, is just a "country boy from Kentucky", who has never been to a ski area, much less on skis. He accepted the challenge of designing 12 after ski outfits and worked so hard at it, that he came down with the flu the day of the show. He may call his shop the Rag Man Shop, but this is a very talented man.

DEADLINE FOR the Jan. 7-9 ski weekend at Timberlee is Wednesday, Dec. 8. Bring your tennis racket and bring your skis. Three couples to a condominium and meals and lift fees included. Call 261-2161 for more information.

Don't forget the A.Y.H. movie at Ford Auditorium next Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. Warren Miller will show his latest movie, "any snow, any mountain". The A.Y.H. series has traditionally been the kickoff for the ski season. See you all there...



ONE MILLION DEER BY 1980? That's what the State Dept. of Natural Resources hopes to achieve by initiating "deerland farming" to produce more deer food. Hopefully, Michigan's dwindling deer herd, now estimated at 400,000, will be more than doubled in the next 10 years as the result of the accelerated program of tree cuttings and other deer habitat improvements. Much of the habitat work will be carried out on a year-round basis, instead of mainly during the winter as it was in the past. Funds for the program to provide whitetails with a "full cupboard" are derived mainly from the state's recently boosted deer license fees.

Why Class Built 5 Game Shelters

By TIM RICHARD

If you want to know how to build a small game shelter, just ask 46 ninth grade biology students at Emerson Junior High School in Livonia.

They built five such shelters Saturday at the Proud Lake State Recreation Area.

They not only know how to build them, but they know why they're built the way they are.

Rabbits, woodchuck, field mice, opossum, red squirrels, game birds, skunks and even snakes can take shelter there from foxes, from the weather and from people. The shelters improve the habitat and the hunting.

"YOU PILE the logs and sticks in different directions. Rabbits can have different tunnels that way," said Cindy Hunter.

"You put big logs on the bottom -- crossways. At the end, you put bark on the windward side to block the wind," said Luanne Tavarozzi.

"We used maple, elm, white pine and scrub oak," said Vicki Urben. These shelters were mainly of hardwood and will last longer than ones made from discarded Christmas trees.

"Girls are better workers than boys," shouted the girls, who outnumbered the boys 3-1. The boys couldn't be heard if they disagreed.

IT TOOK more than young enthusiasm to build the shelters, however.

Hartley Thornton, naturalist at Proud Lake, spoke to the class one morning about the project.

Livonia Jaycees and friends provided some supervision and an ample noon meal. Andrew Struk was project chairman.

Guidance came from Hank Chruscial of the Western Wayne County Conservation Assn. and friends Jim Nicholas and Ed Goldstein.

School efforts were led by Principal Ferl Thomas and biology teacher Willis Bloxson.

Detroit Edison Co. donated trees it had cut.

When the students ran out of Edison's wood, they took to the woods and found fallen branches, logs, sticks and bark on their own.

If you want to know how to build a small game shelter, just ask the kids at Emerson.

TORTURE HELPS YOU

KEETH

Heating & Air Conditioning Co.

Don't get me wrong. I'm not advocating that you be tortured. I like you.

The torture I'm talking about is a different kind. It is a torture that benefits you and thousands of others. First, let me give you a little background music for this torture story:

How would you like to buy a suit of clothes that almost disintegrates the first time it is cleaned? Or an easy chair that collapses after six months? Irksome, indeed. But those things probably will never happen to you because you check the quality before you buy.

But how can you check the quality of the inside of a furnace before you buy? It's tough. You have to go by the reputation of the brand and the dealer . . . what they do to insure quality.

That's where the torture comes in. Lennox tortures its furnace designs. The heart of the furnace (the heat exchanger) is subjected to accelerated firing, overfiring, extreme cooling in rapid order . . . thus, in the laboratory, the tortured heat exchanger takes a beating in a few weeks that would take many years under normal operating conditions. The result is a heat exchanger design that stands up for years and years. Of course it is tested for top efficiency, too, so that you get economical operation as well as durability.

As far as I know no other manufacturer has a torture test for furnaces. It is another example of how Lennox goes to all extremes to assure customer security and satisfaction.

Those poor little heat exchangers are suffering for you . . . so that when we install your Lennox furnace you know you are getting the best!

19th District Dem Board Hits 'Unjust Attacks'

The 19th Congressional District Democratic executive board says it will come to the aid of officials threatened with recall or other "unjust attacks because of principled stands they take on social issues."

Chairman Aldo Vagnozzi, without directly mentioning the cross-district school bussing issue, said a number of "dedicated public servants" face attacks for "voting to support judicial interpretations of basic constitutional guarantees."

Vagnozzi himself recently faced a recall move as a member of the Farmington school board over a number of controversial items, though bussing wasn't one at the time. The recall attempt floundered.

The group's statement gave no details of what support officials under attack might expect.

The 19th District includes Redford Township, Livonia and Farmington in Observerland, along with the City of Northville and western Oakland County, including Pontiac.

THE FULL text of the executive board's statement says:

"In recent weeks a number of dedicated public officials have come under attack on the basis of their position of social issues which have become highly-charged and conducive to emotional rather than reasoned responses.

"Such excellent public servants as Michigan's U.S. Senator Philip Hart have become targets of vilification, recall campaigns and other outbursts, because they have dared express support for judicial interpretations of basic constitutional guarantees.

"Other lawmakers are being opposed because they refused to go along with a move which would place in jeopardy the Bill of Rights as well as the entire U.S. Constitution.

"STILL OTHERS who serve in local government and school boards are under pressure to either adopt statements in opposition to court rulings or to defy the law of the land under threat of recall or other punitive action.

"Many of these officials who occupy positions as Democrats are facing such attacks even though their actions are in line with party policy adopted in convention or by the State Central Committee.

"It is our belief that the use of the recall campaign to remove from office those persons who vote their conscience and in support of principle is a misuse of what basically should be a vehicle to remove officials who have committed some crime or who have betrayed their oath of office.

"The 19th Congressional District Democratic executive board, therefore, offers assistance to any dedicated public servant who faces such opposition for carrying out the duties of his office."

4th Party Picks Mrs. Havstad

Jeaneane Havstad of Livonia was elected Sunday "chair person" of the Human Rights Party in Michigan.

Mrs. Havstad, 30, of 38561 Grennada, will head the party for six months beginning in December.

Elected to the steering committee were Barbara Halpert, of Bloomfield Township; Nancy Berkhardt, Lynne Liston and Mike Foo all of Ann Arbor; Marilyn Baumgartner and Zolton Ferency of East Lansing; Gordon Caswell of Flint; and Howard Jones of Lansing.

The Human Rights Party organized one year ago.

MRS. HAVSTAD'S election makes her the third person with Observerland connections to be elected as the head of a political party in the state.

James McNeely, former Farmington teacher, heads the Democratic State Central Committee, and William Laughlin, of Northville, heads the Michigan Republican Party.

Active in the New Democratic Coalition of Livonia, Mrs. Havstad participated in bringing suit against Schoolcraft College to have election of trustees according to one-man, one-vote; the 19th District Congressional race, 14th District State Senate race, and local millage renewals and school elections.

She also was active in Sen. Eugene McCarthy's presidential campaign in 1968, Stop ABM campaign, grape boycott, Vietnam moratorium and related peace activities, and the Livonia Citizens for Better Human Relations.

Her husband, Pete, is a supervisor in Ford's turbine research department in Dearborn.

SC Foundation Officers Elected

The Schoolcraft Foundation has elected Jan Reef of Northville as president for 1971-72. He succeeds A. Russell Clarke of the same city.

Three vice presidents were elected. Norman Faustyn of Northville was returned to the post while President Emeritus Eric J. Bradner, Livonia, and Carl Johnson, Northville, are new electees.

THE FOUNDATION is a non-profit corporation chartered by the state and organized by residents of the Schoolcraft College district. It raises and administers endowment funds for student assistance and capital construction projects.

During 1970-71 the foundation established a memorial scholarship in the name of the late Rev. Francis J. Wojcik and a revolving loan fund in honor of Dr. Bradner. Contributions to these and the general scholarship fund totaled $1,700.

Mrs. Joyce Ludwig of Livonia was elected to continue as secretary for the organization. Dr. Mehdi Kianfar, Livonia, continues as assistant secretary, while Robert Cadotte, Livonia, and Russell Bogarin, director of financial aids at the college, will continue to serve as treasurer and assistant treasurer, respectively.

TWO SCHOOLCRAFT staff members were named to the board of trustees. Lawrence Gaitskill, political science instructor, will serve a one-year term, and Gerald Munro, director of personnel, will serve through September of 1974.

In addition to the officers and new trustees named, the board includes College trustees Leroy C. Bennett, Plymouth; Armen Barsamian, Livonia; Mrs. Violet Bradford, Northville; A. Russell Clarke, Northville.

Also, C. Phelps Hines, Northville; E.C. Imonen, Livonia; Philip R. Ogilvie, Northville; T.G. Rotary, Livonia; Gaylord Smith, Detroit, and Edmund Snyder, Plymouth.

Sawyer Fuller Sextet Leads S'field Loop

The Southfield Over-40 Men's Hockey League is still dominated by Sawyer Fuller Funeral Home, who lost to sixth-place Chamberlain Realty 2-1.

Star Lincoln Mercury, tied Team No. 4 3-1 and Northland Heating Co. defeated Chamberlain Realty, 4-3 in other games last week.

Magazine To Profile Our Eddie

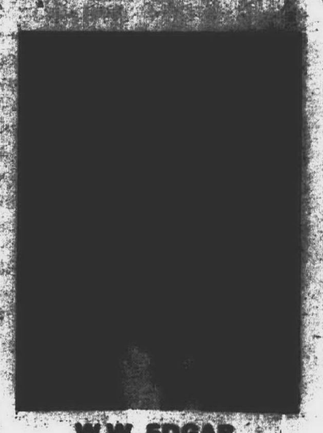
Not only will that pleasant phrase be directed many times Friday to Observer Newspapers' W. W. Edgar, but on Sunday the Detroit Free Press also will join in the accolade to the man who is believed to be the area's oldest working newsman.

An article in the Free Press magazine section will give the highlights of Edgar's 55 years in newspaper work, including his encounters with William Jennings Bryan, Boise Penrose, Edgar A. Guest, Ralph Greenleaf, Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Joe Louis and other greats in sports and politics.



W.W. EDGAR
Roving Editor

IT ACTUALLY was Guest who inspired Eddie to leave his beloved Pennsylvania Dutch country as a youth to try his hand as a cub sports writer with the Free Press in the early '20s. His stay there lasted 42 years, including service for a while as sports editor, and when he retired it only was to begin a new career as executive secretary of the Michigan Bowling Proprietors' Association.

Hailed as the man who did the most to boom the bowling industry in the metropolitan Detroit area in the '50s, Edgar had his second "retirement" in 1965 -- and quickly was back in the saddle again as the Observer's Plymouth editor.

The winner of many journalistic and service awards, Edgar was given the title of "roving editor" of Observer Newspapers in 1968. Since then he has been tireless in digging up some of the most fascinating news stories for the readers of all Observerland.

EDGAR'S OBSERVER column, "The Stroller," twice has been judged the state's best in Michigan Press Association competition, and some of the yarns he has spun in those writings will be recalled in the Free Press feature.

Included will be the tale of how Eddie happened to be sitting in the boat with Gar Wood when the latter broke the world's water speed record, and of how Eddie talked himself out of winning the Pulitzer Prize in journalism in 1931.

Happy birthday, Eddie -- and your thousands of friends hope there will be many more.

Cities' Road Funds Boosted

Observerland's cities and villages will receive increased funds from the third quarter Motor Vehicle Highway Fund collecton.

State Highway Director Henrik Stafseth said net receipts of the fund during July, August and September, increased by 4.8 per cent over the same period in 1970 to a total of $81,461,400.

Wayne County will receive $4,759,100 and Oakland County will receive $2,059,000.

OBSERVERLAND cities and villages will receive the following:

Beverly Hills, $34,152 ($25,302 in 1970); Bingham Farms $1,939 ($1,634); Farmington, $23,106 ($17,585); Franklin Village $9,842 ($7,969); Garden City, $96,988 ($89,257); Lathrup Village $13,705 ($11,747); Livonia $270,884 ($192,115); Plymouth $26,834 ($21,100); Quakertown, $2,589 ($1,870); Southfield $209,206 $132,853); Westland $190,722 ($167,233); and Wood Creek Farms, $3,583 ($2,701).

Cities get 20 per cent of the funds, while counties get 34 per cent and 46 per cent goes to the Department of State Highways.

Drop Juror Age To 18, Says Esch

U.S. Rep. Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor) testified before a House subcommittee on his bill that would change the minimum age qualification for serving as a juror from 21 to 18 years of age.

Esch asserted that his bill would complete a process begun by Congress when they gave 18-year olds first the right to vote in federal elections, and then, with the passing of the 26th Amendment, the right to vote in elections at every level.

"With this legislation, Congress has the opportunity to act once more to guarantee to young people the full measure of their rights as citizens and voters by granting to them the right to serve on Federal juries."

SINCE 1943, Esch has supported lowering the voting age to 18, and asserted that the very same arguments which he had used in favor of that action are ones which are persuasive in favor of this bill.

"The age of 21 years can no longer be looked upon as the magic threshold of civic responsibility. Nearly 80 per cent of the more than 11 million 18-21 year olds are high school graduates and more than half are engaged in higher education. Almost half of them are married. Three million of them have full-time jobs. Nearly 1 million are serving in the Armed Forces."

Esch added that an equally important argument was that young people will be encouraged to respect the judicial process if they are allowed full participation in that process.

ESCH ALSO pointed to a very pragmatic reason for the adoption of the legislation.

"The entire federal jury selection process is based upon the use of voter registration lists. Yet, with the lowering of the voting age to 18, such lists can no longer be the basis for the selection process unless the minimum age for jury service is made again equal to or compatible with the minimum age for voting."

Teamwork, Family Cut Mental Treatment Time

By MARGARET MILLER

Teamwork and a new kind of hospitalization are making a difference for many patients in Northville State Hospital.

The difference is spelled out in shorter hospitalization--often only day visits--and better understanding of his mental illness by himself and those close to him.

Involved are patients who live in Plymouth, Livonia, Northville and Redford Townships and are in the NSH Fieldbrook Unit.

In recent months, two innovations on the part of the Fieldbrook staff have made treatment more effective.

FIRST, the original diagnosis and evaluation brings in the patient and key members of his family as well the entire hospital team that will be treating him.

That has great advantages over the system of doctor meeting patient and then reporting to the family, said Dr. Abdul G. Riaz, Fieldbrook Unit director.

"We can evaluate how different members of the family react to the patient and see everything in action. Sometimes it turns out that other members of the family are in need of treatment."

And second, the patient spends very few nights in the hospital, often none at all. Instead of months of hospitalization, there may be an initial stay of six or seven days and then care in the day hospital.

COOPERATION is the key word in the fact that both new steps work for the patient.

"In the original evaluation," said Dr. Riaz, "we put the focus not just on one troubled individual but on a whole living situation in reference to that individual."

"Sometimes," pointed out Rita Gutowski, social worker on the NHS Fieldbrook team, "others besides family members are brought in--neighbors, lawyer, probation officer, any who touch the patient's life in a significant way."

"When we finish conferring," Dr. Riaz went on, "we work out a course of treatment.

"Everybody is willing to follow it if it isn't rammed down their throats. And we find we can pursue the treatment with little interference, because everybody understands."

IN MANY cases, Dr. Riaz said, the patient is told he needs no hospitalization but can go directly on to the day hospital care. That's good therapy in itself, he added.

Therapy in the day hospital involved individual consultation, group sessions, medication, and activities. Different members of the hospital team are in charge of the different areas.

"We used to have group sessions Mondays and Thursdays," Dr. Riaz reported. "Now it's Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday morning and Wednesday evening." Most groups have about eight participants.

RESPONSIBILITY and flexibility are key words in the treatment administered through the day hospital.

The patient himself learns to take responsibility for getting himself here and for making plans for lunch," Dr. Riaz said. "He also is given the responsibility for his own medication--we just give him the medicine in packets and instructions on when to take it."

He also said the program began as a loose-ended one and actually is still being structured.

"More changes are coming," said Dr. Riaz. "We're finding some patients need only part time treatment and can continue in their jobs. This is an important part of the treatment in this society where holding a job is a proof of worth.

"We hope soon to add an evening hospital, which would provide treatment for those employed all day."

AS A DRAMATIC example of changes the different treatment form can make, Dr. Riaz mentioned a young man who had been in another hospital for years.

"He is epileptic and retarded," the doctor said, "and his family wanted to transfer him here because they live in this area. But after only seven weeks here, we felt he was ready for day care. The family was concerned then because they were worried about possibilities like an epileptic seizure.

"But working with both the patient and the family, we have been able to make excellent progress on the day hospital system. We feel he should soon be ready for some sort of employment training so he can hold a job."

"The system, he said, is most workable in the Fieldbrook unit because commuting to the hospital is easy. It has the full endorsement of the staff.

"We must work harder," he said, "because when a problem develops, we can't put it off until the next day. We know the patient will be going home that night, so we must find a solution right then.

"We feel that intensive treatment and family support that have been part of this program are the best we've yet been able to offer the mentally ill."

THIS TEAM of Northville State Hospital staff members work together to evaluate treatment programs for new patients in the Fieldbrook Unit. Seated at the left is Dr. Abdul G. Riaz, unit director. The women seated are (from left) secretaries Pat Reed and Vicki Rogissart; social worker Rita Gutowski; Judy Coates, nurse; Jean Cava, social worker and Bessie Herring, nursing. Jail Renovation Committee Named

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has formed a special committee to maintain liaison between the board, the Sheriff's department and the courts system while litigation is under way regarding the county jail.

Chairman of the new seven-member committee is Joseph F. Young, of Detroit, D-District 4.

Among members are Richard Manning (D-Redford) and John McCann (D-Livonia).

"Our chief responsibility will be to watch over progress of the jail renovation program," said Young.

"We will keep the full board advised at all times, and try to do everything possible to insure that the renovation program is accomplished as quickly as possible," he added.

The committee will also sit through court proceedings and confer with the three-judge panel which ordered the jail renovated, he said.

Judges Victor J. Baum, Richard M. Maher and John D. O'Hair ordered the improvements following a civil suit filed in behalf of jail inmates.

Members of the committee were appointed by Board Chairman Robert E. Fitz-Patrick.

CP Drops Vandalism Case; Police Protest

LIVONIA

Charges of malicious destruction of property lodged against a Consumers Power Co. employe stemming from strike violence have been dropped by the company, say Livonia police who are "disappointed" with the company's action.

The charges against Harold Underwood, 40, of 200 South Crown, Westland, were dropped by the company last week. Underwood, who is still an employe of the company, has "received discipline" directly by the company, a Consumers Power Co. spokesman told the Observer.

During the three-month strike of the gas utility company, Consumers Power took out full page ads in Observer Newspapers and other papers asking the public to help the company stop destruction of company property by striking employes.

Consumers also offered a $1,000 reward to anyone giving information leading to the arrest and conviction of any company employes causing damage or using violence during the strike.

THE STRIKE, which began May 11, was marred by several incidents of violence and heated bargaining although only one incident of violence was reported locally.

The lighted sign and 16 gas lights at the Consumer Power Co. area headquarters, 11801 Farmington Rd., Livonia, were damaged in a July 17 incident attributed to hostile strikers by Consumer officials and police.

Underwood's arrest followed that incident.

According to police, a woman who lived in the Consumer plant area called that night to report that two men carrying picket signs were vandalizing the utility company's property.

SGT. RUSSELL E. McQuaid, who responded to that report and followed up the police department's investigation of the incident, said that police would like to have continued with prosecution and were "disappointed" with the company's move to dismiss the charges against Underwood.

McQuaid and Lt. William R. Collins said they would press the company to pay the $1,000 reward to the Livonia woman who reported the incident and upon whose testimony the warrant was issued for Underwood's arrest. Police declined to identify the woman.

A Consumers Power Co. spokesman said the company would probably follow through with the reward.

Santa's Arrival Nov. 20

Santa Claus and his welcoming parade will arrive Nov. 20 at Wonderland Center, Plymouth and Middle Belt.

The parade will contain the 80-piece Franklin High School marching band, under the direction of Pamela Haltom. And 40 majorettes from the Livonia-Redford Dad's Club of St. Robert Bellarmine Catholic Church will act as the baton honor guard.

Other personalities will include Ricky the Clown and CKLW-TV's Mr. Whoodini the Magician.

From Nov. 20 to Christmas, Santa Claus will be located on the west end of the mall every day.

Another attraction at Wonderland will be the display of partridges on a pear tree and a pair of fallow deer. These exhibits will be located at the west end of the mall, and like Santa will be open daily during regular center hours.

C'ville Band To Present Free Concert

The Clarenceville Junior High School Band, under the direction of Ted Mallares, will present a concert this evening (Nov. 17) at 7:30 in the L.E. Schmidt Auditorium, 29155 Middle Belt, Livonia.

Francesco Di Blasi will be guest soloist. Playing an unusual gold-plated trumpet from Germany, he will be heard in the solo "The Bugler" by Edwin Franko Goldman. Di Blasi was for many years a member of the trumpet section of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Also on the program will be works by Karl King, Meredith Willson, Jaime Texidor, Lennon and McCartney, Percy Faith and Claire Grundeman.

The concert is free and open to the public.

Private Tutoring Firm Flunks Its Local Public School Test

By LEONARD POGER

WESTLAND

A private tutoring firm put its techniques and equipment into a Westland elementary school last spring in the hope that private enterprise could work in public schools.

The firm was involved for one term in the Jefferson School, in the Wayne-Westland Community Schools, on the basis that it would be paid only if students improved their reading performance.

The program, called performance contracting, had the firm, Learning Foundations, Inc., flunk its first test.

A report to the school board last week by the curriculum and instruction department showed that the company failed to achieve what it had to do in the Jefferson School.

RESULTS of the tests given before and after the private firm put its techniques and equipment into the school showed that the company may get nearly $1,500 out of a possible maximum of $10,500.

But the nearly $1,500 will be paid only if the students who reached a pre-set level of reading achievement retain that level by next month.

If not, the company will get even less money, although there is a possibility that more students will get higher scores and result in more funds paid to Learning Foundations.

The performance contract was part of a special Section III program financed by more than $80,000 in state funds.

The program has two goals. One was to improve the level of reading achievement among 150 third, fourth, fifth, and sixth graders at the Jefferson School.

The other was to provide more in-service training for Jefferson School teachers so that they would more quickly recognize learning disabilities among kindergarten, first, second, and third graders.

DISCUSSING the performance contract results with The Observer last week were Dr. Kenneth Carlson, coordinator of language arts-reading, and Dr. Richard Zubulake, research consultant and head of program evaluation.

Dr. Carlson said that the program "wasn't successful because it didn't raise the reading comprehension of students as much as Learning Foundations, Inc. had hoped.

"There is a good reason for that. The program didn't have enough reading comprehension in it since the emphasis was on vocabulary development, spelling, and word analysis."

DR. CARLSON said that the private firm "learned a lot about the limitations of their program" at Jefferson School.

He indicated that the 150 pupils in the program "didn't have the time to put all of the elements together and read with speed."

Dr. Carlson added that Learning Foundations and the students didn't have enough time in less than one term "to get a constellation of skills."

He said that Learning Foundations' program wasn't "rich enough in materials and techniques" and the firm made some adjustments in its materials to make them more challenging.

THERE WERE some advantages of the program, Carlson and Zubulake pointed out.

The learning center in the school, which had a room converted with carpeting, decorations and auditory equipment, will remain in the elementary school.

The learning center, in which the 150 students took part in the performance contract program, can be used as an extension of the classroom and with more flexibility, Dr. Carlson said.

The equipment installed by Learning Foundations will remain and more will be added to extend the program to math as well as reading.

THE TWO curriculum officials declined to make any specific comments on whether performance contracts will be utilized by the school district in the future.

But they pointed out that the school district learned a lot about strengths and weaknesses of standardized tests, used to measure the reading level of students; learned about performance contracting; had the instructional facilities at Jefferson School improved; and improved the in-service education of teachers at the school.

Zubulake said that the standardized test "doesn't measure what we're getting at and we should have other kinds of tests.

But he stressed that it takes many years to develop a test.

CARLSON and Zubulake had positive comments about the in-service training feature of the Section III state grant, which is aimed at improving achievement in reading and math through a concentrated effort.

The purpose of the in-service training is to "show teachers how they could zero in on learning problems of pupils earlier than in the past."

The program's emphasis is on teacher training and upgrading their skills in the identification and correcting of learning problems in reading and math.

The in-service training sessions were held with several professors from the Wayne State University college of education.

THIS GIANT BRIDGE will carry the Haggerty corridor of the I-96 freeway over the Schoolcraft corridor on the outskirts of Livonia. When completed, the Jeffries freeway will stretch 26 miles from downtown Detroit out Schoolcraft and Haggerty and tie into the Grand River freeway on the west side of Farmington. (Observer photo)

Necker New HCMA Supervisor

William D. Necker, former administrative assistant at Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford, will become supervisor of Delhi, Dexter-Huron and Hudson Mills Metropolitan Parks, northwest of Ann Arbor, effective Jan. 1, 1972.

This was announced by James J. Pompo, deputy director of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, which has nine parks serving the citizens of Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne Counties.

Necker joined the HCMA in January of 1967 and was first assigned to Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica, where he was on the grounds maintenance crew. He was promoted to administrative assistant at Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford in November of 1967. In his new post, Necker will succeed Brenton W. Schultz, Sr., who will retire on Dec. 31, 1971.

Prior to joining the HCMA, Necker was superintendent of parks and forestry for the City of Ypsilanti.

Property Tax Solution Leads To Other Problems

By Philip H. Power
Publisher

Some sage once observed that you never solve one problem without two others cropping up to take its place.

Such is the case with the three major problems facing us in the suburbs today: local property tax financing for schools; "open suburbs," meaning not only to what degree black people but also poor people can live in the suburbs; and cross-district bussing of school children.

The property tax issue seems on the way to being settled. Gradually the argument that the property tax is unfair, inequitable, and outdated is gaining ground. Recently a court in California ruled that the property tax is unconstitutional because it is inequitable, and a similar case is pending here in Michigan.

Governor Milliken and some Democrats have finally agreed to work to cut the property tax and substitute it with some kind of income tax as the base for school financing, and a petition drive to this end has been started.

Although it may take time, it's safe to say that the days of dependence on the property tax are numbered.

CONSIDER, however, the implications of this step for another less discussed but equally important matter, "open suburbs."

In the past few years, the drive to escape the big cities has spread beyond the middle class to blacks, blue collar workers and the poor. Their reasons for wanting out are the same as led many of us to the suburbs in the first place: fear of crime; deteriorating property values; need for good schools; desire for peace, quiet and the good life.

Many suburban communities, however, have erected towering barriers against this movement. Some zoning rules require large lots, single family residences, expensive construction, materials, sidewalks and sewers. All these are designed to make a community more attractive, but they also have the effect of raising the price of a home in such communities far above the reach of most poor or blue collar or black people.

A recent article in Newsweek Magazine called the problem of the open suburb, "The major domestic social and political battle of the decade ahead." Although I might not agree with Newsweek's rhetoric, it's clear that the problem is pretty important.

IT'S ALSO closely related to the reduction of the property tax.

Here's how.

Most responsible officials here in the suburbs argue that even a modest influx of low income families places an intolerable strain on already overstretched budgets and local services.

Economists have proved that even federally-subsidized low-cost housing rarely pays its way in suburbia. 1) It fails to enlarge the property tax base per capita in the same way as a single family house. 2) Since low cost housing is usually inhabited by families who have more children than the norm, it requires more public expense for schools. 3) Because there seems to be some relationship between high density housing and crime, welfare and pollution, such housing will lead to a disproportionate demand for increased government services and thus expenditures.

Given these facts, and given the fact that the local property tax constitutes the main source for city and school financing, many people have constructed economically valid arguments against allowing low income families to live in suburban communities.

BUT CONSIDER what happens if the property tax is eliminated or cut to a low, flat rate statewide, and is replaced by an income tax.

Suburban financing, instead of being on a community-by-community basis, will be lumped over a region or over the entire state. And if that's the case, the increased strain on finances brought about by low income families moving to the suburbs will be borne not by a single community but by a pool of wider tax revenue.

In that event, the economic argument against low income families moving to the suburbs is damaged, and the whole argument is thrown back to a much more emotional level.

FROM THIS it's easy to see the relationship between reduction of the property tax and the other big suburban issue, cross district bussing.

One good argument against bussing is that it places an unfair economic strain on those communities into which children are bussed.

But if education is to be financed by statewide income and property taxes, the general pool of resources so generated can easily be spread around to pay for the added burden bussed children put on a local school district.

ALL THIS sounds pretty bleak.

Here we thought we were on the brink of solving one of our biggest problems in the property tax, only to find that the solution creates even bigger problems ahead.

But if they are there, it's better to become aware of them now, so that they can be faced in time rather than come as a surprise.

And further, my guess is that like all problems we foresee in the future, the problems of open suburbs and bussing will take many unpredictable twists and turns before they are finally resolved.

Board Needs Strong Stand

Failing to place their candidates on the Schoolcraft College board of trustees, the Faculty Forum, which represents a majority segment of the teaching staff, and the Student Senate, elected representatives of the student body, are taking a new line of attack to get seats at the table with the trustees at all regular meetings.

The two groups plan to make a formal request of the board at its Wednesday meeting (tonight) for seats at the conference table . . . to serve in an advisory capacity.

These same groups, for the first time since the college started operations 10 years ago, endorsed slates of candidates for the board at the recent election.

As it turned out on election day, the voters ignored the endorsements and closely followed recommendations of the Observer Newspapers. These recommendations came only after members of the Observer staff personally interviewed all of the candidates and attended meetings at which practically all appeared and gave their views on the Schoolcraft College situation.

Those receiving endorsements of the Observer Newspapers were entirely different from those supported by the two groups with one or two exceptions.

THUS, IT may be that the Faculty Forum and the Student Senate feel it is necessary to have seats at the conference table at meetings . . . otherwise they wouldn't be trying to pressure through such an action.

Why do we bring up this matter? For the simple reasons that we don't believe the Forum or the Student Senate should be seated with the board.

The trustees are elected by voters from the five districts that make up the college supporters. They come from Livonia, Plymouth, Garden City, Clarenceville and Northville. They have been selected to handle affairs for the five communities.

Perhaps the big reason we object to the proposals of the Forum and Senate is that each has had an opportunity since the first day the college opened to offer advice at the board meetings.

Each has had a seat, just beyond the conference table, for representatives and each generally has had a person in attendance. In practically every instance where a matter came up that involved the students or the faculty, that representative was asked by the board chairman to express views.

WE FAIL to see the value of placing two more at the conference table, even though only as advisors. The opportunity has been presented in the past and will be presented at all future meetings for the Forum and Student Senate members to speak their piece.

If they didn't agree with the board, they were allowed to state their reasons for opposing.

If they have had the opportunity while seated just off the conference table, what is to be gained by placing two more persons along with the trustees and administrators?

Abe's Style Best

Friday is the 108th anniversary of President Abraham Lincoln's dedication speech at the national cemetery near the battlefield of Gettysburg, Pa., a speech that is as thrilling to read today as ever.

In part Lincoln lives today because of what he said; in part, because of how he said it. His thoughts are crisp and direct, his language lofty without being hi-falutin'.

But what if Abe Lincoln hadn't written in his style? Suppose he had written in the jargon of an educator – a governmental or corporate bureaucrat –or worst of all, a military man. What would the Gettysburg address sound like?

It is a question I pondered a few years back while snickering at the pomposities that a second lieutenant had posted on a military bulletin board. So I borrowed his favorite phrases, recast the Lincoln speech into the style of DOD and USAF (that's Dept. of Defense and U.S. Air Force, for the uninitiated), and it came out like this:

"ON 4 JULY 1776 our prior officials announced the issuance on this continent of an updated nation, formulated in liberalized authorizations and in commitment to the policy that all personnel are created on an equilibrated plane.

"Effective 12 April 1861 we are mobilized in great inter-state combat activities, determining whether the above nation or any ally, neutral or hostile nation so conceptualized and so dedicated, can long be in endurance.

"We personnel are in formation on a great scene of operations of that interstate conflict. We are in participation to designate a portion of that scene of operations, as a terminal interment place for those who met their demise that that nation might remain functional. It is altogether in conformance with established procedures that we accomplish this.

"BUT IN A maximized sense, we cannot designate--we cannot commission--we cannot regulate--this ground-level area. The obedient personnel, ready and expired, who were engaged here, have commissioned it far above our limited authorization to supplement or delete...

"It is for us the ready personnel, contrariwise, to be commissioned here to the uncompleted mission which they who combatted here have thus far so efficiently effectuated...

"That we here adopt a maximized resolution that these deceased personnel shall not have expired ineffectually – that the above-stated nation, under the Great Commander, shall have a new series of liberal codes, regulations, manuals and authorizations –

"And that government of the personnel, by the personnel and for the personnel shall not cease to be operational."

Bussing Has Strange Riders

School busses carry students from their homes to a public school and back again at the end of the day.

But with the cross-district bussing controversy riding through the metropolitan Detroit area, there are some more passengers on the familiar yellow bus.

THOSE PASSENGERS are some prominent people who are trying to make some obvious political capital of the bussing issue.

In fact, if things go far enough, every political candidate may open his public comments with the phrase, "I'm opposed to cross-district bussing" and then go on to tell people why he is the best man for mayor (or city council or school board trustee or township board member).

Anyone who has been to any bussing rallies attended by more than five persons in the past month has seen former State Sen. Robert Huber on hand. If he isn't there, then there is his state income tax reform group armed with petitions in the back of the hall where the rally is being held.

ANOTHER guy who is trying to ride the yellow school bus for all the political mileage he can get out of it is Harvey Moelke, former Livonia mayor.

In the weeks before last June's Livonia school board election, the former mayor and his supporters announced a sudden recall petition drive in a move to defeat two Livonia school board members seeking re-election.

The move was partially successful in that one of the two incumbents lost while the other won another term.

Now the recall drive has reached new heights--or should it be called the lowest depths?

PERSONS with recall petitions have been manning booths at Livonia Mall, telling shoppers that several school board members are in favor of cross-district bussing.

This flat allegation, combined with a petition shoved in front of the busy shopper, can prove to be political dynamite in the hands of the uninformed.

That the board members involved in the recall campaign are actually opposed to cross-district bussing and opposed the resolution for entirely other reasons seems to carry little weight with the people heading the recall drive.

ANOTHER party taking advantage of the bussing controversy is Redford Township Clerk Ruth Sullivan, who also happens to be opposed to reform of Wayne County's antiquated government.

At a Redford chapter meeting of the National Action Group (NAG), Mrs. Sullivan made some arguments that county home rule would deprive local communities of various powers and give county officials the right to tax people without a public vote.

That may be all fine and dandy, but what does county home rule have to do with bussing at a NAG meeting?

Also at the meeting in Redford was former Sen. Huber, who contended that giving the vote to 18-year-olds is an indication "how we are losing control of the government," according to a release from the Redford NAG group.

That is where we came in.

Let's hope the bus makes a stop someplace and dumps some unwanted passengers off at their front door.

The West Bloomfield - Farmington Area League of Women Voters commends Observer Newspapers for the publication of two articles which appeared in your Oct. 13 edition.

"Bussing: What Rights Do Parents Have?" and Tim Richard's "What 'Equal Protection of Laws' Means To Taxes" were written with intelligence and clarity.

These articles were instrumental in diminishing rumor and removing some of the confusion and distortion which surround the bussing issue.

By offering your readers this type of calm and factual coverage, the Observer exerts a cogent and patient influence. You are to be encouraged to continue this policy.

Rep. Stempien Aids Schools

EDITOR:

As a public school board member and party officer, I have been personally acquainted with State Rep. Marvin Stempien's strong support of educational reform and of relief for our over burdened property taxpayer since he was first elected in 1964.

We should all be able to recall his great success in securing special state funds for Livonia public schools during the Nankin Mills crisis and his continuing fight for a state constitutionul amendment to stop the annual property tax assessment increases.

The letter of Republican Chairman Kettunen that appeared in your letter box is certainly an unfair and untrue opinion of Stempien.

The documented record shows that Rep. Stempien has established himself as a leader in the fight for improved education not only for his own Livonia-Northville district but for the entire state.

Stempien's excellent performance in the Legislature was recognized by his colleagues when they elected him to the key House post of majority floor leader.

This is no time for cheap, partisan political shots at devoted public servants. All of us must put aside trying to make political hay out of the crisis faced by education and work for the reforms that are needed. That has been the posture taken by Stempien. He needs assistance, not carping criticism based on strictly political considerations.

This is the time for all supporters of improved education to join forces and work for the necessary reforms. Won't you join us, Mr. Kettunen?

Critic Wrong On Stempien

EDITOR:

Hooray for Rep. Marvin Stempien. Again he has proven that he has the courage to vote his convictions in spite of the heat of political pressure.

But the petty partisan criticism of Livonia GOP campaign chairman George Kettunen in a recent letter to your newspaper indicates an obvious distortion of the voting record of a sincere and respected representative.

Your editor's note after the letter shows the real truth of Rep. Stempien's opposition to forced bussing of school children. Chairman Kettunen does a disservice to your readers and to the Republican Party when he so obviously misstates the facts.

Liberalism Distorted

EDITOR:

The term and the concept of "liberalism" has been so abused and misused in the deceitful propagation of Marx's atheistic materialism, it would be well to define the term to better understand real political trends of the day. The opening paragraph under the heading of "liberalism" continued in my home reference encyclopedia begins thusly:

"The term liberalism is difficult to define in precise terms, both because individualism and tolerance form the hard core of the philosophy, and because in the past hundred years many groups with opposing programs have called themselves liberals."

The American concept of liberalism is a political philosophy and political creed that dates back to the defeat of Napoleon. It reached a zenith of philosophical writing in the 17th and 18th centuries appearing particularly in the works of John Locke and Jeremy Bentham.

Locke's "Two Treatises on Civil Government" contain ths political thinking that inspired the American Revolution and the writing of the Declaration of Independence and our Constitution.

The Declaration of Independence yet stands today as one of the better definitions of liberalism ever reduced to writing. The basic tenets of the creed are individualism, tolerance, and laissez-faire government.

Now come the false ones and followers of Marx and offer their opposing programs, all the while calling themselves "liberals." They offer us collectivism as opposed to individualism; interdependence as opposed to independence; intolerance as opposed to tolerance; and totalitarian dictatorship as opposed to laissez-faire government.

A comparative study of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, as compared to the Communist Manifesto, will offer better enlightenment on the matters of the American creed of liberalism and the Marxist creed of pseudo - liberalism.

A comparative study of these two historical documents will offer excellent enlightenment about the ideological conflict now existing in the nation, and offer best explanation about the polarization of politics now transpiring.

Local Charters Hit By Plymouth Case

An Observer Roundup

Observerland cities may have to look over their qualifications for city councilmen in the wake of Federal Judge Damon Keith's ruling in a Plymouth case.

Judge Keith ruled unconstitutional the entire section of the Plymouth city charter setting up candidates' qualifications.

Plymouth had required that members of the city commission be property owners for two years prior to the election and be residents for two years.

The Plymouth City Commission decided Monday night to ask the U.S. District Court of Appeals to reverse Keith's ruling on the city charter two-year residency requirement. The commission voted against appealing the property qualification ruling.

ONLY PLYMOUTH, among Observerland cities, had a property ownership rule. Other cities set these residency requirements in their charters:

- Farmington–three years. Voters Nov. 2 rejected overwhelmingly a proposal to reduce this to one year. The city council had sought the change to make annexation more palatable to some township areas.
- Garden City – one year.
- Lathrup Village – two years.
- Livonia – two years.
- Southfield – two years.

In all cases, a candidate must be a registered voter. Often other requirements are set, such as that he must never have been convicted of a felony.

Ironically, the oldest city – Garden City, whose charter is nearly 40 years old – has the most liberal residency requirement, one year.

IF TWO YEARS is unconstitutional, what will satisfy Judge Keith? His opinion said:

"Nothing in the opinion is to be construed as denying the City of Plymouth the right to fashion constitutionally acceptable requirements to stand for office, e.g., being a qualified elector."

> "In our opinion, a candidate is not like fine vintage wine. His years of residency in a particular community do not necessarily make him a better candidate."
>
> —Judge Damon Keith

To be a qualified elector, one must be 18, a citizen of the U.S., a resident of the state six months and of the precinct 30 days prior to the election.

The challenge to Plymouth's charter was brought by Mahlon Green, a 22-year-old renter who had lived in Plymouth in the past and recently moved back.

JUDGE KEITH needled the Plymouthites, who capitalize on the city's colonial facade, with this remark:

"In our opinion, a candidate is not like fine vintage wine. His years of residency in a particular community do not necessarily make him a better candidate. . .

"If a short sojourn in the community is considered to be a disqualification, the electorate may voice its sentiment at the ballot box."

The voters of Plymouth took Judge Keith at his word. Despite all the headlines Mahlon Green got in winning his case, with the decision delayed until shortly before election day, he finished a dismal last in a field of eight.

THE CASE FOR a residency requirement was stated by Judge Keith, then just as quickly knocked down:

"A two-year residency requirement assumes that the candidate will be sufficiently knowledgeable of the problems of the city and presumably more able than one who has resided there for less than two years. . .

"There is no suggestion that Plymouth is such an inordinately complex community that plaintiff (Green), or those similarly situated, require two years to familiarize themselves with the city."

If Damon Keith's name sounds familiar, it may be because he used to be chairman of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission and ruled that Pontiac's public schools must be racially integrated by bussing.

Moreover, Keith used the same section of the U.S. Constitution in both cases – the "equal protection of the laws" phrase in the 14th amendment.

AN ANGRY retort to Keith's opinion came from former Plymouth City Commissioner Arch Vallier, now a member of the Schoolcraft College board.

Vallier pointed out the president of the U.S. must be a native-born citizen and 35 years of age; a U.S. senator, 30 years of age, nine years a citizen and an "inhabitant" of his state; and a representative, 25 years of age, seven years a citizen and an "inhabitant" of the state (though not necessarily of the congressional district).

In Michigan, the governor must be 30 and a registered voter in the state for four years preceding the election. Judges must be licensed attorneys and not older than 70.

Vallier, however, conveniently bypassed another section of the Michigan constitution. It says a state legislator must be 21 and a registered voter in the district he represents. There is no other residency requirement.

In other words, the qualifications are easier for a state legislator than they were for a Plymouth city commissioner – or a councilmen in any other Observerland municipality.

VALLIER ALSO cited state qualifications for some jobs – two years as a licensed real estate salesman before one can become a broker, eight years of experience (or four years formal schooling and four years experience) before one can become a professional, licensed engineer.

If he had wanted to be sarcastic, he could have cited rules governing plumbers who want to become journeymen.

Thus, it is a fact that one must show himself to be literate to get the lowliest clerical job in city hall, but an illiterate who has just moved into town may serve on the governing body that makes the town's laws.

Bendix Net Up, But Sales Dip

SOUTHFIELD Bendix Corp. reported earnings in its 1971 fiscal year totaled $42,127,000 or $2.56 per share, a 31 per cent per share increase over 1970 earnings of $32,286,000 or $1.95 per share.

Sales, royalties and other operating income were $1,612,808,000 in the fiscal year which ended Sept. 30, compared to $1,680,125,000 restated for the previous year.

FOURTH QUARTER results in fiscal 1971 showed earnings of $14,001,000 or 85 cents per share, compared to $6,739,000 or 41 cents per share a year ago.

Sales, royalties and other operating income in the final quarter were $404,170,000 compared to $399,941,000 in the fourth quarter of 1970 restated.

Bendix sales and income for the year included for the first time the operations of all foreign subsidiaries and Bendix' share of the earnings of those associated foreign companies in which it has more than a 20 per cent equity interest. Prior year figures were restated on a comparable basis. All of the figures were announced on a preliminary and unaudited basis.

The 1970 figures do not include an extraordinary charge of $5,000,000 or 30 cents per share.

The earnings per share figures are computed on the basis of an average of 16,482,000 common and common equivalent shares outstanding in fiscal 1971 and 16,587,000 in 1970.

BENDIX IS A worldwide manufacturer of electronic, automotive, aerospace, industrial and forest products.

A.P. Fontaine, Bendix chairman and chief executive officer, described the earnings increase as "very encouraging, especially in view of continuing difficult economic conditions and a slight decline in sales."

New Girl Scout Troop Special In Many Ways

Some of the most enthusiastic Girl Scouts you'll find anywhere in this area are members of a brand new troop at the Beechview School in Farmington.

Its members are the girls in the special education classes for trainable children.

And its leader, almost as excited as the girls about this new turn in scouting, is Mrs. Judy Stanley of West Bloomfield, who comes to Beechview each week to enjoy a session that utilizes her training in teaching the retarded and her experience in the Girl Scout program.

THE WEEKLY meeting of Junior Troop 225 takes place during school hours.

While it is going on, Mrs. Nancy Viles and Marylou Seldon, special education teachers, have some projects going for the boys in the classes.

They had been hoping for a long time to begin some special enrichment program like Girl Scouting for the retarded youngsters in the classes, Mrs. Stanley said.

Because the children are bussed to Beechview, after school meetings were out, she added, so school officials gave permission for meetings during school hours.

"WE'VE BEEN MEETING since the first of October," Mrs. Stanley said, "and we've sold calendars and are planning to go winter camping--doing all the Girl Scout things.

"Just now we're working on the art in the round badge and the girls are enjoying working with glass, wire sculpture and papier mache."

Jody Budde, also a special ed teacher at Beechview, is assistant troop leader, and others on the staff lend their support.

"The teachers have been so enthusiastic, it makes my job easy," Mrs. Stanley said.

"THE TROOP'S investiture came a couple of weeks ago," the leader said, "and that was when the girls wore their uniforms for the first time.

"You never saw any Girl Scouts as proud. One mother told me her daughter got up at 5 in the morning to put it on. And they all knew the Girl Scout promise and managed to get their three fingers up to say it. Some of them have coodination problems, you know, so that was quite a feat."

The program is proving so successful, Mrs. Stanley said, that there are plans to extend it to the Eagle School where there are classes of physically handicapped children.

"We have the permission to go ahead, and there's a lot of enthusiasm among the girls there and their parents," she said. "It will be started sometime this year or next September for sure."

WHEN IT GETS under way, Mrs. Stanley will take over as leader, adding to a schedule that already includes a Brownie troop in West Bloomfield and volunteering at her neighborhood school three days a week.

Mrs. Stanley is a graduate of Kansas State University and taught slow-learners in Pasadena for five years. She also served as director of a school for the retarded in Atlanta, and has been an active Girl Scout leader for five years.

Her husband, L. Eugene Stanley, is director of marketing for Omni Spectra, Inc., in Farmington.

Besides a son, they have two daughters--both Girl Scouts, of course.

Irené Kampen Scores

'Humorous Writer' Is Funny Speaker, Too

By MARGARET MILLER

"I had a large house with a large mortgage, a sinkful of dirty dishes, a hungry daughter and two hungry cats.

"So I did the only thing I could think of -- sat down and wrote a book."

And that was how Irene Kampen changed her status from that of "professional ex" to "humorous writer," she told a delighted Northville Town Hall audience last week.

UP TO THEN, she explained to the ladies and Northville High students, she had been an ex-wife, ex-student, ex-saleslady, ex-taker of public opinion polls and ex-columnist in the local newspaper.

That book, she said, was "about all the terrible things that had happened to me, written to make them seem terribly funny," and it was titled "Life Without George."

It changed Mrs. Kampen's life because it was sold to television as a basis for "The Lucy Show," starring Lucille Ball.

"They didn't change it too much," Mrs. Kampen said in answer to a question during the celebrity luncheon in Farmington's Holiday Inn, "except that they made Lucy a widow instead of a divorcee, which I was.

"I guess they didn't want to sully her reputation. So the year that series started running she divorced Desi Arnaz."

MRS. KAMPEN also gave her audience rib - tickling commentaries on several of the other books she has written since "Life Without George" in 1961.

Like her most famous, "Due to Lack of Interest, Tomorrow has been Canceled."

"That was a graffiti I found at the University of Wisconsin when I went back to finish up my undergraduate work for a degree in journalism," she said.

"I should mention that my second - favorite graffiti from that period was 'Candy is dandy but sex doesn't rot your teeth,' and that I never felt so old in my life as I did then."

If she had to choose the most traumatic experience of her life, she said, it would be a toss-up between breaking her leg at the close of skiing research for "Last Year at Sugar Bush -- the Confessions of a Fallen Woman," and the wedding of her daughter that came out in print as "Here Comes the Bride -- There Goes Mother."

"You ladies who have been mothers of the bride will want to relive that time with me," she told her audience. "You who have been mothers of the groom can do exactly what you did during the wedding preparations -- absolutely nothing."

SHE ALSO TOLD of her experiences spending a week losing six pounds at a beauty spa.

"What you get for all that money," she said, "is 600 calories a day -- beautifully presented.

"At breakfast they bring you a tray with an egg and a rose. You eat the egg, and sometimes you eat the rose."

Her most recent book, she said, recounts her experiences traveling in Russia with Russian - born Nila Magidoff, and now, she added, she's working on one "about women like me."

"They're the ones," she explained, "who would like to stay home and do nothing but can't because it's not meaningful, not relevant."

A Wheelchair Can't Daunt Wedding Plans

A wheelchair played a major role in the romance of Linda Danic and Richard Knight of Westland.

And after they're married Nov. 20 in St. Damian Catholic Church, it will continue to be ever-present in their home. It's a fact of life they accept but keep in perspective.

Knight was injured in a diving accident in a back-yard pool in Taylor in June of 1966.

HE SUFFERED a severed spine and was treated in Veterans' Hospital until last July, when he moved to the Riverbank Convalescent Home in Livonia.

Linda was working there as an aide.

"We met when I went into shave him one day," she said later. "I knew right away he was different -- intelligent and nice to talk to.

"Before long I found I couldn't stay out of that room."

DICK, WHO HAD worked nearly 15 years as a telephone lineman, was at that point studying accounting as a means of making his living from a wheelchair.

But early in October he slipped a diamond ring on Linda's finger and decided to accept a position as a distributer of home cleaning products.

The couple set their wedding date and purchased a trailer home that they will locate in Canton Township.

Dick also took an evaluation test and learned he'll be able to drive and can get special equipment to help him get himself from wheelchair to car.

That way, he can be on his own on the job and Linda will continue working at the nursing home for a while.

WHILE WEDDING and therapy plans are being completed, Dick has moved from Riverbank to stay temporarily at the home of Linda's mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. H. Holzinger.

"I used to hate her days off," Dick grinned. "Now I hate to see her go to work."

He has no hope of walking again. "Not unless they can come up with a new way to repair an injury like mine," he said, "and the doctors I've talked to indicate that's not likely in this century."

But the continuing presence of a wheelchair in their marriage doesn't daunt this young couple at all.

"We understand there are plenty of adjustments we'll have to make," Dick said. "But we're going to make it work," his future wife added.

This Lady Boy Scout Now Is A Silver Fawn

JOYCE WHEELOCK with her citation . . .

Mrs. Joyce Wheelock of Garden City is a boy scout. She's been one since 1957, when her oldest son became a cub scout.

And now, because of 14 years of service she has given the organization, she also is a "silver fawn."

The silver fawn award – feminine equivalent of the silver beaver – is brand new in the Boy Scouts of America, and Mrs. Wheelock is the first recipient in the Sunset District, which covers Plymouth, Livonia, Garden City, Northville, Inkster and Wayne.

Approved by national Boy Scout headquarters as recipient of the honor, she was given a special citation and a tiny silver emblem when the Sunset District held its annual meeting in Churchill High School recently.

MRS. WHEELOCK was honored because of long service as leader of the Cub Scout section of the district training committee.

She heads a staff of eight persons who plan training sessions for den mothers in the Cub Scout program and provide workshops for leadership of lively little boys.

She also participates regularly in Sunset District roundtable meetings – occasions for Boy Scout leaders to get together and exchange ideas for the program–and has been hostess for many of the pot-luck dinners held by the district and the Boy Scouts of Metropolitan Detroit.

"I BECAME a den mother when my first son, Robert, joined Cub Scouts in 1957," Joyce Wheelock remembers. "After taking the leadership course the first year, I went back as a member of the staff."

Now, looking back on more than a dozen years of training sessions – six-week courses three times a year – and roundtables, she reports missing only one training class and two roundtables.

"I'm the kind who gets sick the day after a meeting and recuperates for the next week," she laughed.

IT'S THE FACT that her whole family is Scout-minded that has made the program so important to Mrs. Wheelock.

"We're a scouting family," she said. Two daughters, both married now, were girl scouts years back and their mother was an assistant leader for their troop. "One of the girls met her husband through scouting activities," she added.

Robert's joining the Cub Scouts brought both his parents in as leaders.

Husband Homer now is district training chairman for all scouting programs – Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts and Explorers – and was awarded the silver beaver four years ago.

"He's my boss," says his wife, who keeps records for him as well as taking charge of her own part of the program.

ROBERT, now a senior at the University of Michigan, was an eagle scout when he was only 13. Second son Michael, now 14 and a student at Cambridge Junior High School, is "almost an eagle" according to his mother. He's a member of Troop 879 in Westland.

A big part of her responsibility, this Boy Scout said, is working out projects that den mothers can use with their young charges.

"They have to be craft projects not too difficult for eight-year-old boys to handle," she said.

"I was rather surprised at how much the boys have enjoyed making things like pom-pom animals, and we've learned they really are not coordinated enough at this age to handle woodworking tools."

JOYCE WHEELOCK is high in praise of her fellow workers in scouting and has no intention of leaving her work although it's a long time since she's had a cub scout in the family.

...and her silver fawn (Observer photos by Bob Woodring)

"I enjoy the work too much," she said. "We've met so many fine friends through scouting – it's like one big family."

Oakland TB Unit To Send Out Seals

The Oakland County Tuberculosis Association, Inc. will have its own emblem and Christmas seal this year. Because of a difference of aims and policies, the Oakland County Tuberculosis Association, Inc. is withdrawing from the state and national unit.

There will be two mailings of Christmas seals – one from the state and national association and one from the Oakland County unit. The national and state association will mail into Oakland County with the emblem of the double-barred cross. However, proceeds from this mailing will go into a state fund with no money being used in Oakland County.

Commissioner To Dedicate New Hospital

Dedication of a new building for unwed mothers, which will contain a dormitory and grade and high school classrooms, will take place Sunday, Nov. 21, in Detroit.

The building is the new Booth Memorial Hospital for Unwed Mothers, 130 W. Grand Boulevard. Built at a cost of more than $1,700,000, the new facility also includes a remodeled hospital section and an out - patient clinic.

A complete range of services will be available for unwed mothers who live at Booth as well as for girls who live at home.

Commissioner J. Clyde Cox of Chicago will be speaker at the 3 p.m. dedication. This will be followed by a tea for the public until 6.

The United Foundation contributed more than $438,000 towards the cost of the new building.

Parents Should Live Own Lives

ANN ARBOR

"Parents who are preoccupied with their children at the expense of all other adult engagements, especially their relationship with each other, are headed for certain anguish and psychological disruption," declares University of Michigan psychologist Frederick Wyatt.

"It may look virtuous, but it leads to all kinds of self-limitation. It is the parents who assert that they have a right to a life of their own who offer the best prospects for untroubled and resourceful children."

Wyatt, director of the U-M Psychological Clinic, broadly explores the unique social status of parenthood and the ways different adults experience it in an article entitled "A Clinical View of Parenthood." Since the article appeared in the Bulletin of the Menninger Clinic earlier this year, it has been translated into Italian and German.

"IT'S USEFUL to regard parenthood as a stage of development," Prof. Wyatt writes. "Just as children experience their parents differently at different stages of growth, so will parents experience their children and themselves differently.

"The most elementary motive ascribed to parenthood is fulfillment. But we should guard against the assumption that the incentive and gratification are so basic that they are the same for everyone. The attitudes of parents toward offspring vary between the small farm community and the populous city. They are influenced by social and economic conditions. And they are tied to the images of the adult's own parents whom he will now try to placate, defy or outdo in raising his own child."

The image of parenthood has undergone a transition in the last decade, Prof. Wyatt notes. "Formerly age, not youth, was endowed with status. While youth was always viewed as the enviable springtime of life, public opinion nevertheless connected it with many more imperfections than we do now."

With the attitude that youth is "in" and "right" has come the tendency for adolescents to blame their parents for their own shortcomings and setbacks, Wyatt observes. Although the child's problems are frequently related to the way his parents treat him, he may also use them as an excuse to put off his own development. Maturity and independence may impress him as a more lonely and risky way of life, the U-M psychologist says.

Typical criticism of parents are based on a misunderstanding, Wyatt notes: the precarious assumption that individuals can live with each other in a state of harmony and full gratification, and if such a condition does not come about, it must be somebody's fault.

"FRUSTRATION is not a bad thing," Wyatt observes. "It is not only beyond any question unavoidable, but a moderate amount of it is indispensable for the development of a reasonably effective ego. Parental restrictions and discipline are indispensable for the same reason.

"All parents keenly sense the demands of their role and the gap between what they think they ought to do for their children and what they are actually doing," he says.

Their performance as parents is significant because it defines their own maturity and is an essential aspect of their competence as adults, according to the U-M psychologist.

In this light, Wyatt discusses the behavior of parents who bring their children to a counseling clinic. "The dominant sentiment of the mother is guilt, characterized by anxious questions: 'What have I done wrong? How can I make up for it?'

"On the other hand, fathers, when interviewed at the clinic act more aloof and reserved."

Notarannis Have Home In Dearborn

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Daniel Notarainni are making their home in Dearborn following their recent marriage in Bushnell Congregational Church in Detroit.

Mrs. Notarainni is the former Jane Louise Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Adams of Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Amelio Notarainni of Livonia are the bridegroom's parents.

The Rev. Jon R. Almgren officiated.

THE BRIDE wore a Victorian gown of off-white peau de soie. Lace medallions trimmed the gown and edged her mantilla veil, and she carried a nosegay of stephanotis, mums and baby's breath.

Mrs. David C. Silden of Utica was matron of honor for her sister, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Gary Wright of Hartford, Conn., and Mrs. Fred Thibodeau of Livonia.

All were floor-length multicolored sculptured nylon gowns with lime green boleros and carried nosegays. Also in the wedding party were the bridegroom's niece and nephew, Karen and Scot Notarainni of Miami.

JIM BASTIN was best man. Groomsmen were Tom Notarainni, of Miami, brother of the bridegroom, and Rich Fisher of Alpena. Guests were seated by another brother, Jim Notarainni, Craig Adams, brother of the bride, and Jim Alfano.

Nassau Trip Follows Rites

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richard Hall are living in Plymouth following their wedding trip to Nassau, the Bahamas, and Miami Beach, Fla.

Both are students at Eastern Michigan University. They were married in Mt. Hope Congregational Church, Livonia, in an evening ceremony Aug. 21.

MRS. CHARLES HALL
(Shila Tooze)

The bride is the former Shila Mary Tooze, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tooze of Warren, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Johanna Hall of Garden City and the late Charles Richard Hall.

The Rev. James Altman of Wayne was the officiating minister, and Mrs. Dorothy Sedick was the organist.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white pique with a chapel train. The scoop neckline and fitted bodice were threaded with pink ribbons. The Camelot cap of pique held a bouffant veil of nylon net and bride's bouquet was of white daisies tied with pink ribbon.

As maid of honor, Suzanne Tooze, the bride's sister, wore a floor-length voile gown in a pink and blue print, with a scoop neckline and puffed sleeves. She wore a wreath of pink and white daisies in her hair and carried a bouquet of daisies and pink roses.

Similarly attired were the bridesmaids, Ann Feli of Pontiac, Sandie Bowan, of St. Clair Shores and Diane Silva of Westland. The bride's cousin, Tracie Seward of La Grange, Ill., was a junior bridesmaid. Molly Tooze, another sister of the bride, and Susan Frent of Westland were the flower girls. They wore pink frocks with puffed sleeves and carried baskets of pastel-colored daisies.

DR. ADAM FRENT of Westland, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, was best man. Mark Tooze of Ypsilanti, the bride's brother, Dennis Schlitt of Detroit and Denny Slavin of Dearborn were the ushers.

The bride's mother wore a turquoise blue silk gown trimmed with gold braid. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds. The bridegroom's mother wore a ruffled gown of eggshell silk with turquoise accessories and a corsage of daisies.

A reception was held in the Botsford Inn, Farmington, for 200 guests.

Finney-Leppien Rites Oct. 2

Patricia Susan Leppien sewed the white crepe gown she wore when she became the bride of Donald James Finney in an Oct. 2 ceremony in Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church in Northville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce R. Leppien of Baintree Circle, Plymouth. Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Finney of St. Louis, Mo., are the bridegroom's parents.

The Rev. John Wyskiel officiated, and the bride's father and mother gave her in marriage.

THE BRIDAL GOWN featured a high waist, mandarin collar and bishop sleeves with deep cuffs. Three bands of lace entwined with ribbon trimmed the front of the gown. The bride's flowers were white daisies, yellow roses and ivy.

Theresa Leppien, the bride's sister, was maid of honor, and another sister, Marcia Leppien, was junior bridesmaid. The bridegroom's sister, Mary Beth Finney, was ring-bearer.

Their dresses, made by the bride's mother, were fashioned like the bride's gown in apricot crepe. They carried colonial bouquets of yellow and orange shag mums with brown dried flowers and tied with brown ribbons.

DENNIE BRANDON of St. Louis was best man and Robert E. Berg of Dearborn Heights was usher.

Mrs. Leppien wore a blue lace dress with a blue silk shantung sleeveless coat, and Mrs. Finney's ensemble was pink chiffon.

The couple's honeymoon was a long weekend traveling to St. Louis, and they will make their home there.

MRS. ROGER KELCHERMAN
(Christine Galloway)

They're Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Egan of Detroit announce the engagement of their daughter, Marilynn Jean, to Craig Leigh Cosgrove, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh J. Cosgrove Jr. of Perrin Drive, Livonia. The bride-elect graduated from Cooley High School and attended Bethel College in Minnesota. She is employed by the C.N.A. Insurance Co. Her fiance, a graduate of Franklin High school, is employed by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. A spring wedding is planned.

LINDA WALKER

Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Walker of Livonia announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Diane, to Darwin Wayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wayne Glass of Livonia. Both are 1971 graduates of Churchill High School.

BARBARA CORBETT

Mrs. F.W. Corbett of Dearborn announces the engagement of her daughter, Barbara Jean, to Frederick T. Bailey III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bailey of St. Francis Street, Farmington. A December wedding is planned in Martha-Mary Chapel, Greenfield Village.

Newlyweds To Live In Fowlerville

A wedding trip to Wisconsin followed the marriage of Christine Galloway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Galloway of Perth Street, Livonia, and Roger F. Kelcherman, son of Mrs. John Thode of Farmington and Harry Kelcherman of Traverse City.

They were married in Ward United Presbyterian Church, Livonia, on Sept. 4.

The bride's sister, Sue Galloway, was her maid of honor. Nancy Davidson and Kris Johnson were the bridesmaids.

Ashley Jones of Pottersville was best man, and Dick Schall and John Thode were the ushers.

Girl Scouts Tour Hospital, Earn Badges

Members of Cadette Girl Scout Troop 731, of Grace Moravian Church, Westland, toured Plymouth General Hospital, 15361 Plymouth Road, Detroit, to earn their scouting badges in hospital and emergency care. Mrs. Delores Montgomery, troop leader, and Mrs. Bettsey Ouellette, co-leader, accompanied the group.

The Scouts were welcomed by Robert Wesley, administrative assistant, and given an introduction to the hospital by Mrs. Edith Haaken, director of community relations and social service. The girls saw the hospital's new East Wing.

In pharmacy, Thomas Rolands, RPh., demonstrated the unit-dose and machine packaging system for medications which were pioneered by the hospital in 1968. Ron Harris of X-ray described the new X-ray machine which uses closed circuit television for image intensification and an accurate examination of physical processes.

Musicale To Hold String Program

"Strings, Center Stage!" a program featuring string instrumentalists will be presented Thursday, Nov. 18, at 12:30 p.m. by the Farmington Musicale.

The meeting will be held in the Farmington Community Center.

Perus Zeroujian, violinist, and Alice Haidostian, pianist, will perform "Dance of the Maiden" by Khachaturian and "Spanish Dance" by Manuel de Falla. Both musicians are members of the Tuesday Musicale of Detroit.

Members of the Farmington Musicale, Betty Monahan, Virginia Mekjian and Carolee McDaniel, will perform Vivaldi's Concerto in A minor for Two Violins and Piano.

Beethoven and Brahms compositions will be played by Arlayne Olsen, a Farmington cellist now attending Wayne State University; Carolyn Mekjian, a violinist from Harrison High School; and Marcia Walck, a pianist from North Farmington High School.

Tea chairman for the event is Ellen Manuel of Birmingham. Guests may attend.

The Farmington Musicale is an affiliate of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Adoption Is AAUW Subject

Adoption and the hard - to - place child will be the subject of the next meeting of the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University - Women on Thursday, Nov. 18, at 7:30 p.m. in West Middle School on Sheldon Road.

Mrs. Glenn Tuffnell, a Plymouth resident who is herself an adoptive parent, will offer a special slide presentation entitled "What Are We Waiting For?," dealing with information and "misinformation" on adoption of the older, handicapped, retarded or otherwise difficult - to - place youngsters.

Mrs. Joseph Uhl, program chairman, said community members contemplating adoption are especially welcome to attend this meeting.

Membership in the Plymouth AAUW is open to any area woman who is a graduate of an accredited college or university. Prospective members may contact membership chairman, Mrs. David Cunningham, 11363 Russell, for further information and transportation arrangements.

Optometrist Will Talk

"Visual Motor Perception" will be the subject of the November meeting of the Livonia Redford Chapter of the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities. The meeting will be held Friday, Nov. 19, at 8 p.m., in Whittier Junior High School, 28550 Ann Arbor Road, Westland.

Dr. Max Honeyman, optometrist, will discuss the functioning of a child's eyes. He will tell how the child sees and interprets things in the world and how this relates to learning disabilities.

Dr. Honeyman has acted as a consultant to the Archdiocese of Detroit, Redford Union School District, Dearborn schools and Detroit schools. He is currently on the board of directors of Northwestern Child Guidance Clinic and the Optometric Institute.

MACLD is a groupof parents and professionals who work together at state and local levels to insure appropriate public school education for children with learning disabilities.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL RATZ of Norborne, Redford Township, were honored by their three sons and daughters-in-law with a champagne dinner at Topinka's Country House to mark their 50th wedding anniversary. Their sons are Carl and Robert, of Livonia, and Gerald, of Monroe. Mr. and Mrs. Ratz, who were married in Detroit Oct. 5, 1921, and lived there until moving to Livonia three years ago, have 12 grandchildren. He was employed by the Ford Motor Co. in Livonia.

Widowed, Divorced Persons To Confer

Using the tragedy constructively, the nature of intimacy, and learning to get along with your ex-spouse are a few of the topics to be explored at a one-day conference to be held at Oakland University on Saturday, Dec. 4, for the widowed and divorced.

Keynoter Eleanor Driver, director of the University's Continuum Center, says the tragedy of divorce or widowhood may not be as awful as tradition has indicated. She plans to discuss some of the positive aspects.

Dr. Gerald Plum, King's College, Ont., will lead a session on the "Nature of Intimacy" concurrently with a session on "What About Human Sexuality?" to be led by Mrs. John Paonessa of Clawson.

The afternoon sessions will focus on problem areas. Mrs. Dorothy Hope, management consultant and former director of placement, OU, will discuss the three P's of employment: preparation, placement and performance.

Mrs. Carol Kitzky Frasson, author of "The Divorced Mother," will lead the session on barriers to new relationships.

Robert Anderson, attorney, will discuss legal ramifications and Dr. Robert Trenz, Community Mental Health Services, Mt. Clemens, will lead the session entitled "When You Have Children."

Dr. Norton J. Cooksey will cover the emotional - physical adjustments the widowed and divorced often experience.

Mrs. Douglas Owen, associate director of conferences, reports that men, as well as women, are invited to attend the program since the adjustments of being widowed or divorced are not unique to women along.

To register, contact the university's conference department.

New Lamaze Series Begins In Plymouth

A new series of childbirth preparation classes are scheduled to begin in Plymouth shortly.

Interested couples should contact Mrs. Alan Woodworth, 171 Blunk, Plymouth, to register.

The course, designed to prepare both expectant parents for the birth of their child, is sponsored by the Lamaze Association.

Registered nurses will give lectures giving information on labor and delivery, childbirth films and an explanation of exercises and breathing techniques.

No Children Will Be Admitted To 'Cage'

"The Cage" is not for children!

The play, being presented by Schoolcraft College in Clarenceville's L.E. Schmidt Auditorium Nov. 19, is adult theater fare. It has been called "a brutal, shocking, blasphemous, even obscene indictment of our nation's so-called correctional institutions."

Patrick Newman, Schoolcraft spokesmen for the production, said that although stage plays are not rated as films, "The Cage" would likely be an "R" if there were such ratings.

"For this reason," Newman said, "persons under 16 years of age will not be admitted unless accompanied by a responsible adult. Identification will be requested at the door if the question arises."

"The Cage" presents a day in the life of four inmates sharing a cell. It was written by San Quentin prisoner Rick Cluchey, and is produced and performed by him and other parolees.

Tickets for the 8 p.m. performance are $1 for students and $2 for the general public. It is a presentation of the Student Activities Board and the Cultural Affairs Committee.

Art Club Has Show

A collection of 49 paintings is now on display at the Alfred Noble Library, 32901 Plymouth Road, Livonia.

All are by members of the Palette Guild of Detroit, which includes many suburban artists. They are part of a juried show and sale, which opened in the library Sunday with a tea.

Juror David Sharp of Eastern Michigan awarded first and second prizes to paintings by Madeline Tabock of Detroit. Goldie Baron of Detroit was a third prize winner.

Honorable mentions went to Pat Kilbourne of Redford Township, Erene Murdock of Birmingham, Goldie Baron, Violet Tiedeman of Redford Township, the club president, and to Marjorie Chellstrop.

The pictures remain on exhibit today (Nov. 17) until 9 p.m., and Thursday, Nov. 18, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Vocal Concert

ANN ARBOR

Shirley Verrett, American mezzo - soprano, will give a concert at 8:30 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 18, in Hill Auditorium, under the auspices of the University of Michigan Musical Soceity.

Tickets are available at the society's office in Burton Tower.

Cass Art Sale

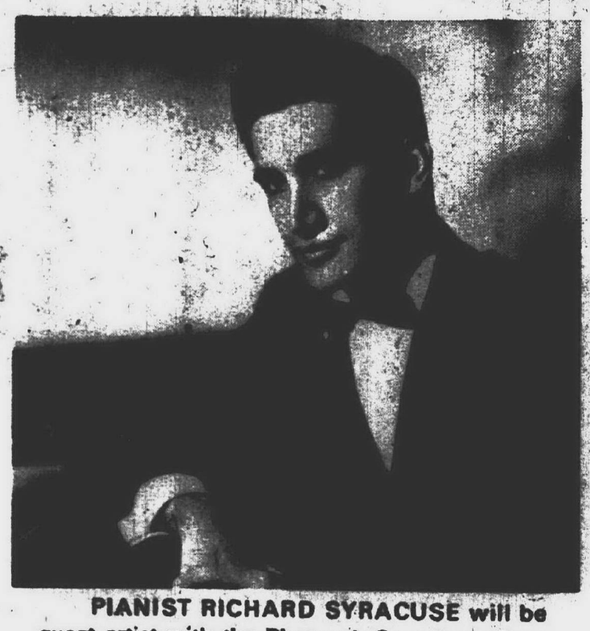
DETROIT

The art department of Cass Technical High Schoc! will hold its biennial art sale Tuesday, Nov. 23, from 1 to 5 p.m., at the school, 2421 Second at Henry. Proceeds will be used for scholarships and equipment for the art department.

Sunday's Concert Will Feature Guest Pianist

Pianist Richard Syracuse will be guest artist with the Plymouth Symphony Sunday, Nov. 21, at 4 p.m., in a program featuring works by modern composer Aaron Copland, the romantic Sergei Rachmaninoff and classicist Franz Joseph Haydn. The symphony will be conducted by Wayne Dunlap.

The concert will take place in the new Plymouth High School Auditorium, Joy and Canton Center Roads, Plymouth. Tickets will be available at the box office the day of the concert at $2 for adults and $1 for students. They are also on sale at Melody House, 770 Penniman, Plymouth.



PIANIST RICHARD SYRACUSE will be guest artist with the Plymouth Symphony Sunday, Nov. 21. The 4 p.m. concert will be in the new Plymouth High School Auditorium, Joy and Canton Center Roads. Tickets will be on sale at te door.

SYRACUSE IS a native of New York City and a graduate of the Juilliard School of Music.

The winner of many awards and scholarships, this will be his first appearance in Plymouth. He has given concerts in Denmark, England, Holland, Greece and Italy, and has been acclaimed by critics as a talented pianist with great technical facility and virtuosity.

He won the Concert Artists Guild debut award in 1964; the Alfred Casella international piano competition of Naples in 1962; and one of five prizes in Brussel's Queen Elizabeth international piano competition in 1964. He made his debut in New York's Town Hall in 1964.

Syracuse will be featured in "Rhapsody on a Theme of Paganini for Piano and Orchestra, Opus 43" by Sergei Rachmaninoff.

This work, written while the composer was vacationing at Lake Lucerne, Switzerland, is a series of 24 formal variations based on the 24th caprice of Paganini, the great violin virtuoso of the 1800s.

The theme is sometimes referred to as "La Campanella," (The Little Bell).

In the seventh variation, the composer introduces another theme, the "Dies Irae" from the Roman Catholic mass for the dead, together with the original melody of Paganini. This chant melody occurs again in the 10th variation and in the final one where it reaches a smashing climax with the full orchestra.

The Rachmaninoff "Rhapsody" has been performed in Plymouth on one previous occasion, on Oct. 16, 1955, with Evelyn Woods as soloist.

SUNDAY'S program will begin with Haydn's Symphony No. 103 in E flat minor, more commonly known as the "Drum Roll Symphony." The symphony, written in 1795 for Haydn's second visit to England, opens with an "Adagio" in which the first measure consists of a roll on the tympani, and it is from that that the composition takes its nickname.

This introduction leads to the main body of the movement marked "Allegro con spirito," and at the close of this there is another drum roll followed by a return of part of the introductory material. This is succeeded by a restatement of the more lively tempo.

The second movement, "Andante," is a set of variations on a lovely lyric theme. This is followed by a very vigorous "Menuetto" and the final movement is again a lively "Allegro con spirito."

Supposedly the principal themes of several of the movements were drawn from Croatian folk songs.

This will be followed by Aaron Copland's "Appalachian Spring," written in 1944. This is a work, which, according to Copland, "takes as its point of departure the personality of Martha Graham." It resulted from a collaboration with Miss Graham when she was invited to devise three new ballets for the Fall Festival of the Coolidge Foundation in Washington, D.C. The orchestral suite was written later.

Amusements

'Civilisation' At Madonna

"Civilisation," the renowned color film series on the cultural life of Western man written and narrated by Lord Kenneth Clark, will be shown at Madonna College Activities Building, 36600 Schoolcraft, Livonia, beginning Jan. 11.

There will be two showings during the scheduled days, one at 4 p.m. for students and another at 8 p.m. for Livonia and local communities. Both will be free.

THIS WILL hold true on each of the scheduled dates for the duration of the program. The film series will be shown each Tuesday from Jan. 11 to April 4. Each film is 50 minutes long.

Schools and groups should contact Sister Dennis, dean of students.

The films are on loan from the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C., under a new program offered through the Gallery's extension services.

This distribution program has been made possible by matching grants totaling $181,056 from the National Endowment for the Humanities and from Xerox Corp. Normal rental fee for the series would be $2,000 to $3,000, and purchase price would be $7,000 a set.

Under the program, which began this fall, the films are being distributed to colleges and universities with fewer than 2,000 undergraduates. Approximately 400 institutions can participate in the program each year, with an estimated three million annual audience.

SINCE ITS AMERICAN premiere at the National Gallery in November 1969, the entire "Civilisation" series has been shown nearly a hundred times and drawn more than 275,000 viewers at the Gallery. It is currently being seen throughout the United States on National Educational Television, supported by a grant from Xerox Corp.

In the series, Lord Clark traces, from an avowedly personal point of view, the story of Western civilization through the visual arts, music, literature, and political history, from the fall of the Roman Empire through the 20th century.

The films were originally produced for the British Broadcasting Corporation, which sent Lord Clark, two producers, and a three-man camera crew on a two-year mission through 11 countries to film the series. In Lord Clark's words, the aim was "to define civilisation in terms of creative power and the enlargement of human facilities."

The film's many subjects include the Gothic cathedrals, the age of chivalry, St. Francis of Assisi, the Renaissance and the Reformation, the baroque and rococo, bourgeois democracy in Holland and the Dutch painters, the Enlightenment in Europe and America, romanticism and revolution in the 19th century, and modern technology and materialism.

In honor of Lord Clark's many contributions to art education as director of the National Gallery, London (1934-45), Slade Professor of Fine Arts, Oxford University (1946-50 and 1961-62), author of several books and creator of the "Civilisation" series, the National Gallery has presented him with its medal for distinguished service in art.

The Gallery's extension services serve the nation through a varied program of activities ranging from films and reproductions to special publications. Although the emphasis of the services is on the National Gallery's collections, attention also goes to ways in which these collections relate to subjects of current topical interest and concern in the world.

Casting Call

The Wayne Civic Players will hold tryouts for their children's play, "Many Moons" by James Thurber on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 17, 18 and 19. The auditions will be held at 7:30 each evening in the Players' headquarters at 1330-1340 S. Harvey, Westland.

Production is scheduled for Jan. 14 and 15 in Wayne Memorial High School. The director will be Lois Tobin.

"Many Moons" calls for a cast of five men, four women and one child.

Films listed in this guide are showing at area theaters. Check the theater listings for the specific theater and time of showings.

BLESS THE BEASTS AND CHILDREN—Six boys, products of broken homes, work to solve their own problems by freeing a herd of buffalo rounded up for slaughter. (GP, none).

SONG OF NORWAY—Is the story of the life of composer Edvard Grieg. Filmed in Norway, the photography is stunning. Southfield singer Frank Porretta plays Grieg's friend. (G, A-1).

FIDDLER ON THE ROOF—The movie, based on Broadway's longest-running musical, lives up to expectations with excellent photography and singing. (G, none).

THE FRENCH CONNECTION—An exciting and violent account of the war against narcotics smuggling, based on a set of actual case histories. (R, A-4).

THE ORGANIZATION -- Sidney Poitier returns as the detective, this time to pit his skills against a narcotics syndicate. (GP, none)

CRY UNCLE! -- The sexploits of a paunchy New York City detective may be enough to make you cry or laugh. (X, C)

SUMMER OF '42 -- A nostalgic recollection by a grown man of the summer he was 15. Gary Grimes, Jerry Houser and Oliver Conant play boyhood pals at the Cape. (R, A-4)

PLAY MISTY FOR ME -- A suspense thriller in which Clint Eastwood plays a disc jockey, who becomes involved with one of his listeners. (R, none)

SUNDAY BLOODY SUNDAY -- Strictly for the mature, this story of a man pursued by a homosexual doctor and a woman is a provocative film. (R, A-4)

KOTCH -- Walter Matthau plays a delightfully eccentric old man who refuses to be computerized. Jack Lemmon's first directing venture comes off extremely well. (GP, A-3)

Diabetics Can Enjoy Holidays

These days, there is no need for the diabetic in the family to feel excluded when the clan gathers for the traditional Thanksgiving turkey. His holiday meal will very likely look like a feast to the calorie-conscious who are trying to stick to the latest weight-reducing diet.

There is nothing to prevent a diabetic from enjoying a Thanksgiving dinner that is appetizing and satisfying and gives him no cause to be jealous of the rest of the group.

MENU 1
1 c. consomme
Roast turkey (1 ounce cooked for each meat exchange allowed)
Bread stuffing (¼ c. stuffing for each bread exchange allowed)
Green beans
1 wedge of lettuce
1/3 c cranberry relish
1 portion of pumpkin custard

CRANBERRY RELISH
1 lb. or 4 c. cranberries
1 orange
1 unpeeled apple
noncalorie sweetener to taste

Grind all fruit together in a food chopper. Add the non-caloric sweetener in the amount desired. Mix well and chill. Serve with lettuce or watercress. Serves eight; 40 calories in one serving. (Note to diabetics: 1 fruit exchange)

PUMPKIN CUSTARD
2 c. cooked or canned pumpkin
2 eggs
1 c. skim milk
1 t. cinnamon
1 t. ginger
12 tablets saccharin (¼ grain) (Dissolve in 1 T. of water.)

Beat the eggs well and combine with the saccharin. Add the milk and mix well. Add the spices and pour into an eight-inch pie pan. Bake in a moderate oven for 50 to 60 minutes. Test by inserting a knife near the edge. When it comes out clean the custard is finished. Cut into six equal portions when chilled. This custard will keep the pie-wedge shape without a crust. Serves six; 61 calories in one serving. (Note to diabetics: 1 B vegetable and ½ meat exchange)

FOR A CHANGE of pace, the diabetic and his family might have the following meal:

MENU 2
½ c. melon ball fruit cup (one fruit exchange)
Roast chicken
Mashed potatoes (½ c. for each Bread Exchange allowed)
Brussels sprouts
Celery hearts
1 portion cranberry whip with custard sauce

CRANBERRY WHIP WITH CUSTARD SAUCE
1-½ c. cranberries
¾ c. water
1 T. plain gelatin
¼ c. cold water
3 egg whites
1-½ t. lemon juice
6 saccharin tablets - ¼ grain (Dissolve in 1 T. water)

Wash the cranberries and place in a saucepan covered with water. Bring to a boil and cover the pan, allowing the berries to cook slowly for eight to 10 minutes. Stir occasionally. When well cooked, remove from the stove and put through a sieve. Mix the gelatin with ¼ cup cold water and allow to swell; dissolve by placing over hot water. Add the dissolved gelatin to the cranberry mixture. Mix well and chill. Beat egg whites until stiff. When the mixture of dissolved gelatin begins to thicken, add beaten egg whites. Add lemon juice and noncaloric sweetener as desired. Beat well with rotary egg beater. Divide into six equal portions and place in refrigerator to chill.

CUSTARD SAUCE
3 egg yolks
1 c. milk
¼ t. vanilla
Few grains salt
3 tablets saccharin - ¼ grain (Dissolve in 1 T. water)

Combine the beaten egg yolks and salt. Scald milk and add slowly, stirring constantly. Cook in the top of a double boiler until the mixture coats the spoon. Add the vanilla and cool. Add dissolved saccharin and mix well. Divide into six equal portions and pour over the cranberry whip when ready to serve. Serves six; 72 calories in one serving. (Note to diabetics: ½ milk exchange, ½ fruit exchange and 1 meat exchange).

WE REDEEM FEDERAL FOOD STAMPS

A NEW central laundry facility was formally dedicated Friday in ceremonies held by the Peoples Community Hospital Authority. The authority showed off the $1.9 million facility near Annapolis Hospital in Wayne for public officials and board members from its 23 member communities. Among those on hand were Garden City Mayor James Lowe and Westland City Councilwoman Justine Barns, who is also on the PCHA board of directors. The laundry has a capacity of 3,500 pounds per hour and is described by PCHA officials as the most modern facility of its kind in the nation. (Observer photo)

PCHA Withdrawal Bill Topic Of Hearing

LANSING — A state senate committee will hold a public hearing Dec. 10 on an old political issue within the Peoples Community Hospital Authority.

Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) will chair the hearing in Dearborn Heights on a proposal to liberalize the rules for PCHA member communities to pull out of the authority. Among members are Westland and Garden City.

FAUST, vice chairman of the Senate committee on municipalities and elections, said that the hearing on House Bill 4492 will be held at 1:30 p.m., Friday, Dec. 10, in the Dearborn Heights City Hall.

The proposal to make it easier for cities to pull out of the authority had been made in the State Legislature for the past five years.

The bills have been opposed by a majority of the PCHA's board of directors, board leadership and administration.

THEY FEEL that an easy "withdrawal" rule would undermine the agency's taxing powers on future bond issues to financing expansion programs.

Dearborn Heights public officials have been trying for several years to get a new bill approved to allow them to pull out of the authority, which is governed by state law.

At present, a PCHA community can withdraw only if it gains approval from two thirds of the 46 - member board of directors and appropriate resolution of the community's township board or city council.

Under the proposal, cities could pull out by approval of the community's voters.

SUPPORTERS of the bill, already approved by the House and now under consideration by the Senate committee, say that the present withdrawal rules "make it extremely difficult for a member community to withdraw because board members are hesitant about approving a withdrawal which will result in the loss of tax base and income," Faust said.

PCHA board officers and administrators oppose any change in the pullout rules on the grounds that the loss of tax base and possible additional millage voted by the communities would limit expansion or improvement of PCHA facilities.

The authority, which owns and operates four hospitals in western Wayne County and Ypsilanti, is planning a fifth unit in Taylor.

Yule Bazaar Planned

WESTLAND — The Sixty-Plus Club, composed of senior citizens at the London Townhouses in Westland, will hold a Christmas bazaar from noon to 5 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 20, in the cooperative's maintenance building, Manchester and Whitehall.

The townhouses, located north and east of the Middle Belt-Ann Arbor Trail intersection, will hold the bazaar to raise funds for its programs.

Scholarship Competition Announced

A $1,000 scholarship competition for high school seniors in western Wayne and eastern Washtenaw counties is again being sponsored by Wayne Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Students at all academic levels may compete since academic record, test scores, and extracurricular activities are not considered in awarding the scholarship.

The $1,000 may be used for any legitimate educational purpose including college or university, junior college, community college, technical or vocational school, or art, music or drama school.

Those eligible for participation in the contest are senior class members from any public or parochial school in the following school districts:

Cherry Hill, Crestwood, Garden City, Huron, Inkster, Lincoln Consolidated, Milan, North Dearborn Heights, Romulus, Van Buren, Westwood, Ypsilanti, Willow Run, and Wayne.

CHALLENGE.
RESPONSIBILITY.
POTENTIAL.
IN NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING SALES

The CHALLENGE is to move immediately into a partially developed sales territory to provide advertising services and gain sales from many current and potential accounts.
The RESPONSIBILITY is to perform your duties in an intelligent, creative, consistent, energetic manner, to build each account's confidence in the strength of the market and the Observer's ability to serve that market.
The POTENTIAL is the opportunity to grow with the finest community newspaper group in the Midwest, serving the largest, most affluent market reached by any community newspaper in Metropolitan Detroit.
IF YOU HAVE a minimum of two years newspaper advertising sales experience, or two years of advertising agency account work, and a strong marketing background, you may qualify.
Call Mr. Stark TODAY for an appointment.

TO MY LIVONIA CUSTOMERS, who had a final huge pre-holiday rug and tag clearance sale last week, except they report to me repeat requests for another clearance, here goes: Oriental dining room, contemporary room, mediterranean den, all 9x12 rugs, 10 matching chairs, drop leaf, pecan square and round pedestal tables, commodes, cradles, hall trees, pitchers and bowls, chairs, silver, old lamps, bookcases, odd china cabinets and buffets, assorted dried arrangements, assorted glassboards from France—England, mirrors, coal boxes, fixtures, frames, too huge to list. To make room for loads of lovely things I purchased on a recent buying trip, some have started to arrive! Remember sale starts Nov. 18-20-21, Fri.-Sat.-Sun. We have layaway plans. Bank-Americard and Master Charge, come over, browse and get acquainted, oh yes, hot coffee and doughnuts. See you Friday. Call.

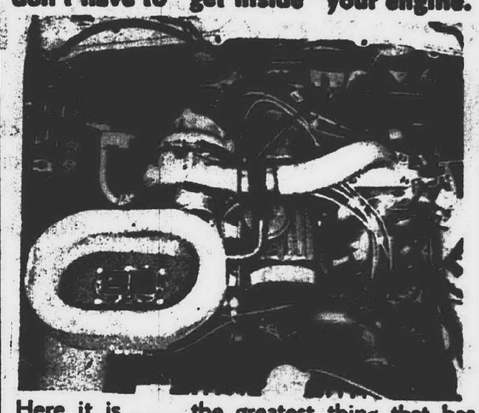
Announcing the Turbocharged

BOSS PINTO

The Quick Clean Machine

The 15 second Pinto is here and you don't have to "get inside" your engine.



Here it is . . . the greatest thing that has happened to driving since the V-8! Add our turbocharger to your stock Pinto and you have a super-fun mini-sports-car! The kit is easily installed in 6 to 8 hours with hand tools, retains all the government-required emission control hardware, yet gives your Pinto twice the normal horsepower to the road. Imagine being able to keep up with the V-8's having more than four times your displacement — while retaining your good gas mileage. Now you can have safer highway driving, with reduced passing exposure time and safe merging with expressway speed traffic. Our kit makes the Pinto the first really fun car in years — and for a price you can afford.

Why garden mums die: Some winters are tougher than others on garden mums. Usually it's not low temperatures that always kill the garden mums, but rather poor soils, too much water around the base of the plants, or smothering due to leaves.

If water stands over or around the base of a mum plant, you can be pretty sure the plants will die. In warm, protected areas, mums can winter over without any protection whatever. However, if you happen to have a real cold winter, it's safer to use some organic mulch such as cornstalks, evergreen boughs or coarse straw, to bring them through. Avoid anything that packs down firmly such as tree leaves, manure or lawn clippings.

Many gardeners we know dig in their mum clumps and line them up along the foundation of their home. Some soil is placed between each plant. If you line up your mums against the foundation, do not let them dry out completely. Give them a sprinkling or two during the winter and spring.

A GOOD indoor vine: If you're looking for something a bit different this winter and want a window full of color, try sowing seed of morning glories in a pot of soil. Use the red, white and blue varieties for patriotic effect. As the plants grow, train them on a wire coat hanger anchored in the pot.

You'll wind up with vines growing all over, producing hundreds of blossoms. We've even let them climb up around the window sill, using a piece of string for support.

ASPARAGUS ferns: This old fashioned fern makes a fine house plant, if grown in a shaded room, in a soil full of humus and amply watered. The asparagus plumosus or just plain "asparagus" used by florists, has flat sprays of fine foliage, whereas the asparagus sprengeri has coarser foliage, lighter green in color.

Do not allow either fern to become pothound. Transplant once or twice a year after well established. These seem to do well in a bright window, or semi-shade. Give a liquid plant food once every three or four weeks. Best temperature is around 70 degrees, during day, and not below 50 degrees at night.

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: "A friend gave us some big Moreton hybrid tomato plants and we saved seed from the fruit. Would you recommend we grow our own plants from this seed?"

No. Not from a hybrid variety. Plants from this seed will lose much hybrid vigor and you may be disappointed. Producing hybrid seed is a costly job for seedsmen, and you might better pay a little extra for hybrid seed listed in a catalog.

Platforms Elevate Appliances

Platforms of western wood are constructed easily for appliances such as freezers or washers and dryers installed in garages.

The platforms will keep appliances off the floor in event of a ruptured water tank or other flooding, and will raise them for convenience of taller persons. Platforms also may be used to keep garbage cans off damp floors.

For lower platforms, runners of 2x6- or 2x8-inch Douglas fir or western pine, on edge, can be covered by decking of 2x4s laid flat. Higher platforms may have legs of 4x4-inch posts, top frame and cross-braces of 2x4s, and decking of 2x4- or 2x6-inch fir or pine.

Booklet Has Add-A-Room Suggestions

As families grow larger, it soon becomes apparent the only housing solution, short of moving, is to add more room to the house. The problem usually is deciding where and how, and then getting started.

Five architect-designed add-a-room projects show how to gain living space with a loft room, master bedroom, garage conversion, over-the-garage room, and a learning center.

For a copy of the booklet "We Need More Room" send 25 cents in coin to Western Wood Products Assn., Dept. 526-P, Yeon Bldg., Portland, Or. 97204.

Framing Easy

"Picture Framing Fun With Wood Moldings," a six-page folder of how-to-do-it techniques, finishing tips and profiles of molding patterns, is available for 25 cents in coin from Western Wood Products Assn., Dept. M1-P, Yeon Bldg., Portland, Or. 97204.

Family Deserves Paneling

FAMILIES deserve paneling in at least one room in which they spend much of their time. This may be a living room, shown in illustration, a study or recreation rom.

Widely used to update such rooms in existing homes and in new residences, Masonite brand panels are available in varied woodgrains, colors, textures and finishes. These hardboard panels are famous for their beauty, durability and easy, damp-wipe maintenance.

Brazilian Rosewood was used in the living room illustrated. The lush bookmatched graining is accentuated by a narrow groove on each side of a simulated ebony inlay, which occurs at 16-inch intervals and is 1¼ inches wide.

The panels are distinctive for their rich appearance, moderate cost, easy application and low-cost maintenance. They are available in 4 x 8-foot size at lumber and building materials dealers.

Greenhouses Are For Everyone

...nding and enjoying a greenhouse isn't a luxury for the idle rich, but an adventure in living available to homeowners, with only slight budget stretching. A well-built wood greenhouse, properly cared for, will serve a lifetime.

There are several styles and variations, including even-span attached or free-standing, breezeway, and lean-to! Some greenhouses are combined with lath houses or pavilions for out-door living areas.

A connected greenhouse often becomes the most popular room in a house.

Adjoining a family or living room through sliding glass doors, it can be a favorite spot to enjoy flowers and plants as well as an unusual place for entertaining or just relaxing while soaking up the sun.

A connected greenhouse with even spans of glass on both sides of the center beam offers the best growing conditions, but frequently a lean-to fits better because of limited space or house style.

THE LEAN-TO, located on a wall of the house or garage so that south, east and west rays of the sun are not cut off, is built of 4x4 and 2x4-inch western wood framing lumber—cedar, fir or pine—treated with a preservative because of constant humid conditions.

Lower portions of the walls are of tongue and groove wood siding stained or painted to complement the house exterior.

For greenhouse glazing, glass is always good, but plastic panels give light diffusion for plant growth, are easy to work with and hard to break.

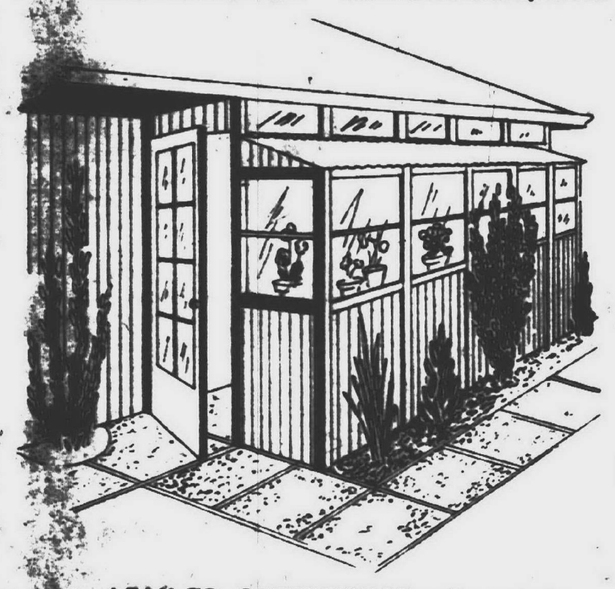
Hinged basement window sash can be used at the ends to assure good ventilation, important along with a heating unit and water supply. An outside door must be provided to move materials in and out.

PLANT benches should be from 24 to 30 inches high, depending on height of plants grown and of the person tending them.

They're built of 1x6-inch western wood boards, with slight spacing for drainage, and 2x4-inch legs and cross braces. Benches ordinarily should be limited to three feet wide.

Space under benches can be used for storage of extra pots, flats and potting-soil blends.

When cabinets or work benches must be added to a greenhouse, they should be placed in the northwest corner to avoid shading any areas from the sun.



LEAN-TO GREENHOUSE adjacent to house is most economical type to build, adds interest to adjoining room through sliding glass doors. Framing is 4x4 and 2x4-inch western wood, treated with preservative due to constant humidity. Siding is tongue and groove cedar, fir or pine. Hinged end windows give ventilation.

Pests Attack Dried Flower Arrangements

EAST LANSING

Dried flower arrangements are not immune to insect damage, according to Richard Sauer, Michigan State University entomologist.

One pest of dried arrangements is the cigaret beetle. This is a small, oval, brown beetle with a humped appearance. The beetles are small enough to escape detection until their feeding attracts attention. Dropped petals and small black fecal pellets are telltale signs.

You can control these pests in dried flower arrangements without further damage to the flower, Sauer explains.

Enclose the arrangement in a box with a close fitting lid or in a plastic bag. Put one-fourth of a DDVP or Vapona fly strip in with the arrangement. Seal the box or bag and leave the arrangement for one week. This should kill both the adults and larvae.

Adds Interest

Framing lumber left exposed adds design interest to a house.

Prevent Spring Headaches

Tips For Winter Storage

EAST LANSING

Spring headaches caused by lawn mowers that refuse to start can be prevented by spending the few minutes needed to prepare small engines for winter storage, says a Michigan State University agricultural engineer.

Steve Bolen offers the following hints for proper winter storage of lawn mowers and other power garden equipment:

Change the oil before storing, because old oil doesn't provide good storage protection. Oil additives wear out, and the corrosion and rust inhibitors may no longer do their job if the oil is very old.

Immediately before draining the oil, run the engine for a few minutes. This warms the oil so that it flows better, and mixes any dirt and sludge from the bottom of the crankcase into the oil – a cleaner engine is the end result.

Filling the crankcase with new oil provides the final touch. Use a good quality oil. For best results check the owner's manual and use one of the oils recommended by the engine manufacturer.

THE FUEL system is the place where most small engine spring starting problems are caused. If fuel is left in the tank during winter storage, gum and varnish deposits can form, clogging the fuel lines and the carburetor.

This problem can be prevented in three different ways.

The best bet is to add a fuel stabilizer to the gasoline just before storage. This prevents the partial breakdown of the fuel that results in gum and varnish. Fuel stabilizers are available at most hardware stores and equipment dealers.

The next alternative is to drain the fuel tank and then run the engine until it stops. This means that there isn't any fuel in the system at all when the engine goes into storage.

Third, by keeping the tank completely full of fuel during storage the chances that damaging deposits will form is reduced, since the lack of oxygen will slow the production of gum and varnish.

PULL THE SPARK plug and squirt about a teaspoon of oil into the combustion chamber. Then crank the starter several times. This puts a coat of oil on the internal engine surfaces and helps to prevent corrosion in the upper cylinder area.

While the spark plug is removed, check it for deposits. Now is a good time to clean or replace it – you'll save time in the spring. Plugs can be cleaned by scraping off the deposits with a pocket knife. Use a file on the center electrode to smooth and flatten its surface. This results in a hotter spark and less chance of misfires.

After cleaning, adjust the gap between the electrodes according to the owner's manual and then replace the plug and tighten it properly.

Visually check the cooling fins on the outside of the engine. Make sure that they aren't clogged with dust, grass clippings, leaves, etc.

IF YOUR mower has an electric starter, the battery should get some special attention during winter storage.

Batteries discharge gradually during storage, and may become susceptible to freezing. So, if the mower will be stored where temperatures go below 32 degrees, the battery should be removed and stored separately where temperatures are cool, but not below freezing.

Compost Pile Construction In Bulletin

Persons interested in environmental quality can get advice on how to construct a proper compost pile in a new bulletin published by the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service.

Entitled "Compost Will Improve the Environment," extension bulletin E-727 can be obtained at your local county extension office or by writing to the Bulletin Office, P.O. Box 231, MSU, East Lansing, Mich. 48823.

RECREATION ROOM has a mini-bar which the homeowner built when modernizing his basement. He used the same wall paneling, Masonite Jamestown Gold, to finish the bar. The social conversation area at right is distinguished by the colorful plaid wall with the yellow repeated in the shag carpeting on the white, brick-patterned floor tile.

A Select Crew Spans Age Gap

By EDWARD WENDOVER

Stan Kenton says his music -- which he calls "progressive jazz" -- isn't for everybody.

And perhaps many of the people in the audience, when Kenton and his band packed Clarenceville's Schmidt Auditorium Sunday and Monday nights, were devoted fans who can remember dancing to Kenton's brassy jazz in the outdoor pavilion of the old Eastwood Gardens in Detroit 25 years ago -- but not all of them.

Some of us in the audience were babes in arms or only a faint flicker of a glint when Kenton was in his heyday, but we found the Kenton band's music enjoyable; it was hard to keep your feet from tapping.

BUT THOSE who most appreciated Kenton's Clarenceville appearance weren't his devoted fans or the non-fans who enjoyed the evening concerts, but some 300 area youngsters who participated in a Sunday afternoon band clinic where Kenton and his musicians coached the youths in trumpet, saxophone, trombone and drum playing as well as tossing in a session on improvisation -- the backbone of Kenton's arrangements.

Kenton's arrival at Clarenceville was opened with a concert by members of the Clarenceville Junior High School band. After their performance, the youths talked to musicians from Kenton's band, and the ever-smiling band leader told several of the junior high band members that their performance had been "very good, very good."

Kenton's band then performed some arrangements before splitting the youths up into clinic sessions.

"These guys (the band members) love these kids," Kenton said. "Most of them are college graduates, some with advance degrees, and most have classical (music) backgrounds."

IT CERTAINLY is a mixed bag of musicians to be traveling around the country together, but travel they must, Kenton said.

The band leader criticized record companies and television and radio as caterers only to the majority tastes in music. "There's no room for classical or jazz recordings," Kenton said.

To help get around this problem, Kenton started Creative World recording company, and the band's newest album on that label will be out shortly; it's a two-record set recorded in quadrophonic sound at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah.

But traveling is the only way to share their music with those who really want to hear it, Kenton said.

This means a grueling schedule, criss-crossing the country several times on the current three-month tour. Luggage and instruments must be lugged around to each stop and left in piles backstage, a hurried repacking after one performance and a quick dash to the next stop.

"You know what dope is to a dope fiend?" Kenton asked. "That's what music is to us and we have to travel to play our music."

AT SUNDAY NIGHT'S concert, Kenton pulled what he called, "a dirty trick." Knowing that Jerry McKenzie of Livonia, a former drummer in Kenton's band, was in the audience, Kenton asked his old colleague to join them.

McKenzie, who is now a Farmington Township policeman, played "Stompin' At The Savoy," an old Kenton fan favorite featuring a wild drum solo and accompaniment.

"It's always a lot of fun to have Jerry back to play with us," Kenton said.

"If you ask these guys (in the band) tomorrow where they'd played the night before, you'd get 20 different answers," Kenton chuckled.

Hussey To Head Realtors

Realtor John H. Hussey, of the Hussey Co. of Detroit and Farmington, will be installed Dec. 18 as president of the United Northwestern Realty Assn. / Western Wayne Oakland Board of Realtors.

Installation will take place at the board's annual Christmas party in the Raleigh House, Southfield.

Other officers elected recently by the board of directors include: Vice president, William W. Bowman, Thompson-Brown Co., Farmington; secretary, Lois C. Dicks, Real Estate One; and treasurer, Ansgar C. Johnson of J.L. Mooney Co., Detroit.

Cemetery Group Picks Meyer VP

Alvin C. Meyer, general manager of Glen Eden Memorial Park, Livonia, was elected first vice president of the American Cemetery Assn. during its recent convention this week in Atlanta, Ga.

The American Cemetery Association is a trade group with members throughout the United States, Canada and other nations.

Meyer has previously been secretary, director and second vice president of the group. He is a past president of the Greater Detroit Cemetery Assn., a member of the Michigan Cemetery Assn., and an elder of the Lutheran church.

Meyer resides at 34409 Six Mile, in Livonia.

Now, the most popular children's show on TV is a comic strip, too!

Teachers love Sesame Street. Parents love it, too. But most of all children love the popular television show that makes learning fun. And now, the new Sesame Street comic strip appears Sunday and every day in the morning Free Press. There's a whole new cast of lively Sesame Street characters like Professor Drummond Bugle, Nelson Ninelives, Theda Boa, Charlie Mane, Buster Balloon and many, many more. They'll delight your children. Amuse them. And, most important, teach them a host of hard-to-explain ideas in a simple, charming way.

Look for Sesame Street every day in the Detroit Free Press.
