THAT DUTCH students study four languages really amazed her, Cindy Hagmayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hagmayer, of Lakewood Dr., remarked. She explained they learn German, French, English and Dutch. She lived with a family in Voothuisen, Netherlands. See story on these students, Page One.

NANCY Derr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Derr, of Simpson St., said she is looking forward to a reunion with her German sister who is an exchange student in Cadillac, Mich. this year. Nancy said she had an opportunity to thoroughly use her German when her sister left for the United States because her parents don't speak any English.

BEING ABLE to speak freely with people from another country about their experiences and feelings was the most valuable part of Sue Niemi's summer in Halmstad, Sweden, she said. Miss Niemi, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Niemi, of Joy Rd., also toured Denmark, Germany and Netherlands, with her Swedish family.

A TRIP to Berlin was the highlight of Tom Todd's visit in Germany. He said. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Todd, of Simpson St., he lived with a family in Hanover, West Germany. He said he expected tremendous differences between American and German life but found there really weren't many. He said they have all our modern conveniences but not as many.

"We are therefore pleased," he said, that Mr. Dotseth has found time to bring us up to date on the educational program." Tickets for the program, to be held at Hillside Inn's Jacob Room, are $1.75. Starting time is 12:10 p.m.

Reservations may be made by calling Chamber offices at GL 3-1540.

THE LAMP IN THE WINDOW

Symbolic of the earlier days of American pharmacy was the lighted lamp in the drugstore window. All through the night it glowed, a beacon of hope, a symbol of unselfish service.

Although the historic lamp is now practically extinct, the fundamentals of pharmaceutical practice have changed but little. The responsibilities of the pharmacist are greater today than ever before — he is a vital factor in medical care.

Berry Pontiac Expands

To better serve the people of Plymouth Berry Pontiac has expanded both its sales showroom and service departments.

The new car showroom stretches across the front of the building at 874 W. Ann Arbor Rd., and the parts department, which previously shared the front with the showroom has moved into a new addition at the side of the building. Berry Pontiac purchased the lot and building next to their facilities and are using it for a body shop — increasing the size of the shop three times, according to J. E. Edelbrock, general manager and partner.

Ross Berry opened the Pontiac dealership on Main St. in 1940. The firm has been located on Ann Arbor Rd. since 1946. Edelbrock said he acquired an interest in the firm in 1960.

The number of employees has doubled in the past five years and increased 15 in the past year alone to reach a total of 56, according to Edelbrock.

LOOKING AT ONE of the 1965 models in Berry Pontiac's recently enlarged new car showroom is J. E. Edelbrock general manager and partner. Berry Pontiac has increased its facilities with the construction of an addition to its present building for the parts department and the purchase of an adjacent lot and building. Their new car showroom stretches across the front of their building at 874 W. Ann Arbor Rd.

Kiwanians, Legionnaires Exchange Viewpoints

Plymouth Kiwanians, guests of the local American Legion Post as the Legion-sponsored "Why Are We . . . ?" series resumed their fall through spring series, exchanged brief histories, achievements and goals through their principal speakers, Walter Gemperline for the Kiwanis and Giles Reeve for the Legion.

Gemperline told of the organization of Kiwanis in Michigan 49 years ago and noted that the name Kiwanis derived from an Indian source.

He also mentioned Kiwanis work with youth, especially through Key Clubs in high schools and Circle K Clubs at the college level. Kiwanis' current goals are the establishment of better public relations between the peoples of the world, he said, and they are contributing to this effort by forming new Kiwanis clubs around the world.

Reeve briefly reviewed the origin of the Legion in Paris in 1919, the Legion's part in the establishment of the Bill of Rights and the benefit that our country has derived from this program.

He reported on the American Legion Children's Home at Otter Lake. Reeve touched briefly on other phases of Legion work, not only in youth activity, but in Americanism, Education and Legislation.

Additional comments were made by Kiwanis President Dr. Gerald Fitch, State Commander Duane Brigstock, State Vice Commander William Peltier and by Toastmaster John Carey, a Past State Commander of the Legion.

Guests of the series on October 17, will be the East and West Junior High School P. T. S. A.'s and personnel of the Plymouth Community School District business office.

Two Plymouthites Win Scholarships

Two Plymouth youth who are carriers for the Detroit News have won $500 scholarships from the newspaper.

Tom Webber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Webber, of 190 Blunk St. and Mike Case, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Case, of 9303 Morrison St., both received scholarships which they may use when they enter college.

Webber a junior at Plymouth High School and a carrier boy for two and a half years, said he would like to be a marine biologist.

Case is a junior at St. John the Baptist High School in Ypsilanti. He would like to study engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

A total of 50 scholarships were given out by the Detroit News and Student Aid Foundation. A carrier can apply for as many as four of these scholarships and they are awarded on the basis of interviews, test scores and recommendations from patrons.

Tell Kiwanians About "Thinking Machine"

Kiwanian By Becker presented his son, Hal as guest speaker at the Plymouth Kiwanis Club meeting last Tuesday evening. Hal, who is a communications technician for General Electric Corp. presented a film "The Thinking Machine," which was prepared by the Columbia Broadcasting System to honor the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 100 years of service.

Since early times scientists have dreamed of a robot that could do human things or have human actions. Experiments with animals and fowl indicate that human beings have certain, natural instincts and hereditary traits that are of a type that could be programmed on a computer. Scientists differ somewhat in their opinions, but there is a strong belief that machines can be programmed or told to do many of the things we do that are considered human. One thing that is holding up progress is the lack of knowledge of how a human thinks. Human beings are now thought to be programmed by their parents with natural instincts. A typical machine is somewhat limited because it has only 1300 neurons while the human brain has 10 billion neurons.

The digital computer has been improved to a point where it can write television westerns, 17 already, with the same basic set of facts and as much variety as the average human writer. We are truly entering the second phase of the Industrial Revolution.

President Gerry Fitch announced that the week of Sept. 20 was National Constitution Week. Our Federal Constitution was signed by 39 of the original 55 delegates in September 1787 and became law on March 4, 1889. It has been amended only 22 times.

The wives of the Kiwanis Club members were special guests for Ladies Night at the annual Steak and Corn Roast held at Lofy's Arbor-Lil. And Bert Lofy added chicken as an extra treat on the menu.

Other guests at this dinner meeting were Don Mycelc, Ralph Moore, Bill Koch, E. G. Strucher, Glen Kreig, Herb Bunting, Harold Beate and Harold Goodman.

Carl Pursell and the Key Club will present the program on Oct. 6. On Oct. 13 Norb Batterman will present a space program and the Club will also hold election of officers for 1965.

Youth Hurt in Traffic Crash

A Plymouth youth was injured last Thursday after noon and two other persons were treated for injuries after they were hurt in a traffic accident at the intersection of Ann Arbor Road and Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth Township.

Charles W. Masten, 17, of 50300 Hanford, Plymouth, was injured when a car driven by an Ohio man cut in front of him and he struck it broadside, according to Wayne County Sheriff's officers.

Officers said a vehicle driven by Joseph E. Martin, 40, of Curtis, O., headed west on Ann Arbor Trail, pulled in front of Masten's car, east-bound on Ann Arbor Road.

Two passengers in the Martin car, Edith Martin, 35, and Edward Martin, 74, received minor injuries, officers said.

My Neighbors

"I told Harry I would come along and tell you exactly what's wrong with him so there's no misunderstanding."

Staebler Attacks

(Continued from Page 1) was a "play to the galleries, showmanship." He accused Romney of losing $20 million for Michigan in the dispute over the ADC-U bill passed here.

PRIOR TO introducing Staebler to the 60 persons at the dinner, Plymouth City Attorney Edward F. Draugelis noted that the event had raised $1,500 to $2,000 for the campaign fund.

Local Democratic candidates were introduced, including 36th State Congressional District candidate James Tierney of Garden City, 14th State Senatorial candidate James McCarthy of Livonia and Second U. S. Congressional District hopeful Weston E. Vivian of Ann Arbor.

Dignitaries from Plymouth present at the event included Mayor Richard Wernette and City Commissioner and Mrs. Robert Beyer.

The commission expressed aversion to split-zoning of this type. Boatin did not press his request. Commissioners instructed the building inspector to look over the Ten Mile Lakes site in the southwestern corner of the township and asked Township Attorney Earl Demel to check on legal requirements.

Later in the meeting, planning consultant W. C. Johnson of Waring and Johnson presented the thoroughfare plan and survey and plan of building and environmental conditions as part of the Township's master plan being compiled under the U. S. Government's 701 program.

Commissioners approved the sections of the program as discussed.

Man Killed

They said he pointed the weapon at Wall and ordered him to leave, threatening to kill him if he didn't. Wall refused and, officers said, Dickey shot him.

Two other persons took the wounded man and headed for Wayne County General Hospital in a car. At the intersection of Ford and Newburg Roads, the car was involved in an accident. Investigating officers were told, at that point, that a man had been shot.

"That's the first we heard about it," Detective Love noted. Later, he said, the Sheriff's Department was called by Elaine Stevens, who also had been at the party and notified of the shooting.

Love said the Wayne County Prosecutor's office recommended issuance of a first degree murder warrant this morning. He said Dickey was expected to be arraigned this afternoon.

Love said Dickey had admitted the shooting.

Man's Struggle to Get a Blanket Used to be Dangerous

When prehistoric man struggled with the saber-tooth tiger, in order to use his skin for a blanket, he wound up more often than not inside the tiger. True, he was warm, but very uncomfortable. His surviving relatives remarked, "There must be a better way."

Our colonists hand-wove all their own blankets. Every colonial kitchen had its big spinning wheel, and in the center of the room stood the great loom for weaving.

It wasn't until the 18th century that weaving and spinning inventions paved the way for blankets that grace the beds of present day America, and not until this year that the pioneering fiberwoven process introduced a revolutionary new method of weaving which eliminated the spinning operation entirely and turned out the first luxurious blankets directly from fiber.

These blankets are the latest product of an industry that is older than recorded history. Ancient looms produced blankets for protection and profit thousands of years before Christ.

These very early looms were made by tying yarns to a horizontal pole suspended from the branch of a tree or supported on uprights. The lower ends were weighed singly or in bunches with stone or clay weights.

The lake dwellers of Europe made their blankets in such a way that the loom models dating back more than 10,000 years have been found preserved in sediment at the bottom of Swiss lakes. Penelope's loom described by Homer in the Odyssey was also of this type.

The first blankets with intricate patterns appeared in Europe during the Renaissance. They were woven on the draw loom, which was invented in China and brought to Europe by Marco Polo's successors.

In the draw loom a separate cord controlled each yarn, and any combination of yarns could be fitted together to create beautiful patterns. The cords were fastened to a bar at the top of the loom, and there a draw boy, usually under ten years old, crouched ready to pull strings at the weaver's command.

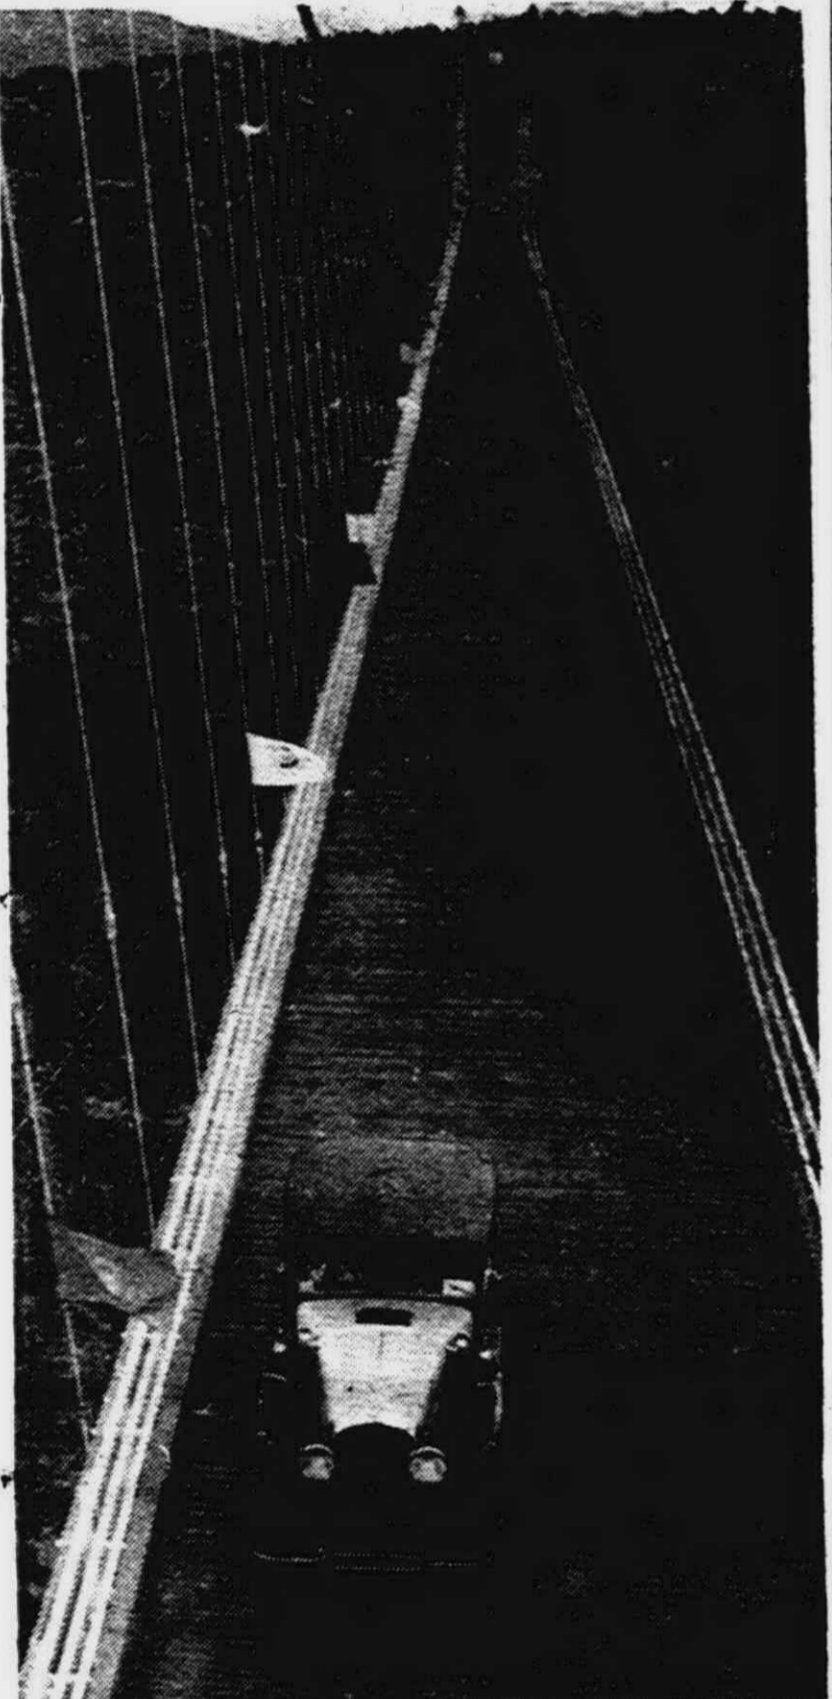

These machines made weaving blankets difficult and time consuming and for centuries attempts were made to develop a loom that would have all its parts controlled from the center. In the year 1661 such a loom was reportedly set up in Danzig, Poland for which the claim was made that it could weave four to six sheets of cloth at one time without human aid, and it could be worked night and day.

It was not known how this loom was constructed, but it caused several injuries to the men operating it and the Polish authorities suppressed the machine and strangled or drowned the inventor.

A more fortunate entrepreneur was Dr. Edmund Cartwright, an imaginative Anglican minister, who invented the power loom in 1785. He lived to become rich and to be knighted for his invention. And rightly so, for the power loom was the most revolutionary contribution to weaving since the first loom was born. The power loom was comparatively compact, much more durable, practically automatic and wove fabric at a speed undreamed of until the mind of Dr. Cartwright focused on the loom. Nothing as significant as the invention of the power loom has occurred in weaving until quite recently.

This breakthrough came with the perfection of a method of weaving fiber directly into fabric, thus bypassing all the conventional yarn-making and weaving steps. The new process results in a fabric that is homogenous throughout, with fiberwoven fabrics are actually woven fabrics achieved by the simultaneous interlocking of many loops of fibers shaped and entangled in chain formation by barbed needles in an altogether new type of machine.

PARTICIPANTS in the 1964 tour of the Veteran Car Club of America, held this year in Colorado, included Mr. and Mrs. Howard Salley of 47365 Ford Rd., shown here crossing the world's highest bridge over Colorado's famed Royal Gorge in their 1929 Lincoln coupe. Some 240 vintage autos from 34 states, Canada and England drove in the week-long event — to Denver, the Air Force Academy, up Pike's Peak and to the Royal Gorge. The tour is co-sponsored by the Antique Car Club of America.

Set Open House For Parents at Jr. High East

Parents of Junior High School East students will be given an opportunity to visit the school and meet with teachers on Monday evening, Oct. 5 at 7:45 p.m.

The Open House is being sponsored by the Junior High East Parent Council. The council will hold a short business meeting, conducted by newly-elected President Darrel Sand, in the gymnasium before the evening program.

Under the program setup, parents will go through their child's schedule, with only the times changed to permit early dismissal.

This approach has proven successful in the past, according to Principal Carl V. Taylor. He said it offers an opportunity for parents to better understand their child's education at the school.

Taylor urged all parents to attend the session.

This is the 1965 Comet:

livelier, more beautiful sequel to the World's Durability Champion

We couldn't make Comet much tougher, so we made it more beautiful. Made the outside sleeker, sportier—from every angle. Made the interiors more luxurious. Made every engine bigger, from the 200 cu.-in. "6" through the hefty new 289 cu.-in. Cyclone Super V-8 (225 hp). Made the ride even smoother, more solid and silent. The one thing not new in this racy '65 sequel is the stamina that made Comet the World's Durability Champion. You wouldn't want that to change, would you? It didn't.

Town Crier - How Not to Keep up With the Joneses

By Jacquie Town

I just finished reading an enlightening book entitled "The Sane Society," by Dr. Erich Fromm, an interesting essay about who's really sick.

Of course, even a highly respected psychiatrist wouldn't directly answer such a touchy question; he does make some very valid points. One of his first, is, strangely enough, that you have to find your own identity in your own way. Especially in this day and age, that's difficult to do.

We have television commercials telling us how to sanitize our bathroom in a party dress, what detergent to use for the whitest wash, how to be a charming hostess with a little change in haircolor, and precisely what to do for that "tense, irritable" feeling, on one side, then Betty Freidan telling us that all we really need is the 4th dimension, leaving the household drudgery to someone else.

Add that up and try to understand yourself. But, as Dr. Fromm so boldly states, "I am as you desire me, therefore I am not I."

Make sense?

Personally, I decided that what he was trying to tell us is that you cannot be all things to all people. For our own peace of mind, only we can decide what we are.

Are we merely a reflection of what someone else sees? Or are we flesh and blood?

Are we what magazines tell us to be and social status seekers demand we be, or do we have courage to let go of the crutch of "the group", and lead our own lives?

Unfortunately for Betty Freidan, "The Feminine Mystique" still exists in a great many of us. I for one, like being a housewife. I like being a mother, and I don't really look upon those of us who do as "kooks", although I'm sure Miss Freidan may disagree with that statement. It really doesn't bother some of us to have a little crabgrass on our lawns. After all, even the grass has a right to get crabby once in a while.

If the house isn't always in perfect condition, that may be because something more fascinating caught my attention. There are days at my own home when the beds just don't get made. They will be there forever, but the moments I spend with the children in the neighborhood are, to me, far more important.

And children are children for such a short time. True, I admire women who have the ability to keep their homes neat and tidy, and whose yards are not constantly filled with trampled grass or littered with toys.

But I do not envy them. My way of semi-organized living suits me just fine. Some of us simply don't have the time to become involved with too many social circles. To us service to our community ranks second to the welfare of our family.

We simply don't have the time. Each day brings forth a new adventure, and not the question, what shall I do today? Rather, what new thing will I experience, and learn?

Dr. Fromm has said, "Keeping up with the Joneses can be an emotional drain, and a full time occupation."

I, for one, intensely dislike that type of ungainful employment.

CUTTING her lovely pink-colored "Strawberry Cake" is Mrs. Ronald Essick, of 643 Adams St. Strawberries, fresh or frozen, replace the water called for in a yellow cake mix to make this unusual cake.

A delicious easy-to-make cake with a lovely pink color, "Strawberry Cake" was suggested by Mrs. Ronald Essick, of 643 Adams St.

Mr. and Mrs. Essick are both natives of Plymouth. She is the former Jonell Cloar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Price Cloar, of Union St. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Essick, of Adams St., are her husband's parents.

Essick works at Fisher Shoes and is taking courses at Schoolcraft College.

The strawberry cake has been in her husband's family for years. Her mother-in-law brought the recipe with her from North Carolina.

Fresh strawberries make a better cake than frozen but frozen may be used when the others aren't in season, Mrs. Essick said.

She said she particularly likes the cake because it is so easy and doesn't take much time to whip up. Mrs. Essick keeps herself busy working in the office at Burroughs Corp. and taking care of her 19-month-old daughter Becky.

Mrs. Essick also recommended a strawberry icing to complement her cake recipe.

STRAWBERRY CAKE
1 box of yellow cake mix fresh or frozen crushed strawberries
Red food coloring
Follow directions on cake box substituting the strawberries for water. Add red food coloring for the amount of color you like.

ICING
3 to 4 C. powdered sugar
1/2 C. butter (at room temperature)
1/2 C. strawberries and juice
Combine ingredients, adding red food coloring to desired effect and whip until light and fluffy.

Any sophomore, junior, or senior interested in receiving a scholarship in citizenship may do so by writing a theme or essay on any phase of citizenship. Applicants, however, must be recommended by three teachers and counselors.

The contest in this district will take place between Northville High and Plymouth High Schools. The essay considered best by the judges will receive a $75 bond from the Soroptimist Club of Plymouth and will be entered in national competition.

The next two winners will each receive a $25 bond. Soroptimist Club also will honor the three with a dinner.

Applications will be available at the school on Nov. 1 and must be returned to the Soroptimist Club by Feb. 1. Winners will be announced before or at graduation.

Last year's national winner from St. Louis Mo. won a $2500 scholarship for having the best essay in the nation. Don Stamper is in charge of Christmas cards for the class of 1965 this year. Each senior will be requested to sell at least 16 boxes of cards.

What Are Objectives Used In Treating Clients?

By Anna Jung

The ultimate, or basic objective of any kind of treatment — whether in physical medicine, psychotherapy, or social casework is to help people to feel better and function better. Sometimes this is the immediate goal, and perhaps the only goal.

At other times it is necessary to make the person feel worse before he can feel better. The doctor inflicts pain by thrusting a needle into the patient's hip or arm, a needle filled with a medicine which stings as it is released into the tissue. Pain may subside quickly or continue for several days. Swelling and discoloration may be the external evidences of pain the patient is feeling.

The surgeon inflicts greater pain, resulting in a longer period of discomfort and, usually, loss of a part of the body, even though it may be a very small part, the loss of which does not interfere with the patient's functioning and may even improve it.

Most of us have experienced discomfort, if not pain, in the dentist's chair. Yet we take it for granted that we must visit the dentist once or twice a year, allow him to probe, drill if necessary, grind and pick at our teeth if we want to maintain healthy teeth and gums.

If the dental repair work is to be extensive, or if the patient has a low tolerance for pain, the dentist may decide to inject Novocain, to enable the patient to tolerate the treatment.

Few of us feel impelled to treat our physical problems, except perhaps colds or other minor illnesses which generally respond as quickly to home remedies as to a physician's ministrations. We would not dream of trying to fill or pull a tooth.

Yet many people expect to be able to "treat" their own emotional problems, or problems of other family members, relatives, or friends.

When we go to the dentist or to the physician we tell him how we feel, what is bothering us, and what we think is the trouble. But we expect that he will use whatever procedures he finds necessary to diagnose the problem, that he will tell us what needs to be done, and that he will determine the treatment methods necessary.

The patient has the right to decide whether to accept treatment. He may also decide whether to accept total or partial treatment. But the physician has a professional obligation to inform his patient of the dangers to which he is exposing himself by accepting only partial treatment, and to use legitimate means to persuade the patient to accept total treatment.

The above is, of course, an allegorical representation of what goes on in a family service agency — giving information about an unfamiliar subject in terms with which most people are familiar. You might say — going into the family agency by a side door!

In the next article we shall go directly through the front door.

We shall examine specifically, and in detail, the objectives generally considered to be within the scope of the family agency's casework program. Broadly speaking, the objectives may be divided into three categories:

(1) To help the troubled person to feel better by reducing external or internal stress.

(2) To help the client solve a problem which he has been unable to solve by himself through giving information, advice, and guidance.

(3) To help the client to learn how to solve problems so this knowledge will be available to him in the future.

We need to take into account the fact that life consists of an endless series of problems, or "developmental tasks", that we must learn to cope with.

A certain amount of tension and anxiety is necessary to propel us in the direction of problem-solving. Too much anxiety may result in loss of coping ability; too little or no anxiety may cause emotional stagnation.

Like the physician, the caseworker has responsibility for diagnosing the problem; he must elicit information directly from the client and, sometimes from other sources such as the minister, the physician, the teacher, to understand the problem.

The probing may cause psychological pain for the client, just as the dentist's drill causes physical pain. The "Novocain" the caseworker uses to make the pain bearable may consist of reassurance, understanding, and acceptance of the client and his problem.

The caseworker also has responsibility for defining the problem to help the client understand and decide what he wants and needs to do about the problem.

The caseworker recommends treatment goals and methods to achieve the goals. The client decides whether he will accept treatment, and he participates in the selection of treatment goals. Like the physician's patient, the clients may decide to accept only partial treatment.

Keeping the client's welfare in mind, the caseworker may use persuasive techniques to encourage fuller participation in treatment, but the client ultimately has the right of self-determination.

U. S. Army Nurse Corps Needs RN's

The United States Army urgently needs nurses qualified to serve as commissioned officers in the Army Nurse Corps.

Any registered nurse between the ages of 21 and 35 who has graduated from an accredited school of nursing can apply for immediate commissioning as an officer in the Army Nurse Corps Reserve and assignment to active duty. The applicant is not required to be unmarried but women nurses may not have dependents under 15 years of age.

Upon entering active duty, the newly commissioned nurse first reports to the Brooke Army Medical Center at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, for an eight-week orientation course. After completion of this course, assignment is made to the Army hospital, normally one of three choices of the nurse.

If you are a registered nurse who has just finished school, or are employed but thinking of a change, why not consider a career in the Army Nurse Corps? For details and application information, call your local Army recruiting office, or write directly to the Army Nurse Corps Personnel Coordinator, Headquarters Fifth U. S. Army, 1660 East Hyde Park Blvd., Chicago, Ill.

TEACHES IN WAYNE

Robert F. Kehrl, of Greenbriar Ln., is teaching in the John Glenn High School in the Wayne school system, having received his Master of Science in Business Education from the University of Michigan during the school's summer session. The son of Rev. and Mrs. Arnold H. Kehrl, of Sutherland Ave., he previously taught in the John Marshall Junior High School, Wayne.

Set Date for NROTC Exam

Vice Admiral B. J. Semmes, Jr., Chief of Naval Personnel, announced today that the 19th annual national competitive examination for the Regular Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps will be given on Dec. 12. Eligible high school seniors and graduates should submit their applications before Nov. 20.

Designed to supplement the officer output of the Naval Academy, the NROTC program makes it possible for a young man to earn a regular commission while studying at the civilian college of his choice from among 52 colleges with an NROTC Unit.

All tuition, fees and books are furnished by the Navy, and the student receives a retainer of $50 per month for not more than four years. During the summers the student goes on training cruises as a midshipman.

After successfully completing a four year college course, he is commissioned in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps and goes on active duty as a career officer with the Navy's modern fleets.

Immediate challenging assignments to aviation training, nuclear training or submarine training offer varied career opportunities to those graduates who apply and qualify.

High school seniors and graduates who will have reached their 17th but not their 21st birthday on June 30, 1965 may apply for the NROTC aptitude test. Those who make a qualifying score will be interviewed and given a thorough medical examination early in 1965.

From the number of qualified young men remaining in competition, about 2,000 will be selected to attend college next September to prepare for their naval careers.

Application forms are available at local high schools and Navy Recruiting Stations or from the Chief of Naval Personnel, Department of the Navy, Washington, D. C. 20370.

Dodge comes on big

'65 DART:
The Dodge-size compact

If you're the kind of person who likes to live a little, we'd like to let you in on something big—Dodge Dart for '65. Dart is the fun compact with big ideas. Big Beauty. Big Comfort. Big Ride. And Big Savings. In the engine room, Dart's mighty big, too. Take your choice of the Mobil Economy Run winning Six or a husky V8 that won't take "slow" for an answer. But why listen to us when that frisky fella is right down at your Dodge dealer's. See what we mean, today.

'65 CORONET:
A hot new Dodge at a new lower price

Leave it to Dodge to build a hot new, all-new car with the stretch-out room of a standard-size Ford or Chevy, yet priced with Fairlane and Chevelle. For that's exactly what they've done. It's called Coronet '65. And if the name seems familiar, nothing else about Coronet will be. It's totally new from road to roof line. With refreshing new styling. Oceans of room. A ride that belies its low price. And performance that's so exciting you'll have a hard time believing it even after you've put it through its paces.

Swingers go for Dart GT. And sporty Dart GT goes for everybody . . . for the economy-minded, for the sports-minded. Great way to leave things behind—like worries—like other cars. GT gives you what you go for.

You can pay as much for smaller cars, but why should you? When the full-size Coronet's looks get you going, bet your boots its price won't slow you down. Dodge Coronet for '65—that's the spirit.

*HERE'S HOW DODGE'S 5-YEAR, 50,000-MILE ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN WARRANTY PROTECTS YOU. Chrysler Corporation confidently warrants all of the following vital parts of its 1965 cars for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove defective in material and workmanship will be replaced or repaired at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excepting manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings. REQUIRED MAINTENANCE: The following maintenance services are required under the warranty—change engine oil every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first; replace oil filter every second oil change; clean carburetor air filter every 6 months and replace it every 2 years; and every 6 months furnish evidence of this required service to a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage. Simple enough for such important protection.

Peace Corps - Plymouth Is Well Represented In It

By Lon Dickerson

Less than three and a half years ago the Peace Corps was created by executive order. In his inaugural address the late John F. Kennedy said: "And so, my fellow Americans ask not what your country can do for you - ask what you can do for your country." The Peace Corps provided a new means by which Americans could respond to this challenge, and serve both their country and the world community.

To date over 100,000 people have responded to the challenge, and volunteers have been stationed in 46 countries in Africa, Asia, and Latin America at the request of these countries.

The Plymouth community is well represented in many of these countries.

During his two year assignment, the Peace Corps Volunteer (or P.C.V.) helps the country in which he is assigned to meet its need for trained personnel, promotes a better understanding of the American people, and gains a better understanding of the people with whom he works and lives.

On September 6, I left for Sierra Leone, a former British colony in West Africa, as a P.C.V. librarian. My responsibilities will center around strengthening existing libraries, creating new school and public libraries, and developing a bookmobile service.

From June 15 to Aug. 27, I was part of an intensive training program at Indiana University and Indiana State College. Of the 85 people who started the training program 69 were selected to go to Sierra Leone where there are approximately 80 additional volunteers serving as teachers and community development workers.

Our contingent is made up of people from 29 states and the District of Columbia (seven are from Michigan) who range from age 21 to 66. The average age of the group is 24. There are eight married couples in this group.

Three of us will serve as librarians and the others will be secondary school teachers. Peace Corps Volunteers make up over half the college graduate teaching force in Sierra Leone.

Included in our 10-week training program were 600 hours of classroom instruction in Krio, technical training, area studies, American studies, world affairs, health, driver education, physical training, and Peace Corps orientation.

Krio language training develops a mastery of the sound and grammar patterns of Krio (one of the two official languages of Sierra Leone, English being the other one) and to a lesser extent of Mende and Temne, two of the prominent tribal languages in Sierra Leone.

Technical training increases the volunteers' skills in teaching, English grammar, and in my case, library science.

Sierra Leonean area studies examines the geography, history, economics, and cultural patterns of that country.

American studies reviews many of our political, economic, and cultural characteristics. And world affairs examines the role of the U.S. in world affairs, the history of international organizations, and Communist ideology.

Health training includes basic health care, mental health, health conditions in Sierra Leone, first aid instruction, and weekly immunizations.

Driver education encompasses driver proficiency testing, driver instruction stressing driving conditions of Sierra Leone, and basic vehicle maintenance of jeeps.

Physical training develops physical strength and endurance, and reviews U.S. and Sierra Leone games.

In addition, each volunteer underwent a battery of proficiency tests and psychological tests and interviews. Eleven students from Sierra Leone, now studying at American universities, served as language instructors. By living with us they were also able to acquaint us with many of the customs and conditions in Sierra Leone which were not included in classroom instruction.

Through them we were able to sample Sierra Leone food and learn the "high life", the most popular dance in West Africa. Several volunteers who had just returned from Sierra Leone were able to further supplement our knowledge of that country.

In short, the training program was intensive, rigorous, and informative.

Now we are, as Peace Corps Volunteers, better equipped not to change the world but to do our part in helping Sierra Leone meet its need for trained manpower, and to help bring about some degree of peace through understanding.

How I fit into this program, and a description of the country in which I will be living for the next two years, will be reported in The Plymouth Mail each week.

If anyone should have questions, feel free to write to me at U.S. Embassy, Peace Corps, Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa.

Farmington 13, Grady 7 - Bentley Here Friday Night

Tuesday, September 29, 1964 THE PLYMOUTH MAIL 7

Sports IN AND AROUND PLYMOUTH

Rock JVs Lose 19-0 To Lakers

Plymouth's junior varsity team was beaten 19-0 at Walled Lake last Thursday amidst a chilling early fall downpour.
Actually the score is deceptive. The Rocks were in the game, trailing by only 6-0 until the final eight minutes of the game.
Coach Dick Bearup reports that there were lots of fumbles on both sides, with short runs accounting for the three Walled Lake touchdowns.
The Plymouth JVs are "big, but inexperienced," Bearup says, "and they tried awfully hard. I think they also learned something."
The second game will be at Farmington at 4 p.m. Thursday.

Prospects for Plymouth's 1964 football season were jarred by Farmington 13-7 last Friday as the Rocks suffered their first defeat of the season.

LAST MINUTE CONFERENCE — before the game at Farmington took place between line coach John McFall and center-end Dave Tidwell (52).

Bentley at 8 p.m. Friday. Bentley has lost 19-2 to Farmington and last week tied Dearborn 6-6. It is the Suburban Six Opener for both schools.
Fumbles by fullback Curt Irish plagued the Rocks at Farmington. After several exchanges of running plays in the first quarter, the first play of the second quarter, Farmington's Dick Johnston's punt rolled dead on the Plymouth 21.

IRISH attempted an end run on the first play, but was jolted on the 16 yard line by Johnston, who shot through from his linebacker position. The ball popped loose and Farmington's Bruce Charles picked it up. He scampered in to score untouched.
The first try for extra points was through the uprights, but a penalty nullified it and the second kick was wide. Farmington led 6-0.
Play see-sawed back and forth until late in the second quarter, when Johnston, returning a punt, fumbled on the Farmington 26 and it was recovered by Plymouth.

GARY Grady then skirted left end for five yards. On the next play quarterback Terry Cosgrove tossed a low pass to Grady on the fifteen yard line.
He juggled it, but gathered it in. Then he was hit by a defender, but slipped away and ran the last 15 yards to score. The play covered 21 yards and Plymouth now had tied the score 6-6 with 1:35 left to play in the first half.
A pass from quarterback John Daniels to end Jim Lake produced the extra point and Plymouth took a 7-6 lead into the dressing room at half-time.

PLYMOUTH kicked off to Farmington at the beginning of the second half and the Rocks spent most of the rest of the half playing defense.
Farmington moved from its own 33 in 14 plays to score. A key play turned out to be a fourth down gamble by Farmington on its own 42 with one yard to go. Halfback Roy Leech made four yards for a first down and it kept the drive moving.
Leach scored the winning touchdown with 4:43 left in the third quarter on the game's most impressive run, a 39-yard drive through traffic. About six Plymouth defenders had a hand on him, as he drove and twisted to score standing up. The point was good and Farmington led 13-7.

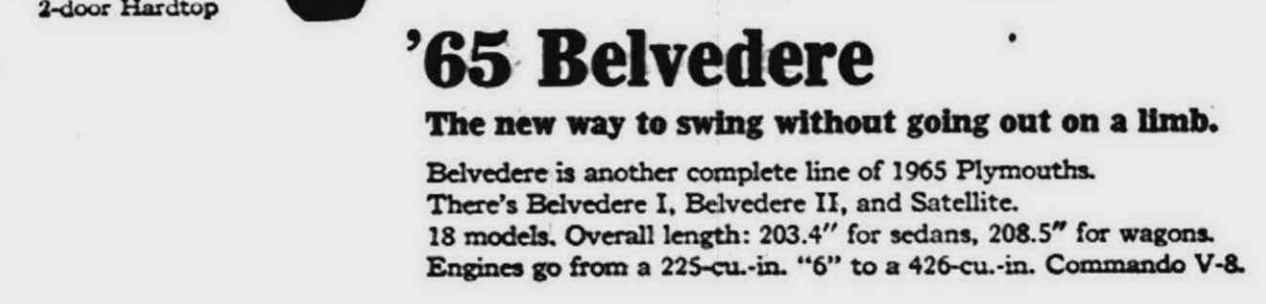

NEITHER team ever really got going again, although Plymouth put together two first downs midway in the fourth quarter before Irish fumbled on Farmington's 33 and Farmington's Mike Perry recovered.
After the game, the Plymouth team sat around for 30 minutes in the cold, waiting for a bus to pick them up. Finally the coaching staff took them into the Farmington Gym and the bus arrived 10 minutes later.
Apparently because of another run and the shortage of buses, a conflict had developed.
Plymouth came out of the game with only minor injuries, except Halfback Gary Grady who was being examined over the weekend. Grady is the team's workhorse, its best player.
The game was the only day game of the season for Farmington. Perhaps it was the bright sunlight or the difference in timing. It was a game that everyone would just as soon forget.

OFFICIAL GABFEST — prior to the Plymouth-Farmington game took place between Al Jones (Northville), Bob Keene (Redford) and Dave Beauvais (Detroit). The three did a creditable job on the game, which was marred only by a few penalties on each side and no controversial calls.

Bates Runs First But Bentley Wins

Plymouth's cross-country season got underway last Thursday as John Bates and Mike Bentley ran one-two for the Rocks in a losing 25-35 cause against Livonia-Bentley.
Co-Captain Bates turned in a mighty 11:25 for the two mile Cass Benton course, while Bentley (the son of principal Carvel Bentley) was seven seconds behind at 11:32.
The Rocks were beaten by team strength, however, when the Bulldogs grabbed third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth places. Co-Captain Frank Dorset was ninth for Plymouth.
Dave Allen finished 11th and Bob Kreitsch was 12th for Plymouth to complete the Rock scoring. Dave Dirlam was 14th and Robin Wideman, 15th.
Plymouth will entertain Trenton at 4 p.m. Friday at Plymouth Riverside.

The Sporting Thing

By Bill Nelson

Losing is not an unknown concept in Plymouth sports, but it is not anything like a habit for Plymouth teams. Last week-end it began to look like a way of life.
The varsity high school football team lost 13-7 and the junior varsity lost 19-2. The cross country team lost 25-35. It was feared that Plymouth's best player, Gary Grady, might be lost through injury. The school bus was "lost" for 35 minutes at the end of the game.
The first loss hurt the most. Plymouth's proud varsity team had been working on a winning streak that goes back eleven games to the 1962 season.
The Farmington game also revealed that Plymouth must do something about its offensive line, and pass protection in the backfield. Otherwise the Suburban Six race belongs to somebody else.
The Rocks are working with the same two quarterbacks, John Daniels and Terry Cosgrove, who performed admirably as passers for Plymouth last year. This season they are lucky to get the ball away.
The defensive line looks satisfactory, although, like most of the team, it lacks size. It is spirited and aggressive, however. And, then, there is halfback Gary Grady.
At deadline time Grady's status was uncertain. And again he carries the ball and also is used as a linebacker and pass receiver. He scored the only Rock touchdown against Farmington and two of three against Northville. The other one was a quarterback sneak.
He is rapidly becoming a marked man in the league and all defenses will be set to contain him. Coach John M. Hoben calls him "perhaps the best halfback in the state".
If Grady is lost to the team, Plymouth must change its entire offense. Even if he is not, the Rocks have got to give him some blocking or discover another attacker. Otherwise it will be easy for opponents to defense Grady and Plymouth.
The cross-country loss is another example of individual brilliance but lack of team strength. Against Livonia Bentley, Plymouth's John Bates and Mike Bentley finished one-two, but Bentley's teammate Superiority gathered the next six spots and the team.
The junior varsity football team struggled and slid in the heavy rains at Walled Lake before losing and faced (many of them in their first competition) a school system that takes its football seriously all the way down through the sixth grade.
Coach Dick Bearup pointed out that Plymouth's team is heavy and inexperienced and ought to improve. He added, "They tried awfully hard".
So the week-end wasn't the kind you'd write home to mother about. Its final "loss" was one of those unplanned touches that frequently make adversity humorous.
The "lost" bus that was to take the Plymouth team back from Farmington was 35 minutes late after the game. So as the sun set over lightless Farmington field, the Rocks sat, huddled for warmth in the early chill of Michigan fall and waited for a bus.
It was reported that the system is so short of buses that this one could not be left at the field, because it had to go all the way back to Plymouth to be used on another run. So the athletes sat and shivered for 25 minutes until Farmington officials invited them into the gymnasium. There were some rather grand offers to use a Farmington bus.
Plymouth is allegedly a Class A school system and ought to be able to find transportation that doesn't involve 40-50 sweating youngsters sitting in the cold for 25 minutes. Either we're Class A or we aren't.
It was a lost week-end.
