FARMINGTON—The Farmington Township Board issued a policy statement Monday asserting that all residents of the township would receive full protection of the law regardless of race, creed or color. The statement called a housing change "inevitable" in the township, but added that "we see no reason why the character of this community need change merely because of alterations in the racial balance in the community."

* * *

FARMINGTON — Three persons are seeking election to two posts on the Farmington Board of Education June 10. Filing nominating petitions are incumbents George Nahstoll and Richard Peters along with newcomer Gary Lichtman.

* * *

LIVONIA — Taxes are going up to meet increased city government costs next year. Councilmen have been asked by President Edward McNamara to consider a one mill increase, or suggest something else. Councilman Rudolf Kleinert said he will propose a one per cent city income tax to give some relief to the property taxpayer. One mill would add $537,000 to the city's revenue, raising the limit to six for city funds and one extra for the police.

* * *

WESTLAND — The Nankin Mills School District joined the growing list of suburban communities to ask voters for additional tax monies at the June 10 election. The board approved a seven mill increase request for a one year period. Among the possible cutbacks if the millage proposal fails are the closing of one of its five elementary schools and placing all elementary pupils on half-day sessions.

* * *

WESTLAND — Mayor Thomas Brown threatened to veto the city's new zoning ordinance, which faces a Thursday deadline for taking effect, over a sentence which he claims would hold the administration up to ridicule over building permits and building flaws.

* * *

GARDEN CITY — The Chamber of Commerce, faced with financial problems, asked the City Council Monday to give $5,000 to the organization. The council gave the proposal a cool reception, and the city attorney said that the donation by the city may not even be legal.

* * *

GARDEN CITY — Mrs. Garden Beautiful was crowned Monday morning to start the community's ninth annual Clean-Up Week campaign in a drive to improve the looks of personal property.

* * *

REDFORD — Armed gunmen 'blow' safe at supermarket in bold holdup, escape with estimated $21,000 after holding employes under guard.

Plymouth Set For Michigan Week

From the shores of Lake Erie, up along the beaches of Lake Huron and Superior and the coast of Lake Michigan they'll be shouting the praises of Michigan for a week, starting on Saturday, May 18 and Plymouth will do more than its share to call attention to the state as part of Michigan Week.

Granted an extra day this year, the big time opens on Saturday and runs through the following Saturday with some sort of activity each day.

While some of the events that had been hoped for had to be canceled because of lack of time to prepare, there will be a number of local events to satisy the urge to feel proud of the area in which we live.

The big week opens on a sombre note with a memorial tribute to Charles Dudley at the Little League Field on Saturday and then will swing into action with six ball games during the afternoon.

Sunday, as usual, is devoted to church service, but the Gertrude Fiegel School also will be dedicated.

While Mayor James Jabara is in Manistee, Plymouth will be entertaining the Manistee mayor on exchange day with a breakfast at 9 a.m. in City Hall and a luncheon at the RCA building at noon.

The next big event will be the celebration of Livelihood Day on Wednesday. The celebrity luncheon is scheduled at noon at the Mayflower Meeting House at which time the civic leaders will be honored and the product of the year announced.

Thursday is turned over to the schools for Education Day and a full card is listed and the Women's Club will sponsor a tea in the Dunning-Hough Library on Friday.

These events will pave the way for the finale on Saturday when the school youth will engage in a track meet on the high school grounds.

City Revives Hope For Indoor Arena

Hopes for the construction of an ice rink that would serve as the core of a recreational program for the area were revived by the City Commission Monday night.

The revival came when, after hearing a report from Charles Lowe, the city attorney, to the effect that there would be no legal barrier to formation of a building authority, a meeting was tentatively scheduled with the Township officials for May 27.

The city attorney had been asked to research the law and learn whether the two municipalities could get together and establish a building authority and how it could be financed.

In giving his report Monday night, Attorney Lowe stated there were four methods by which the authority could be financed. He reported they were:

1--Revenue bonds, in which he didn't think private investors would be interested.

2--Special assessment, in which no benefit can be shown to the citizens.

3--General obligation bonds, a public voting bond that must be decided by a vote in each municipality.

4--Building authority--the municipalities would lease the facility from the Building Authority at an amount sufficient to pay the bond installment plus interest.

He recommended the building authority, and the wheels were put into motion for a meeting with the Township.

Originally, the ice arena was to be a memorial to the City of Plymouth Centennial and was to be erected on the high school athletic field.

Along the route, some members of the City Commission felt that there was not sufficient room for the facility and parking, and asked the Township to join hands in finding a site.

A committee has been working for some time on a location, but little was reported. As a matter of fact, the project seemed to be forgotten until the Commission action Monday night.

City Approves Tonquish Park Purchase

The first tangible step toward a new environment for the area in which the proposed senior citizens housing will be located was taken Monday night when the City Commission approved the purchase of 0.7666 acres of land for Tonquish Creek Park.

This strip will be a path from the Senior Citizens building to Main Street, and it will provide pleasant surroundings for a "stroll in the park," after the building is completed.

The fraction was an acre purchased from Leonard and Linda Radionoff for $6,750.

Until this action was taken, there had been nothing but plans and proposals for the area.

Now that the land is being purchased, progress also is being reported on the Senior Citizens housing project. It has been reported that three developers have submitted plans for the project and that one of these three will be chosen on Friday afternoon.

When this choice is made, the project will be just about on schedule and could be completed by the summer of 1969.

Colorful Ceremonies To Mark High School Ground Breaking

Colorful ceremonies will mark the official ground breaking for the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park Thursday morning at 10 o'clock on Joy Rd. near McClumpha Rd. in Canton Township.

The ceremonies will open with selections by the Plymouth High School band and about 400 elementary school children from various schools will then march from buses to the site and a presentation of the colors will be given by the Mayflower VFW Post Drill Team. The National Anthem will follow the colors presentation.

The invocation will be given by Dr. Herbert C. Brubaker of the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

Introductions will be made by Supt. of Schools James Rossman and Board President Esther Hulsing will present some opening remarks to the occasion.

The official ground breaking itself will be signaled with the firing of an authentic antique muzzle-loading Kentucky rifle.

Carl Brablec, former University of Michigan regent and superintendent of the Roseville School District, will present additional remarks before firing the gun.

The public is cordially invited to attend the ceremonies which are expected to last approximately 45 minutes.

Plymouth Story Goes On Air

The story of Plymouth--past, present and future--will be told over the airwaves on Monday evening, June 3.

The program, which will feature several of the area officials and civic leaders, will be part of a series being aired by radio station WWJ in its "Salute To The Suburbs."

As outlined, the program will be aired during the dinner hour and will be of 21 minutes duration.

The over-all director will be Shelby Newhouse of the WWJ staff, while Neal (Doc) Fenkell, radio and TV director for the Detroit Tigers and a resident of Plymouth, will be the moderator.

On the list of speakers, aside from Fenkell, will be Mayor James Jabara of Plymouth; Township Supervisor John E. McEwen; County Supervisor Arch Vallier; Carl Pursell, president of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce; Sam Hudson, vice president of the Frank Hedge Advertising firm; Harold Guenther, chairman of several important city committees and a former mayor, and W.W. Edgar, editor of The Mail and Observer.

The WWJ production staff is coming to Plymouth to handle the program that will be taped in the Chamber of Commerce office.

City Purchases Farmer St. Site

As part of the street improvement program, the City Commission approved the purchase of the home and lot from John J. and Ivanel P. Hamernik for the proposed Farmer Street extension.

The purchase price was announced as $13,700 and the location was needed to extend Farmer Street one block west from Starkweather to aid business and improve traffic.

Weston Vivian Seeks Old Job Back Again

Former 2nd District Congressman Weston E. Vivian has announced he will seek the Democratic nomination for the job he held from 1965-66.

Vivian, an Ann Arbor businessman, will enter the Aug. 6 primary race. Already in the primary contest are Jerome Dupont, an Ann Arbor attorney, and John H. McDermott Sr., a retired Marine from Howell.

Vivian unseated Republican George Meader in the 1964 Johnson landslide and was defeated by Republican Marvin Esch two years later. Esch is certain to seek re-election.

* * *

VIVIAN, 43, is currently a technical consultant to a number of firms and agencies. From its founding in March 1967 until earlier this year, he was a vice president of KMS Industries of Ann Arbor.

Last month Vivian completed duties as chairman of the national Committee on Administration of Training Programs, established in 1967 by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare at the request of Congress.

He is presently serving as a member of the Public Evaluation Committee on the State Technical Services Act under the auspices of the U.S. Department of Commerce. In recent months he has been a consultant to the Great Lakes Basin Commission and to the President's Council on Marine Resources and Ocean Engineering.

* * *

FROM 1960 UNTIL his election to Congress, Vivian was a vice president and member of the board of directors of the Conductron Corp. in Ann Arbor, and from 1951 to 1960 was a research engineer and lecturer in electrical engineering at the WASHINGTON -- George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO announced Monday that the United Auto Workers would be automatically suspended from the Labor Federation on Thursday unless it pays one month's dues before then. The payments are not expected to be made, and if the UAW is suspended the AFL-CIO will lose its largest affiliate. Walter Reuther, leader of the UAW has been accusing the Federation for more than a year of delinquency in its mission to organize the unorganized and tackle the social problems of the day.

* * *

ST. MICHAEL'S, Md. -- A Monday election in St. Michael's, a community along the Eastern Shore, had the distinction of being the third election necessary to break a two-time tie. The contest involves a town council seat, and both of the candidates are women. The first vote resulted in a 194-194 tie; the second in a 256-256 tie. Results of Monday's voting are not yet available.

* * *

WASHINGTON -- Four Medals of Honor--one to a member of each service--were awarded Tuesday in ceremonies dedicating a Hall of Heroes in the Pentagon. The hall is a walk-through display of more than 3,200 nameplates honoring Medal of Honor winners over the last century. The occasion marks the first time the Medal has been presented to a member of each military service at a single ceremony. All of the recipients were decorated for heroism in Vietnam.

* * *

WASHINGTON -- The Senate voted Monday to add to the crime-control bill a five-year ban on federal employment for convicted rioters. The ban, proposed by Sen. Robert C. Byrd (D-W. Va.), was approved by a 61-9 vote. It would apply to anyone sentenced to one year or more in jail for inciting, participating in or aiding others in a riot or other civil disorder.

* * *

COLUMBUS, O. -- Columbus police have arrested four persons after a raid on an apartment near Ohio State University netted $1,000 worth of hashish, a refined form of marijuana.

* * *

WASHINGTON -- The Poor People's Campaign has begun erecting a tent city to house some 3,000 demonstrators slowly converging on the city. The construction of shelters, which campaign leaders call Resurrection City, will be on a 15-acre site parallel to the reflecting pool between the Lincoln Memorial and the Washington Monument. The Park Service permit for camping in the area expires June 16. But leaders of the campaign say the poor will stay until their demands are met.

* * *

STANFORD, Calif. -- Student body elections at Stanford University this week had a little more spark than the usual campus contest. One reason was the leading contender, a topless dancer named Vicky Drake. Miss Drake, a blonde, led all candidates in the primary with 1,575 votes.

* * *

WASHINGTON -- Census bureau figures indicate that about 11.4 million Americans will be old enough to vote for president for the first time in this year's election. That would be enough to hold the balance of power in a close contest.

* * *

WASHINGTON -- Civilian reservists numbering more than 20,000 began reporting for active military duty this week. Roughly half of them are destined for Vietnam duty. For the first time since the 1961 Berlin crisis, the callup includes ground and naval surface units. The men reporting are the main contingent of 24,550 reserves who were called April 11 and given 30 days to settle their civilian affairs.

* * *

HOMINY FALLS, W. Va. -- Mine operators will not send their men back to work in honeycombed Big Sewell Mountain until rescue workers locate the bodies of 10 men believed to have died in a flooded mine shaft. Fifteen others were rescued Saturday after five days trapped in the mine.

* * *

WASHINGTON -- A compromise measure which combines President Johnson's proposed income tax hike with a mandatory $6 billion spending slash will probably face rough opposition when it reaches the House floor. The measure was passed by the Senate last week. Johnson has indicated that the $6 million slash would be against the national interest. He had reluctantly agreed that a figure of $4 million would be acceptable.

* * *

WASHINGTON -- The 101st Airborne Division, now fighting in South Vietnam, will be changed over from a paratrooped division to a helicopter-mounted air cavalry unit. The change over will begin later this year. The 101st will become the Army's second airmobile outfit, joining the 1st Air Cavalry Division, also in Vietnam.

* * *

The House voted 218 to 83 to move the existing dates for Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day and Veterans Day to Mondays. Under the bill, which is said to face a questionable future in the Senate, Washington's Birthday would fall on the third Monday in February, Memorial Day on the last Monday in May, Columbus Day on the second Monday in October and Veterans Day on the fourth Monday in October. The changes, if approved, would take effect Jan. 1, 1971.

* * *

LA JOLLA, Calif. -- Harold Gray, the creator of Little Orphan Annie, has died. The Chicago Tribune-New York News Syndicate, which distributes the strip, said it will be continued by Robert Leffingwell, Gray's long-time assistant. The cartoon first appeared in the Chicago Tribune and New York Daily news in 1924, and quickly gained popularity. At one time it was published in more than 300 newspapers.

* * *

NEW YORK -- Marion Lorne, a career actress on the American and British stage and in movies, died in her New York apartment at the age of 82. She had recently been playing Aunt Clara in ABC's "Bewitched" series on television.

Plymouth Band Plans Annual Benefit Show

Plymouth High School bandsmen are selling tickets to their only fund-raising event of the year, a talent show entitled "Variety Is..."

The show will be offered two nights, Friday and Saturday, May 17 and 18, in the high school gym. Tickets will be available at the door for $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for students.

But Band Director James Griffith says that if this year's show is as popular as the last two, then people should buy their tickets in advance from band members.

Among the more unusual acts this year will be a student xylophone duet and a faculty timpani soloist from Junior High West. Acts range from dancers to magicians.

* * *

THE ACTS WERE selected from those presented at a school student talent assembly. The planning committee also looked for outstanding acts in other Plymouth Schools.

This is the third year Plymouth High's band has sponsored such a show. The first year it was a one night affair, and last year it was extended to two nights--playing to capacity audiences both nights.

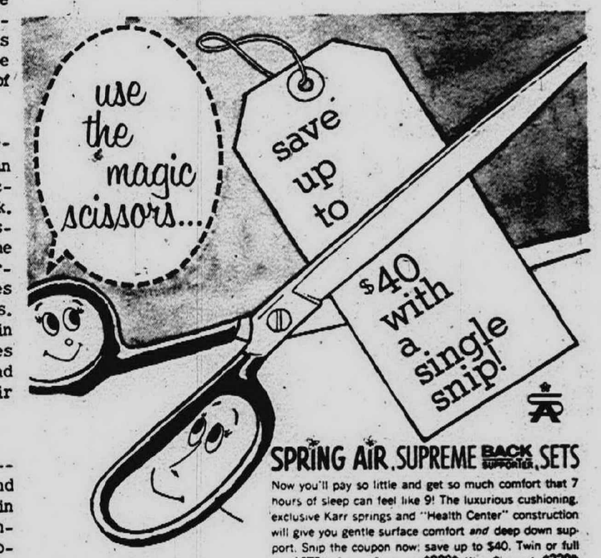

Proceeds will be used to send the band to a one week band camp before school reopens in fall. The band will spend Aug. 25 to Sept. 1 at Camp Kohana on Lake Michigan in Leelenau County.

The band marches and rehearses as well as engaging in recreation. This camp has helped the Plymouth band's quality, says Griffith.

* * *

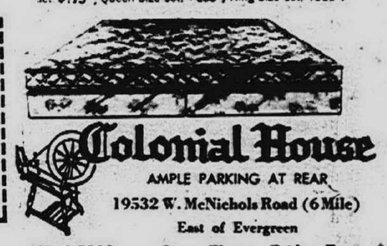

"WE USED to have all sorts of fund raising activities, from fish dinners and square dances to candy and tag day sales," Griffith said.

"But we thought the people of Plymouth deserved more for their money than a 40-cent box of chocolates for a dollar. We knew that the student body of Plymouth High School possessed a great deal of individual talent that didn't receive many opportunities to perform other than the talent show."

Poor People March On . . . . . .

Melee Blocks Plymouth, Livonia Hosts

Suburban efforts to give members of the Poor People's March a night's sleep and a hot breakfast in Livonia and Plymouth blew up in a police-citizen melee at Detroit's Cobo Hall Monday.

Hosts who had gone to Detroit to bring marchers back to their homes were locked inside the building for three and a half hours.

After the incident, which started when police tried to haul away a disabled car from the front of Cobo Hall, the marchers stayed inside Detroit.

* * *

GUEST ROOMS were ready in 22 Plymouth homes to house 40 marchers and Livonians had offers to 280 beds in 60 homes before registrations were cut off.

St. John Catholic Seminary on Five Mile in Plymouth Township was reported ready to take an overflow of up to 30 persons.

Madonna College had made similar arrangements.

But the marchers abandoned their plans to stay with suburban families after 15 to 20 Detroit mounted police rode into the crowd outside Cobo Hall "swinging their clubs," according to Russell Koepke, of Plymouth, an eyewitness.

"We were far overcommitted as far as housing was concerned," said Mrs. Donald H. Murch, of Livonia. "We thought 250 would come out here on buses.

"Then word came we could expect only about 75. Actually, it would have been the first opportunity for some of these people to sleep in a bed for two or three nights.

"They've been living on coffee and doughnuts."

* * *

WHEN POLICE TRIED to haul the disabled car away some of the younger marchers raised the cry: "The police are taking the car away."

Cobo Hall doors were locked.

Then other Detroit police inside the building tried to force the crowd outside. The melee ensued.

James A. Shaughnessy, one of the leaders of the Livonia group, said the car bearing Wisconsin plates was illegally parked and it was uncertain whether the battery was dead of whether it was otherwise disabled.

Shaughnessy was inside the building from 8 to 11:30 p.m. He and others had gone to the hall to accompany their guests back to the suburbs.

"We didn't dare take them and they didn't dare leave," he said. "The incident was like fighting a fly with an elephant gun."

The marchers' own peacekeeping contingent closed the doors, keeping their suburban hosts inside and unable to reach telephones for three hours, said Mrs. Koepke.

The marchers then decided to reassemble at the New Bethel Baptist Church at Philadelphia and Linwood, and to stay inside the city for the night.

FATHER JAMES GROPPI, the Milwaukee protest priest, tried to calm the people.

"We're not going to take this," he said.

Some marchers said: "We might make Detroit our Washington," indicating they might demonstrate here instead of pushing on to Washington as planned.

The suburbanites' plans to house marchers had been a closely kept secret.

The Plymouth group was headed by Mr. and Mrs. Koepke and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Blackford. Several churches were involved.

First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth paid for chartering the bus that would have brought 40 marchers to St. John Seminary, where their local hosts were to pick them up.

* * *

PLYMOUTHITES OFFERED housing for 80 persons (two busloads) originally, but were asked only for 40 spaces, Mrs. Koepke said.

Wayne County Civil Service Raps State Bias Report

A Michigan Civil Rights Commission report on employment practices in Wayne County government "is based in large part upon hearsay" and conflicts with state laws governing county civil service procedures, the County Civil Service Commission says.

The Civil Service Commission submitted a 23-page review of the Civil Rights Commission report to the select committee on human relations of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors.

The report recommended a number of changes in civil service procedures for hiring and promoting employees, including the elimination of competitive hiring and promotional examinations "whenever possible." It also suggested "compensatory treatment" for nonwhites to erase a "heritage" of unequal opportunity.

* * *

THE COUNTY Civil Service Commission made four general observations in its review of the report from the state rights agency:

"1--The report, and recommendations, completely fail to comment on, or apparently even take into consideration, the provisions of (state) law under which the Civil Service Commission is required to operate.

"2--As a result, there is a direct and irreconcilable conflict between that law and some of the policies recommended by the Civil Rights Commission.

"3--The report proposes to abandon the policy of non-discrimination provided in the County Civil Service Act and to establish in its place a policy of preference for a particular group.

"4--The report is based in large part upon hearsay--upon charges which it is admitted were not investigated and the validity of which is unknown. This fact makes many of the 'conclusions' and 'recommendations' questionable."

"We believe, further, that the County of Wayne is generally recognized in the non-white community as offering equality of opportunity," the Civil Service Commission continued.

"This belief is based on the percentage of non-whites among examinations."

ROBERT PADGET

Westland Jaycee Elected State Head

A Westland man has completed his presidential campaign with a victory.

Robert Padget, 28, of 277 N. Wildwood, was elected president of the Michigan Jaycees organization at the group's state convention last week-end in Grand Rapids.

Padget, who won the Westland Jaycees chapter's Distinguished Service Award four months ago, was also picked one of the five outstanding young men in the state in February.

The Jaycees president is a supervisor in the Communication and Data Processing Center for Ford Motor Co.

He has held numerous offices in the Westland Jaycees and has been active in the Wayne-Ford Civic League, Boy Scouts, advisor in Junior Achievement and at the time of his recent election was a national director for the U.S. Jaycees and was responsible for all 27 Jaycee chapters in Wayne County.

Padget's accomplishments include negotiating with city and school officials to acquire the 21-acre park at Wildwood and Hunter; serving as a Goodfellow newspaper salesman; and helping other Jaycee chapters in the collection of more than 100 boxes of drugs and other articles for South Vietnamese refugees.

In addition to receiving 15 local Jaycees awards over the years, Padget has won the Outstanding Citizen Award from the Western Wayne County Committee for Good Government in 1966, Community Service Award and Community Service Plaque from Ford Motor Co. in 1966 and 1967, respectively.

JACK SHENKMAN, one of the pioneer developers of covered shopping malls and Michigan State Director for International Council of Shopping Centers has been named Dean of the School of Regional Center Development and Operation for the Chicago Convention of ICSC. He is the owner and developer of the Livonia Mall in Livonia and a "first" developer of a covered "sidewalk" shopping center, Harvard Row, in Southfield.

OBSERVER Second Front

The Rev. Roy Abernathy, successor to the late Dr. Martin Luther King as president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, was flying into Detroit to investigate the incident.

Earlier in the day, Detroit's Mayor Cavanagh had welcomed the marchers and the New Detroit Committee had earmarked $19,000 for their expenses.

"This is the high point so far," said one marcher. "The other cities have been indifferent at best."

* * *

BUT IT ALL came tumbling down during the melee in front of Cobo Hall. Some called it a misunderstanding, others described it as "jittery police."

The suburban groups acted through the Livonia Citizens For Better Human Relations and the Christian Family Movement, an organization originating with the Catholic Church but non-demominational in the housing field.

Mrs. Koepke said she became involved in the housing movement through participation in the "Homes by Christmas" committee that was begun after the July Detroit riot.

Mrs. Koepke said she was unable to form an opinion as to whether the marchers were justified in rejecting the offers of housing in the suburbs for the night. The marchers' first concern, she said, was to reassemble somewhere "where they could talk their own language" and see how they would deal with the Detroit police.

Shaughnessy said the housing committee deliberately sought no publicity for their efforts, preferring instead to work through personal contact by telephone to make arrangements.

In the Detroit metropolitan area, 1,852 beds had been arranged for, he said. Only Plymouth and Livonia, of the Observerland suburbs, were involved, as fair as he and Mrs. Koepke knew.

Dr. Clark Charges Police Harassment

Dr. Ronald E. Clark, the Farmington Township physician who faces trail June 4 on a manslaughter charge stemming from a patient's death in his office last November, has complained to the Michigan Civil Rights Commission that he is being harassed by police "because of my religious beliefs."

The Enterprise & Observer has learned that on April 26 Dr. Clark filed an official complaint with the Commission, in which he declared:

"I believe I have been subjected to illegal search, seizure and harassment, and denied return of my property, because of my religious beliefs."

* * *

A SPOKESMAN for the commission declined to do any more than confirm that an action has been started by Dr. Clark, and that it still is under investigation.

However, from another source it has been determined that Dr. Clark has specifically charged:

"My unorthodox religious beliefs and liberal philosophy have been unpopular in the small, conservative community in which I practice.

"I treat Negroes and other minority group persons, and my wife and I hold religious meetings which Asians, Africans, American Negroes and various ethnic groups attend.

"My wife and I are members of the Bahai faith and believe in the oneness of humanity."

* * *

THE SPOKESMAN for the Civil Rights Commission who confirmed the petition said that if evidence is found to support Dr. Clark's allegations the normal procedure would be "to seek adjustment through conference."

Township Police Chief Irving Yakes, when informed of the action started by the physician, said he would await further developments before commenting.

Dr. Clark was arrested on the manslaughter charge Nov. 16. He is accused of causing the death of Mrs. Grace Neil, 43, of Livonia, in his office on Nov. 3 through an over dose of sodium pentothal.

Treasure Hunt Plans Slated At Wonderland

Failure to reach a settlement of the Detroit telephone strike has put a crimp in Wonderland Center's plans for a city-wide hunt for a $1,000 hidden treasure.

Because of the dispute, the center has been unable to obtain a battery of telephones which would have provided daily clues to the whereabouts of where the check has been buried.

In the absence of the automated telephone system, clues will be posted in the windows of those Wonderland stores sponsoring this year's search.

A check made out to the bearer in the amount of $1,000 was buried several weeks ago near an easily recognizable Livonia landmark. Upon discovery and presentation to Wonderland officials, the check will be signed and become negotiable.

* * *

A CARICATURE-TYPE map of the "Isle of Livonia" which shows many of the city's most prominent landmarks has been prepared to assist treasure hunters.

Copies of the map will be available at most Wonderland stores beginning at 10 a.m. Thursday. Also available will be the first of 26 clues which are designed to lead searchers to the caché.

The contest is open to everyone except employees of Wonderland Center and its advertising associates and/or relatives of either.

Inaugurated last year, Wonderland's Treasure Hunt became the most talked about promotion in the center's eight-year history. More than 57,000 phone calls were reported during the three-week search.

Thousands combed the city in search of the check which was unearthed behind the Terrace Theatre by George Badder of Livonia.

Last year, clues to the whereabouts of the hidden check were disseminated by telephones equipped with automatic answering devices.

* * *

THE CURRENT LABOR dispute involving Michigan Bell Telephone Company has delayed the installation of the equipment for this year's contest. Once the strike is settled, the telephone company has assured Wonderland that the automatic answering devices will be installed and the clues will be available via telephone.

Complete contest instructions, along with a colorful "Treasure Island" map are available at the following Wonderland Stores:

AAA Bird Store, Artiste Beauty Salon, Associates Loan, Audivox of Wonderland, Baker's Shoes, Burton's Gal, Children's Fashion, Cards 'N Things, Coney Island, Cosmetic Shop, Cunningham's, Elliott Travel.

MANAGEMENT GRADUATE — It's graduation season at many Michigan colleges and universities and Mrs. Shirley Kincade, manager of the Schoolcraft College bookstore, is in step with the times. Manager of the college's bookstore since 1964, Mrs. Kincade recently earned her sheepskin from the National Association of College Stores after completing a concentrated professional training course of two annual sessions. Graduation ceremonies were held in New York City for 81 college and university bookstore managers from throughout the country who completed the association's management seminar. Here Schoolcraft Vice President for Business Affairs W. Kenneth Lindner places the traditional mortar board on Mrs. Kincade as a symbolic gesture of her achievement. Mrs. Kincade holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Michigan State University and lives at 9243 Rocker in Plymouth.

NOTICE!

TO ALL TREASURE-HUNT CONTESTANTS:

● Due to circumstances beyond control, Wonderland Center has been unable to acquire special telephones for its "Treasure Hunt" contest which commences tomorrow.

Until such time as this equipment can be installed, clues to the location of a $1,000 check which has been secretly buried in Livonia can be obtained daily. Be sure to get yours today at the following Wonderland stores:

Planner Hired To Fix Planners' Plans

The Plymouth City Commission has engaged the service of a graduate student planner to tie up the segments of planning done by the city's official planners, the firm of Vilican and Leman--and correlate them with the city's master plan developed in 1961 by the firm of Waring and Johnson.

If this sounds confusing it also had the City Commission going around in circles for two weeks before it was approved.

The request for the graduate student planner, Mike Munson, who is studying at the University of Michigan, was made by the Planning Commission.

In trying to reach some definite decisions regarding the many plans on the books awaiting action, the planners asked that someone be employed to tie it up into one package so that the some semblance of progress could be made.

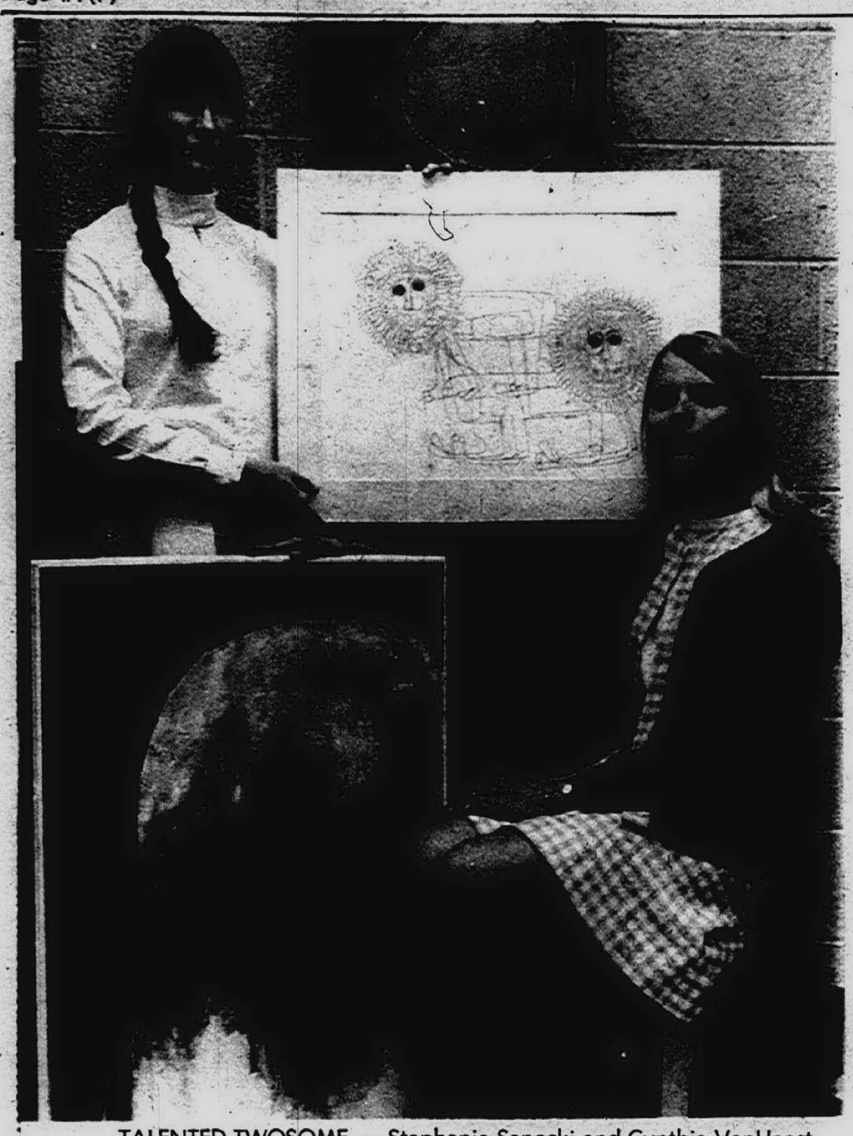

It develops that the firm of Waring and Johnson drew up the Master Plan in 1961 before completing a contract with the city. This plan was approved.

Then, from time to time, the new firm of Vilican and Leman, was authorized to plan various segments around the downtown area. None of these ever was approved as part of the Master Plan. As a result, as one planning commissioner stated, "nothing fits".

As a result Munson has been hired under contract at the rate of $5 per hour for a maximum of 200 hours.

TALENTED TWOSOME — Stephanie Sanocki and Cynthia VanHeest look forward to careers in the field of art.

High School Seniors Display Colorful Art Work In Library

Two talented Plymouth High School seniors are sharing the spotlight these days at the Dunning Hough Library with an imaginative and colorful exhibit of paintings, water colors and pen and ink drawings.

* * *

"I'VE ALWAYS been interested in drawing," said Cynthia VanHeest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin VanHeest, 15149 Bradner.

Cynthia, president of the school's art club and honorable mention winner in the recent Livonia Mall poster contest, plans to major in art this fall when she attends Eastern Michigan University.

With art media changing constantly and including everything from bottle tops to chicken wire, Cynthia finds it easy to express herself in the new acrylic paints that is a product of our modern age.

* * *

LIKE CYNTHIA, Stephanie Sanocki, is a Plymouth senior who hopes to continue her studies in this field and become either a teacher or a commercial artist.

Stephanie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sanocki, 42757 Phoenix Court, will attend Wheaton College in Wheaton, Ill. this fall.

"I enjoy drawing in pencil," said Stephanie who has been doing just that since she was only three years old. She also gets some interesting effects with pen and ink and likes the contrast of black on white.

Both girls are students of Mrs. Jessie Hudson, Plymouth High School art instructor.

City Planners Do About Face On Sidewalks

The City Planning Commission has done an about-face on the covered sidewalk program being developed by the merchants on Ann Arbor Trail between Main Street and Harvey.

Several weeks ago the planning group recommended to the City Commission that the plan be rejected on the ground that it did not carry out the "colonial motif".

The Commission delayed action. But in the meantime the merchants who planned the downtown improvement at their own expense also took umbrage and let their feelings be known.

As a result, another plea was made for official approval.

This time the city planning body, after much discussion over details, gave its approval and will recommend to the City Commission that the plan be adopted.

TOM HULCE popped in for three songs and the audience loved him.

THEY CALL HIM "FAT BOB" and with a talent to match his girth the singing plumber from Ann Arbor won the hearts of the pops concert audience.

Pop Concert Stars Plumber And Youth

The annual Plymouth Symphony pops concert held Saturday evening in Plymouth High School combined a talented plumber, an unannounced performance by a small boy and some pretty good popcorn and lemonade.

The symphony's Vivace group, chaired by Mrs. E.G. Ott, Mrs. Thomas Adams and Mrs. Kenneth VanAntwerp, came up with some interesting decorations.

Wrenches, silver pipes and flower bedecked bathtubs decorated the stage, while a "plumber's helper" entwined with greenery served as a centerpiece for each gayly covered table.

"Pop-in is our theme this evening," explained conductor Wayne Dunlap, "We're answering the current trend in love-ins and sit-ins with a pop-in."

The audience apparently was pleased that "Fat Bob," the singing plumber from Ann Arbor had agreed to "pop-in" with some rich showmanship and an equally rich baritone voice.

ROBERT TAYLOR, or "Fat Bob" as he is known on his job as an industrial plumber, told of his start in show business.

He good-naturedly accepted Dunlap's suggestion that if he should ever sing in the Metropolitan Opera, a name-change to Falstaff might be appropriate.

After an explanation of the aria from Verdi's "A Masked Ball" he sang "Eri tu che macchiavi" and followed it with "Boatman's Dance" from "Old American Songs."

He reminisced about his third selection, "Without A Song" which he first sang in 1946. His music teacher of 22 years ago, Mrs. John Pulker, was in the audience Saturday night and took a bow at the portly plumber's request.

FAT BOB brought his audience back to the present with the lead song from the recent theatrical hit, "Camelot." After singing "If Ever I Would leave You", he was applauded back to the stage for an encore.

But the hefty plumber did not monopolize the evening's encores.

When it was learned that pianist Benning Dexter would be unable to appear, the symphony arrived early and rehearsed a medly from "Camelot".

They also called upon the talents of young Tom Hulce, who had appeared several years ago in a symphony program and is currently active in musical theaters in Ann Arbor.

He was brought back to the microphone for an encore of his final number, "Mame".

The program was marred only during Haydn's "Farwell" symphony by an individual at a row C table who brayed repeatedly, as the orchestra members left the stage, that "Thish iz ridikaluss...Za mosh ridikaluss thing I ever shaw." Happily, he was drowned out by the following number, "Bolero," and was absent from the second half of the program.

The annual Symphony pops concert closed until another year as sustained applause greeted its finale, "Stars and Stripes Forever".

Little League Plans Tribute To Dudley

The Plymouth Little League will open its ninth season on Saturday after paying a tribute to the memory of Charles Dudley, one of the leaders who died some time ago.

The memorial is scheduled at Little League Field promptly at noon and many of the city and township officials have planned to be in attendance.

Carl Cederberg, head of the WJBK-TV news bureau, will be the master of ceremonies during the festivities.

At the conclusion of the memorial six games are scheduled on the three playing areas and from all reports, competition will be livelier than ever.

Two Plymouth Girls Earn Scholarships

Two Plymouth High School seniors, Alice Perry and Paulette Stenzel, have been awarded scholarships to the colleges of their choice.

Miss Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilman Perry, of 703 Karmada, has won a $500 competitive Michigan State University scholarship.

She plans to major in English composition and hopes to either become a writer or a high school English teacher.

She has been a columnist on the high school newspaper, Pilgrim Prints, and a member of the Quill and Scroll literary club.

For the past two years, Miss Perry has participated in spring forensics and this year placed first in humorist interpretation.

Miss Stenzel, of 42444 Hamill Lane, was awarded a Ford Scholarship that will cover all tuition and fees plus $750 toward room and board for her four years in college.

She plans to attend Albion College this fall. Her major interests are foreign languages.

Miss Stenzel has played in the high school orchestra for the past three years and last year took part in the Theater Guild production of "Desert Song."

During her 11th and 12th grades in the high school, she was a member of the future teachers club.

She has also been a member of the Plymouth Symphony the past two years.

Variety Show May 17-18 Aids Plymouth Band

Plymouth High School bandsmen are selling tickets to their only fund-raising event of the year, a talent show entitled "Variety Is. . ."

The show will be offered two nights, Friday and Saturday, May 17 and 18, in the high school gym. Tickets will be available at the door for $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for students.

But Band Director James Griffith says that if this year's show is as popular as the last two, then people should buy their tickets in advance from band members.

* * *

AMONG THE MORE unusual acts this year will be a student xylophone duet and a faculty timpani soloist from Junior High West. Acts range from dancers to magicians.

The acts were selected from those presented at a school student talent assembly. The planning committee also looked for outstanding acts in other Plymouth schools.

This is the third year Plymouth High's band has sponsored such a show. The first year it was a one night affair, and last year it was extended to two nights--playing to capacity audiences both nights.

* * *

PROCEEDS WILL be used to send the band to a one week band camp before school reopens in the fall.

The band will spend Aug. 25 to Sept. 1 at Camp Kohana on Lake Michigan in Leelanau County. The band marches and rehearses as well as engaging in recreation. This camp has helped the Plymouth band's quality, says Griffith.

"We used to have all sorts of fund raising activities, from fish dinners and square dances to candy and tag day sales," Griffith said.

"But we thought the people of Plymouth deserved more for their money than a 40-cent box of chocolates for a dollar.

"We knew that the student body of Plymouth High School possessed a great deal of individual talent that didn't receive many opportunities to perform, other than the talent show."

Meloche Tops Legion Final Series Card

Plymouth American Legions informative "Why Are We...?" series will be concluded this Saturday with the Western Wayne County Conservation Club acting as the final organization to appear on the schedule.

Ronald Meloche, vice president and a director of the conservation club, will be the featured speaker. His theme will be the proper use and care of firearms as they affect conservationism.

The meeting will be hosted with a buffet supper and Meloche will follow with his talk. It will take place in the Legion Home on Sheldon Rd.

Plymouth Commander Fred Johnson and Auxiliary President Emma Williams will welcome any interested Plymouth residents who wish to attend the program portion, which is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

John Bortins Wins National Scholarship

John Bortins, 18-year-old Plymouth High School senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bortins, 41530 Greenbriar Lane, Plymouth, has been awarded a Michigan State National Merit Scholarship for outstanding scholastic honors.

The scholarship, which is one of the highest a high school student can obtain, was granted to Bortins for four years to be used at Michigan State University only.

The young scholar was born in Germany on Jan. 11, 1950 and came with his family to the United States when he was 11 months old.

His parents are from the Urals in Latvia.

During his career at Plymouth High School he maintained an 'A' average and will graduate in the top ten per cent of his class.

Mrs. Aina Bortins said that her son's hobbies are reading and playing chess and added that he also was on the high school track team.

* * *

SHE CONFIDED that he plans to major in biochemistry and has been accepted into the honors program at MSU.

Although his plans are incomplete now, Mrs. Bortins said that her son would like to enter the field of biochemical research.

She stated that last summer he spent six weeks at MSU and studied chemistry and mathematics in a high school student honors program.

He has two younger brothers: Richard, 17, a junior at the high school; and Robert, 14, an eighth grader at Junior High School East. They are both honor students.

Mr. Bortins is a designer for the Burroughs Corp.

Students are chosen for the various National Merit Scholarships on the basis of their performance on competitive tests begun in February 1967.

This year 796,650 students in 17,756 schools across the country took the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

* * *

ABOUT 14,000 semifinalists, the highest scoring students in each state, were named in September 1967.

About 97 per cent of the semifinalists advanced to the finalist level and thereby become eligible for Merit Scholarships. All Merit Scholarship winners, without exception, are selected from the finalists. In 1968 three types of scholarships are being awarded.

Four-year scholarships, financed by grants to the program; four-year sponsored scholarships, usually bearing the name of the sponsor, supported by a variety of business and industrial corporations, foundations, colleges, unions, professional associations, other organizations, trusts and individuals; and one-time, nonrenewable $1,000 scholarships, new in 1968.

* * *

ALL WINNERS of four-year scholarships are chosen by a selection committee formed of college and school admissions counselors skilled in academic selection. The winners were chosen on a state by state competition.

The National Merit Scholarship Corporation, an independent, non-profit corporation, was established in 1955 with grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

The Merit program is the largest independently financed scholarship program in the U.S.

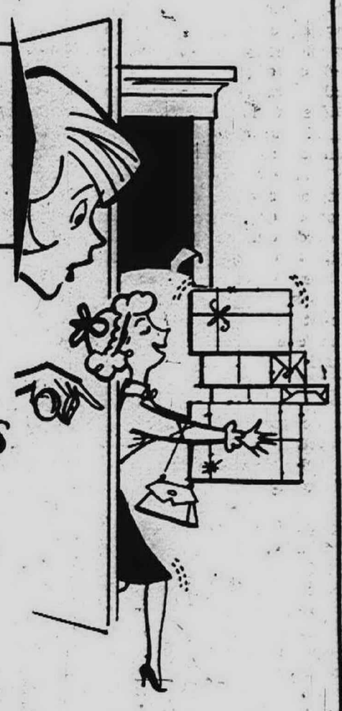

So far, in the past 12 years, the Merit people have awarded 15,850 stipend-bearing scholarships. Of these, 10,164 were financed by sponsors and the remaining 5,686 by the corporation.

As a women's editor, I meet some mighty good cooks who have recipes for everything from dessert to breakfast.

Now, when I enter a kitchen the results are not only underwhelming, but the room resembles a laboratory of a mad chemist who has accidentally discovered a powerful explosive.

Several weeks ago I was rummaging through the cupboards for a quick dessert--something to go with my sumptuous main dish of hot dogs and beans. You know, instant elegance.

As I climbed off the kitchen chair (my cupboards were built with the jolly green giant in mind) clutching a package of vanilla Whip and Chill and a package of vanilla instant pudding, I was trying to decide which to make, when a brilliant idea hit me.

Why not combine the two and, for good measure, throw (I think the word would be "fold") in the small carton of Cool Whip that had been feeling neglected behind a jar of pickles in the refrigerator?

You can probably guess the result.

IT WAS MARVELOUS.

Everyone loved it. If you like pudding with cookies, cake or melba toast why not try my "Oh, it was nothing, just sheer genius" recipe.

1 pkg. Whip and Chill
1 pkg. instant pudding
2 1/2 cups cold milk
1/2 cup cold water
1 small carton Cool Whip (thawed)

Whip with electric mixer for about three minutes or until your arms get tired. Refrigerate for several hours, tasting at intervals--you won't have to explain the spoon marks if you are alone in the kitchen when you dish it up.

I used vanilla flavor because that's all I had at the time, but I'm going to try chocolate next, and then butterscotch and then.....I'm going to take my melba toast "straight".

FOUR CLUBS will sponsor a Michigan Week Tea, Friday, May 24, from noon until 3 p.m. in the Dunning Hough Library.

If you'd like to meet the nice ladies who pound gavels for their clubs, the presidents of the DAR, Women's Club, Plymouth Garden Club and BPW will be on hand to say "Hello."

Why not drop in and have a cup of tea and a cookie (or two).

LIKE TO PLAY cards? Here's a great chance--the Sacred Heart Guild of Our Lady of Good Counsel will sponsor a spring card party Friday, May 17, at 8 p.m.

There will be a donation of $1.25 and refreshments will be served. Mrs. Agnes Rollins and Mrs. Catherine Driscoll are co-chairmen of the party.

"WHY CAN'T they be like we were, PERFECT in every way?--what's the matter with kids today?"

That's a line from one of my favorite broadway plays, "Bye Bye, Birdie". The Northville High School students will stage "Birdie" in their school auditorium May 17, 18, 24, and 25 at 8:30 p.m. each evening. Better reserve a seat by calling the school office, 349-3400, if you want to see how our neighbor's kids do in their musical comedy.

Jaycee Group Rated At Top

The Plymouth chapter has been named the outstanding Jaycee group in the state in its population group.

This honor was bestowed upon the Plymouth delegation last Saturday at the annual state convention in Grand Rapids and it was awarded the coveted Henry Giessenbier Trophy.

Four first place awards were given the Plymouth group in the 12 areas of project considerations. They came in these areas:

Religious and Christmas activities.

Chapter Management and Leadership Training.

International Relations.

Agriculture and Conservation.

Aside from these first place awards Plymouth also was given second place in Community Development and a third place in Interclub and Civic Improvement.

Plymouth also had the largest delegation and for this received the Travel Trophy.

Important to the local group, too, was raised for the Wendell Smith for National President campaign.

From Steel Worker To Bench

Dunbar Davis Traveled Odd Route To Become Judge

By HENRY J. TEUTSCH

Dunbar Davis is a silver haired, deliberate speaking, southern gentleman who is the City of Plymouth's municipal judge.

He has a philosophy worth emulating.

As judge, "I believe in being courteous to everyone in court no matter what the conduct of the person may be.

"I do not find it difficult to act courteously to everyone, because this is what I believe."

* * *

JUDGE DAVIS was born on July 8, 1913 in Southport, North Carolina, to William and Annie Davis.

His father was a seafaring man like his father before him who was a Coast Guard captain at a station in Southport.

The judge commented that his grandfather, also named Dunbar Davis, was the famous man in the family for having helped rescue seven ships off the North Carolina coast in one weekend.

In 1930, Davis graduated from Southport High School and the following fall entered Earlham College in Richmond, Ind.

Four years later, he received his bachelor of arts degree and began the first of his three years in the University of Michigan Law School.

He already had become familiar with the Plymouth area. During the summer periods, while he attended Earlham College, he lived with an uncle in Northville.

* * *

THE YEAR he finished law school, he married Martha Alger, a girl he met while at Earlham. They have two daughters, Kay, 27, who is married and Sue, 20, who attends Schoolcraft College.

Before he came to Plymouth in 1939 and began to seriously practice law, Davis worked as a structural steel worker and traveled throughout the United States building skyscrapers.

Jobs were tough to find in those days, he said, since he wasn't in the top five per cent of his law class, the best paying firms were not immediately open to him.

The best paying law firms, then, were paying a man fresh out of law school $5 a week while the other firms would pay nothing substituting experience for a salary for a new lawyer.

THE JUDGE said that he has an unreasonable fear of heights, and this stopped him from climbing as a steel worker during the first month on the job.

The company gave him a job on the ground to start and every evening, after working all day, he would practice climbing.

Eventually he was able to climb without trouble. He said his secret was never to look straight down but always focus his attention out into the distance while he felt his way along a narrow beam high in the sky.

While still a steel worker, he was admitted to the Michigan Bar and decided that it was time to become a lawyer.

HE ARRIVED in Plymouth in 1939, and hung his shingle.

This was the same year the new lawyer almost became a city commissioner, but was not allowed to be seated because he owned no city land.

Judge Davis then returned to his private law practice, and in 1944 he became a military policeman in the Army.

He said that the Army had a policy then that all lawyers, policemen and men classified 4-F, were made MP's.

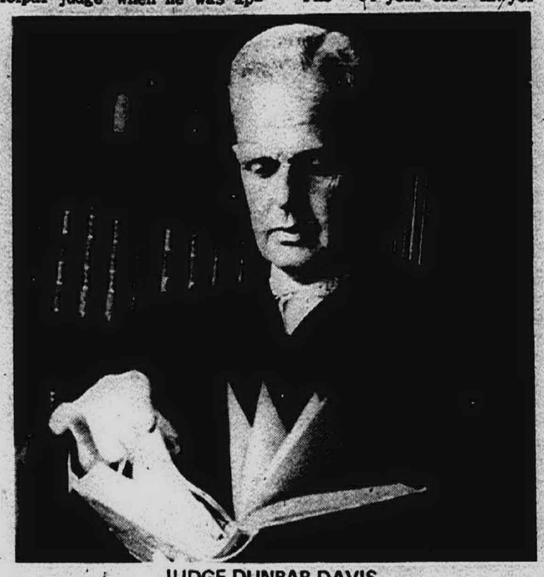

THE SAME YEAR he was discharged, 1944, he did become a city commissioner and this time there was no question about his eligibility.

He served as a commissioner until 1948 and then once again returned to his private law practice.

The judge remarked that running for city commissioner the first time helped him tremendously to become known throughout the city and was a small boost to his start as a lawyer.

He became the city's municipal judge when he was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Ed Draugelis who had moved to Plymouth Township and was ineligible to be city judge.

The 54-year-old lawyer-judge is still as fit as when he was climbing tall buildings as a steel worker.

JUDGE DUNBAR DAVIS

Five days a week, he runs 3 1/2 miles in Hough Park behind his home on the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and McKinley.

He plays tennis as often as he can. He is an excellent player and was an active tennis player in college.

He glibly remarked that he likes to play with young fellows because the old bucks are too slow.

* * *

THE JUDGE is a man who plays hard and works hard and does both with seriousness and patience.

He claims that there is an advantage of being a judge and a practicing lawyer at the same time. For one thing, he realizes what is important and what is usually extraneous to a particular case.

He said that most lawyers tend to overstate their case when they should state the facts as they know them and let it go at that.

Judge Davis terms himself a "defendant's judge," saying that he finds more persons innocent then other judges.

If the court reorganization bill, which is currently being debated in the Michigan legislature, would not do away with municipal courts next year, then his office would be up for election in 1972.

However, he feels that although only Justice of the Peace courts are earmarked by the new Michigan Constitution for dissolving, municipal courts also will be eliminated.

Cadillac Standard of the World
Cadillac Motor Car Division

Your new car may be the most important family decision you'll make this year.

To be sure you make the right choice, talk to your Cadillac dealer before you decide.

As a specialist in luxury motoring, your Cadillac dealer has some interesting things to say about quality and value in a new car.

The brilliant 1968 Cadillac gives him plenty to talk about. Quality abounds in the spacious, lavishly appointed interiors, in the smooth, quiet ride and in the solidity of Cadillac construction.

These Cadillac qualities are universally recognized. Year after year, Cadillac returns a greater portion of its original cost at resale than any other car built in the land. Major advancements this year, such as a totally new 472 V-8 engine (largest V-8 ever to power a production passenger car), further assure a high resale value.

There's no better time than now to talk quality and value with your Cadillac dealer. Your selection of models may never be better; your present car may never be worth more. See him before you decide.

Visit your authorized Cadillac dealer.

The Guessing Game:

How much would you save on a new car if you saw your credit union first?

Look at the price sticker on the car you are buying. It lists the base price, the extras, license, sales tax. What it doesn't list is the cost of financing — and that's where you start guessing.

Let's say you're offered financing "at just $4.50 per hundred." Is that 4½ per cent? Wrong. It's actually almost 9 per cent true annual interest. Of course, not everyone can qualify even for 9 per cent: It applies only to new cars, depends on the down payment, etc. If you're buying a used car, you can pay 18 to 34 per cent. All this can add up to hundreds of dollars in interest rates — and boost the price of your car.

How do you beat the guessing game? DON'T GUESS. See your credit union first. They'll be glad to explain the mysteries of interest rates. They'll tell you in one lump sum how much your financing will cost . . . and give you rock-bottom rates on a loan as well. It pays to be a credit union family.

Contact the CU where you work — or the one in your parish or neighborhood — or write Michigan Credit Union League, P. O. Box 5210, Detroit, Michigan 48235.

Burroughs Producing New Line Of Computers

Burroughs Corp. has reported that production of new electronic terminal computers has started in the United States and will soon get underway in Scotland and Belgium. The devices, called the Series TC500, are designed for use with on-line data processing systems.

They were described by President Ray W. Macdonald as a "dramatic innovation in preparing and communicating information between remote locations and a central computer system."

The TC500s, which permit more effective use of the central computer system and more economical use of transmission lines, will be available in five models. Varying in size of memory and program capacity, the models range in price from $9,900 to $14,400. Lease rates range from $250 to $360 per month.

Numerous customers, both here and abroad, have placed orders for TC500 units. The first of these orders was awarded last year.

* * *

THE TC500s and other terminal devices extend the applicational power of the computer to hundreds and even thousands of remote locations through on-line, real-time networks," Macdonald said.

"Numerous studies indicate devices having keyboard input and visual or printed output represent one of the fastest growing segments of the industry. Within a few years, they are expected to account for at least half of the dollar volume of the data processing equipment being produced."

The TC500s are internally-programmed, solid-state computers utilizing the latest electronic techniques including monolithic circuits and a compact memory. Depending upon this memory size, the various models of the TC500 can handle a variety of tasks in addition to data communications, including the responsibility of programming, editing and other housekeeping chores which previously had to be performed by the central computer prior to actual processing.

* * *

THE NEW TERMINAL computers also are designed to take full advantage of transmission line speeds. This was accomplished by making efficient transmission a function of programs entered into the TC500 memory, rather than a function of the hardware.

The console of the TC500 provides complete communications between the operator and the system through a standard alphanumeric keyboard, a 10-key numeric keyboard and a program control panel.

GM Names Two Forward Planners

The appointment of two executives from General Motors automotive divisions to the manufacturing staff to act in liaison with the newly-formed forward planning group headed by Lowell A. Kintigh was announced by Joseph E. Godfrey, GM vice president in charge of the manufacturing staff.

Named to the new posts are Charles Katko, manager of the General Motors Assembly Division facility at Kansas City, and Thomas J. Carroll, manager of facilities and production for the Chevrolet Motor Division in Detroit.

Katko has been named manager for forward planning of the body and assembly facilities. Carroll has been made manager for forward planning of the chassis facilities. Both men will report to Godfrey and coordinate their activities with the expanded corporate forward planning group.

New plants take firm rerooting better and faster when they are pruned back. Trimming the top, plus overall shaping, reduces leaf area the roots have to supply.

Ward Profit Leaps During First Quarter

Highest first quarter earnings since 1959 were reported by Montgomery Ward at its annual meeting of stockholders in Chicago.

Ward Chairman Robert E. Brooker announced estimated net earnings for the first quarter (February 1 through May 1) were $3,025,000 or 22 cents per share of common stock compared with last year's first quarter earnings of $747,000 or four cents per share.

Sales for the fiscal first quarter were a record high of $429,193,100, a 3.6 per cent increase over 1967 first quarter sales of $414,368,178.

Ward chairman told stockholders, "We can now see the turn-around, in earnings in our program to revitalize our national merchandising business."

Montgomery Ward earnings in 1967, previously reported, were $17,425,174 or $1.31 per share of common stock on a total sales volume of $1,879,009,189, as compared with 1966 earnings of $16,528,438 or $1.24 per share on sales of $1,894,123,278.

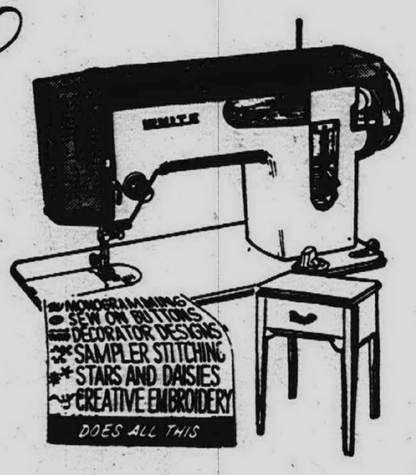

Approximately 750 stockholders and profit-sharing stockholder employees attended the company's annual meeting.

People Bring Up The Race Issue

The polite one asks, "What are you doing — turning that paper into a civil rights sheet?"

The less polite ones snarl, "We came out here to the suburbs to get away from Detroit and the niggers, and now we can't pick up the paper without seeing 'em. The way your paper used to be run.."

They have a point. We have, in fact, got into a lot of news about race problems in newspapers that are trying to serve suburbs that, so far, have been nearly lily-white.

We're not promoting race news. You, the people, are making it.

* * *

A COMMITTEE gets going in Farmington that is interested in the problem.

Plymouth not only passes a city ordinance for fair housing, but its supposedly conservative people give it a big victory at the polls.

Livonia has a conference . . .

Dr. King gets killed, and most suburban schools close.

Clergymen preach about Dr. King. Some of the people get sore and walk out of church. Most stay.

The newspaper didn't do it. The people are doing it.

* * *

WE COVER regional government meetings because the mayors and township supervisors and school board members from Observerland are attending them, and what do they talk about?

Race problems, that's what. This reporter attended an all-day regional planning conference recently sponsored by the suburban-dominated Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments, and in nearly every panel, the racial situation was brought up.

School boundaries . . . snob zoning . . . COG's political friends and enemies . . . industrial growth — no matter what the topic, the panelists and the audience brought up the inner city and the black people who dwell there.

We didn't manufacture it. That was the way it happened.

* * *

YOU'D THINK the U.S. Chamber of Commerce convention, attended by a large delegation from Harvey Moelke's Livonia, would have a more (hrrumph!) conservative tone.

The Sunday night when everyone got there, they canned the receptions and had a panel "Tell It Like It Is." There were all sorts of people on the panel, but the one who got the most enthusiastic reception was the editor of a black magazine in Chicago.

A lot of booze didn't get consumed that afternoon. Everybody was at the conference on race. And they weren't all demanding "vigorous enforcement of law and order," either. A lot of them wanted to help.

We were pleased about it.

But we can't take credit for pushing it.

Any newspaper that makes any pretense of covering the news has got to write about race.

Everywhere we go, suburbanites are trying to do something about it.

—Tim Richard

This Is The Week That

. . . By Don Hoenshell

Wayne County is likely to get an operable board of supervisors after all.

It will, that is, unless the State Appeals Court does another about-face, an unexpected contortion since its judges are smarter than the average bear.

* * *

HERE'S WHAT HAPPENED: Somebody figured out after state legislatures were reapportioned on a one man-one vote basis that, since boards of supervisors do the same kind of work, they should also be.

A state law was passed in 1966 calling for county reapportionment. It was authored by then Rep. Marvin R. Stempien, a Livonia lawyer. There were conflicting legal decisions, then came last April 1.

The United States Supreme Court said in a Texas case that county boards of supervisors, indeed, make laws of a sort and should also be reapportioned. Wayne County already had devised a 26-member district plan. It will replace the present 130-member board.

Following the April 1 ruling by the United States Supreme Court, the Michigan Supreme Court reversed an earlier decision it had made, as did the Appeals Court. Now comes Stempien with a court case to force County Clerk Edgar Branigan to place him (Stempien) on the ballot for the primary Aug. 6 from this district. Circuit Judge James M. Canham ruled for Stempien.

Canham, a former Redford JP who went on to greater glories, gave Prosecutor William L. Cahalan until May 20 to appeal.

* * *

THERE IS SOME argument in the outcounty.

Mayors and some others who hold seats on the board automatically say that the suburbs are losing representation. Fifth-grade mathematics refutes them.

In Livonia, for example, one member related to 26 is greater than three present members related to 130.

Some contend that the board of supervisors member elected separately will deprive cities of representation since all present members are in local administrations.

Follow that logic, folks. We might as well send a mayor or councilman to Lansing or Washington.

* * *

BUT THE PRIZE for logic has got to go to Justice Thomas Brennan whose dissent in the Michigan Supreme Court 6 to 2 decision April 1 is a classic.

He hauls in a whole new concept — the restructuring of townships to fit the one man-one vote formula — and says he must dissent because it wasn't an issue. Backward flows reason until it boggles the mind.

Use the townships as an electoral unit? We get almost the same mess we have on the board, even if the boundaries were changed. Townships cover an area, not a number of people.

So, in effect he says, find the smallest township and use it as a population base. Whee! Instead of a 130-member board of supervisors, we then have a board that would have to meet in Tiger Stadium with SRO.

Figure a family argument over whether to send Suzie to the University of Michigan or to Michigan State University.

Dad dissents because nobody mentioned Detroit Barber College.

That's Brennan.

OBSERVATION POINT

By Philip H. Power

Last week I was unlucky enough to get invited to a ritzy cocktail party in Detroit.

You know. The whole bit.

The white-coated barman; the discreet orchestra behind the potted palms; the over-dressed fat ladies wearing those enormous purple orchids on their already ample bosoms; the hum of inane conversation.

"You're a publisher. Of newspapers. And out in the suburbs. How perfectly ghastly!" came the opening line.

"Oh. And why ghastly?"

"Why, there is no culture (pronounce: coultuuure) out there at all. A perfect wasteland."

"Well, Mrs. Snob, what about things like the Plymouth Symphony or the Livonia-Redford Theatre Guild? They carry on a pretty darn good program."

"Oh, heavens, no. To have real culture, you have to get name stars, playing old music, up on a stage in Ford Auditorium. You listen to them. That's culture. Not your small efforts out there."

"Well, I'll take the small efforts, thank you. The Plymouth Symphony is open to anyone who can pass the auditions, not just visiting stars, and the Theatre Guild uses people from our area in all their productions. It may not be culture in your terms, but it means something pretty real in the daily life of people out in our area."

* * *

THAT'S THE WAY it seems to go these days.

Everybody's interested in the suburbs now. Perhaps because that's where the people are and the money is. That's where the action is going on, where the decisions are being made.

The only problem is that while everybody is poking and prodding at the suburbs the better to understand them, they bring with them such an enormous load of intellectual and emotional baggage that they can't even come close to getting an idea of what's going on out here.

Let's take a few more examples.

* * *

THE BIG CITY politician, cigar tightly clamped in the corner of his mouth, wants to know what's going on politically in the suburbs. But at the same time he will attack the political structure for being clumsy, poorly organized, and ineffective.

But let him take a close look at some of the wheeling and dealing in Livonia. It isn't the same sort of politics you see in a big city ward, because Livonia isn't a big city ward. But it's just as effective in its own way.

Or take the man who is concerned about solving this country's racial problems. "The white suburbs are this country's last stronghold of bigotry. They'll ruin every step forward we try to take."

Well, I think for every suburban bigot, there's at least a bigot and a half downtown. Plymouth passed a fair housing ordinance the other day, and it looks as though similar ordinances will be coming up shortly in Livonia, Farmington and Plymouth Township.

I don't seem to remember Detroit passing such an ordinance.

* * *

OR TAKE THE guy who lives in Grosse Pointe and jumps on the suburbs for being boring, flat, uninteresting, and generally gray.

He probably lives in Grosse Pointe partly because he can afford it and partly because it's the thing to do. He certainly has never lived in Westland or Redford Township, even though he feels perfectly free to criticize them.

I dunno.

I'd just as soon spend an evening talking with Livonia's Ron Upton, or Plymouth's Esther Hulsing, or Farmington's John Richardson as exchanging stiff platitudes with some rich guy in Fat Pointe. They, and countless other residents of Observerland, are just as interesting, have just as sharp a mind, do just as much as anyone who lives in the fancy or older communities in the state.

* * *

THERE LIES THE problem.

People are people, wherever they happen to live, whatever they happen to do for a living, how much they happen to make.

People choose to live in Observerland for just as good or just as bad reasons as the guy who chooses to live in Grosse Pointe or Bloomfield Hills because it's the place to live if you're an auto executive.

And if all the people poking and prodding at suburbia would stop to remember this, we'd all be a lot better off.

A View From West Point

'Followship' And Mini-Skirts

EDITOR'S NOTE: Fred DeLano, of the Farmington Enterprise and Observer, was the only newsman to join a group of 32 Michigan high school counselors last week for a visit to the United States Military Academy at West Point, N.Y. A more detailed story, along with pictures, will appear in a later edition of the Observer Newspapers.

By FRED DeLANO

After recovering from the sight of mini-skirts on what I choose to call the "campus" of the United States Military Academy, this nomad added a new word to his vocabulary: "Followship." (And please, Mrs. Proofreader, don't goof this lead by changing that to "fellowship." The latter I was taught at Michigan.)

It was my luck to be stationed at West Point most of last week, not in the advisory capacity due one of my age, but rather as recipient of a mental assault by Academy tacticians, both military and academic, designed to give one the "true picture."

It was a slightly overweight colonel named William J. Love, a graduate both of West Point and M.I.T., who brought "followship" into the language. He did it when he tied all the pieces together and emphasized that the end purpose of a concentrated mental and physical exposure for four years to the Academy is basically to teach a man to kill.

For two years they pound "followship" into his personality until response to an order becomes second nature. Then, as though a cadet has attained his bar mitzvah, the switch is to leadership. The finished package is supposed to be able to take an order or give one.

It is my view that upon those orders does the future of this nation largely depend, and if it's trite and "square" to say that one gains confidence in that future by watching this training in action, then I'm just that trite and just that "square."

* * *

THOSE MINI-SKIRTS did come as more of a surprise than warranted simply because this writer never realized the civilian complexion of the over-all West Point community, and access to the military post itself by 6,000 or more area residents.

When told there's an elementary school system on the Post for 1,180 children, a question as to whether a millage election is in the offing there, too, was forestalled when the informant pointed out that the schools are federally financed.

The cadets don't march to classes, as I expected. And despite many moments of severe regimentation, there's an air of classroom rapport between instructor and pupil which bespeaks a mutual respect hard to come by.

Friends would find it hard to picture the writer in a West Point English literature or physics class, yet I attended both. There were nine cadets in the former, 15 in the latter—and that's the maximum permitted.

The give and take between cadets and the officers who taught these classes was eye-opening and encouraging. It reflected an old view of mine that when two people always agree, then one of them isn't thinking. At West Point they're all thinkers; otherwise they don't stay.

* * *

ALTHOUGH A GRADUATE of West Point leaves with a bachelor of science degree, he qualifies just as well for a physical education diploma. The demand for athletic participation, varsity or intramural, never ends; and a kid who doesn't delight in bodily contact has no place there.

One day it was my pleasure to be the guest of a high jumper from Ferndale, Cadet Bruce Peltier, at the mid-day mess. Others who shared the table also were members of the track team, and the sense of pride detected in these men, the sense of camaraderie, and their dedication stood out in every move and word.

"Duty . . . Honor . . . Country."

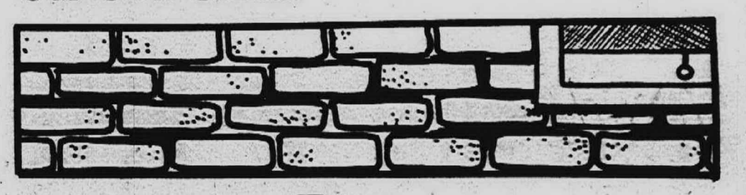

That motto is the core of West Point, just as the Corps itself is the intense focal point of all Academy effort.

A quotation inscribed on a wall of the library reads:

"The establishment of an institution of this kind, upon a respectable and extensive basis, has ever been considered by me as an object of primary importance to this country."

Those words originally were uttered by George Washington, and while our first president might or might not enjoy the bargain prices extended during Happy Hour at the Officers' Club as much as this correspondent, I'm sure he'd not begrudge sharing with us the faith in America his words bespoke.

See Trouble For Community Colleges

LANSING--Ira Polley, state superintendent of public instruction, said that Michigan's community colleges may soon be facing "enormous difficulty" in recruiting staff.

Polley, speaking to a group of recently appointed community college presidents at Michigan State University, said enrollments have doubled in the last four years and may double again in the next four at the schools.

"These figures are eloquent testimony of the acceptance that the community college has found in most parts of Michigan," he said.

•

LANSING--A presidential primary in Michigan would cost the state about $700,000 and would roughly double its presidential election costs, Secretary of State James Hare said last week.

A bill to return the primary system to Michigan, which had a presidential primary law from 1912 to 1931, was introduced in the House last year but died in committee.

Hare, who supervises elections, said he would not be opposed to the idea of a presidential primary.

•

LANSING--Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley has advised all counties to go ahead with plans to reapportion the counties on a one man one vote basis so that elections in the new districts can be held this year.

Kelley said he had been advised that at least 50 counties have already filed reapportionment plans in accordance with 1966 law.

"While there may be difficulty in some counties in achieving speedy implementation of the principle of one man one vote, those difficulties are clearly outweighed by the fact that constitutional rights are involved.

"It is clear, therefore, that the time to act is now," he said.

•

LANSING--Full federal takeover of welfare programs was proposed by Secretary Wilbur J. Cohen of the U. S. Health, Education and Welfare Department.

He made his suggestion to the Michigan House-Senate Appropriations Committee.

"We've got to find some better way to deal with the 26 million who are in poverty right now," he said.

Cohen said such a system would enable the federal government to keep tighter control on welfare and to impose nationwide standards.

•

LANSING--Last Friday, Lansing officially became the 10th city in Michigan to adopt the uniform city income tax as the Board of Canvassers certified the results of Thursday's referendum.

The ordinance is effective July 1. It provides for a one per cent tax on the net income of residents and businesses and one half per cent for non-residents who work in the city.

The tax is expected to bring about $4 million. Non-resident tax payers will contribute from $800,000 to $1.2 million of the total, city officals estimate.

•

CHEBOYGAN--The Cheboygan County Board of Supervisors is distributing a resolution to Michigan's other 83 counties requesting that reapportionment of supervisors on the one man one vote basis be delayed until 1970 after the new census.

Cheboygan supervisors argue that the census would require additional changes when the new population figures are known, and hope to enlist the support from other counties to postpone the new plan.

•

PONTIAC--A concentrated drive to register unregistered voters in Pontiac began May 1, and Co-Chairman for the drive, Ernest Seay and James B. Davis, announced that more than 1,000 new registrations had been secured.

Twenty-one persons sponsored by Seay, Davis and a number of interested clergymen and professional people were deputized by City Clerk Olga Barkeley.

More than 100 persons volunteered their help. They represented about one dozen organizations.

•

CADILLAC--James A. Holcomb, Lansing civil defense director, has been elected president of the State of Michigan Civil Defense Directors Association.

Holcomb, who has been Lansing's director since 1963, has distinguished himself through the creation of the first complete city warning system in the state.

•

DETROIT--Gov. George Romney announced last week the promotion of Col. Floyd Radike of Detroit to brigadier general and his assignment as commanding general of the Michigan National Guard's emergency operation headquarters.

Radike, 53, succeeds Brig. Gen. Leonard C. Ward of Escanaba, who in January was named assistant chief of the National Guard in Washington.

•

DETROIT--A third southeastern Michigan local of the Communications Workers of America was off the job over the weekend, joining two rebellious locals in the Detroit area.

Members of Local 4013 in Monroe failed to report to work after striking Western Electric employes set up picket lines at Michigan Bell facilities there.

Robert Lausch, picket captain of the Monroe Western Electric Local 4090, said he expected installers to begin picketing throughout Michigan this week.

Gorman's Plans Import Fair

Furniture lovers fall into two groups: Some prefer pieces that are very old. . .others like the newest of the new. At Gorman's Gallery West this week, both schools will have a field day.

Gorman's Import Fair, starting Thursday, features a fascinating collection of rare, unusual and exotic accessories from across the sea.

Sunday, Gormans hosts Detroit's first furniture "happening" at a Fashion Show and Open House, with a Premiere of American Designer collections for 1968-69.

In keeping with Gorman tradition, nothing is sold at the Sunday Open House. Refreshments are served, and the public can only "come and admire," leaving checkbooks at home.

The Import Fair is scheduled for Thursday through Sunday, and the hours for the Sunday Open House are 1 to 6 p.m. Gorman's Gallery West is located on Telegraph Road at Twelve Mile.

14 Teams Set For Anders Baseball Tourney

A 14-team field will battle for honors in the 1968 edition of the Les Anders Memorial Invitational high school baseball tournament which starts on Friday, May 24.

The classic meet will be sponsored by the Recreation Department of Livonia, The Observer newspapers and the Livonia Optimists Club for the fifth straight year.

One defeat will spell elimination for the entries who'll not only contest for the tournament title but also will earn the right to advance into an area playoff against winners from invitationals in three other locales. Bentley won the tourney last year.

* * *

FIRST-ROUND action will be held from May 24-26 with the quarterfinals booked for Memorial Day (May 30).

The semi-finals are listed for May 31 with the finals on Saturday, June 1.

All games will be played on Henry Ford Field in Livonia with several of the contests to be staged under the lights.

* * *

THE ENTRIES include Stevenson, currently the leader in the Interlakes League; Plymouth, Redford Union and Bentley, all hot contenders in the Suburban Six League; John Glenn and Thurston, running one-two in the Northwest Suburban League, Garden City West, the forerunner in the Tri Rivers League and Northville, the Wayne-Oakland League leader.

Thurston and Glenn are booked to collide head-on in one of the openers while another will match Plymouth and Stevenson.

Bentley and Clarenceville each drew a first-round bye.

Here are the pairings:

First Round

May 24--Thurston vs. Glenn at 6 p.m.; Garden City East vs. Franklin, 8:30 p.m.

May 25--Redford Union vs. Northville, 6 p.m.; Plymouth vs. Stevenson, 8:30 p.m.

May 26--Our Lady of Sorrows vs. Garden City West, 6 p.m.; Wayne vs. St. Agatha, 8:30 p.m.

Quarterfinals

May 30--Bentley vs. Thurston-Glenn winner, 3:30 p.m.; Garden City East-Franklin winner vs. Redford Union-Northville winner, 1 p.m.; Plymouth-Stevenson winner vs. Sorrows-West winner, 6 p.m.; Clarenceville vs. Wayne-St. Agatha winner, 8:30 p.m.

Semifinals

May 31--Games at 6 and 8:30 p.m.

Finals

June 1--Finals at 7:30 p.m.

Stevenson Ups Lead In Baseball

Barring a collapse, Stevenson High's baseball team would appear to have the Interlakes League championship in the bag.

Stevenson went into this week's action with a 5-0 conference record and a two-game bulge over its nearest rival.

Another fine mound effort by Paul Tonnemacher enabled the Livonians to nip Walled Lake, 3-2, in another loop showdown Friday.

Tonnemacher, top pitcher in the area, forged a five-hitter and fanned eight for the winners.

Stevenson jumped ahead, 1-0, in the first inning when Kim DeWitt walked, went to second on an error and scored on Jerry Detter's single in the first inning.

A leadoff triple and a single brought Walled Lake even in the bottom of the first and that's the way matters stood until Detter parked a homer in the sixth to put Stevenson back on top, 2-1.

* * *

THE LEAD didn't last long. A single, walk and a single tied matters again in the bottom of the sixth.

But in the seventh, Rick Horstman singled for Stevenson. He stole second and continued to third on a wild throw by the Walled Lake catcher.

Chuck Sobczak then dropped a perfect squeeze bunt on which Horstman easily scored the winning run.

Tonnemacher set down the Lakers one-two-three in their half of the seventh.

Stevenson returns to league action Friday meeting Farmington.

Draft Picks Net Smiles For Pistons

The Detroit Pistons were happy the way the second phase of the National Basketball Association College draft went.

Coach Donnis Butcher returned from New York declaring:

"We got the players we wanted."

The Pistons went big in the draft, taking players standing 6-7 or 6-8 in the first five rounds of Wednesday's pickings which followed a month after the Pistons had made 6-11 Otto Moore of Pan American their No. 1 pick.

In succession the Pistons took Manny Leaks of Niagara (6-8), Don Dee of St. Marys of Kansas (6-8), Rich Nieman of St. Louis (6-8), Carl Fuller of Bethune Cookman (6-8), Wally Anderzunas of Creighton (6-7), Larry Newbold of Long Island U. (6-1), Harry Laurie of St. Peters of New Jersey (6-2), Vaughn Harper of Syracuse (6-5) and Tom Baack of Nebraska (6-3).

Sam Williams, a Detroiter, who starred for Iowa and was named as the Big Ten's most valuable player in 1967-68 went to Milwaukee.

Redford Union Clubs Plymouth In Homer Battle

The long ball!

It can be devastating as Plymouth High learned Monday in dropping a 7-5 decision to Redford Union in a battle of two Suburban Six League contenders.

The triumph enabled RU to up its record in the loop to 4-2 and remain on top. Plymouth, meantime, slipped to a 2-3 standing and fluffed a chance to go in front.

But to get back to the long ball.

Plymouth had built up a 5-2 lead, thanks to a pair of towering smashes.

Larry Wasalaski homered in the first inning. Then in the third after Jeff Gillespie walked, Wasalaski doubled and Rick Fillmore walked to jam the sacks, Bob Kellman cleaned house with a grand slam.

Redford Union took a cue from what Plymouth was doing.

TRAILING, 5-3, coming to bat in the seventh, RU rallied with a pair of long balls. First Bill Howe homered after Kevin Fox had walked to tie the score.

Fred Dunham followed with another homer to unlock the score. Then a hit batsman and a double by Jerry Cook provided RU with an insurance run.

RU had tallied once in the first inning when Dale Bjerke singled in Kirk Taylor. In the third, Bjerke's hit paved the way for him to eventually score on a sacrifice fly by Howe. Singles by McCullough, Cook and Taylor notched the third RU runs in the fourth.

Bjerke was the winning pitcher, although Tom Booker came to his rescue with one out in the seventh. The loser was Gillespie.

Redford Union received four-hit pitching from Booker Friday in blanking Trenton, 4-0. He walked only three batters.

* * *

THE TOWNSHIPPERS scored once in the first inning when Howe singled, took second on a sacrifice and came home on Mike McCullough's single.

In the fourth inning, Bill Fahey singled, Fox was safe on an error and Kirk Taylor singled. Two stolen bases and two errors helped RU cash three runs.

Bentley's scheduled game with Trenton was postponed until Tuesday because of wet grounds.

It'll take a meeting of league athletic directors to settle Bentley's record.

The Livonians either stood 2-2 or 3-2 going into the Trenton game. Still is unsettled whether Allen Park must forfeit a game to Bentley when umpires failed to show up.

McLain, Sparma Living It Up

Denny McLain must feel like blasting off on his organ when he has a chance to relax at home in Farmington Township.

Down the road apiece, Joe Sparma doesn't mind too much that the city fathers of Livonia haven't gotten around to paving the street in front of his home.

Life on the pitching mound is going well for both the members of the Detroit Tigers.

Especially McLain who sought his sixth straight triumph without a loss Wednesday evening when the Tigers met the Baltimore Orioles at Tiger Stadium.

Sparma, meantime, has to feel that his fortunes on the slab have changed. His mates finally got some hits and runs behind him Saturday when he coasted past Washington, 12-2.

* * *

BEFORE THE TIGERS broke loose for Sparma, he twice had lost in close battles in which his mates managed just one hit over nine-inning spans. Each time Jim Northrup saved the Tigers from being the victims of no-hitters.

All of which explains why Sparma will take a 2-3 record against Washington at Tiger Stadium Friday evening. But his earned run average of two per game proves that he's pitching far better than his win-loss mark might indicate.

The Tiger explosion for Sparma against Washington followed on the heels of an almost identical uprising the night before that enabled McLain to breeze along to a 12-1 triumph.

But the Tiger bats cooled off in Sunday's finale at Washington and so did the Detroit pitching as the Nats pounded out a 6-3 conquest to end Detroit's winning streak at four.

Nonetheless the Tigers still came home for a week's stand at Tiger Stadium leading the league.

* * *

BESIDES TAKING two straight at Washington, the Tigers proved that they can hit the ball--at least once in a while.

The most productive Tiger in the series had to be Al Kaline, who went into Washington with only a total of two runs batted-in for the season to his credit.

But Kaline blasted out three hits, one a homer, and knocked in six runs on Friday. . .he picked up one more hit and an RBI on Saturday. . . .and collected three hits and an RBI on Sunday.

His homer against Washington was a historical one in that it was No. 306 as a Tiger to tie Hank Greenberg for the club leadership in the HR department.

"I sure hope I can break the record during our current home stand," said Kaline as the Tigers returned home.

McLain, in beating Washington, scattered seven hits and never was in much trouble after yielding a first-inning run.

He fanned seven and didn't walk a batter as he lowered his earned run average to a brilliant 1.83. In 59 innings of pitching, McLain has allowed 44 hits, fanned 52 and walked only nine.

PLYMOUTH WAS RIDING high at this stage of the game against Redford Union but then the bottom dropped out and the Rocks went down to defeat. Outfielder Russ Carlson slides safely into third when the relay gets away from RU third baseman Kurt Taylor.

East Miler Dashes To New Record

Bernie Wasilewski has rewritten the two mile track record at Garden City East.

He chalked up a brilliant effort of 10:00.5 to set a school mark and also a new standard in the Western Wayne Relays in winning the long grind with little trouble.

The old East mark was 10:05.8.

Wasilewski also won the two mile against Riverview as East absorbed a 70-47 in a dual meet.

The Garden City team won only two other events--the pole vault and mile relay as Riverview rolled up an easy victory.

East's winners vs. Riverview:

Two Mile: Bernie Wasilewski. Time--10:27.4.

Pole Vault: Mike Bremenour. Height--11 feet, 6 inches.

Mile relay: East (Mike Jedynak, Bob Kalinowski, Jeff Fordell, Rick Zielinski). Time--3:45.5.

Tigers Add Two Films To Library

Two new films have been added to the Tigers' lending library and are available without charge for showing before groups where no admission is charged.

"Baseball's Incredible Year" portrays the exciting major league pennant races of 1967 with some dramatic action shots. Narrated by Curt Gowdy, the film is sponsored by Investors Diversified Services.

"Baseball" is an instructional film featuring stars of both major leagues in Little League clinics in Puerto Rico. Both films are in color with sound and run slightly under 30 minutes.

Also in great demand is the 1967 World Series film, available in 30 and 40-minute length.

Information on films for free showing is available at: Film Department, Tiger Stadium, Detroit, 48216.

Latest Ratings For Tracksters In Observerland

It's regional track time for the state's high school trackmen.

Based on their times compiled in the weekly Observer ratings, area teams and performers should distinguish themselves Saturday as they bid to qualify for the state finals to be held seven days later.

The area's Class A teams have been assigned to three different regionals.

Most of the teams — Plymouth, Bentley, Stevenson, Franklin, Garden City East and West and Glenn — will contest at Belleville. Farmington and North Farmington go to Madison Heights while Redford Union and Thurston are headed for Detroit Redford.

Clarenceville High will host a Class B and C meet. The "C" entries include St. Agatha and Our Lady of Sorrows.

League championships for most the area track teams will be staged next week.

Jr. Olympics Meet Slated At Bentley

A junior olympics track meet, open to contestants from Michigan and adjoining states and sanctioned by the Michigan AAU, will be staged Saturday at Bentley High under the auspices of the Wolverine Parkettes.

The meet starts at 10 a.m. and continues through the afternoon.

There will be events for girls in the following age groups: 9 and under, 10 and 11, 12 and 13, 14 and 15 and 16-17.

For boys there will be events in age groups: 9 and under, 10-11, 12-13 and 14-15.

Those desiring to register may call 261-2025 any evening before 10 p.m.

Grand Slam Big Blow For Agatha

One poke--the right kind--can settle a baseball game.

Such was the case when St. Agatha blitzed Mt. Carmel, 11-4, in a Catholic League battle.

The score was tied at 4-4 when St. Agatha jammed the bases on three walks in the sixth inning. Up came Joe Huhn, who responded with a grand-slam homer to make it 8-4 for St. Agatha.

In the seventh inning two more walks, a triple by Denny Blazok and a single by Dan Sweeney added three runs to the St. Agatha total.

* * *

SWEENEY EARLIER had knocked in three runs with a hit in the second inning while Bob Monarch's triple accounted for the other St. Agatha marker.

Chuck Costello hurled for the victors. He fanned eight and walked four.

Costello was the losing pitcher in a nine-inning duel with Wayne St. Mary's decided by a 4-2 score.

Both St. Agatha runs were scored in the fifth inning. After Costello and Blazok were safe on errors, Kuhn connected with a double to knock them across.

St. Agatha Trackmen Set School Marks

Several school records fell Sunday as St. Agatha High's track team defeated St. Stanislaus 62-56.

Mike Sweeney won the 440-yard run in a school record of :54.8 seconds.

Dan Sweeney tied a record when he high jumped five feet, eight inches. He also won the low hurdles event in :22.3 seconds.

The mile relay team of Mike Brown, Mike Sweeney, John Trucham and Jim Krupansky set another St. Agatha record by winning in 3:48.

2 Losses Knock West From Top

Two straight defeats have knocked Garden City West out of the undisputed leadership in the Tri River League baseball chase.

After winning six in a row, West bowed to Southgate, 6-5, Friday and then to Riverside, 8-4. As a result, West's 6-2 loop record now matches Southgate.

Riverside chased Jim Furay, West's ace in the fourth inning with a seven-run explosion.

West, meantime, tallied single markers in each of four innings. A walk and singles by Chuck Evans and Bill Harrison produced the first West tally.

Errors paved the way for the next one. They Furay tripled and scored on a sacrifice. Hits by Ken Pearce, Evans and Furay ended the scoring for the losers.

* * *

SOUTHGATE OVERCAME a 3-1 deficit by scoring five times in the sixth inning to beat West.

Furay had three hits and Harrison chipped in with a homer for West, but it didn't do the team any good.

Harrison's homer came in the third inning after Chuck Evans had walked. In the fifth, Evans was safe on a fielder's choice, stole second and came home on Furay's single.

An error, single by Furay, walk and ground out produced the final two West runs in the seventh after Southgate had roared ahead by putting together three hits, two walks and an error for its five big runs in the sixth.

Earlier in the week West blanked Schafer, 4-0, behind Furay's three-hit pitching. He fanned 12 and walked two.

All the scoring in the game came in the fifth inning. Jerry LaCross singled to open the inning. After two walks loaded the bases, Furay, Bob Chidester and Al Poland singled in succession.

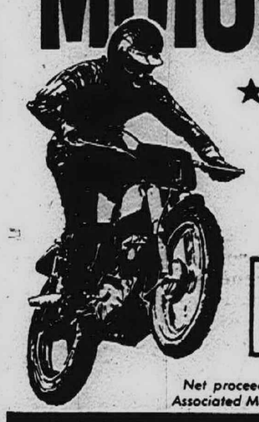

Plymouth Golfer May Win Trip On Hole-In-One

NEW YORK--Plymouth resident Rockwell Smith may win $1,000 and a trip to Scotland for two as a result of scoring a hole-in-one recently at the Washtenaw Country Club.

Smith, 295 Arthur Street, was entered in the annual Rusty Nail Hole-In-One Sweepstakes, a national competition for acers.

The winner will be announced early next year.

Buy Bonds where you work.
They do.

They work for freedom. It isn't a white collar job. Or a safe one. But it is a satisfying one. And the men who work at it think it is so important that more than seven out of ten of them are supporting freedom with their dollars, too—through investment in U.S. Savings Bonds. When you buy Bonds, you can save up for a rainy day, a home, a free and comfortable future—and at the same time show these brave men you're on their side. Join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or buy Bonds where you bank. You'll walk a bit taller.

New Freedom Shares

Now, when you join the Payroll Savings Plan or the Bond-a-Month Plan, you are eligible to purchase new U.S. Savings Notes, "Freedom Shares," as a bonus opportunity. Freedom Shares pay 4.74% when held to maturity of just four and a half years (redeemable after one year), and are available on a one-for-one basis with Savings Bonds. Get the facts where you work or bank.

observing sports

It happened the other afternoon in a high school baseball game just outside of Observerland.

There was a runner on third and another on first. One out.

The batter slammed a hot shot toward right. The runner, advancing from first, was struck by the batted ball. As this happened, the runner from third crossed the plate and headed for the bench.

The umpire, alert to what had happened, called the runner, who was hit by the ball, OUT. The batter was awarded first base and the run allowed to stand.

The coach and members of the defensive team screamed.

"That run can't score," the coach yelled. "The ball became dead and nobody can advance unless forced to so that the batter can reach base on such a play."

The ump insisted differently. He said the run counted.

"We protest," barked the coach of the team in the field.

* * *

"WE PROTEST . . ."

They are familiar words in baseball games. Coaches and players keep insisting they will.

But can they? Have they legal grounds?

Since one hates to relate that many coaches and most players and virtually ALL fans are ignorant when it comes to the rules of baseball and other sports, perhaps it's not out of line for this column to analyze what is and what isn't a protestable decision.

In short:

1 — You can't protest an umpire's judgment calls — like a ball or strike, a safe or out verdict, a foul or fair ball. Say what you want to . . . the ump can't lose.

2 — On the other hand, if an ump goofs on interpreting a rule, you have a case.

In the situation described above, the coach had every reason to protest.

The ump blew the rule. It's simple. The runner from third couldn't come home.

The man running to second was out, as called, and the batter-runner was entitled to first base.

* * *

THE DEFENSIVE TEAM is entitled to have the game replayed — from the point of infraction, or from the start — since it lost. (Of course, had the team won, it would have forgotten about the protest, which usually happens.)

Different leagues have different interpretations on what to do when a protest is allowed.

In certain cases, the scene is set from the moment preceding the infraction. In the above case, the original batter would have returned to the plate with runners on third and first and one out.

Other leagues feel it's better to start right from scratch and replay the entire game.

In many tournaments, those in charge insist that should a protest arise, it must be settled on the spot.

If need be, play will be halted and a full-scale meeting between the involved managers, umpires and league brass will transpire while everybody else waits.

The thinking by these folk is simple: Why let a game go on and thus foul up the meet's progress?

* * *

IN 99 OUT OF 100, maybe 999 out of 1,000 protests, the ump has to emerge the winner. That's because most of his calls boil down to judgment in some form or another.

Besides, umps usually are good talkers and they can wiggle free of any jams . . .

But it does happen . . . that they (umps) mess up a rule and get nailed.

The fact is that they might get clipped more often if the coaches and players were sharper students of the rules. Take a play that once involved yours truly.

We were calling an American Legion encounter on a hot day. It was a long affair and needless to say we were getting tired and irritated. We had to do it alone.

In the ninth inning, the coach of the losing side sent up a pinch-hitter. The count went one and one. There were two men out and two on.

The coach of the other team leaped to his feet. He claimed his rival hadn't informed the official scorer of the pinch-hitter.

So we investigated. The scorer agreed.

"The batter is OUT," we barked. "The game is over."

A few fans and players groaned. But nobody took the decision to task. Everybody left the field.

A fellow umpire, working on an adjacent diamond, strolled over and patted us on the back.

"Hey, young fellow, you couldn't call that batter out. There's no punishment for a batter not reporting to the ump or scorer . . . or his coach doing so. Once the batter steps up there, he's officially in the game."

The red-faced ump suddenly realized how wrong his decision was. Fortunately for him, he got away with it.

So, our tip for today: If you're going to play or manage . . . learn the rules; it could make a difference.

Top Dragster To Join In Safety Talks

Dick Landy, one of the nation's foremost superstock dragracers now on a national tour, will make a record 10-day public appearance in the Detroit area on his first visit here, starting May 17.

The automotive expert turns teacher, however, for a good part of his stay to conduct safety-performance clinics and consumer car forums at a group of area Dodge dealerships.

In addition, Landy closes his visit with three-day participation in the American Hot Rod Association's Grand Nationals at Detroit Dragway, May 24 through 26.

The 30-year-old California motorsportsman and father of three, recently won the Super Stock Eliminator title in the AHRA Winternationals at Long Beach, Calif., and three class titles at the National Hot Rod Association's Winternationals at Pomona, Calif.

He will appear on the evenings of May 17 and 18 at Northwestern Dodge, Inc., 19711 Livernois, Detroit; May 20 and 21 at Crestwood Dodge, Inc., 32850 Ford Road, Garden City; and May 22 and 23 at Town and Country Dodge, Inc., 31015 Grand River, Farmington.

Last year Landy conducted more than 70 clinics in 29 states before some 50,000 persons.

West Trackmen Face Showdown

Garden City West or Schafer?

Which school has the better track team will be settled Thursday when they clash head-on at Schafer.

Going into the meet, both boast records of four victories without defeat in Tri Rivers League competition.

West continued its winning ways Thursday by crushing Crestwood, 86-32, as Bob Herrick and Don Smith each raced to West varsity records.

Herrick was clocked in 10.2 seconds as he won the 100-yard dash to smash the former standard.

Smith's record came in the high hurdles in which he was timed in 16 seconds flat.

Both Herrick and Smith emerged as double winners. Herrick also captured the 220-yard dash, while Smith broke the wire first in the low hurdles, along with the highs

WEST BEAT Crestwood after taking a fourth place in the Western Wayne Relays at Belleville. West grabbed off second places in three relays -- the pole vault, four mile and mile.

The Garden City team has an overall record of 6-1 in dual meets this season.

The West winners against Crestwood:

POLE VAULT: Mark McGrath. Height -- 11 feet.

LONG JUMP: Dave Wilson. Distance -- 20 feet, 11-1/2 inches.

TWO MILE: Bill Casper. Time -- 10:23.

MILE: Jim Rhoades. Time -- 4:47.

880-YARD: Steve Wilcox. Time -- 2:08.

440-YARD: Wilson. Time -- 52.6 seconds.

100-YARD: Bob Herrick. Time -- 10.2 seconds (school record).

220-YARD: Herrick. Time -- 23.2 seconds.

HIGH HURDLES: Don Smith. Time -- 16 seconds (school record).

LOW HURDLES: Smith. Time -- 21.5 seconds.

MILE RELAY: West (Chris McCollam, Craig Kennen, Jim Gurney, Rhoades). Time -- 4:41.8.

East Zips Into Flag Contention

Back to back victories over Riverview and Inkster have hoisted Garden City East's baseball team into contention for the Mid-Wayne League title.

The triumphs upped East's record to 3-2, just a game behind front-running Riverview.

East bested Riverview, 4-3, and then shutout Inkster, 6-0, with Greg Pike a hero in both games.

Pike slammed a two-run homer against Riverview as Rick Orlandoni hurled the route, giving up six hits and fanning nine.

Larry Shanks knocked in another run for East while Orlandoni helped his own cause by socking a homer in the sixth.

* * *

AGAINST INKSTER, Pike hurled a no-hit ball until the sixth when he was touched for Inkster safety. He fanned seven and walked four.

East scored four times in the third inning with Pike's double starting the assult. Kevin Wilkinson singled, Larry Nault singled and John Chute delivered a hit. An Inkster error helped Chute circle the sacks.

Pike also had a hand in the final two East runs. He started it with a single. Nault was safe on an error and Bob Krol delivered a single.

Trojans '9' Waste Lead

Clarenceville high's baseball team couldn't stand prosperity Monday.

The Trojans jumped off a 3-0 lead in the first inning at West Bloomfield. But they were blanked the rest of the way and wound up absorbing a 9-3 loss in the Wayne -Oakland League game.

Singles by Mike White and Bob Duman put two aboard early for the Trojans. Then Terry Rifkin unloaded a homer.

Glenn Bows --- Franklin Wins On Diamond

Raiders Edge Thurston 3-2; Near League Lead

Don't count North Farmington High out of the Northwest Suburban League baseball chase.

The Raiders, who dropped their first three loop encounters, now have won three in a row to bounce back into contention, a shade behind John Glenn which tops the field with a 5-2 mark.

North Farmington's latest victory -- a 3-2 verdict over Thurston -- made some kind of history for the Raiders. Coach Tom Wallis called it the longest game in North Farmington's history -- the teams battling for 14 innings.

The duel was finally settled when Bob Graessle singled to open the 14th. John MacLeod forced Graessle and then Mike McCoy, who pitched the entire route for the winners, dropped a bunt to put MacLeod on second.

That brought up Jay Hazzelroth who drilled a single to knock in MacLeod with the game winner.

Until the last inning, Deno Syrios of Thurston had allowed only two hits while fanning 21 and walking seven.

McCoy rolled up 17 strikeout victims and issued only two walks and seven hits in the hectic game.

A walk, sacrifice and single by Norm DeCourcy produced North Farmington's first run. Two walks, a sacrifice and two errors led to the second Raider marker.

Thurston tallied on a single by Roy, a sacrifice and infield out and then when Holmes tripled and Sersen singled.

* * *

JOHN GLENN suffered its second loss when belted by Oak Park, 8-5. The Parkers treated Kerry Webb, the Glenn ace, roughly, chasing him out in the fifth inning.

Glenn was held scoreless until the seventh inning when Les Anderson got things going with a walk.

Singles by Steve McKolay and Mike Drean, an error giving Rick Martinez life, another single by Bill O'Connor, a hit batsman and a walk helped Glenn to register five runs.

* * *

FRANKLIN HIGH evened its league record at 3-3 by downing Birmingham Groves, 9-6, as Jim Davies picked up the victory.

Davies needed relief in the final inning to get the last out.

Franklin counted twice in the first inning when Bill Helstein and Denny Hopkins drove in the tallies. Davies and Archie Leib socked over two more runs in the second.

A four-run uprising by Franklin in the fifth helped to settle matters. Hopkins, David Paden, Brad Lyons and Mike LeBlanc singled in succession. Davies also delivered a hit and Larry Draughn was safe on a fielder's choice.

The final Franklin run came when Denny Fisher and Hellstein singled and Paden produced a sacrifice fly.

Canadiens Win, Hunt New Coach

MONTREAL -- To nobody's surprise, the Montreal Canadiens reign as 1968 National Hockey League Stanley Cup champs.

But the Canadiens had to work harder than everybody expected before beating the St. Louis Blues in four straight games.

In Saturday's finale, the score was 3-2, marking the fourth time the Canadiens had won by a single goal. Twice the expansion Blues carried Montreal into overtime.

* * *

IT WAS THE 15TH Stanley Cup victory for Montreal, but the team's celebration was tempered when Coach Toe Blake announced he was retiring.

He had led the Canadiens to eight of the cup titles.

J.C. Tremblay was the Canadiens' hero in the deciding game. He passed to Henri Richard for the tieing goal in the third period and then drove in the winner from around 15 feet out a few moments later.

Montreal had scored first on a goal by Dick Duff before St. Louis rebounded to take a 2-1 lead when Craig Cameron and Gary Sabourin clicked minutes apart in the second period.

KALAMAZOO -- Western Michigan University's baseball team defeated Toledo by 6-0 and 7-2 scores on April 12 and 13 it raised the Broncos winning streak over the Rockets to 23 games dating back to 1954. The Broncos hold a 25-2-0 series edge.

Reed's Waylay Sights Motor City Victory

Can Reed's Waylay, the spectacular eight-year-old mare who was converted from the trot to the pace during the winter, continue her sensational winning ways against many of the nation's better pacers?

The answer to that question will come Thursday night when Wolverine Raceway presents the 16th renewal of the historic Motor City Pace with a field of 10 going postward for a pot of $21,450.

The conditions of the stake call for two dashes of one mile each. The winner is decided first on the basis of summary --the order of finish in both dashes--and then if the horses are tied, then the one with the fastest time is declared the winner of the coveted trophy.

There isn't any question but that this year's renewal is about as evenly matched as any in recent years.

And therein lies the question of how well Reed's Waylay will be able to do.

* * *

AFTER GETTING accustomed to the pace, the mare entered seven races at Pompano Park and won all seven. Then she was shipped to Chicago where she broke gait near the finish of her first start there won the next two, finished second to East Prom and then captured a $7,000 Open Handicap pace Saturday at Wolverine.

She has to be classed as the bargain horse of the year. Her owners, Ed O'Hare of Southfield, Gerald Johnson of Dearborn Heights and Richard Abraham of Adrian, bought her for $10,000 in January. Since she has won more than $21,000, paying for herself in less than six months.

The mare has a real job cut out in the Motor City where she'll be going against her stiffest competition of the year.

The 10 entrants include: Bruce Nickells Cape Kennedy and Ivan Sugg's Lenawee Johnny from Chicago; Billy Haughton's Non Hill from Rosecroft Raceway; Eddie Cobb's Lord Butler from Yonkers Raceway; and Masquerader Boy from Cleveland.

* * *

THE REMAINDER are from Michigan: Glenn's Time, O. C. Mego, who won Saturday and paid $50; Idona's Faith from Holland, Mich; and Toughie Direct, owned by Don Lulfs of Northville. The last mentioned may be the sleeper since he won in 2:01.3 at Pompano Park and will be making his first Wolverine start after shipping in a week ago.

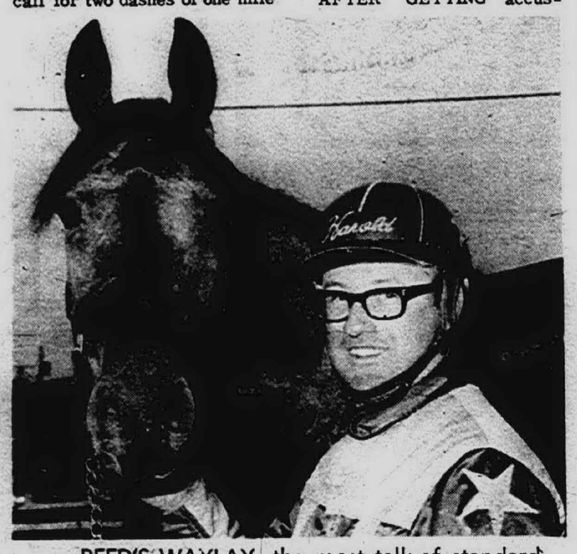

Reed's Waylay who had won 10 of 12 starts prior to shipping to Wolverine for the Motor City, clearly demonstrated her fitness Saturday when she paced away from a field of seven of the fastest pacers on the grounds to win a $7,000 Open Preferred Pace in 2:03.

That was the fastest mile of the meeting and she was a length and a half ahead of her nearest rival at the finish.

Philip Brian, who had won three consecutive Open events on as many Saturdays, set a sizzling pace for three-quarters with Craig Creed dueling with him every inch of the way.

Driver Harold Fisher had Reed's Waylay sitting in the No. 4 spot when the leaders rolled into the final turn. That's when he sent the mare to the outside and she zoomed past the leaders to take a commanding lead, for the victory in 2:03. That was the fastest clocking of the meeting.

Even then she had to go all the way for Sudan's Comet and The Big Bear were flying in the furlong and wound up second and third.

REED'S WAYLAY, the most talk-of standardbred in the midwest because of her 11 victories in 13 starts as a converted pacer, is shown with Driver-Trainer Harold Fisher. She's one of the favorites in Thursday's Motor City Pace at Wolverine Raceway.

Sorrows Scores In Two Sports

In baseball and track, it was a weekend to remember for Our Lady of Sorrows High.

The baseball team remained in contention for the Northwest Division flag in the Catholic League by blanking St. James of Ferndale, 4-0, as Ross Patton a sophomore lefty, turned in a sparkling one-hitter.

Meantime, the Sorrows trackmen made it 2-3 on the season with a 62-56 victory over Ypsilanti St. John.

A roller along the first base line in the second inning cost Patton his bid for a no-hitter against St. James as Sorrows upped its baseball record to four wins and two losses, just a game behind the leading Orchard Lake St. Mary's team.

Patton recorded 13 strikeouts and walked only one batter. He faced a total of 22 batters in the game, one over the minimum in a seven-inning prep encounter.

* * *

SORROWS SCORED three times in the second inning when Barry Walsh singled, stole second and scored on Tim LaFond's single to get matters going. Dan McGrath doubled LaFond to third and both scored when Greg Main slapped a triple to deep left-center.

Dennis Perry opened the fifth by clouting a lone one over the left-fielder's head.

Bill Hartsock with victories in the high jump and the 440-yard run paced the Sorrows triumph in track.

The Sorrows winners:

POLE VAULT: Jerry Horner and Steve Ratliffe tied for first. Height--9 feet.

LONG JUMP: Desmond Kirkland. Distance -- 18 feet, 2 inches.

HIGH JUMP: Hartsock. Height--5 feet, 2 inches.

880-YARD RELAY: Sorrows (Ratliffe, Don Impellizerri, Kirkland, Bob Batchelor). Time --1:42.3.

HIGH HURDLES: Joe Valenti. Time--18 seconds.

880-YARD: Dead heat between Horner (S) and Chapelli (St. John). Time--2:12.5.

Perry New U-M Sports News Chief

ANN ARBOR -- Will Perry, assistant sports editor of the Grand Rapids Press, Friday was named sports information director at the University of Michigan by the Board in Control of Intercollegiate Athletics, effective June 1.

The board also approved appointment of Larry Zimmer, sports director of radio station WAAM, Ann Arbor, as coordinator of radio and television for the athletic department. He will continue to broadcast football and basketball, however, on a contractual basis.

Zimmer will assume duties of the newly-created post July 1. The two appointees will be the first named to serve under Don Canham, newly-appointed Director of Athletics, who succeeds retiring Fritz Crisler, July 1.

* * *

THE 34-YEAR-OLD Perry succeeds Les Etter, who retires June 30, after 24 years of service at Michigan.

A Wolverine graduate in 1955, Perry served two years as information specialist in the Army, and later worked as sports editor and political writer on the Belvidere, Ill., Daily Republican and the Morris, Ill., Herald, before joining the Grand Rapids Press in 1960.

Franklin Victor Over Dearborn, 8-5

Franklin High's baseball team gained an 8-5 verdict over Dearborn in a non-league game.

Bill Hellstein and Dennis Fisher paced the attack for the winners. Hellstein socked a homer and drove in two runs. Fisher picked up a triple and double and scored three times. Dave Tovey also scored three times.

Mike Moore was the winning pitcher with help from Greg Minor and Jim Davies.

RU Clips Mile Mark In Relay

Redford Union High's mile relay team set a varsity record of 3:26 flat in winning in the Schafer Relays Saturday despite a muddy track, caused by a heavy rain.

Bill Mieras, Jim Lagona, Jim Childress and George Corombos made up the quartet which cracked a school mark which had been set only a week before.

Bentley High's John Plumley soared 12 feet, 4 inches to win in the pole vault. Mike Headlee of Redford Union was second in the event.

Trojans Rally For 2 Victories

A perfect throw in the final inning killed a rally by Clarenceville and forced the Trojans to suffer a 3-2 loss at the hands of Milford in a Wayne-Oakland League game.

Milford had taken a 3-0 lead before Clarenceville counted once in the third when Mike White singled over Terry Rifkin.

The score remained unchanged until the seventh inning when John Rathbun singled. White walked and Bob Schurig followed with a double.

Rathbun scored easily, but a runner for White was flagged down at the plate on a close play to end the game.

Bob Duman hurled for Clarenceville and was touched for six hits, three of them in the first two innings. Thereafter, he hurled scoreless ball.

Singles Sweep Wins In Tennis For Farmington

North Farmington High's tennis team pulled out a 5-2-1/2 victory over Thurston by sweeping four singles matches. The results:

Singles--Jeff Cohen (NF) def. Gary Lloyd 10-0; Paul Kamp (NF) def. John Robbested, 10-4; Mike Lesser (NF) def. Bob Reinhardt, 10-2; Bob Watts (NF) def. Larry Bock, 10-1.

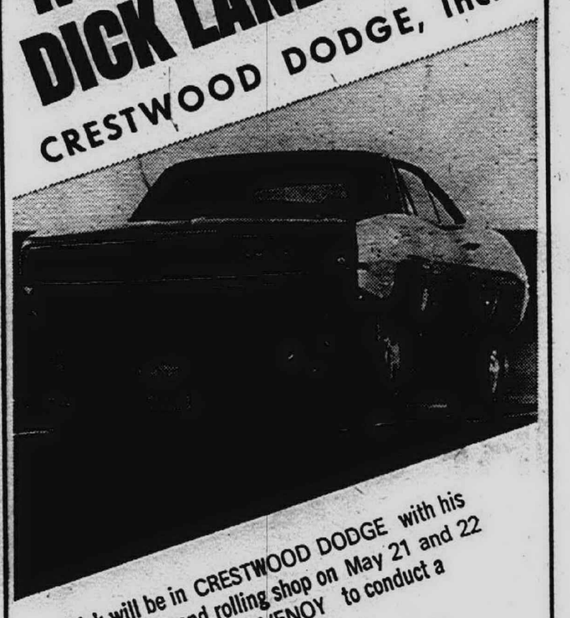

Doubles -- Carl Patterson--Bob Barr (T) def. Dave Bjurstrom-Mike Pastor, 10-2; Lee Harris-Ray Wawra (T) def. John Drougan-Rich Leebove, 10-8; Dave Kubitskey-Bill Marberg (NF) def. Brad Wilcosh-Phil Shishman, 10-1.

Archer Victor By 2 Strokes

New Orleans -- George Archer, who stands 6-6, captured first-place honors in the New Orleans Open with a 72-hole total of 271. It was worth a $20,000 jackpot for Archer.

Bert Yancey finished with 273 and collected $12,000. Miller Barber and Bob Cole tied at 276 for third place with John Lotz. Jack Nicklaus finished at 281.

COG Meets May 18

The General Assembly of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) will meet at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, May 18, in the Rackham Building, 100 Farnsworth, Detroit.

Both delegates and their alternates from the communities and school districts which have joined SEMCOG were urged by Chairman William Mainland, of Milford Township, to attend. Non-member communities were invited to send observers.

SEMCOG is a voluntary association of units of government in the seven counties of Southeast Michigan (Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, St. Clair, Livingston, Washtenaw and Monroe). Their purpose is to develop programs of cooperative action to cope with mutual problems.

At the May 18 meeting, members will elect four associate chairmen, consider amendments to by-laws and receive reports and recommendations relative to organization and operation, Mainland said.

SEMCOG was organized in January to fill the role of the disbanded Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission. Robert Turner, former city manager of Burbank, Calif., was named executive director and assumed this post April 1.

Functions of the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission are continuing as the Planning Division of SEMCOG.

Bennett's Not For Hubert

State Rep. John Bennett, D-Redford, hasn't made up his mind on a presidential candidate yet--but he's not enthusiastic about Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

His assessment of Sen. Robert Kennedy: "Strong points: imaginative man. . .magnetic personality. . .appeals to people . . . a man of program and progress, from the old Democratic tradition. . . Weak points: When he was the attorney general, he incurred the wrath of a lot of laboring people. . .this is unfortunate."

And his assessment of Sen. Eugene McCarthy: "Strong points: With the intellectuals of the country. . . he surprised me--I didn't think he was as strong as he is. . . he's getting a lot of crossover votes from the Republicans, who are disenchanted with Nixon and with Johnson war policies. He or Kennedy would make the best candidate."

"If we get Humphrey back in there, we'll be associated with the Johnson war policies, and he'll have to defend them, and I don't think he can."

Legal Defense Fund Sets May 17 Lunch

Elliot Lee Richardson, attorney general of Massachusetts, will be the principal speaker at a luncheon in Detroit May 17 sponsored by the Michigan Committee of the NAACP Legal Defense & Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF).

Richardson, a decorated U.S. Army veteran who served as acting secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare under President Eisenhower, will deliver his address in the Veterans' Memorial Building to an audience of major corporation and foundation executives.

As a sponsor of the New England Committee of LDF, he will brief the executives on the new directions and responsibilities taken by the Legal Defense and Educational Fund to remove causes of racial and economic unrest.

Richardson's visit to Detroit will coincide with the 14th anniversary of the celebrated ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court against school segregation (Brown V. Board of Education). LDF attorneys figured very prominently in the litigations that led to that decision and subsequent ones contributing to widespread school desegregation. In 1968 LDF is working on approximately 200 school segregation cases.

Increasingly, northern city ghettos have claimed the attention of LDF's 30 staff attorneys and 200 cooperating lawyers.

CONGRESSMAN Jack McDonald and his Republican pinata.

A Republican Pinata

WASHINGTON -- Congressman Jack McDonald has a new mascot in his office.

It's Mexican in origin, psychedelic in color, and Republican in meaning, he explains.

It's a pinata in the shape of an elephant. One of his office aides brought it back from a trip to San Francisco.

"The Mexican children get them at Christmastime," McDonald said. "They have all sorts of gifts inside, and the children break them open."

McDonald's pinata (pronounced "peen-YOT-ah") has bluish-green front legs, red-violet rear legs, an orange head, and green and white ears.

The 19th District freshman Republican lawmaker from Redford has the elephant--which just happens to be a symbol of the Grand Old Party--on a table in his new office in 1218 of the Longworth Building. (McDonald was previously two flights up in 1409 and made the shift a couple of weeks ago.)

Does this pinata bear gifts, too?

"Yes," says the congressman, with a political wink. "Republican gifts--like good government, prosperity, clean air, jobs..."

Oakland Hosts Plan Conference

Some 6,000 local government planning officials, realtors and other businessmen have been invited to an all-day conference on "Planning For People" May 23 at Oakland University, Rochester.

They will be addressed by 50 key men in planning, transportation, government, law, housing, urban renewal and natural resources.

Sponsors are the Oakland County Planning Commission and Oakland University's Division of Continuing Education.

About 400 persons have attended these conferences in the past, according to county Planning Director George N. Skrubb, and this is the fourth biennial planning conference since 1962.

* * *

OPENING THE program will be Farmington's Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

From 10 a.m. to noon, three concurrent workshops will be held--on metropolitan transportation in southeastern Michigan, on the new Plat Act and land subdivision, and on "human needs in the community."

Luncheon speaker will be Detroit Edison Co. President Edwin O. George.

* * *

CONCURRENT workshops lasting from 1:30 to 3 p.m. will cover unwanted byproducts of solid waste disposal, apartments and their impact on the community, and urban renewal.

A third set of workshops from 3:30 to 5 p.m. will cover regional planning, zoning laws, and "the inevitable loss of Oakland County's natural resources and open spaces.

Individuals may attend the conference by making reservations with Mrs. Dorothy Owen, Conference Department, Oakland University, Rochester, telephone 338-7211.

WARREN L. SMITH, of the University of Michigan economics department, has been named to President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisers. He will succeed the retiring James S. Duesenberry, who will return to Harvard July 1. Smith, 54, has been a U. of M. faculty member 15 years. He is the third Michigan man to be a presidential economic adviser--following Paul McCracken (Eisenhower) and Gardner Ackley (Kennedy-Johnson).

Coho Story On Film

A new color and sound film, telling Michigan's coho salmon story, is now available for showing around the state.

This narrated film is available free from the Conservation Department's film loan section in Lansing. The film runs 28 minutes.

Because there may be an extremely heavy demand for the film, groups should request reservations at least three weeks in advance

To reserve this film, write the Film Loan Section, Michigan Conservation Department, Mason Building, Lansing, 48926.

Schmidt Praises 'Sweat Equity' Bill

A "bold, new approach to equal opportunity for home ownership" is on its way through the Legislature, according to State Rep. Louis Schmidt, R-Livonia.

The "sweat equity" concept proposed by Gov. Romney is in the Senate after winning 84 to 1 House approval.

Schmidt explained:

* * *

"THIS PLAN would allow low-income persons to help build their homes instead of making a down payment. Under the 'sweat equity' plan, the State Housing Authority would start putting up three-bedroom houses for persons in the $5,000 and under income range.

"Many low-income families don't have individual homes because they can't afford a down payment. Therefore, instead of a down payment, the person buying the home would pledge to devote at least 500 hours in helping to build the house under supervision of trained builders.

"This is a tremendously exciting new direction that fits naturally into the progressive leadership of the Michigan Republican Party.

Democrat Hails Courts On Remap

Two recent court decisions on county and township government were hailed Saturday by 19th Congressional District Democratic Chairman Aldo Vagnozzi as "a major step in the restoration of effective citizen control over elected officials."

"The ruling of the Michigan Supreme Court ordering 'one man, one vote' representation on county boards of supervisors will make those bodies more responsive to the needs of the people of Wayne, Oakland and other counties," Vagnozzi told the Democratic legislative conference called in Redford Township by State Rep. John Bennett.

"No longer will we have large, unweildly bodies not responsible to the voters making decisions on how millions of tax dollars are to be spent.

"Oakland County Circuit Judge Beer's ruling requiring township officials to run for office this fall will restore to voters in those communities the opportunity to pass judgment on those officials and thus keep local government close to the people.

"The previous plan to give township officials a free ride of nearly two years to 1970 when they were elected for only two year terms in 1966 was not in the tradition of good government."

Vagnozzi noted that Democrats were responsible for both landmark decisions. "It was the Democratic 1965-66 Legislature which passed the state's first 'one man, one vote' law for county boards," he said.

"The decision requiring township officials to run this year came as a result of a law suit filed by three Waterford Township Democrats."

Democrats See Quiet Local Conventions

By TIM RICHARD

Democrats nationally may be fighting it out for Humphrey, Kennedy and McCarthy for president.

But in Michigan's county and district Democratic conventions next Friday, the emphasis will be on electing loyal party workers as delegates to the June 1-2 state convention in Detroit's Hall.

"We're trying to get a balanced delegation," said Aldo Vagnozzi, chairman of the 19th District-Oakland group, and his comment was typical.

Only Sen. Kennedy will be the subject of any political noise, according to advance information, and that one, in the 15th District, is likely to get nowhere.

* * *

IN SOME CASES, county-district conventions will send bigger delegations to the state convention than are eligible to attend the local meeting.

All the local Democratic conventions will be held the same evening--Friday, May 17--and all will pick delegates to the state convention, which in turn will send delegates to the national convention beginning Aug. 26 in Chicago, where Democrats will nominate the men whom they hope will be the next president and vice president of the U.S.

There is a strong probability that several Observerland Democrats will be going to the national convention as either delegates or alternates.

* * *

LOCAL CONVENTIONS can be bloody, but they rarely are. It's more commonly a situation where anyone who wants to go to the state convention will be elected.

Local delegates were elected from their precincts at the August 1966 primary and hold office for two years. Thus, Michigan began the process of picking the presidential candidates two years before the national convention.

Here is a rundown on the times and mechanics of the local conventions:

* * *

WAYNE 2nd District delegates will meet at 8 p.m. in the Plymouth Credit Union building, according to Chairman Robert Dwyer.

Only 14 precinct delegates will be attending--two from Northville Township, seven from Plymouth Township and five from the City of Plymouth.

They will elect 18 delegates and 18 alternates to split six votes at the state convention.

At the 2nd District caucus June 1, Dwyer said, the Wayne group will meet with Livingston County to nominate one delegate and one alternate for the national convention. Dwyer said he will be a candidate for one of the posts.

Dwyer added that resolutions will be offered on limiting campaign spending and on highway safety. It's unlikely, he added, that any effort will be made to pledge local delegates to a presidential candidate.

* * *

THE 15th DISTRICT Democrats from Garden City and Westland will meet Friday night at UAW Local 157 Union Hall in Inkster which is expected to be the site of a clash with supporters of Senator Robert Kennedy.

Westland's Gerald T. Harris, Western Wayne County coordinator for Kennedy's campaign, said Monday that his backers will "make some noise" at the district convention.

District Chairman John Canfield, Dearborn Heights mayor, is expected to support Vice President Hubert Humphrey, who has been endorsed by the district's Democratic Congressman, William D. Ford of Taylor.

So far, key leaders in the Garden City and Westland delegations have expressed opposition to the Kennedy candidacy and prefer Humphrey.

* * *

THE 19th DISTRICT-Wayne County group will meet at 8 p.m. in Shear School, 12895 Berwyn, Redford Township, according to Chairman Jerry Raymond.

Eligible to attend are a maximum of 92 precinct delegates --49 from Redford, 41 from Livonia, and two from the Wayne County part of the City of Northville.

They will elect 50 delegates and 50 alternates to the state convention.

The Wayne and Oakland 19th District groups will caucus as a group June 1 at 4 p.m. in Cobo Hall to nominate four delegates and four alternates to the national convention.

The Wayne County portion makes up about 40 per cent of the entire 19th Congressional District.

* * *

THE OAKLAND County portion of the 19th will meet jointly with the 18th District at 7 p.m. in the Board of Supervisors auditorium in Pontiac.

Then, said 19th Chairman Vagnozzi, they will meet separately to conduct their district conventions.

Altogether, there are 138 precincts in the Oakland-19th. Those who attend will pick 73 delegates and 73 alternates to the state convention.

HHH, RFK Court State's 96 Dem Convention Votes

Michigan Democrats juggled their 96 convention votes like hot pennies today after getting a whirlwind look at two presidential candidates in Detroit and Lansing.

The party is still divided among Senator Robert F. Kennedy, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Senator Eugene McCarthy.

But the division is under the surface as all segments observe the Play-It-Cool official policy of the state party organization.

* * *

HUMPHREY APPEARED in Michigan Tuesday for the first time since President Johnson's withdrawal as a candidate for re-election and his own announcement that he would try for all the marbles.

A number of Democratic congressmen from Michigan greeted him at both Lansing and Detroit.

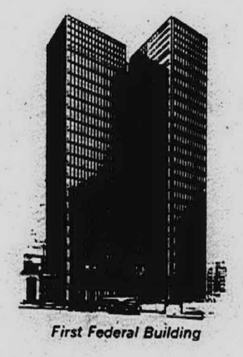

Michigan Democrats will go to Chicago for the national convention with 96 votes and 100 delegates. National Committeeman Neil Staebler and National Committeewoman Mildred Jeffreys will have the only full votes, with the others each having 94/100 of a vote.

* * *

KENNEDY, WHO had visited Lansing several weeks ago to talk with delegates, whizzed into Detroit at 11:30 a.m. today and headed for a rally and a speech in Kennedy Square in the center of the downtown area.

Later, he went to a reception for precinct delegates at the Sheraton-Cadillac and met with Kennedy For President and other party leaders.

Party sources said they were uncertain whether McCarthy plans another swing into Michigan.

F'ton-Born Writer Does Mitch's P.R.

Someone once wrote, as a matter of fact it was Russell Lee Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lawrence Kolar, 21027 Renselaer, Farmington, that, "Benjamin Franklin was a many-sided character." It appears that Lawrence's observation of the American statesman is analagous with his own career.

Since moving from Farmington, some eight years ago, the 26-year-old bachelor has worn the hats of a medical corpsman with the U.S. Navy in Japan, newspaper reporter, public relations advisor, male model, Broadway press agent and free lance writer.

* * *

"IN HIGH SCHOOL I didn't express much interest in writing," Lawrence recalls. "I was active in school plays, forensics and one year served as track coach while at Clarenceville High." He was the 1958 recipient of the American Legion's School Award for 'Distinguished Service' presented by the Groves-Walker Post, Department of Michigan, American Legion.

"My interest in the theatre came from two years work as an apprentice with Music Circle Theatre which operated on the grounds of Botsford Inn," Lawrence said. In addition he made several appearances on WXYZ-TV's "Juvenile Court" and was a regular on Mickey Shor's "Saturday Dance Party" at the same station.

"Following my father's death in 1958 I joined the Navy and served throughout the Far East," he reported on a recent visit to his hometown. "My last duty station was Philadelphia where I had made many friends and had become attached to the city, so I decided to settle there when I was discharged."

Lawrence began his journalism career as an editorial research assistant with the Philadelphia Inquirer three weeks after his discharge from the Navy. Soon he was writing for the newspaper's Sunday Magazine supplement. "I hadn't any formal training in writing up to that point," he recalls, "so I studied creative writing in the evenings with the magazine's assistant editor."

* * *

EVENTUALLY he left the paper and took a position with the Southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter, American Red Cross as Assistant Public Information Officer. Within 14 months he headed out on his own as a free lance writer and theatre publicist.

"One of my first jobs was handling some publicity for 'Golden Rainbow' the musical starring Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme," Lawrence said.

Additionally he wrote feature articles for some 20 publications across the country. As a regular contributor to Writer's Digest, the nation's largest circulated writer's publication, Lawrence has interviewed the nation's top writers --a list that includes James Michener, Pearl Buck, Arthur Miller, Tennessee Williams, Harry Golden, Cleveland Amory and Broadway playwrights Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee.

* * *

MOST RECENTLY he was summoned to Broadway by singalong impresario Mitch Miller who was making his debut as a producer. Lawrence served as press representative for the short-lived musical "Here's Where I Belong," based on John Steinbeck's "East of Eden."

In his spare time he attends the theatre and opera, enjoys reading historical novels and is an amateur genealogist with two family histories to his credit. Lawrence has also worked as a male model and prior to his recent visit to Farmington completed his first television commercial. Another field into which he has recently entered is booking talent and serving as publicity advisor.

Casting is complete and rehearsals are in progress for the Parkway Junior Players' "Musical Melodrama" to play at 8 p.m. May 23-25 in Nankin Mills Elementary School, Hubbard and Ann Arbor Trail.

The production culminates a year of workshop study by player members aged six through 17.

Cast members include Bertram B. Brimstone played by Lance Arp; Nell Lovejoy, Pamela Yuhas; Johnathan Pureheart, Wayne Sayre; Gertrude Gotabuck, Nina Truchan; Ma Lovejoy, Pat Knowles; Pa Lovejoy, Craig Werner.

More are Pat Rice and Alan Brooker as the boarders; Jo Anne Yuhas, Dorinda Meek; Sue Ambers, Mrs. Butsum; Joan Rickelman, Mrs. Pennyworth; Terry Charlesworth, Lucinda Pennyworth; Cindy Blaine, Claudette; Vicki Zabrowski, Dora Webster; Rick Mullins, the Rev. McBain; Nancy Burgin, Sue; Barbara Sellinger, Cindy; John Cox, Jeb; and Jim Yuhas, telegram boy.

Bob Chelikis is the junior producer, Denice Herron the junior director, Pat Cawley, prompter, and John Cox, stage manager.

Tickets may be obtained by calling Mrs. Vasser, GA 7-4448. Information regarding players membership may be obtained from Mrs. Peg Knowles, 421-4808, or Mrs. Georgean Yuhas, GA 2-5054, the producer-directors.

U-D Dates Auditions

Auditions for two University of Detroit Summer Theatre Festival shows will be held at 7:30 p.m. May 23 and 24 in the U. of D. Theatre in the library on the McNichols campus.

Tryouts for roles in "Fantasticks" and Jean Anouilh's farce, "Thieves' Carnival" will be heard by James Rodgers, theatre chairman; Dominic Missimi, director; and the Rev. James Caine, producer.

The two plays will be presented in repertory Thursday through Sunday, July 11-14, July 18-21, and Monday through Sunday, July 22-28. They will be given in-the-round in the Memorial Building.

Auditions are open to all. For further information call, 343-1000, ext. 207 or 339.

Glick's Goblets Take Prizes

Ceramic art works by Farmington's John Parker Glick are going far afield from the potter's studio, Plum Tree Pottery, 30435 10 Mile Rd.

The potter is currently represented in two exhibitions, the Great Fall River Art Association's annual national show, Fall River, Mass., and the Distinquished Alumni Exhibition at Wayne State University.

A set of wine goblets designed and executed by Glick took first prize in ceramics in the Fall River showing and also took a first in the recent Mississippi Arts Festival.

Work by Glick can be seen in many public and private collections, including those of the Detroit Institute of Arts, Kranert Art Museum, University of Michigan, South Bend Art Association and Ceramics Magazine.

ARTIST AT WORK — Farmington's John Parker Glick is a study in concentration as he creates one of his art works in his Plum Tree Pottery, 30435 10 Mile Road.

Art Critic Sets Talk

Harold Rosenberg, one of Manhattan's most articulate art critics, will discuss "The New University-Trained Artist" at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, May 16, in the Community Arts Auditorium, Wayne State University.

The Friends of Modern Art of the Founders Society Detroit Institute of Arts are offering this event as their tribute to the Wayne State University Centennial. The lecture is open to the public without charge and is part of a three-day symposium, May 15-17, on "The City of Man: The University and Urban Culture."

The New Yorker magazine critic has written "The Tradition of the New," "Arshile Gorky," and "The Anxious Object." Currently at the University of Chicago, Rosenberg has participated in the Christian Gauss Seminar at Princeton University, the Baldwin Seminar at Oberlin and was Regents Lecturer at the University of California.

'Young Abe' Takes Stage

The Detroit Children's Theatre will close its season with "Young Abe Lincoln," a lively chapter of American history set to music, with performances at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. May 25.

Fast-moving scenes, a professional cast and nine appealing songs in the production catch the tempo of Lincoln's youthful days in backwoods New Salem, Ill., as he splits rails, fails in the grocery business, wrestles Jack Armstrong, courts Ann Rutledge and leads the militia off to fight the Black Hawk Indians.

The book for the musical production was written by Richard N. Bernstein and John Allen. Victor Ziskin supplied the original score and Joan Javits and Arnold Sundgaard contributed a special dialogue and lyrics.

General admission is $1.25 (groups of 10 or more, $1 each). Tickets are at the Detroit Institute of Arts ticket office (832-2730), J.L. Hudson's and Grinnell's. Children under 12 years must be accompanied by an adult.

ON STAGE — David Frank (left) will appear as Young Martin in the Wayne State University production of "The Royal Hunt of the Sun" opening May 17. A graduate of North Farmington High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin of 5231 Cold Spring, Birmingham. Martin Molson (right) has been cast as Pizarro in Peter Shaffer's drama of the Spanish conquest.

'CURTAIN GOING UP

"The Fox", an up-dated motion picture version of the classic D. H. Lawrence tale of unnatural love, has been causing controversy during its theatrical run.

Some members of the audience who have read the original story complain bitterly that Sandy Dennis and Anne Heywood who play the two women caught in the throes of Lesbianism are too young and attractive. In D. H. Lawrence's original the two women are aging spinsters.

Hollywood has a habit of modernizing the old classics to the point where sometimes the storyline wanders too far away from the intent of the author. In "The Fox" two such lovely ladies seem far too genteel to be running a farm and putting up with the hardships of a Vermont winter.

The nude scenes are done tastefully. Nudity on the screen is becoming an accepted matter now. Old Wally can remember the day when a partially exposed bosom was enough to keep a poor movie like "The Outlaw" running long past its true worth. Jane Russell, never a competent actress, gained more mileage out of her natural charms than she did out of her acting ability.

Kier Dullea as the wayward hunter in "The Fox" plays his role stoically. Whether playing the lone astronaut in "Space Odessy" or the helpful farm hand, Dullea turns in a top performance.

* * *

WHAT WAS D. H. Lawrence trying to say in "The Fox"? What was the symbolism? Or was there really any at all?

Was he trying to tell us about the predatory nature of man and how he savagely must conquer woman? Or was "The Fox" a wry commentary on the mixed-up nature of mankind? Are we truly so lonely, so basically insecure that we will accept the abnormal love of Lesbianism as a substitute for heterosexual activity?

"The Fox" has been breaking all attendance records at the La Parisiene so it must be the type of picture you discuss or "cuss" with your friends. The intimate, cozy atmosphere of the La Parisien gives "The Fox" an added dimension that could weigh against it in larger movie palaces.

* * *

"THE ROYAL HUNT of The Sun" opens May 17 at the Bonstelle Theater for a two weekend run. "Royal Hunt" is one of Old Wally's favorite plays. You'll recall that a few seasons back we reported on this powerful drama after one of our Broadway visitations.

"Royal Hunt" pursues two themes: the insatiable curiosity of man to pierce the curtain of divinity and his monumental passion for materialistic gain.

Pizzarro finds the lands of the Incas, but more important he finds someone who believes in another way of life. The local ruler feels he is immortal and he a direct descendant from the Sun. The conflict provides a plethora of dramatic sparks.

If you get a chance, take time to see "The Royal Hunt of The Sun," you'll find it is an absorbing evening in the theater.

Cranbrook Auction Set

The annual auction of art works by students of the Cranbrook Academy of Art will be held Saturday, May 18, in the galleries of Cranbrook Academy of Art, 500 Lone Pine Rd., Bloomfield Hills. Art objects may be previewed at 6:30 p.m.; the auction will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Again this year, Detroit auctioneer Laurence Dumouchelle has donated his services and will offer paintings, small sculptures, glazed ceramic pieces, bowls, plates, pillows, stoles, scarves, blankets, rugs, rings, prints, lithographs, drawings and water colors.

All proceeds from the auction are used for student-sponsored scholarships.

A LITTLE GENTLE COAXING can help plants survive, say the makers of Edmont-Wilson gloves, which can help you protect your hands when working in the garden. Follow some "rules-of-the-green-thumb" — such as not planting seeds too deeply — and you may find that you have the secret of good gardening in the palm of your hand.

Beware Of Shotgun Use Of Fertilizers

Whether you're mini-planting a window box or farming the biggest garden since Eden, green-thumb tactics will help you win the crabgrass confrontation and the war of the roses.

The field manual of do's and don'ts covers the ground from lawn layout to seed spacing, from fertilizer formula to pruning prudence.

Take this study-in-depth: an inch of soil is plenty for topping off most seeds, and smaller ones need no more than a bare cover-up. Deeper burial will retard germination.

* * *

AS FOR FERTILIZERS, beware the shotgun approach. The element that produces splendor in the grass may cause bleeding-heartburn in your flowerbeds. Nitrogen, for instance, builds strong stems and leaves--but in excess, at the expense of fruit and flowers. However, if it's the leaf you're after (as in lettuce, spinach or cabbage), you can be more open-handed with the nitrogen supply.

For most flowers and such vegetables as beans, squash and tomatoes, the best bet is a high-phosphorus formula.

The amount of fertilizer a garden needs depends on the soil composition. Most state colleges are equipped for soil analysis, but there is one basic rule-of-thumb: too much fertilizer can kill plants by dehydrating the rootlets.

In general, four pounds of a commercial mix per 100 square feet will do for daffodils, tulips, hyacinths and similar bulbous plants. For lawns, the amount per 1,000 square feet ranges from 40 to 80 pounds, depending on soil fertility.

The tricks of transplanting start with the lesson that it's impossible to dig up a tree or shrub without some root injury. The secret is to trench around the plant far enough out to keep down the damage. The size of the magic circle varies, but for deciduous plants the minimum radius is equal to the widest-spreading branch.

Evergreens can usually be worked closer to the stem and levered out with the root-encasing ball of earth intact. If the protective soil tends to fall away from the roots, it can be bundled in place with burlap.

* * *

WHILE YOU'RE PAMPERING your plants, don't neglect the man with the hoe--yourself. There are no purple heart awards for garden gallantry. Old hands know, for instance, that the right kind of gloves are sure-fire armor against a battle-scarred green thumb.

Experts at a leading glove manufacturer point out that the gardening gauntlet you pick up depends on the challenge. A vinyl-impregnated, dirt-repellant cotton glove that launders without shrinking is the hands-down all-purpose favorite.

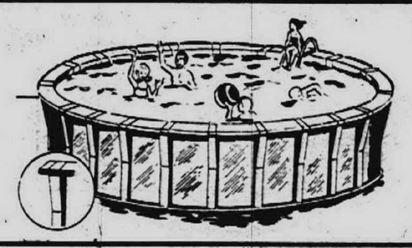

But for liquid-fertilizer handling and other extra-grubby chores, something like the throwaway-priced Ambi disposable is in order.

* * *

NEXT TO THE HANDS, the head is probably the summer gardener's most vulnerable spot. Skin specialists warn that it's wise to take the early-season sun in small doses until your protective tan blooms.

Until then, and even afterwards, a suntan lotion and a broad-brimmed hat are standard armor against overexposure.

YELLOWING EVERGREENS
TURN HEALTHY GREEN FAST

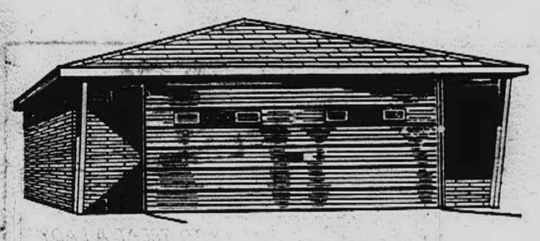

5 EVERGREENS worth $250 . . . with $1 worth of MIRACID!
Contains Miracle CHELATED IRON — releases "locked up" nutrients
"Yellow anemia" (Chlorosis) is a dangerous killer! It is caused by improper soil acidity or serious iron deficiency. Instant-action MIRACID stops "yellow anemia" almost overnight!
MIRACID MAKES THIS DIFFERENCE
UNTREATED leaf shows signs of "Yellow Anemia" (Chlorosis). This is a danger signal.
TREATED with MIRACID. Uniform rich green color shows that this is a healthy, plant.
WHY MOST FOUNDATION PLANTS NEED MIRACID
Chemical lime from concrete foundation continuously leaches into soil, making it unsuitable for evergreens, causes destructive "yellow anemia". MIRACID ironizes soil quickly, releases locked-up nutrients, produces proper soil chemistry for evergreens. Adds new vigor fast! See results in 7 days!

WHY THE CARPENTERS' STRIKE?

To the public and especially Detroit Area Carpenters and their families.

The two primary problems standing in the way of an agreement between the Employers and the Carpenters' Union are:

1. The money demands.
2. The length of the work week.

Below is a comparison of the Employers' Proposals and the Union Demands.

AS TO THE MONEY DEMANDS

CARPENTER EMPLOYERS' PROPOSAL
Including vacation, holiday, pension and insurance based on proposed normal 40-hour work week.
Increase—$58.06

CARPENTERS' UNION DEMANDS
Including vacation, holiday, pension and insurance based on present reduced 35-hour work week.
Increase—$100.73

per week spread over a two-year contract
Present weekly wage — $208.86

AS TO THE WORK WEEK

The Employer offer is predicated on a return to a normal 40-hour week. The Carpenter Employers believe the carpenter should remain in a position of equal earning power with the other construction trades. In order to do so, the carpenter should return to the normal 40-hour work week which all but one other of the eighteen building trades are currently working.

SUMMARY

These facts have been presented in the hope that we have dispelled any misunderstanding or other interpretation of the situation as it now exists.

Tool House Can Hide That Clutter

Just the thing to do away with that clutter of flower pots and garden tools around the back door or in the garage is a tool house set toward the rear of the lot.

Building one can be a highly satisfying project for the inexperienced do-it-yourselfer, because its appearance won't suffer greatly from a little mediocre workmanship here and there.

And the instant convenience produced by the tool house will make any weekend carpenter proud.

* * *

DON'T WORRY about trying to match the tool house exterior to that of the home. Usually, it can be treated as strictly a garden structure. With planting beds added around it, the tool house relates strongly to the garden scene, and will look more permanent, less shed-like.

A flat roof is easiest to build. But the boxy appearance can be minimized by extending the roof joists forward to form an arbor for climbers like wisteria or clematis.

Roof joists need be no larger than 2x4s. Posts and crossbeam supporting the arbor should be 4x4s. Extending the roof surface to form a 12-inch-deep overhang on all sides helps protect the structure.

* * *

SIDING FOR the garden house can be one or a mixture of wood products, such as rough-sawn plywood or lumber, or the newly-popular cedar shingles.

The entire unit can be stained or left to weather naturally. Either assures minimum maintenance, but, if stain is used, it should be the semi-transparent type labeled "exterior grade."

Letting the structure weather eliminates finishing costs and, in appearance, is simply great with plantings.

A 6x6-foot size is the minimum for storage, and might be the easiest to roof with plywood panels. But an 8x8-footer will serve and look much better, even allowing space for a small workbench. The bench should have a window for light, and a stock wood unit will blend best with the wood siding.

IN THE LARGER size, the tool house also becomes a prime stashing spot for deck furniture in winter, and for snow tires and the like in summer.

Plans and materials list for an 8x8-foot storage unit as described may be obtained by sending 15 cents to: H-I Tool House, 700 Yeon Bldg., Portland, Ore., 97204.

Flower Show Set Sunday In Detroit

The greatest display of annual and perennial flowering plants ever gathered in the Detroit area will be exhibited at the Eastern Farmers' Market, (Vernor and Gratiot, Detroit) on Sunday, May 19. Over 100,000 plants in bloom will be on display.

Everyone is invited to come and see these flowers that can be grown around their home. The Detroit area is the largest producer of these types of flowers and offers excellent values to the homeowner in beautifying his home.

All plants are labeled and experts will be on hand to advise as to the best plants to use in sun and shade. An excellent opportunity exists for camera fans to obtain pictures of flowers.

This event, the second annual "Flower Day at the Eastern Farmers' Market," is cosponsored by the Metropolitan Detroit Flower Growers Association and the City of Detroit Bureau of Markets.

Shingles Sturdy

A well-laid red cedar shingle roof can withstand hurricane force winds, which often reach gusts of 120 miles an hour. The University of Wichita's wind tunnel tested a shingle roof up to 136 miles an hour without dislodging it.

Garage Can Be Converted

One of the most practical ways to add living space to a house is to convert an attached garage.

The basic structure is already there, and the finishing work can be done economically with wall, ceiling and floor materials that the home craftsman can handle readily.

The biggest problem may appear to be how to replace the unsightly garage door. But stock wood windows of ponderosa pine will solve that one.

A wide choice of attractive styles -- double-hungs, casements, bows and bays, sliders, awnings and hoppers, which combine view and ventilation --are available from lumber dealers.

If a door is needed, choose a style that matches the house design. Ponderosa pine panel doors and complete entrances are carried in many stock sizes and styles. They're chemically-treated against weather abuse.

For interior walls, wood paneling with stain or natural finishes is offered in unbelievable variety. Compare types carefully to help you choose one that is genuine and warm.

Floor Renewal Easy

Oak flooring is easily applied over old surfaces. Nail strip style oak right over old wood flooring. And oak in the handsome unit-block style can be nailed to wood or laid in mastic over any hard surface.

To repair shower leaks, apply a clear epoxy coating to the shower floor and six inches up the walls. The epoxy should be the type used for waterproofing basements.

Tips For Gardeners

If you had trouble in your last year's garden with the diseases called aster "yellows" or aster "wilt", there are several things you can do to prevent trouble this year.

The first is to plant aster seeds where no asters have been grown before. The second is to buy seeds of a wilt-resistant variety (stated in catalog and on packet).

The third is to spray the asters with Sevin once a week to kill the leaf hoppers which spread aster yellows from one plant to another.

* * *

Do you know that there is a bi-color corn with some kernels yellow and some white?

One variety is named Butter and Sugar; is of super eating quality. Just think how this corn will confuse your neighbors!

* * *

Failures with zinnias, one of the easiest flowers to grow, are almost always due to sowing the seeds too early.

Zinnia seeds rot when soil is cool and damp. Wait until soil is warm, then sow the seeds where the flowers are to bloom, thinning later and transplanting the thinned plants if you wish.

* * *

Stuffing children with vitamins is easy--just grow a few plants of the small-fruited tomatoes: Red Cherry, Red Pear, Yellow Pear, Yellow Plum. The youngsters simply cannot resist popping the little fruits in their mouths and down go the vitamins.

* * *

Those dome-shaped paper caps or their larger sized counterparts are the perfect covers for seeds of early crops.

A pinch of cabbage seeds scattered over an area small enough to be covered by 1 cap, then covered, will produce transplanting-size seedlings promptly.

Set a cap over each plant after transplanting and hurry the crop along.

* * *

If you had a planting of sweet alyssum in your garden last year, gently remove the brown-ed skeletons of last year's plants and don't disturb the soil underneath.

Chances are excellent that this annual has self-seeded and that soon innumerable seedlings will sprout to bloom in the same place.

Good Vegetable Garden Needs A Space Plan

HOME LANDSCAPING: Anything you do to enhance the front of your home is like putting in the bank. Your home is your castle! A few well placed shrubs around the foundation of your home is a lot better than trying to grow a botanical collection which soon grows up into a jungle. Roughly speaking, you want to put the tallest plants on the corners to soften them. Under windows put the low growing or spreading types so they won't obstruct the view.

Just what constitutes "good landscaping" is a matter of opinion. Some like to have an irregular skyline effect with their planting, while others like to plant bushes all the same height for the "hedge" effect. To me, that irregular skyline effect is good.

One common mistake is to plant shrubs of all one color or variety. Try to select different kinds of shrubs so that you get different color flowers, and heights that vary. No planting should be overdone. All you want is just enough shrubs to take away that bare look, something that will soften the appearance of the base structure.

* * *

FREE: Want a good guide to help you landscape your home? Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for my illustrated bulletin, How To Landscape Your Own Home.

My guide is packed full of helpful hints for those who want to dress up their own home. It lists vines, shrubs of various heights, hedges, shrubs for birds, and countless other tips. You'll need this helpful bulletin if you want to dress up your home.

* * *

A GOOD ANNUAL: If you want a satisfactory background flower, one which furnishes cut flowers right up until frost, then grow the cosmos. An all-America winner is Sunset, with 2 inch semi-double flowers of flaming golden yellow overlaid with scarlet.

The old-fashioned ones are still good. You can get them in a mixture of pink, white and red. Sow the seed directly in the ground or start plants indoors and then set them out when the ground is warm.

* * *

A GOOD CUCUMBER: A good scab and mosaic-resistant cucumber for the home garden is Tablegreen. Another good one we like is the Saticoy, a hybrid with extra fine flesh. This hybrid costs a little more than standard types but is worth it.

* * *

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: A reader writes: "We set out some blueberry plants a year ago. What care do they need?

Answer: Mulch them with sawdust or peatmoss. Add a little fertilizer to the base of the plants now, and use a couple handfuls of aluminum sulfate around each plant to increase the acidity. Acid soils are essential for blueberries and they do better if the plants are mulched rather than cultivated.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: "Is there anything we can use to stop the grass from growing between bricks and stones in our walk? I pull them out but every year they grow back in."

There's nothing which will permanently keep weeds or grass from growing between bricks having spaces between them. You can apply a weed-killer as a drench, right over the bricks. Some use borax, salt, while others take a small torch and singe the grass off.

One gardener swabs gasoline over the weeds and this kills them. Kerosene is probably much safer. Why not let the grass grow between the stones or bricks? We have a flat stone sidewalk and I purposely placed strips of sod between the stones. The strip of green is attractive and can be kept in bounds by running the lawn mower directly over it.

"Every year deer used to eat our corn, and even the coons got to be a problem. We solved it by using an electric light bulb in the garden. We ran a heavy duty extension cord from the kitchen to the garden and at the end we plugged in an electric light blub (50 watt is large enough).

"Be sure to wrap each connection with plastic tape to keep out the rain. The light keeps out deer and we haven't had any trouble with animals, thanks to the light bulbs burning at night."

* * *

"Every year we grow asters, but lately we've had bad luck with them. They grow about a foot high, start to blossom or bud out and then get a yellow disease. What can be done this year?"

Home grown vegetables are sweet and tender--the best ones of all--and growing them can be a source of pleasure and recreation for the gardener.

Choose varieties that the family will enjoy eating, add a few unusual kinds for a gourmet treat, and your vegetables will be sure to win praise and compliments.

Choose a spot for the garden that gets full sun. Vegetables just will not grow in the shade.

A plot 40 feet by 60 feet will supply all the vegetables that a family of six can eat with plenty to share with friends or to put in the freezer. Even a tiny plot a few feet square can be used for a salad garden.

* * *

IT IS A GOOD idea to list the vegetables you plan to grow and the space requirements for each kind, and then make a little plan on paper so that you will be able to make the most efficient use of the space you have available.

Melons, squash and cucumbers need the most space. Allow three to five feet in each direction for the vines to spread.

Tomatoes which are staked need two feet between the plants and three feet between rows. If they are not staked, allow three or more in each direction for them to sprawl.

Corn should be planted so the plants are a foot apart and the rows are 2 1/2 feet apart.

Radishes, leaf lettuce, green onions, swiss chard, spinach, peas, carrots and beets can be planted in rows 12 to 18 inches apart.

Cabbage, brocolli, cauliflower, and most other vegetables are set two to three feet apart.

* * *

FOR EASY CARE, group the vegetables that need the same kind of pest control. This system groups cabbage, brocolli, brussel sprouts and cauliflower. Eggplant, peppers, potatoes, and tomatoes are in another group. The vine crops such as melons and cucumbers make another category.

Practice crop rotation and plant the different kinds of vegetables in a different part of the vegetable garden each year as different vegetables use varying amounts of the nutrients in the soil.

Use well-rotted manure or compost to enrich the soil. Work it in well.

Use commercial fertilizers as a supplement Nitrogen promotes leaf and stem growth. Phosphorous aids root growth and hastens maturity. Potash makes the plants sturdy and disease resistant.

One hundred pounds of complete fertilizer is an ample amount for a garden of 2,500 square feet. (50 x 50).

* * *

FOR THE BEST vegetables, plan to water during dry spells but do not over water.

Water thoroughly but not too often, and avoid handling the vegetables or plants when they are wet or diseases may be spread. Cultivate with a hoe or wheel cultivator to keep weeds down, and after a rain to stir up the top layer of soil.

Some of this cultivating can be eliminated by using a mulch or black plastic strips. Water will be conserved and weeds will be eliminated.

New Door Can Give House Personality

Are you tired of your dull old front door? You can change its whole personality by simply replacing it with a new entrance.

Complete stock units made of ponderosa pine are available from lumber dealers. These units include a panel door with sidelights, fanlights, overhead pediments or other decorative features of your choice.

They come in a variety of beautiful styles, from colonial to contemporary, and sizes to fit almost any entrance. Double-door entries, with a variety of panel door effects give twice the dramatic impact.

Famous University reports —

"Use of Miracle-Gro increased the general vigor of rose plants considerably, with many more stronger, longer shoots and branches, much more and greener foliage, as well as double to triple the number of more beautiful blooms."

University test proves 30-second "instant action" in 5-ft. rose bush

Famous University scientists added tiny quantities of radioactive tracers to test solution of Miracle-Gro. They then applied this solution to the roots of a 5-foot rose bush. Within 30 seconds, Geiger counter registered definite activity at top of bush—proof of how fast Miracle-Gro works.

Symphony To Play InChurch

The Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit has just given permission for the Detroit Symphony to play a concert May 16 from the altar of Sacred Heart Church in nearby Dearborn.

This will be the first time a major American Symphony Orchestra has appeared at the altar and sanctuary of a church.

A group of private citizens from Dearborn, all members of this church, who call themselves "33 for the Symphony," is sponsoring the project. One concert will be held for the children of the parish at 2 p.m. Another will be held for adult parishioners at 8 p.m. These concerts will be conducted by the Symphony's associate conductor, Valter Poole, and will consist of standard symphony repertory including Beethoven's 4th Symphony.

As many members of the Symphony as will fit in the sanctuary, at least more than 50, will play. The sanctuary and altar are large with a huge suspended crucifix as a dominate focal point. The church seats about 1,000.

LWV Gives Book On Cities To Human Relations Group

A new book on American cities, prepared for the League of Women Voters in the United States, has been presented by the Livonia LWV to the Livonia Human Relations Commission.

The Rev. Carl Gundersen, commission president, received the book from Mrs. Mary Lou Lively, local LWV human resource chairman.

Titled "Crisis: The Condition of the American City" the book was prepared by Urban America, Inc.

* * *

THE PENETRATING analysis of the city today comes off the press at a particularly crucial time--just following the President's urgent message to Congress calling for extensive legislative action if the nation's cities are to be saved in their struggle for survival.

"The city will not be transformed," the President emphasized in his message, "until the lives of the least among its dwellers are changed as well."

What are these changes that are so desperately needed? What has happened over the years to create the blight, the despair, and the poverty-in-the-midst-of-plenty that characterize the slum-ghetto? Is it too late to make our cities desirable places to live in, rather than to escape from?

"Crisis: The Condition of the American City" reviews what has happened to our centers of population over the past half century, analyzes possible new directions they may take--even discusses forthrightly such controversial words as "planning" and "control."

* * *

THE LEAGUE of Women Voters points out that this book was written to contribute to constructive dialogue between all Americans--including those now trapped in the nation's ghettos--dialogue that will hopefully lead the way to the solution of the many problems now besetting our cities.

Copies of this 64-page book may be ordered from the League of Women Voters of the United States, 1200 17th Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036, or from Mrs. Doris Sears, 11037 Blackburn, Livonia 48150, for $1 each (prepaid).

RESOURCE MATERIAL — The Rev. Carl Gundersen, minister of St. Timothy Presbyterian Church and chairman of the Livonia Human Relations Council, receives a book on the crisis in American cities from Mrs. Mary Lou Lively of the Livonia League of Women Voters.

Tom Dooley Foundation To Receive $500

A check for $500 to be used toward a medical boat on the Mekong River will be presented Saturday, May 18, to the Dr. Thomas A. Dooley Foundation by the local Knights of Columbus group that bears the famous missionary's name.

The presentation will be made following a Ladies' Night buffet dinner at the K. of C. Council Hall on Haller at Joy Road, Livonia.

The Dr. Thomas A. Dooley Council of K. of C. Council 5492 will turn over the money to Mrs. Elmer Keidel, president of the Dooley Foundation's Tri-County chapter.

The proposed medical boat is to be used in Laos, and it is the hope of local backers that it will be named "The State of Michigan."

Concert Set

The choirs of Southfield Community Church, at 21122 Indian, will present the annual Spring Concert Sunday evening, May 19, at 7 p.m.

Loretto Plans Sale Of Plants

The Divine Child Circle of Our Lady of Loretto parish, Beech and Six Mile, Redford Township, will sponsor a garden plant sale Sunday, May 19, at the church. The sale will begin at 8:30 a.m.

Garden favorites such as petunia, snapdragon, chrysanthemum, aster and salvia will be featured, along with tomato plants. Sales will be made by carton and flat.

JERRY SMITH

DIRECTS CHURCH Concert - Jerry Smith, director of music at Redford Baptist Church, will be in charge of a combined choirs concert at 6 p.m. Sunday, May 19, in the church located at Grand River and Seven Mile, Redford Township.

Assisting him will be Mrs. Marjory McIntosh, junior choir director. The public is invited.

U-U's To Stage May 19 Convocation Of Concern

Members of the Universalist-Unitarian Church of Farmington will join other U-U's in the Detroit area in a convocation of concern for racial and social problems planned Sunday, May 19, in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium.

The program includes a worship service, at 10:30 a.m. and afternoon caucuses in the McGregor Institute and the Wayne State University law school building.

Robert M. Eddy, minister of the Farmington church, is president of the U-U Council of Michigan, which is heading the convocation, and several members of the local congregation will take active roles.

* * *

MRS. PATRICIA MORRILL, of Livonia, will be in charge of special programs for children aged kindergarten to third grade, and Mrs. Carol Mytnik, of Farmington, is arranging a special afternoon session for junior highs. Programs enabling youngsters in fourth, fifth and sixth grades also are being set up.

Eddy said up to 1,200 are expected to participate, and added:

"The death of Martin Luther King made most of us aware of how very, very late it is to do whatever it is we must do. It is to discover what we religious liberals might do that we have planned this unique convocation."

* * *

WAYS AND MEANS will be studied for concerned Unitarian Universalists to act constructively to help alleviate the problems facing our cities.

Continuing committees will be set up to carry forward the plans formulated in the caucuses.

The areas to be studied include: The establishment of a Unitarian Universalist "Freedom House" or store-front church in the ghetto, serviced by a black minister; the inequities in tax support in poor and affluent school districts; a metropolitan program that would equalize cultural opportunities for black and white children; the improvement of communication between the races relating to black power and self-determination; the structuring of a help format for crisis situations; and the mobilizing and training of activists within the denomination.

The Unitarian Universalist denomination - -predominantly white and small in numbers--has an historical background in the fight for human dignity and justice for all colors and races, dating back to the abolitionist movement a century ago when Unitarians and Universalists were actively involved in rescuing fugitive slaves.

Other participating churches and fellowships are Ann Arbor, Birmingham, Downriver, First Church of Detroit, Flint, Grosse Pointe, Emerson Society in Royal Oak, Macomb Fellowship in Utica, and Northwest Church in Southfield. Both ministers and key lay people from all the churches and fellowships will be involved.

Felicians Set Music Fest

A "music fest" will be held by the Felician Sisters Musical Curriculum Committee at 1 and 3 p.m. Saturday in St. Michael's school gym in Livonia.

Performing at the 1 p.m. show will be fifth graders in the St. Dunstan school, Garden City; sixth graders from Lady of Mt. Carmel; seventh and eighth graders from St. Michael; second, third and fourth graders at Corpus Christi school; and the Lady of Mt. Carmel band.

In the 3 p.m. show, participants will include third graders at St. Michael; first graders at St. Valentine; fifth graders at St. Louis the King; first graders at St. Damian; third graders at St. Dunstan, and the Lady Mt. Carmel Band.

Negro Wants Full Rights & YWCA Symposium Told

"The Negro in America wants everything that the white American has taken for granted for hundreds of years. He wants nothing more, but will accept nothing less."

Those were the words Mrs. Vivian Pope, of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission, used in her talk during a recent Western Wayne County symposium, Suburbia at the Crossroads, Flight or Promise.

Mrs. Pope, one of four leaders taking part in the discussion, said there seems to be a prevalent belief that "the black person never had it so good."

"But inequities in treatment are still prevalent between the races," she added.

She said she felt the younger generation held the key to solving racial problems.

* * *

ALSO PARTICIPATING in the discussion attended by 230 persons in the Ford Central Office Building were Mrs. Gerald Bright, a member of the New Detroit Committee, Richard Huegli, managing director of United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit, and R.M. Middlekauff, manager of the Ford Motor Co. manpower planning department.

Mrs. Bright said that suburbia continues "thinking white" as American society has done for centuries.

She said the New Detroit committee is working through government, church, schools and speakers to communicate with the white community surrounding the urban centers, and added:

"We must prod the white community to open their ears to this message, not with guns and bullets, but with understanding."

Huegli told the YWCA group that often "good forces toward racial acceptance are thwarted by contrary forces in the same area."

As an example, he said, "The YWCA tries to integrate while every other influence, such as magazines, television and news media, depict the ideal life as middle-class white suburbia."

"We at the UCS," he went on, "run into problems distributing money. How do you give money to the inner city to solve problems when most of the money comes from the suburbanites who insist services be located in his area?

"Our only answer is that suburbia and the individual must reach a decision, and the real challenge is to the individual."

* * *

MIDDLEKAUFF SAID there can be "no healthy peaceful suburbia when high unemployment and little hope exist for those living in the city."

Industry's role, he said, is to give "full opportunity," and Ford has done this by hiring off plant premises and suspending requirements for a written test.

"An industry's job is not to just hire, but to help a person after he is hired," he said, and added that Ford's approach has featured action centers for interviewing, with 12 company industrial relations representatives trained especially to conduct the interviews.

"In the short time our program has been in operation we've hired over 3,000 workers through action centers," he said, "and we've found, comparing them to 2,500 other employes not hired through the centers, that the 'hard core unemployed' has a slightly better retention rate, though their absenteeism was a little higher."

DR. JOHN A. VISSER

Presbyterian Elder Speaks In St. Paul's

Dr. John A. Visser, pastor emeritus of Westminster Presbyterian Church in Detroit and a former moderator of the Presbytery of Detroit, will be guest minister at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church of Livonia on Sunday morning, May 19.

Dr. Visser will fill the pulpit for the Rev. William F. Whitledge, pastor of St. Paul's, and the Rev. Thomas W. Estes, associate minister, who will be attending the 180th General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church, in Minneapolis. Rev. Estes will attend the week-long meeting as a commissioner, Rev. Whitledge as an observer.

Dr. Visser has served as a member of the General Council of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., a consultant to the Christian Education Committee of the National Council of Churches and as a trustee of several educational institutions including Alma College, Davis and Elkins College and Waynesburg College.

He won two Freedom Foundation awards, presented to him in 1948 and 1964.

Community Forum Gets Strong Support In Area

The Community Forum--one of the most ambitious idea-exchange programs every undertaken--will find many voices raised in the Observer area.

The idea of the Forum, which gets underway May 20, is to have thousands of discussion groups focus their attention on a five-program television series, then consider its ideas and their own reactions and feed back their opinions to program leaders.

The five documentary programs are a depth study of the racial climate of southeastern Michigan, and are being prepared by New York TV producer Arthur Alpert for the Interfaith Action Council and business, civic and religious leaders of the area.

* * *

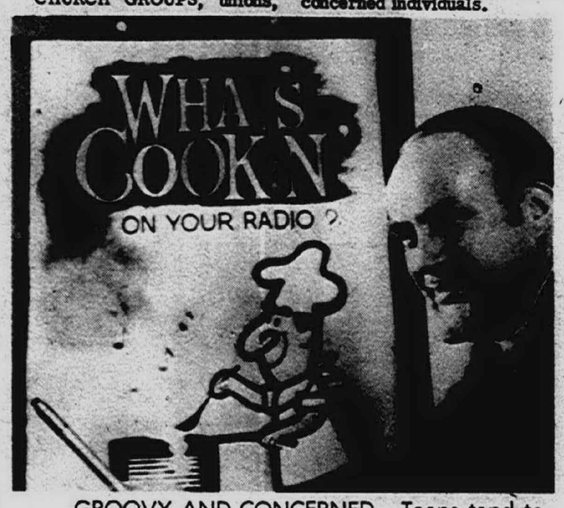

"IN YOUR OWN INTEREST" is the title of the series. The first program, "Alternatives to Fear", will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Monday, May 20, over WWJ-TV Channel 4.

By that time, scores of small groups in this area will be assembled to take note of the subject matter, consider it in the light of a guide to be supplied by the forum and report back on forms that also will be provided.

Mrs. Marian Athay, in charge of mailing out the forum kits as requests are received, said well over a thousand had been ordered, and that many were being sent to this area, especially Farmington, Livonia, Garden City and Westland.

* * *

CHURCH GROUPS, unions, human relations councils, subdivision groups and veterans organizations are setting up discussion groups, she said. Others are being started by concerned individuals.

GROOVY AND CONCERNED—Teens tend to like cartoonist and beat music expert Victor (Sketch) Erickson, who will conduct a three-evening teen music seminar at 7:30 p.m. May 21 to 23 in the Northwest Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, 28111 West Ten Mile, Farmington. The commercial artist encourages teens to enjoy the beat without accepting the negative philosophy of many rock and roll lyrics. The public is invited to attend the seminar.

Kits being mailed out at this time will cover only the first program and the one to be televised May 27, Mrs. Athay said. Some of the material for subsequent programs, set for June 10, 17 and 24, will be prepared after the forms on the discussion ideas start coming back.

Alpert, discussing research for the first two programs, said this week the racial climate in the area's Negro communities has worsened since the murder death of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

He added, however, there has been some improvement in white communities since the Memphis tragedy, but warned against whites returning to the "old apathy."

* * *

ALPERT, ON LOAN to the community from the Public Broadcast Laboratory of National Education Television, said that reports of a drop in gun sales, particularly in the black communities, are unfounded.

"In our first program," he said, "we are attempting to relieve tensions by discussing frankly the climate of fear that persists.

"Gun sales are not off, and people of the community must continue their concern, but without panic, and without returning to the old apathy."

He said that through the testimony of community leaders, "authority figures," the program will attempt to dispel the "absurd fear" of armed blacks invading white neighborhoods, and of gun-toting whites entering black communities.

* * *

HE SAID THE SECOND portion of Monday's program would consist of a "quiz" on the Kerner Report in an attempt to "show that people don't know nearly as much about the report as they think they do."

"We want to show who rioted and why they rioted," Alpert said, "and what can be done to prevent a recurrence."

Bishop Dwight E. Loder, resident bishop of the Michigan Area of the United Methodist Church, who is chairman of the Forum's Executive Committee, emphasized the "two options" confronting the community.

"We can meet unrest with violence and superior force and take the road to fascism," he said.

"Or, as we maintain order in a restrained manner, we can put emphasis on the problems that underly black unrest, and what to do about them thereby taking the road to social justice."

* * *

HARWOOD RYDHOLM, a member of the Forum's Executive Committee, stressed that the drive is not simply for a massive watching and listening audience. He is vice-president for Civic Affairs of Chrysler Corporation.

"What we require is an army of participants who will gather with leaders in homes, clubs, churches and halls to view the education programs, then discuss them and report back on the opinions expressed," Mr. Rydholm said.

Members of his executive committee include John Canfield, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, Archbishop John F. Dearden, Bishop Richard S. Emrich, Congressman John Conyers and Dr. Robert L. Kincheloe, executive director of the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Churches.

Others are Dr. Samuel Krohn, president of the Detroit Jewish Community Council; Federal Judge Wade H. McCree, and Walter Reuther.

* * *

THE REV. JAMES J. SHEEHAN, chairman of IAC's Mass Media Subcommittee, said the Community Forum is not seeking just those "recognized as leaders" in its leadership recruiting program.

He said "saturation of public consciousness" is the goal of the Forum, and that this cannot be achieved with just the "old regulars."

"This is a chance for the 'silent' citizen to be heard," he said. "We are about to make choices that will affect generations to come, and everybody should be involved in making these choices."

Those interested in forming discussion groups may send the form printed here to the Southeastern Michigan Community Forum, 4800 Woodward, Detroit, 48201.

Mrs. Athay said a call to the forum, 833-3350, will speed mailing of the kit for use with the first program next Monday.

I will organize a discussion group for each of the five programs "In Your Own Interest." Please send me the discussion materials.

REV. PAUL HAGEDORN

St. Matthew Will Install New Pastor

The Rev. Paul K. Hagedorn will be installed as pastor of St. Matthew Evangelical Church, Westland, at 4 p.m. Sunday, May 19.

The Rev. T. H. Voss, pastor of the Guardian Lutheran Church in Dearborn where Pastor Hagedorn served hs vicarage six years ago, will conduct the installation.

Rev. Voss is counselor for the Dearborn Circuit of the Evangelical Lutheran Church. Assisting in the service will be the Rev. R. Pranschke, pastor of Hosana-Tabor Lutheran Church, in Redford Township, as liturgist and other clergymen of the circuit. Mrs. George Lehman will be at the organ.

* * *

THERE WILL BE special music by the children's and senior choirs and Mark Wood will play the trumpet.

A reception for the new pastor and his family following the installation will feature a potluck dinner in the all-purpose room of the church, located at 5885 Venoy.

Pastor Hagedorn, who arrived at St. Matthew last month, succeeds the Rev. Eugene Friedrich, long-time minister of the church who accepted a call to a church in Kinde, Mich., late in 1967.

The Hagedorns come from Leadville, Colo., where the minister had served the Good Shepherd Lutheran church since 1965. Earlier he was with a church in Winston-Salem, N.C., for two years.

A native of the Cleveland area, he is a graduate, Concordia Seminary in Springfield, Ill. He and his wife, Betty Jean, have two children, Kristine Lynn, four, and Daniel Peter, two.

Modern Missionaries To Star In TV Color Special

Today's Christian missionaries and service workers will receive an overdue tribute on an ABC-TV color special scheduled for 10 p.m., Monday, May 20, titled "In the Name of God."

In contrast to the ancient picture of missionaries proselyting and evangelizing, this documentary focuses on three Christians who solve the "earthly" problems of their parishioners.

A large portion of the documentary depicts Action for Food Production (AFPRO), a Protestant-Catholic priority program of agriculture production. Protestants support the program through Church World Service.

* * *

"IN THE NAME OF GOD," shows the cooperation of Protestant and Catholic missionaries in their day-to-day job of trying to alleviate starvation in over-populated India. The AFPRO program concentrates on food production and the Christian missionaries teach the Indians new farming methods, and supervise well-drilling and use of fertilizers on crops.

"These modern missionaries are such great men....What they do ennobles all mankind and everyone is richer because this dedicated group has chosen to remain poor," said John Secondari, producer of "In the Name of God." This special is part of the award-winning series "Saga of Western Man" which Mr. Secondari has produced with Helen Jean Rogers.

* * *

THE PROGRAM also shows work of two more Catholic missionaries in the Western Carolines and Eastern Carolines Islands.

Although the program does not show the work of thousands of Christians overseas in the less-publicized jobs who work as teachers, doctors, nurses, business administrators and theological educators, it stands as a real tribute to the efforts of today's church-related workers.

Members of the Division of Overseas Ministries who previewed the documentary called it "the best network product ever seen" concerning Christian workers overseas. The program was commended for its photography, continuity and narration.

"It's a product anyone in the Church would have been proud to produce--the narration is almost poetic," said John J. Mullen, DOM director of public relations.

LJC To Name New Officers

New officers of the Livonia Jewish Congregation will be elected at a general congregation meeting at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 21, in the LJC building, 29475 W. Six Mile.

JUNE SEARS

Mrs. Sears Gets U.S. Award

Mrs. June L. Sears, of the Michigan State University extension service, has a new award--given for "unusual insight and understanding of people living under adverse conditions."

The Wayne and Oakland county family living specialist received the citation yesterday in Washington of Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

She was one of five honored out of nearly 15,000 extension service workers across the nation.

Health-O-Rama Readied For Westland Opening

Health-O-Rama, the most ambitious community service project ever under-taken by Women for the United Foundation (WUF), comes to Westland Shopping Center Thursday (May 16).

Free medical testing will get underway and some 30 exhibits will be unveiled at opening ceremonies to which Westland dignitaries and community leaders have been invited.

Second in a series of four planned by WUF for the tri-county area, the Health-O-Rama will remain open from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily through Saturday.

* * *

OFFICIAL STARTER for the opening will be 12-year-old Carol Kohlstrunk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kohlstrunk, 30161 Oakview, Livonia.

Symbolizing the many helped through Torch Drive health agencies, Carol will use surgical scissors to clip Health-O-Rama's gauze bandage wrappings and signal its opening to the public.

Carol, diagnosed as diabetic six years ago, and her family are among the many being helped by the Michigan Diabetes Association, one of 26 Torch Drive health services participating in the Health-O-Rama.

Following the diagnosis by the family physician, Carol was taken to Children's Hospital of Michigan, also a Torch Drive service, where the disease was brought under control.

Carol Kohlstrunk

* * *

BECAUSE OF THE COUNSELING and help the Kohlstrunk family later received through the Diabetes Association, Carol is able to enjoy an active, happy, normal childhood.

Attending the association's Camp Midicha, located near Oxford, Mich., she learned that a great many other children had diabetes.

Now a seventh grader at Riley Junior High School, Livonia, Carol is known as a "very creative person" particularly fond of tennis, bicycling and reading as well as art.

LIVONIA MAYOR Harvey W. Moelke, Redford Township Supervisor A.L. Bellaire and Plymouth Township Clerk Helen Richardson have proclaimed May 12 to 18 "Women for the United Foundation Health-O-Rama Week."

WUF leaders on hand will include the organization's president, Mrs. R. Jamison Williams, of Birmingham, and the Health-O-Rama co-chairmen, Mrs. Alfred R. Glancy III and Mrs. R. Alexander Wrigley, both of Grosse Pointe.

The Westland Health-O-Rama will be followed by similar events at Eastland, May 23-25, and Wayne State University, June 8-9.

At each, free screening tests will be offered for anemia, blood pressure, cancer, cholesterol, diabetes, hearing, height and weight, oral cavity and vision along with a chest X-ray which will be checked for lung cancer, emphysema, enlarged heart and tuberculosis.

* * *

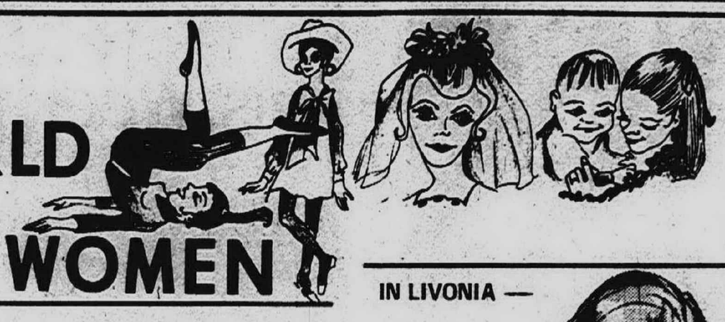

FOR CHILDREN between three and a half and five years of age, Health-O-Rama will offer a preschool vision screening to detect any sight impairment at an early, and frequently corrective, stage.

Test reports will be mailed to each individual's private physician for evaluation and follow-up.

BUTTON BELLE — Sally Luscomb, left, of Connecticut, is a top expert on the little known art of button-collecting. She's author of the Button Collectors' Encyclopedia and writes for a periodical, "Just Buttons." Visiting in Plymouth last week in the home of Constance Fitzner, president of the Michigan Button Society, she was given a certificate of recognition at a reception in her honor.

OBSERVER
WORLD OF WOMEN

m·m. memos

The washing machine made an ominous glub-glub as the last load started to spin, so I switched it off to investigate.

Turned out to be a big crack in the agitator, that hunk of hard rubber that makes the clothes swish to get clean.

This proved to be one of the less frustrating appliance breakdowns in my experience.

All I had to do was wring the clothes by hand, empty the machine, stand on my head to read the serial number, call the department store to learn that they couldn't deliver a new part because of a strike and they didn't have the right one in stock anyway, locate a new agitator with a few more telephone calls and drive 16 miles and back to get it.

With the washer spinning gaily again, I recalled the time a former agitator on a former machine also developed an incurable illness.

That time a shiny new black one was delivered and installed, but I was quite chagrined when the salesman happened to mention that the part also came in red.

It was during the era of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy's Communist witch hunt. And wouldn't it have been fun, in times like those, to have had a red agitator in the house?

Pair Wed 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Davies, 24405 Schoolcraft, Redford Township, will be honored by family and friends in an open house at their home Sunday, May 26, to mark their golden wedding anniversary.

The Davies were married May 29, 1918, in London, Ont., and came to Michigan six years later.

They have a son and two daughters, Douglas Davies, of Westland; Mrs. Frances Hodges, of Allen Park, and Muriel Davies, of Redford Township. Seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild also are members of the family.

Mother's Day Postscript

"To My Other Mother" read the card Mrs. Betty Mann, of Redford Township, received from her soldier son stationed in Germany.

Pfc Jim Mann had added a note, though.

"I know you're not my other mother," he wrote, "but this was the only card the PX had left when I got there."

MRS. FREDERICK C. ROSS
(Judith M. Banks)

Ross-Banks Vows Spoken In Plymouth

Judith M. Banks became the bride of Frederick C. Ross at a double-ring candlelight ceremony in the Calvary Baptist Church, in Plymouth.

The Rev. Patrick Clifford officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Banks of N. Territorial Rd., Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ross, of South Lyons, are the parents of the bridegroom.

* * *

GIVEN BY her father in marriage, the bride wore a floor-length gown of cloud white silk pique with an empire waistline, chapel train and three-quarter length sleeves made up of two tiers of Venise lace.

Her shoulder length bouffant silk illusion veil was held in place by a small pill box hat trimmed with the same lace as on her sleeves. She carried a delicate pink bouquet of lilies and sweetheart roses surrounded by baby's breath.

Patricia Rose and Norma Thomas were both maids of honor. They were dressed in identical floor length gowns of pink dotted swiss featuring dainty pink ruching around the hemline and up the back. They carried white baskets of lilies, daisies and baby's breath.

* * *

THE JUNIOR BRIDESMAIDS were Linda Kierdorf and Jana Loizeaux and the flowergirls were Linda and Laura Loizeax. All four girls wore floor length white gowns of dotted swiss with A-line skirts accented by a pink velvet ribbon around the empire waistline. They also carried baskets of flowers.

The Loizeaux girls, who are the bride's cousins, came from their home in Panama for the ceremony.

Roger Ross, the bridegroom's brother, was the best man and the ushers were James Robinson, Daniel Chapman, John Banks and Robert Banks. Jimmie Banks was the ring-bearer.

Mrs. Banks chose a turquoise ensemble of silk complimented by a colorful hat of mixed garden flowers, and Mrs. Ross wore a cocoa brown and white two-piece outfit with matching accessories and a small white flowered hat.

The reception followed in the church parlor.

After a honeymoon in Williamsburg, Va., the newlyweds will make their home in Northville.

ANN DEUTSCH

'Women On The Go'
By MARGARET MILLER

Mother Of 10 Gets Diploma

It was back in 1949 that Elizabeth Rees, a promising young student of chemistry at the University of Detroit, decided to leave school to get married.

Her adviser, Father George Kmieck, didn't think much of the idea. He called her into his office to offer advice. That didn't work, so he called in her intended, chemistry student Paul Elsey.

"Of course he didn't change our minds," Elizabeth Elsey said. "But he did get through to me with one thing he said--that married women can go to college later."

Wherever Father Kmieck is now, Mrs. Paul Elsey of Redford Township would like him to know her news. It's 18 years and ten children later, but she has a degree from the University of Detroit.

* * *

THE FOUR OLDER Elsey children were on hand to watch with pride as their mother received her diploma at the commencement Saturday, May 4, and the whole family was featured in a television interview in honor of the occasion.

Paul, now 17; Terry, 14; Angela, 13 and Rebecca, 11, had made the scene when, in 1957, their mother decided to be a student again.

Her husband was back at U. of D. working on his master's degree, and for the first time credit courses were being offered on television Channel 56.

"I thought that was wonderful," Elizabeth said. "You sat home in your dirty slacks and went to school."

* * *

DIRTY SLACKS or not, she was off to a good start. She decided to give up majoring in chemistry "because the lab work required just took too much time."

"I considered math," she said, "but found that the new math had brought so many changes that I'd have to start over. Then I thought a bit of psychology. But I wasn't very far into that field before I was convinced I just couldn't buy what the textbooks said."

History finally was the choice, and it was mainly a matter of convenience.

"The history classes were offered at times I could go to school," she explained. "And of course when I got into it, I found it completely absorbing. My husband said I was living history--didn't have to study."

* * *

THAT WASN'T quite true, but Elizabeth Elsey never found studying an ordeal. There was no sense of pressure in her low-gear method of getting an education.

New babies arrived with great regularity, but they didn't interfere--at least, not much--with their mother's course or two a semester plan. The family now includes David, nine; Ruth, seven; Barbara, six; Bill, five; Steven, three, and Matthew, 10 months.

"The children always know that two nights a week I left right after supper," she said. "They pitched in and helped, and things always went quite smoothly."

* * *

THE CLOSEST THING to a crisis she remembers was the night when "Paul had an exam and I had an exam and someone had the mumps so no sitter wanted to come." That problem was solved when Elizabeth's mother did emergency baby-sitting chores.

Pursuit of a degree was an off-and-on thing for Mrs. Elsey. The family outgrew its first Redford Township home, so she took a year off to design a new one and keep an eye on its construction.

BOOKS AND CHILDREN MIX—Mrs. Elizabeth Elsey found she enjoyed earning a college degree while caring for a family of ten. She's shown here with the three youngest, Steven, Matthew and Bill—and some heavy reading.

Ball To Benefit Dystrophy Kids

The Annual Derby Ball, run for the benefit of Muscular Dystrophy children, will be staged at Cobo Hall on June 8. All proceeds will go to the Jerry Lewis Summer Camp for Muscular Dystrophy children in the Island Lake recreation area.

Since the children are 80 per cent wheel chair campers, the expenses to be covered include a complete medical staff as well as special attendants to assist each child when catching fish, playing baseball and other camping activities during the ten day stay.

Band Parents Set Bake Sale

The Clarenceville High School Band Parents and Friends will hold a bake sale at the front entrance of Crowley's in the Livonia Mall Saturday, May 18.

Funds raised will be used for music scholarships and to send the Clarenceville band to the Traverse City Cherry Festival.

MRS. DENNIS VINCENT WILBEE
(Carolyn Marie Henk)

Carolyn Henk Wed To Dennis Wilbee

Carolyn Marie Henk became the bride of Dennis Vincent Wilbee at a ceremony in St. Valentine Church, Redford Township.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Henk of Redford Township. Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Wilbee, of Escanaba, are the parents of the bridegroom.

The bride wore an A-line gown of white silk linen. The neckline and elbow length sleeves were adorned with seed pearls. Her headpiece of organdy petals accented the chapel length veil, and she carried a cascade bouquet of June bells and stephanotis with the center corsage of glamelia.

* * *

SHARI RIGGS, OF LIVONIA, was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Anne Fosler, of Greensville, O., Carol Emery, of Southfield, and Susan Anderson, of Oak Lawn, Ill. Kathy Stadnik, Detroit, was the flower girl.

Richard Masse, of Warsaw, Ind., was the best man, and ushers were Tom Finlan, of Escanaba; Tom Whiting, Westland, Art Milliman, Flint and Lou Sesti and Larry Hoopingarner of Lansing.

* * *

MRS. HENK'S choice for her daughter's wedding was a blue silk dress with a matching coat. Mrs. Wilbee chose a grey and white stripe silk suit. Both mothers wore matching accessories and cymbidium orchid corsages.

The reception followed immediately after the ceremony at Roma Hall, Livonia and was attended by 200 guests. After the reception, the newlyweds left for a wedding trip to Nassau.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Wilbee entertained with a rehearsal dinner Friday, April 26.

A one-act play "The Bald Soprano" will highlight the meeting of the Farmington branch of the American Association of University Women at 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 15, in the First Presbyterian Church of Farmington.

The group invites prospective members and others interested to attend the meeting which also will include installation of new officers.

The production will be presented by an AAUW study group headed by Mrs. Don Briggs, which has concentrated attention this year on "Society's Reflection in the Arts." The play will be in lectern reading style. Taking part in the cast will be Mrs. Gerald Heatter, Mrs. Thomas Czubiac, Mrs. Gwain Gillespie, Mrs. George Nashtoll, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. John Perry, and Mrs. Briggs.

The hospitality committee for the evening will include Mrs. H.R. Hedfield, Chairman, Mrs. Daniel Davis, Mrs. Stephen Droege, Mrs. Gillespie, Mrs. Alastair McGar, Mrs. Nashtoll.

The branch is beginning a membership campaign. Women in the area who are college graduates and interested in the activities of AAUW are eligible, and may get information by calling Mrs. A.J. Rouble, 476-0059.

OCC Plans Outdoor Dance

A dance under the stars on the Orchard Ridge campus is planned by the Student Guide Association from 8 to 11 p.m. Friday, May 17.

The event, to be called a "Magical Mystical Tour" will be held between the G and M buildings on the campus at Twelve Mile and Orchard Lake Roads.

All Oakland Community College students and their guests are invited, and student identification cards must be shown. The charge will be 50 cents.

Award Made For Adult Ed

Oakland University's Division of Continuing Education recently received a Creativity in Adult Education Award for a conference which explored the problems of working mothers.

The conference, entitled "A Dual Role," was co-sponsored by the division and Flint Community Junior College.

The second-place award from the Adult Education Association of Michigan was presented at the association's annual meeting in Muskegon. It was the sixth such recognition received by the Division of Continuing Education from the Adult Education Association and the National University Extension Association.

Local Bike Dealers Aid Inner-City Hostel Group

Twenty shiny new bicycles for use in a recently-organized American Youth Hostel inner-city program will be presented Saturday, May 18.

The Bicycle Dealers Association of Southeastern Michigan, headed by Fred Dzendzel of the Reliable Bike Shop, Redford Township, is donating the bikes to the Garfield Neighbor Youth Group.

The group, numbering 30 youngsters aged seven to 15, will receive the equipment during an outing set for Saturday. The AYH pilot project, launched April 3, has Mrs. Levi Latison, a resident of the Garfield area, serving as club mother.

* * *

THE PROGRAM was conceived by AYH in cooperation with the New Detroit Committee in an attempt to make available to inner-city groups the recreation leadership experience and hostels which are available in AYH. A spokesman for the group explained, "AYH is a service organization, and we felt we should provide service where it is most urgently needed."

While AYH nationally is involved in training VISTA volunteers, the Detroit chapter is the first unit to organize an inner-city group. Plans are being made to extend the project to other neighborhood areas.

The youth group's first outing was held in April at Belle Isle. Activities for May 18 call for the youngsters to meet at 11 a.m. for transportation to Rouge Park. Presentation of the bicycles by the dealer's group will be made at noon, behind the park pool. A weiner roast will climax the afternoon outing.

* * *

ANOTHER OUTING for the Garfield group has been scheduled for May 25 in the form of a swim evening at the Downtown YMCA. A full summer schedule is being arranged and includes bicycle trips, swimming and two overnight trips to Foote Hostel, which borders Kensington Park. The camping experiences, one for two days and the other for three, have been slated for late June and late July.

While the project was originally designed along recreational lines it has already been expanded to involvement in job placement for older youngsters seeking employment, tutoring services where needed, and neighborhood clean-up. A girls' sewing class is planned for the summer, and will be directed by a home economics teacher.

Teen Scouts Plan Weekend Encampment

Some 250 Huron Valley Girl Scouts and their leaders will attend an encampment for Cadette and Senior scouts at Camp Linden from May 17 to 19.

The patrol encampment, headed by Mrs. Sam Sekaros, of Ann Arbor, will include campfire programs, primative camping, a wide game, flag ceremonies and forums.

Noralene Renauer and Sally McKinzie, University of Michigan students from Plymouth, are members of the planning committee.

Mrs. Ralph Fluckey and Mrs. Donald White, both of Plymouth are among the Girl Scout adults participating as advisors, and the list of patrol leaders includes Cheryl White and Susan Powers, of Plymouth, and Linda Edwards, of Wayne.

Camp Linden is located near Linden, Mich.

Accent Cookware

Surveys show that women—and men, too—now demand decorated, glamorous kitchens, according to home economists of United States Stamping Co., Homemakers insist accessories, including cookware, be not only practical, but complement the kitchen scene.

Lilac Luncheon Set Thursday

The Tenth Annual Luncheon and Fashion Show given by the St. Joseph Auxiliary of the Little Sisters of the Poor will be held at 11:30 a.m. Thursday, May 16, in Cobo Hall. Proceeds will be used to care for senior citizens. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

Fashion Show Set

The Westland Business and Professional Women's Club will hold a fashion show at 7 p.m. next Wednesday, May 22, to raise funds for an artificial kidney machine at Wayne County General Hospital.

The show, to be held in the Westland Shopping Center auditorium, include door prizes for men and women.

Redford And Livonia GS Heads Named

Mrs. Edgar A. Guest Jr., President of Girl Scouts of Metropolitan Detroit announces the appointment of 14 women in Redford Township and Livonia.

Responsible for the continuation and expansion of Girl Scouting in designated areas are newly appointed Mrs. Donald Dasher, Mrs. William McDonough, and Mrs. Harold Nielson of Livonia; Mrs. John Dietz and Mrs. Walter Feisel of Redford.

Appointed to continue as neighborhood chairmen for another three year term are: Mrs. Donald Carley, Mrs. Patrick Curley, Mrs. Richard Graham, and Mrs. Ernest L. Price of Livonia; Mrs. Bruce Goffeney, Mrs. C.H. Balliet, Mrs. Harry Blacha, Mrs. William Bleher, and Mrs. Cyril Wilkerson of Redford.

Over 11,000 girls and 1,800 adults in the Redford and Livonia area are members of Girl Scouts of Metropolitan Detroit. The Council, with jurisdiction in most of Wayne County, has a membership of over 34,200 girls and over 9,000 adults, according to Mrs. Guest.

Madonna Teacher Plans Research

Sister Mary Dennis Glonek, a member of the chemistry faculty at Madonna College, has been named a summer research participant in chemistry at Oregon State University.

Supported by a grant from the National Science foundation, the 10-week summer program is designed to provide independent, specialized research opportunities in rapidly advancing fields of chemistry.

Selected to participate in the program are highly-trained scientists who hold doctorate degrees in chemistry.

Carefully Selected and Federally Inspected Meats

A&P insists that its meat buyers be very "fussy" people. They must buy only top quality beef, pork, lamb and poultry products. A&P then goes one important step further—we maintain our own Federally Inspected meat plant where these top quality products are processed and packaged under strict supervision. This insures that you get not only quality meat but meats that are cleanly and wholesomely processed.

Peace Talks May Go On Many Months

PARIS -- Delegates from the United States and North Vietnam met Monday to begin peace talks that both sides expect to continue for many months. The first item of business almost certainly will be Hanoi's demand that the United States unconditionally end all bombing and other acts of war against North Vietnam. The American delegation is expected to stick resolutely to President Johnson's requirement for a total bombing halt: that Hanoi "not take advantage" of it by increasing the flow of men and supplies to the South.

* * *

SAIGON -- Efforts to eliminate the Viet Cong forces which have been harassing Saigon included a Sunday night attack in which U.S. jets dropped napalm and high-explosive bombs two miles from the center of Saigon. The U.S. military command said the American pilots did not attack within the city limits. Thousands of civilians fled last week from the homes that are being destroyed, as Viet Cong troops moved up from the Mekong delta and threatened to push into downtown Saigon.

* * *

BEIRUT, Lebanon -- The second border incident in five days between Israel and Lebanon has resulted in the death of a Lebanese woman, the government reported. Mortar fire was exchanged at the border for approximately 15 minutes Sunday.

* * *

LONDON -- A demand for home rule for Northern Ireland sent more than 400 demonstrators to Trafalgar Square Sunday. Scots and Welsh are also seeking home rule.

* * *

PANAMA -- Election of a president and 42 members of the National Assembly went off quietly Sunday. There had been some expectation that the elections, which followed a bitterly contested campaign, might provoke violence. Leading contenders for the presidency are Dr. Arnulfo Arias, 67, who has been deposed twice and is making his fourth bid for the office, and David Samudio, 57, a former finance minister.

PARIS -- A general strike in Paris to support the demands of student demonstrators who are protesting "police repression" began at midnight Sunday. The student strike had the support of both teachers and French labor. Early Sunday, Premier Georges Pompidou issued a statement conceding to the demonstrators' immediate demands, which called for withdrawal of police from the universities, reopening of the Sorbonne, and amnesty for all those arrested in the recent riots. In spite of the premier's move, the general 24-hour strike was carried out.

MANTOVA, Italy -- Police have announced that a precious 16th century painting by Titian that was stolen from a parish church last month has been recovered. The painting was found in the town of Renazzo, about 45 miles southeast of Mantova.

WASHINGTON -- Negotiations were held in Washington last week between the United States and West Germany to work out an equitable way of Germany compensating the United States for the dollar outflow involved in keeping U.S. troops in Germany. Until recently, the West German government has simply purchased enough arms from the U.S.

MICKEY STANLEY

Tiger Star Heads Clinic At Center

One of the Detroit Tiger's most promising outfielders will head a baseball clinic Saturday at Wonderland Center, Plymouth Road at Middlebelt.

Mickey Stanley, slugging first baseman-outfielder who has sparked Detroit's early pennant drive, will make a personal appearance at the center beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Stanley will offer hitting tips to youngsters who will be given the opportunity to take batting practice in the area near the center's maintenance building. An automatic batting device and batter's cage has been furnished by the Livonia Department of Parks and Recreation.

Stanley will be at Wonderland until 10:30 a.m. when he leaves for Saturday's Washington-Detroit game at Tiger Stadium.

Mom Of Three Receives $500 Top Prize

ANN ARBOR -- Mrs. Jean L. King, a senior at the University Law School and mother of three, received a special $500 award Thursday (May 9) from the American Trial Lawyers Association. Only one law student in the nation receives the award each year.

Chosen as the outstanding graduating senior "by reason of scholarship and academic achievement, responsible leadership in student affairs, and demonstrated concern for the problems of American society," Mrs. King was presented the award by Law School Dean Francis A. Allen at Senior Day ceremonies.

The ATLA award is always given to a senior at the school from which the current ATLA president graduated. The association's president, Samuel Langerman of Phoenix, Ariz., is a member of the 1942 Michigan Law School class.

Staley's

Stars 'n Stripes SPECIALS

Now you can save on two of Staley's laundry stars—Sta-Puf Fabric Softener and Sta-Flo Spray or Liquid Starch:

Sta-Puf Fabric Softener is the wrinkle-reducing fabric softener that turns most "wash-and-iron" into "wash-and-fold-away." Sta-Puf hates wrinkles.

Sta-Flo Spray Starch contains improved Super Silicones that work better than ever before. They roll your iron along like invisible little ball bearings with no sticking . . . no scorching. Try Sta-Flo for the easiest ironing ever.

Wes Vivian Will Seek Old Job Back Again

University of Michigan.

He holds a B.S. degree from Union College, and M.S. degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and a Ph.D. degree in electrical engineering from the University of Michigan.

Vivian served as chairman of the Ann Arbor Democratic Party in 1959 and 1960. In 1967 he was elected chairman of the Second District Democratic Committee, a post he held until last month. He is a Navy veteran of World War II. The former Congressman lives with his wife, Anne, and their four children at 2717 Kenilworth Drive in Ann Arbor.

* * *

ANNOUNCING his candidacy, Vivian made the following statement:

"The 89th Congress, in which I served, was commended repeatedly for its diligent and constructive action on many and long-delayed issues. During the past two years, the 90th Congress, dominated by negative attitudes, has failed to provide leadership or set sensible priorities for solving our nation's problems.

"The frustration, lack of opportunity, and poverty afflicting millions, white and black, in our cities and rural areas, can be and must be eradicated.

"A most important first step is to guarantee now that any and every man or woman, who is ready and willing, will be able to obtain a job at wages clearly adequate to support a family. Each recent effort in Congress to provide such a guarantee has failed.

"Second, intensive and meaningful job training must be guaranteed to all low income wage earners so that everyone can gain the opportunity to advance in our competitive society. Yet our current training programs are starved for funds.

"Third, inhabitants of the ghetto need both means and incentive to help in the rebuilding of deteriorating housing and opportunity to build or purchase new housing. Funds for these programs have been cut.

"Finally, the public schools in inner cities must be rescued from financial disaster. The present Congress has been slow to act. It is essential that business and industry participate in these efforts. However, only our federal and state governments posses the comprehensive resourses to mobilize our society. They must act.

* * *

"DETERIORATION IN the quality of our environment which all Americans are experiencing must be halted. Air and water pollution are increasing; traffic jams our highways; fear of crime has intensified; recreation areas are inadequate; family farms are rapidly disappearing; the cost of being sick has risen steeply; inflation threatens the living standard of retired citizens. I do not accept this deterioration as inevitable, and I have faith that informed Americans, working together, can reverse the trend. Our government must accept its obligation to lead.

"I share with all the hope for the successful completion of the negotiations on Vietnam currently underway in Paris. Now that our involvement in Vietnam has reached a turning point and leaders of both parties have recognized that our previously stated goals are unreachable, the United States must engage in a thoughtful re-examination of its goals and formal commitments. Conflicts similar to that in Vietnam already threaten elsewhere in the world, especially in Asia. We as a nation must determine more carefully than we have in the past what effective role we should play in the social and political evolution of developing nations."

Political Maneuver Delays Budget Again

After more than two months of study and legal maneuvering the City Commission still hasn't approved the budget for the fiscal year of 1968-69.

There was some hope that the spending formula for the year would be passed on Monday night, but the hope faded when work wasn't completed in the special assessment approved for the street improvement program.

"There's always something coming up at the last minute," Mayor James Jabara explained, "and we have to continue work."

So he "recessed" the meeting for the second week in succession.

By the mere process of "recessing" and not "adjourning" the meeting the Commission can stay within the charter stipulations that the budget must be approved at the first meeting in May.

The charter doesn't put a time limit on a meeting.

Jaycees Get Go Ahead On Park Plan

The Plymouth Jaycees were given the "go-ahead" on two more projects at the commission meeting last Monday night.

Most important of the two was approval for the development of a park entrance to the intersection of Ann Arbor Trail and Ann Arbor Road.

The second was full approval for the July 4 parade and the operation of several carnival type rides on Penniman Ave., which is to be closed off for the affair.

The Jaycees reported that several thousand yards of fill dirt had been acquired and that they would grade the park area. They also reported that a campaign was under way to bring about the planting of trees and other shrubbery at no cost to the city.

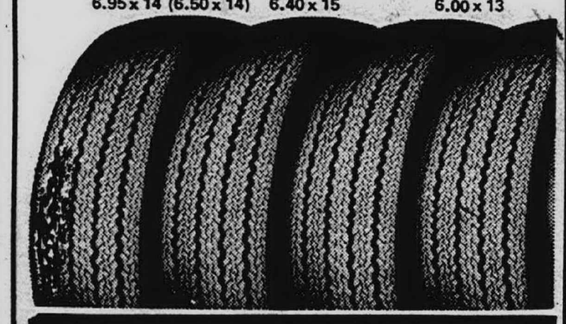

Approval also will have to be obtained from the Wayne County Road Commission, inasmuch as Plymouth Township already has given its support to the park plan.

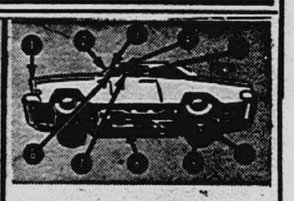

Building Strike Keeps Schools At Standstill

Construction progress reports brought before the board of education Monday night showed only one thing--virtually all work on every building under construction was at a complete stand-still due to the building trades strike that has gripped the state.

All contractors who addressed the board through letters said that the strike would delay them at least two months which meant that it might be the case that Pioneer Middle School and Russell Isbister Elementary School will not be able to open this fall.

Willie made it through Normandy, Seoul, and Da Nang. He doesn't need the Purple Heart for Detroit.

Now, that surprises some people. Because Willie is a Negro. And some people would have you and me believe that every normal, average, red-blooded American Negro is looking forward to a riot in Detroit this summer.

The fact is this. The normal, average, red-blooded American Negro doesn't want a riot in Detroit this summer any more than the normal, average, red-blooded American white. He wants to live as much as we do.

And for the same reasons.

Take Willie. He's a family man — a wife and two kids. He works hard for a living — career Master Sergeant, U.S. Army. He owns his own home — complete with 20-year mortgage. And the only weapon he enjoys is a red and white jitterbug that drives the smallmouth bass in Anchor Bay positively wild.

If that amazes you, we're glad.

Perhaps you ought to amaze some of your friends. Because we still believe that the best way to squelch a lot of ugly rumors is a bit of pure honest-to-gosh truth.

New Books In Library

"A Horse's Head" by Evan Hunter is a zany novel about an encyclopedia salesman turned gambler, who is involved in a mad chase around New York after a magical, black jacket that does not even fit him but which he is sure is worth half a million dollars.

* * *

"Wild Kids" by Frank R. Donovan is a social history telling the story of all classes of wild kids, from girl-snatching savages to today's youth.

* * *

"Paradise Falls" by Don Robertson is a novel encompassing thirty-five years in the life of the small Ohio town of Paradise Falls, from the end of the Civil War to the tumultuous opening of the twentieth century.

* * *

"World Beneath the Sea" by James Dugan tells about the current science of oceanography, amateur diving, underwater photography, agriculture, and recently discovered treasures. It was sponsored by the National Geographic Society and is lavishly illustrated.

* * *

"Mrs. Beneker" by Violet Weingarten is a novel about a fascinating woman who is a daughter, wife, mother and grandmother.

* * *

"The Last Hero: Charles A. Lindbergh" by Walter S. Ross reveals the qualities of individualism, perseverence, stoicism, and self-reliance which carried Lindbergh to glory and still sustain him in relative obscurity today and which allowed him to pursue his work in aviation, science, and the conservation of wildlife.

* * *

"The Pepper Garden" by John Slimming is a novel set in Malaya and Sarawak. It is the story of what happens to a rubber planter, and to his world, first with the Japanese invasion of Malaya in 1941 and years later with the outbreak of Chinese Communist terrorism.

DPW News

By Supt. Ken Vogras, Plymouth DPW

Sixty-three loads of rubbish were picked up by the Department of Public Works during the annual Clean-Up last week. All sorts of rubbish was in the collection that is being continued this week.

The spraying of elm trees was continued during the week.

The mowing and trimming of grass out to the Riverside Cemetery was continued.

Sidewalks were replaced where removed for various repairs throughout the city.

The painting of fire hydrants was continued.

All major streets were swept three times during the week.

Two three-quarter-inch water taps were installed.

The grass in all city parks and playgrounds was cut.

Beginning May 13th, all alleys where rubbish pickups are normally made were reopened for pickup.

The department will begin the flushing of hydrants on the evening of May 13 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. We will begin in the northwest section of the city and work south.

Republican Teens Want Lindsay

New York's Mayor John V. Lindsay was elected presidential candidate on the second ballot at the recent Teen-Age Republican mock national convention held on the Michigan State University campus attended by Plymouth TARS.

Each teen attending was made a delegate and assigned a state upon registering at the convention.

There were four Plymouth delegates to the teen convention that had a roll call of 300 members. Plymouth TARS were Sharon Ferrari delegate to Pennsylvania; Mary Ferrari, New Jersey; Diane Hathaway, Florida and Jeff DesCamp, New York.

In addition to considering the candidacies of Nixon, Rockefeller, Reagan, Percy, Lindsay, Romney and many favorite sons, the convention also adopted a series of resolutions on national issues.

The convention was sponsored by the Republican State Central Committee and the Michigan TAR Advisory Board.

BAD GUYS WEAR BLACK HATS — Bond School fourth graders' melodrama, "Miss Louisa and the Outlaws," given at the school last week, found Jane Kinsey as Miss Louisa at the mercy of the outlaws more than once. Benny the Kid (Steven Bucci center) and Dead Eye Dan (Michael Lockwood) were the bad guys even though Dead Eye happened to wear a white hat.

Drug May Cleanse Arteries Of Fat

One of these days--and the day is coming closer--there will be a drug which will clean obstructions out of the arteries of men as cleanser clears out sewers.

This was one of the predictions of Dr. Paul N. Yu, head, cardiopulmonary unit, University of Rochester School of Medicine, one of four internationally known speakers at the annual free public Heart Forum, May 10 at Ford Auditorium.

* * *

"EVEN BEFORE this cleanout drug is discovered, the incidence of coronary artery disease--heart attack--will be reduced as people learn of the benefits of prevention, of keeping their blood level of cholesterol low, of getting a reasonable amount of regular exercise and of stopping smoking," he added.

"Prevention, which means avoiding all the risk factors is still most important."

Dr. Yu listed some of the more promising developments as coronary care units, now saving thousands of heart attack patients throughout the nation; a catheter type device powered from outside which pushes extra blood into the coronary arteries; and a surgical technique to remove heart tissue damaged by heart attack.

* * *

DR. YU SAID the value of having a normal or low blood level of cholesterol is being demonstrated by studies that show persons with a high cholesterol level suffer more heart attacks. The cholesterol level can be reduced by diet, he said. "It will be hard on the meat and dairy industries but that can't be helped."

He and other researchers are now testing a new drug which is extremely effective in interfering with the digestion of fats, he added, and so many more are now being developed that it is safe to predict someone will discover an artery cleaning drug within a few years.

How Teens Can Aid Road Beauty

The State Highway Commission today suggested that the youth of Michigan pool its talent to aid the campaign to keep the state beautiful.

The suggestion was in response to recent offers of volunteer help in picking up tons of roadside trash discarded during the winter by litterbugs.

The Commission said that because of insurance and liability problems, it couldn't permit youngsters to work along state roadsides.

It said, however, that they could effectively aid the war against litterbugs by helping to inform the public of the health and safety hazards, and the unsightly appearances caused by litter.

* * *

LATEST TO volunteer for Raiders of Centreville, a chapter of the National Campers and Hikers Association.

Describing themselves as "ambitious teens," the Raiders said, "Just let us know the date and the road that needs the most work, and we'll be ready to help."

The commission commended the group, but said the liability of accepting the offer would be too great.

* * *

THE COMMISSION said Michigan youths, through their clubs, schools and church groups, could become a powerful voice in the state's anti-litter campaign.

Interested groups can obtain information and suggestions on how they can help by contacting Keep Michigan Beautiful, Inc., 28165 Greenfield Rd., Southfield, 48075

Regional Parks Setting Records

High attendance was reported for the month of April by the four major parks of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, the regional recreation agency serving the counties of Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne.

Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford had record-breaking attendance with over 149,000 visitors in April of 1968 compared to the 108,000 persons coming to the park during the same month last year. This tops the previous high of over 121,000 visitors set in April of 1966.

Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica set a record for April attendance with over 90,000 visitors last month compared to the previous high of 66,000 set in April of 1967. More than four times as many persons came last month to Stony Creek than the 20,000 visitors that came in April of 1965, which was the first spring the park was in use following its opening on July 6, 1964.

Metropolitan Beach near Mt. Clemens turned in the second highest April usage on record with over 101,000 visitors in 1968 compared to 85,000 in April of 1967. The highest April on record was set 10 years ago in 1958 when over 125,000 came to the park.

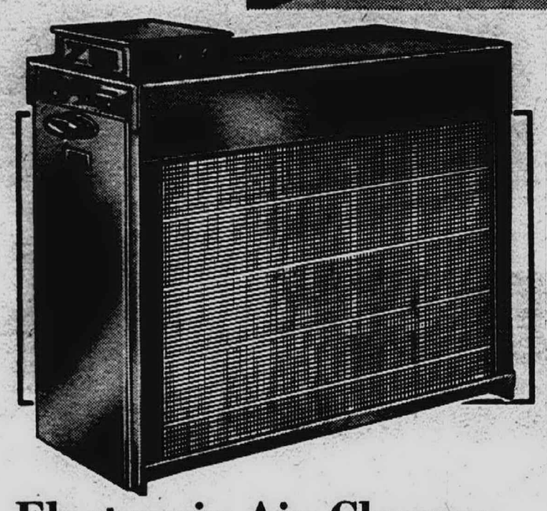

Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville had the second highest April attendance on record with over 147,000 persons compared to 136,000 for the same month in 1967. The record April was over 158,000 visitors in 1963.

UM Hosts 30 Negro Collegians

Southern Negro colleges will send 20 undergraduate students and 10 faculty members to The University of Michigan for an eight-week multipurpose program this summer.

The students will be developing their potential for graduate studies. The faculty members will be strengthening their teaching and research abilities and the University will be gaining experience for future Intensive Summer Opportunities Programs as well as ideas for improving elements of regular academic year programs.

* * *

ALL 30 of those coming to U-M this summer have been identified through a consortium of Columbia, Harvard, and Yale universities. Established in 1966, the consortium has been cooperating with 75 predominantly Negro institutions in the South to offer programs similar to the one planned for this summer by U-M.

Dr. Ralph B. Lewis, assistant dean of the U-M Rackham School of Graduate Studies, believes that students who successfully complete the courses in the Intensive Summer Opportunities Program "will improve their chances of being admitted for graduate study in some university and possibility of being awarded fellowship support for graduate study."

Each student will take two graduate credit courses, one in his field of specialization, another in a related area or possibly a seminar requiring a term paper.

* * *

"UNDER CONDITIONS of a graudate school," says Dr. Lewis, "the students will be able to assess their own aptitude and commitment to advanced course work, and we will be judging each student's performance by the standards used to evaluate upperclassmen.

"Each student will receive guidance in graduate school placement. We plan to keep in close touch with the students and their home colleges to help them make application for graduate schools."

As for the "faculty associates" who will come to the University for the period June 22 through Aug. 18, Dr. Lewis said the national interest is served in strengthening the faculties of predominantly Negro colleges and universities.

Among the direct benefits anticipated by the University, according to Dr. Lewis, are ideas for improving elements of the academic year programs for Opportunity Award scholars in the graduate school.

Next fall the first students from the U-M Opportunity Award Program will be entering graduate studies. The Opportunity Award Program, started in 1964, is designed to recruit and provide special financial and counseling assistance to qualified Michigan students handicapped by cultural and economic deprivations.

More than 400 U-M Opportunity Award undergraduates will be enrolled next fall term.

Jockey Holmes Flying

Jockey Don Holmes and the Hazel Park Race Track have one thing in common: They are both off to a flying start this spring.

After the first two weeks of the current 14-week meeting at Hazel Park, Holmes is so far out in front in the jockey standings he's almost out of sight. And the track itself may be headed for a new all-time summit of popularity.

* * *

HOLMES, 34-year-old Oak Park saddle master, blazed to 27 victories in the first 12 days of the present meeting.

If he can keep going at that clip for the remainder of the meeting, which ends July 27, he will double the present record of 97 wins scored by Bob Gallimore last year.

This is a comeback for Holmes, and it couldn't happen to a nicer guy. He flashed superlative form in 1966 when he brought in 61 winners and finished second to Larry Snyder in the riding standings.

* * *

LAST YEAR, HOWEVER, he skidded to 31 triumphs. He has almost matched that mark in two weeks this season.

Dave Whited, who won 119 races at the Detroit Race Course in 1967, is second in the Hazel Park standings with 14 decisions. Larry Kunitake and Jerry Santage have seven each, followed by Grady Overton and Ronnie Campbell with six apiece.

Driver Taylor Seeks 200 Wins

Ted Taylor, the popular Ohio reinsman, is back at Wolverine Raceway after performing most of the winter at Florida's Pompano Park.

The 42-year-old Taylor, one of America's most successful driver-trainers, is still pursuing a life-long ambition.

"One of these years I'd like to check in with 200 victories," he tells you with a smile.

* * *

TAYLOR GOT started on the right track a recent Saturday night when he won both features. He won the $4,500 preferred trot with Sonny Fortune in Sonny's first start of 1968 and came right back with Sudan's Comet in the $5,000 open pace.

Taylor thought he was on his way to his 200-victory season in 1967 but got caught in a November-December slowdown and wound up with 191 victories, a mark which left him eighth in total dashes in the nation.

Taylor spends almost every night at Wolverine. He's training and driving 25 head, about his normal complement of horses.

* * *

OUT OF THE FEEDBAG: Sgt. Jack Cadmus, head of Wolverine's protective unit which patrols the barn area, has six men who work the 21 barns, a one-mile trip, from three to four times an hour around the clock.

"We have to be suspicious of everyone," says Matt Kaston, one of Cadmus' men. . . "the safety of these people and their horses is our business."

Clarence Ayotte, a native of Union Lake, nicknamed "Coyote" since his county fair circuit days, is training and driving 14 head. . . and is particularly proud of two--Little Dominion and Highland Park.

BRIGHT IDEAS

By Elizabeth Meehan, Sylvania Lighting and Design Coordinator

Cast A Lovely Light

Ask any housewife to name the showplace of her home, and she will probably choose the living room. Families spend a great deal of time and money to decorate this room because they do so much "living" in it—from entertaining New Year's Eve guests to relaxing with the newspaper after dinner.

But did you know that the quality of light in a living room is just as important as the furnishings? For most home seeing needs, the light should be soft and diffuse with a minimum of shadows.

An absolute necessity for this area is a reading light over sofa and chairs. To provide a good one, center a recessed lighting unit over the front edge of the seating cushion. A distinctive way of lighting a large curved sofa is to locate a recessed unit over each seat, with the series in an arc repeating the form of the furniture.

For local illumination of every kind, Sylvania's recessed units are especially good. Recessed rounds or squares or shielded downlights or hi-hats are all particularly suited for local lighting.

To obtain excellent local lighting in a smart architectural manner, use recessed fluorescent units over a chair or sofa. Place a 24-inch square unit with four or six 20-watt fluorescent lamps over a lounge chair.

Don't let your lovely room hide in the shadows—but cast a glowing light on it and enjoy the compliments.

State Flags Sell Fast

State of Michigan flags are selling like proverbial "hot cakes"!

So reports Secretary of State James M. Hare who has sold out a gross of state flags on sale only last week to find that he is already sold out with orders piling up.

"We hope that persons who ordered their flags and who sent in their $6.50 will be patient, because it may take a couple of weeks to fill their orders," the Secretary of State noted.

William Bailey Awarded $1,000 Merit Grant

Farmington High School senior William Bailey has been named a recipient of a one-year $1,000 National Merit Scholarship, with which he will attend the University of Michigan to major in science.

Bailey has also received a certificate of merit from the Phi Beta Kappa for maintaining a scholastic average of 3.6 or better.

He is president of the FHS Chess Club and Spanish Club, belongs to the Exchange Club and National Honor Society and has been active in debating at FHS.

Safety Device At War

The General Motors energy-absorbing steering column, designed to save lives and reduce injuries to drivers in automobile collisions, also is minimizing injuries to U.S. fighting men in Vietnam.

The outer jacket, which is the principal energy absorption unit of the automotive column, has been utilized by the U.S. Navy in the development of shipboard equipment designed to withstand shock from underwater explosions such as he hidden mines encountered in the Vietnam waterways.

Application of this energy-absorbing principle for shipboard equipment was developed by Frank Whitten, an engineer at the Naval Ship Research and Development Center, near Washington, D.C.

In an automobile collision, he reasoned, the steering column can compress as much as 8-1/4 inches at a controlled rate in the event of an impact. "Why couldn't the compressible section be used as shipboard equipment under seats and decks to protect GI's from damaging underwater shock?" Whitten asked.

River patrol boats now in use by troops in Vietnam have been equipped with thousands of shock protection chairs and deck platforms. Each chair and each platform uses eight of the energy-absorbing jackets.

The energy-absorbing steering column, produced by General Motors Saginaw Steering Gear Division, has been standard equipment on all GM cars since the 1967-model introduction.

Santo Assigned

Airman Philip Santo, son of Farmington Township Police Sgt. and Mrs. Stephen Santo, has been assigned to the electronics school at the Naval Air Base, Jacksonville, Fla. He has served in the Navy since shortly after his graduation from Farmington High School in 1966, and was home on leave for 15 days prior to reporting to Jacksonville.

W. G. HUBER has been elected vice president in charge of manufacturing of Futurmill, Inc. The election took place during a recent meeting of the company's board of directors. Huber will assume manufacturing production, personnel and procurement responsibilities at the company's plants in Farmington and Strongsville, Ohio.

Volunteers Find Many Challenges

Interested persons may volunteer to perform a variety of services through the auspices of the Oakland County Volunteer Bureau, a division of United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit.

Adult and student volunteers can be placed anywhere in Oakland County or the metropolitan area.

The bureau represents over 200 health and welfare agencies; hospitals, educational and government institutions and recreational and cultural facilities. It coordinates volunteer needs for all social-welfare agencies and develops new par-challenging roles for citizen participation.

* * *

BUREAU programs include:

Expanding Their World -- basic purpose is to create new friendships and gain understanding among racial cultures.

• Management Counseling -- Purpose to develop, encourage and counsel new business developments for those who have been denied this opportunity. Volunteers are business and professional men who share their talents.

• Job - skills Development Team -- Purpose to seek out and place untrained youth in new vocational opportunities. This is a grass roots volunteer program.

• Crime and Delinquency -- Men or women may participate as counselors in prison camps or communities or may contribute cultural and educational talents.

• Law Enforcement - Community Relations -- Volunteers are members of police departments and the courts. A grass roots program that establishes confidence and respect.

* * *

IN ADDITION, volunteers may help to open up the world for indigents as case worker aides, work with doctors and social workers in responsible positions involving mental illness and retardation.

For consultation on volunteer positions, the bureau recommends an interview by appointment. The office is located at 231 S. Woodward, Birmingham; telephone 642-7272, director Mrs. Geraldine Clemmons.

Ford Closes April Strong

Ford dealers closed out April with a strong selling surge, as car sales in the final 10 days rose 18 per cent over the comparable period a year ago. Truck sales established a record for the period.

"Car sales during the final 10 days of April were 63,887 compared to 55,175 last year," said John Naughton, Ford Motor Co. vice president and Ford Division general manager. "Truck sales were 21,169, a record, and up 21 per cent over the 17,450 sold in the same period a year ago."

The daily sales rates for cars and trucks during the period were 7,986 and 2,646 respectively, compared to 6,896 cars and 2,181 trucks in the same period in 1967.

Appeals For Help

AN OPEN LETTER TO RESIDENTS OF FARMINGTON:

As of April 24, the citizens of the Farmington area have supported and fully committed themselves to the establishment of a fine Community Center. Nearly 80 people attended a meeting and completely endorsed the efforts of the study committees. As a result, there will be a flurry of activities over the summer months, preparing for a campaign drive in the fall.

We strongly encourage you to join with us in this effort to convert the magnificent Goodenough Estate into the outstanding Community Center that we know it can be. Volunteers will be needed for many activities, and you can offer your services by contacting any of the members of the Board of Directors.

Since many organizations cannot be formally contacted prior to this September, we urge each of you to consider our needs; that is, if you are a member of a committee or an organization which is planning its fall budget at this time, please consider the needs of the Community Center. Contributions toward this goal will be solicited in September. Again, if we can be of assistance in determining what contribution you desire to make, please contact any of the members of the Board.

Campus Issues Concern Carley

Tom Carley, son of David Carley, 32401 13 Mile Rd., Farmington, has been elected chairman of the Albion College Student Senate.

The senate resolves issues on the Albion campus and at present is concerned with increasing the enrollment of qualified Negro students and open housing within the campus community.

Carley is a junior student at the school, a member of Sigma Chi and a graduate of North Farmington High School.

Male Hand Grooming Needs Tools

If you want the men in your family to have well-groomed hands, it's up to you to provide the proper hand-care equipment.

Supply a stiff brush for scrubbing fingernails and knuckles where soil has a tendency to take hold, a pumice stone, nail clipper and file, and soothing lotion to use after hands are soap-and-water clean.

Place these "tools" in a convenient place in the bathroom, where your menfolk will see and use them.

State Electioneering Expense Laws Still Weak

In 1967, the Michigan Legislature made 50 revisions in the state's election laws--but none dealt with the growing problems of campaign expenditures and accounting.

In the states and in the nation, laws adopted through the years have sought to control money spent to gain political office, but with little tangible result.

In a continuing effort to remedy the situation in Michigan, Secretary of State James M. Hare has proposed a wide revision of the law to tighten up on what Time Magazine has called "green power" -- the money spent to assure the election of favored candidates.

* * *

HARE, WHO HAS termed the present law "impotent," says he is particularly concerned with several things:

1. Some political committees in Michigan have spent large amounts of money and failed to report the full amounts.

2. Because contributions received at testimonial dinners in non-campaign years presently have no place to be reported, this raises a question of interest to the Internal Revenue Service.

3. The Bowles Grand Jury of last year found that there was no clear requirement for identification of campaign expenditures.

4. There were no requirements to show the payment of debts following an election to be reported.

5. There was no requirement that office holders or office seekers report their income or assets.

6. There was no present enforceable limit on the spending for any office.

7. Reports from some committees gave no true indication as to what candidates were being supported in that report.

* * *

HARE SAYS the present law appears unenforceable, noting:

"We've never had a case in which the attorney general thought we had a legal leg to stand on."

Hare's aides therefore have drafted and redrafted legislation to come up with some "better ideas."

Hare notes that Michigan has been relatively free of major political spending scandals.

"But the facts make it clear that Michigan must act to close the loopholes and bring greater clarity, reason, and responsibility to political finance," he says.

* * *

HE CITED THESE major loopholes in the current law:

1. Despite the limit on a candidate's spending, he may set up any number of committees, each of which under legal interpretations may likewise collect funds within the specified limit--which in effect means no limit at all.

2. Some of these committees report their contributions and expenditures in states other than Michigan, making it impossible to get a true picture of the total amount spent.

But perhaps the biggest loophole of all is the general reluctance of legislators here and elsewhere to demand a full accounting of campaign spending.

Hare insists that a more stringent law is needed "to protect the public."

* * *

"WE MUST CLEAR any suspicion of taint from the many honest and sincere people who take part in political activity," he said.

Under the proposed law, the limit on a candidate's expenditures would be raised from $40 to $100 per 1,000 votes cast for president in the last national election. But the law also would make this sum the limit for any candidate and his campaign committees combined.

It would also make the candidate personally responsible for all spending, including the spending of funds collected by sources outside the state.

There would be no solicitation of funds or spending, except by the candidate himself, his own committees or the state central and county committees. And each of a candidate's committees would be authorized to function only by the candidate himself, who also would be responsible for their accounting.

The candidate and the authorized treasurers of his committees would be required to make sworn statements as to disbursements before and after each primary or general election and to make annual reports even in non-election years.

* * *

IN A FURTHER major change, candidates would be required to make annual disclosures of his net worth and all income--a step designed to prevent candidates from using political funds collected in their behalf for personal use. This would forestall scandals such as that in which Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Connecticut, was censured by the United States Senate.

The new law also would prevent corporations from contributing money for campaign purposes, put a limit of $5,000 (as in the federal Hatch Act) on contributions of any individual, prohibit anonymous contributions of more than $5 (with excessive amounts going to the state general fund) and give the Secretary of State subpoena power to determine the validity of campaign spending reports.

"We need all these things in this day of big spending--or we need more Abraham Lincolns," Hare observed.

"When Lincoln ran for Congress in 1846, friends collected a campaign fund of $200. Lincoln spent 75 cents for a barrel of cider to treat farm constituents and returned $199.25."

Psychologists Find 3 Areas Vital To Marriage

WASHINGTON -- The happy individual with a good marriage has been able to find that partner who complements his personality in three distinctive ways.

A group of Denver, Colo., psychologists has isolated three areas where man and wife should complement each other, if the marriage is going to be stable. They found the three after analyzing scores of marriage combinations in a study of 100 couples, half of whom were in marital counseling.

But they still can't say yes or no to a proposed mate--the information isn't complete enough.

It is most important that a man and wife complement each other on giving and receiving help--more important, for instance, than complementing each other on aggression and passivity.

* * *

IF ONE PARTNER likes to take care of someone, the other should like to be taken care of, says Dr Irwin H. Cohen, psychologist with the Veterans Administration Hospital in Denver. Two helpers are likely to frustrate each other, while two receivers will leave each dissatisfied.

Two other dimensions that turned out to be critical to happy marriage were sociability and sexuality.

It does not seem to matter, says Dr. Cohen whether the couple is relatively unsociable or disinterested in sex, so long as both partners feel the same way. Here the man and wife are complementary if they are alike.

Other traits often blamed for unhappy marriages, such as the need to dominate, to criticize, to have order or adventure, were either less critical to the husband-wife blend, or unimportant, according to this study.

The Denver study drew half its couples from marriage counselors, primarily at VA mental hygience clinics around the country. The other half were found through churches and were selected for their own self-admitted satisfaction in marriage.

* * *

"WE WERE ABLE to find a very real and strong difference between those in counseling and those maintaining stable marriages," says Dr. Cohen.

The difference hinged on five needs--including the critical three--that were complementary in stable couples and a source of conflict in those seeking help. Two less important but still significant dimensions dealt with aggression and independence.

It is somewhat important that an aggressive partner who likes to criticize be paired with one who needs to take blame, says Dr. Cohen. For the fifth dimension, independence, husband and wife should be similar.

* * *

PUTTING the five together, Dr. Cohen and his colleagues, Drs. Jack Dwerin and Lawrence S. Rogers of the VA hospital and Dr. Milton Lipetz of the University of Colorado, have constructed a marital index that should distinguish stable from unstable marriages with some success.

The index, however, could not be used to predict stability for individual marriages at this point.

The Denver work also overturned a common belief that one neurotic partner eventually leads the other into neurosis.

The couples studied had been married for periods ranging from 2 to 20 years. "When we broke down marriages by age, we found neurosis in marriage was not contagious," says Dr. Cohen.

Results are so far preliminary; much material on flexibility in thinking, dogmatism, values and other dimensions has yet to be analyzed.

Marriage stability rests on a complex interaction between the traits of husband and wife, says Dr. Cohen. "It's going to be very difficult to predict for the individual."

Dates Helps Plan WSU Fete

Brian Dates, 22512 Floral, Farmington, chairman of Wayne State University's Student Centennial Committee, is also chairman of the midway committee for WSU's Fun Festival to be held May 25-26 at Bob-Lo Island.

A member of Tau Kappa Epsilon, Dates worked on committees for the 1966 festival, has been chairman of WSU Week and a staff member for Wayne's Frosh Camp.

Keep Drain Clear

According to plumbers, it is a good idea to help clear drains by running very hot water periodically in your water pipes.

Apple Cooler

Big treat for the children and one that's good for them too: Put a big scoop of vanilla ice cream in a tall glass and fill to the brim with chilled apple juice.

Prevent Sticking

Grease the threads on glue and nail polish bottles and they won't stick.

Wayne State University's most frequent baseball foe is cross-town rival University of Detroit with 43 games having been played between the two schools in the all-time series.

FIX-IT TIP

Gutters and downspouts should be periodically cleaned of leaves and other material which can prevent water from draining off. All water should be carried away from the house rather than toward the foundation. These precautions may save mildew problems, a flooded basement, or peeling or blistering paint.

Road Projects Started

Work has started on five highway construction and improvement projects totaling nearly one million dollars, the State Highway Commission reports.

The projects and scheduled completion dates are:

- Drainage correction and paving on M-32 at Ripley Blvd., and on US-23 at Chisholm and State streets, Alpena; June.
- Construction of a bridge to carry Parmalee Rd. over the Thornapple River north of Middleville; September
- 16.7 miles of widening and paving on US-131 between M-46 and M-20, and on M-46 west of Ferris Rd., Montcalm County; October.
- Deck repair on a bridge carrying I-96 over Black Creek south of Muskegon; September.
- 2.5 miles of grading and base course on Maple Island Rd. south of Sullivan, Muskegon County; September.

Beaver Island Once King's, Count's Home

A Mormon king, a Russian count and an Emerald Isle.

It sounds like the plot of an historical novel. Indeed, thousands of words have been written about "King" James Jesse Strang, Count Feodora Portar and Beaver Island.

Anglicized from the French Ile du Castor, Michigan's Beaver Island was so named because on old maps it looked like a stretched out beaver skin.

* * *

THE ISLAND IS 32 miles offshore from Charlevoix in northeastern Lake Michigan. It's 14 miles long, six wide, and is the largest island in Lake Michigan as well as being the main island in a group of 13.

Beaver Island originally was a haven for wild life and a target for Indian hunting parties until Strang led a small band of Mormon settlers to the island in 1847.

Strang splintered from the main Mormon group after losing a fight with Brigham Young for the sect's leadership. Young and the main body headed west to Utah. The Strangites journeyed to Beaver Island.

Strang proclaimed himself "king" and the island's only city, St. James, was named after the monarch.

Strang's flock grew, and so did the power of the only monarchy in the continental United States. Despite the small size of the island, its population was greater than that of Emmet County on the mainland and Strang was able to control the county government.

* * *

STRANG'S AUTOCRATIC rule and religious tenets didn't sit well with the mainlanders, mainly Irish settlers and fishermen, but it was two members of Strang's own colony who shot and killed him in 1856.

The colony disintegrated and the Irish gradually began taking over the island. They burned most of the Strangites' buildings, but some still remain, including the print shot which has been converted into a museum.

With the Irish takeover and because of its forestation, Beaver Island soon became known as the "Emerald Isle". To this day, the biggest holiday on the island is St. Patrick's Day.

* * *

BUT ANOTHER patron of the island was a Russian nobleman, Count Feodora Protar, who was banished by the czar because he freed his serfs. Protar, a doctor, spent 30 years on Beaver Island, taking care of the islanders' medical needs without charge.

Beaver Island today retains the rustic charm of the past and is an ideal vacation spot for people who want to slow down, discover the wildlife and see spectacular lake sunsets.

A trip to Beaver Island starts leisurely with a cruise on the modern motorship Beaver Islander out of Charlevoix. It's a two hour and 15 minute trip, and you can take your car. The ship makes two round trips daily during the summer months. There's also air service from Charlevoix.

* * *

BEAVER ISLAND has 75 miles of improved highway, numerous bathing beaches, inland lakes and modern accommodations. There's a nine hole golf course, good fishing and hunting in season.

The island is a delight for photographers with weathered split rail fences, beached boats and the Beaver Head light house at the south tip of the island, third oldest light house on the Great Lakes.

Ask Dr. Quizmee ????

Dr. Quizmee, our information specialist, is happy to answer his readers' questions in his weekly column. All responses are verified by Funk & Wagnalls Standard Reference Encyclopedia.

Ken B., a student of economics, asks: "I've read that business is in the 'doldrums'! What does that mean?"

The term "doldrums" actually refers to a region of calms and light variable winds at sea near the Equator — in other words, a place where there is little stirring!

"What are the odd-looking letters on the sides of Russian aircraft?" asks K. M., a European traveler.

Those letters are from the Cyrillic alphabet, an ancient system attributed to the Apostle Cyril. It contains 48 characters, compared to our alphabet's 26.

Plymouth Man To Head Ford Anti-Pollution Work

A Plymouth man, Frank J. Kallin of 344 Scituate, has been appointed facility environmental control manager for Ford Motor Co.

Kallin will be in charge of Ford's world-wide efforts to control air and water pollution sources in and around company plants.

The company plans to spend $80 million in the next four years in North America alone to control air and water pollution.

* * *

KALLIN JOINED the company in 1941 as a chemist. He later served as an industrial wastes engineer, senior engineer, supervisor and chief civil engineer before becoming engineering services manager in 1959.

Since 1966 he has been engineering planning and systems manager in the company's Plant Engineering Office.

He is a member of the American Water Works Association and a member and past president of the Michigan Water Pollution Control Association.

* * *

IN HIS NEW position, Kallin will coordinate several major phases of the current Ford facility environmental program in the U.S., including:

A $3.5 million installation of six electrostatic precipitators at the Rouge Powerhouse. The project is under way and scheduled for completion next February.

Final testing of a $4.3 million installation at the Dearborn Iron Foundry for dust-collection equipment.

A new $700,000 dust-collection system at the Rouge Sinter Plant to be completed next January.

Installation of a baffling system in the Rouge Coke Ovens North Quenching Tower to be completed early next year. This is similar to an existing baffling system at the South Quenching Tower.

A four-year $710,000 water pollution-control project at the General Parts Division plant in Ypsilanti.

A $500,000 expansion of water pollution-control facilities at the Metal Stamping Division plant in Monroe.

A new $200,000 lagoon for additional treatment at the Rouge oil removal facilities.

A $1,800,000 program at the Los Angeles Assembly Plant for installation of 11 afterburners for paint bake ovens to control exhaust emissions.

Completion of plans for waste water treatment at the new Kentucky Heavy Truck Assembly Plant in Louisville by the Louisville Metropolitan Sewer Authority and Jefferson County. Initial cost to Ford of $600,000 will accelerate the start for an area-wide treatment plant to serve the total watershed district.

A $1.3 million process waste water treatment plant at the new Sterling-Van Dyke Plant in Sterling Township. The treatment plant, to be completed this fall, will be one of the most modern in the industry.

Women Plan MD March

Farmington residents Mrs. Judy Marvin, 30064 Beacontree; Mrs. Tom Nolan, 33875 Harlan Dr.; and Mrs. Bruce Eldridge, 25389 Chapelweigh, have been named community chairman for the Mother's March Against Time to be sponsored by the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc., the evening of May 28.

The Mother's March is the only source of funds the MD associations have. Funds are used for a comprehensive research program into causes and cure of the crippling and usually fatal disease, to finance complete patient services and to maintain the special summer camp for MD patients.

Shouldn't have to. Because good eating, along with good exercise, are two very important ways of building a healthier future for your family.

And there just isn't any more nutritional margarine around than Fleischmann's. It's made from 100% corn oil and the medical fact is, no vegetable oil is better for you than corn oil. Because not one, but a combination of factors, makes a vegetable oil beneficial. And the combination in corn oil is unsurpassed.

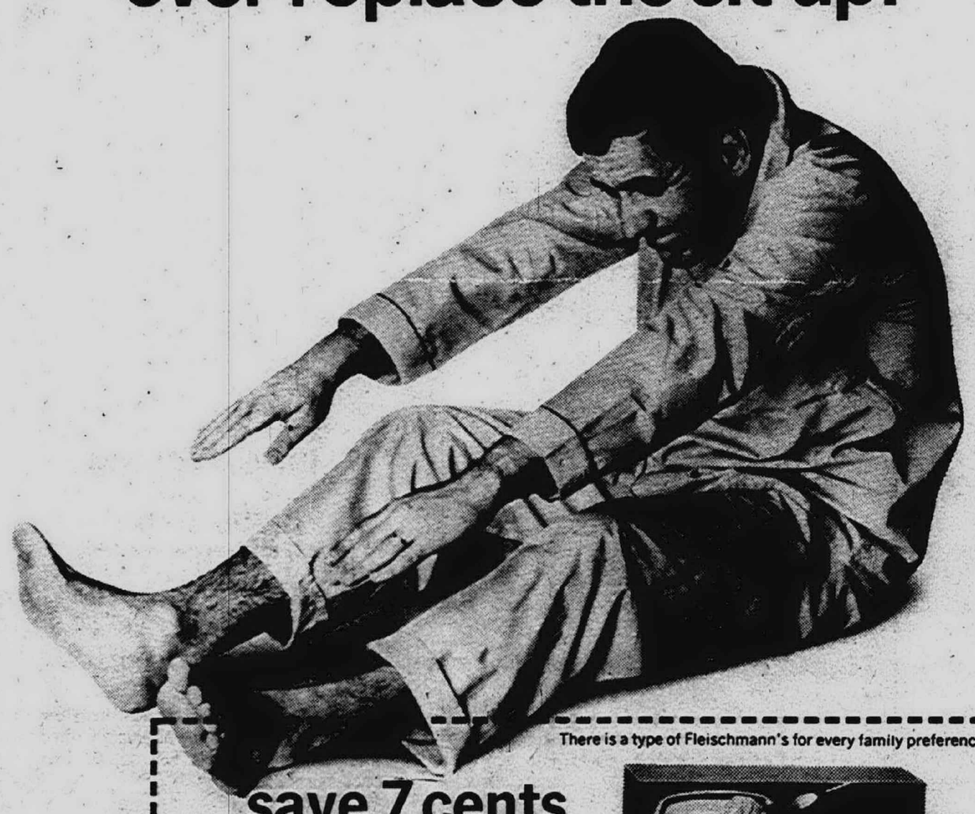

But what's health without enjoyment? Good taste—that's almost as important as good nutrition. And its rich corn oil flavor is the other reason more families use and enjoy Fleischmann's than any other premium margarine in America.

Fleischmann's Margarines—Stick, Soft, or Unsalted—all made from 100% corn oil. Not one of which will replace a sit-up. So keep your family active. And save a little money while you're at it.

If you're calorie-conscious, you can save a little on new Diet Fleischmann's, too.

Will Fleischmann's Margarine ever replace the sit-up?

There is a type of Fleischmann's for every family preference. 5270

Scouts, Explorers May Apply For '69 Jamboree

A total of 468 Boy Scouts and Explorers from the metropolitan Detroit area will attend the 1969 national jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America next year, according to William J. Bird, chairman of the Jamboree Committee for the Detroit Area Boy Scout Council.

Information and applications are now being readied for distribution to troop and post leaders in the local council. Applications are to be made to the Scout Service Center in Detroit.

The seventh national jamboree, limited to about 40,000 participants, will be held at Farragut State Park, Idaho, site of the world jamboree held there in 1967. The dates are from July 16 to 22, 1969.

All applicants will be interviewed by a selection committee composed of local council executive board members. F. Lloyd Smith, council commissioner, will be chairman of the selection committee.

In order to be eligible to attend the jamboree, Boy Scouts must have attained age 12 on or before Sept. 1, 1968 and have achieved Star rank by April 1, 1969. Explorers must be registered as Scouts or Explorers on or before July 1, 1968 and must meet requirements of camping experience, leadership and Scouting spirit.

Other Jamboree Committee chairmen are S. J. Rozema; John Adams, promotion; Harry Rogan, transportation; Jervis C. Webb, equipment; LeRoy E. Kiefer, gateways and campsites; pre-jamboree training, James McCormick; health and safety, Dr. Harvey D. Lynn; and participation, Duke Fisher.

Tentative plans include two travel options for the Scouts and leaders who will attend the jamboree. Each will be via special trains leaving from Chicago, and each will offer opportunities to visit major historic and scenic sites enroute to and from the jamboree.

Accountants Set Election

The Detroit Chapter of the National Association of Accountants will have its annual election and awards night on Thursday, May 16 in the Pick-Fort Shelby Hotel.

Featured speaker will be Dr. Bernard F. Landuyt, dean of the College of Commerce and Finance, University of Detroit. Doctor Landuyt will speak on the "Free Enterprise System."

Big Bruiser

The giant rhinoceros, baluchoiterium, which stalked the earth some 30 million years ago, stood 17 feet high at the shoulder and was 24 feet long.

30TH BIRTHDAY — No, the girl isn't that age, but General Motors' Detroit Diesel Engine Division plant in Redford is. And the 6-71 diesel she's riding is one of the same models that's still being produced. But where in 1938 the 6-71 was rated 90-165 horsepower, today's engine, with virtually an identical design, is capable of 280 horsepower. In that time, Detroit Diesel has built more than a million engines, most of them still in service.

Skilled Help Short In Health, Medicine

"High school seniors still undecided about a possible career should consider the many rewarding careers in medicine and the health field."

So declares B. M. Harris, M.D, Ypsilanti, president of the Michigan State Medical Society.

"Opportunities in the health field are unlimited. At least 750,000 additional people are needed in the health professions and occupations by 1970 in the nation," Doctor Harris declares.

Applications of new medical discoveries and expansion of total medical services have revolutionized patient care. Hand-in-hand with this, the steadily increasing public demand for health services has become greater than existing personnel can meet.

These shortages of professional and other trained health personnel have been present, and widening, in some health professions and occupations for several years.

Expanded health care services now provided through Medicare and other legislation are expected to increase already existing needs for health personnel.

Health care needs require more physicians, nurses, hospital personnel in dozens of career categories, medical and radiologic technologists, therapists in various methods of rehabilitation, health educators, administrators, pharmacists, dietitians, dentists and dental technologists, medical librarians, medical record librarians -- in fact, more of everything.

U-M Dean To Head Association

Floyd A. Bond, dean of the University of Michigan's Graduate School of Business Administration, was elected president of the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business.

The association is composed of the nation's 120 professionally accredited business schools. Its primary function is the promotion and improvement of college education for business.

As chief executive officer of the association, Dean Bond will preside at meeting, serve as chairman of the executive committee, and speak for the association in its relations with universities, business firms, government, and the public.

Bond has been dean at Michigan since 1961. He holds three degrees from the University, and taught in the department of economics from 1938 to 1946.

Road Head Honored

LANSING--Ardale W. Ferguson of Benton Harbor, has been honored by the State Highway Commission for three years of service as the Commission's first chairman.

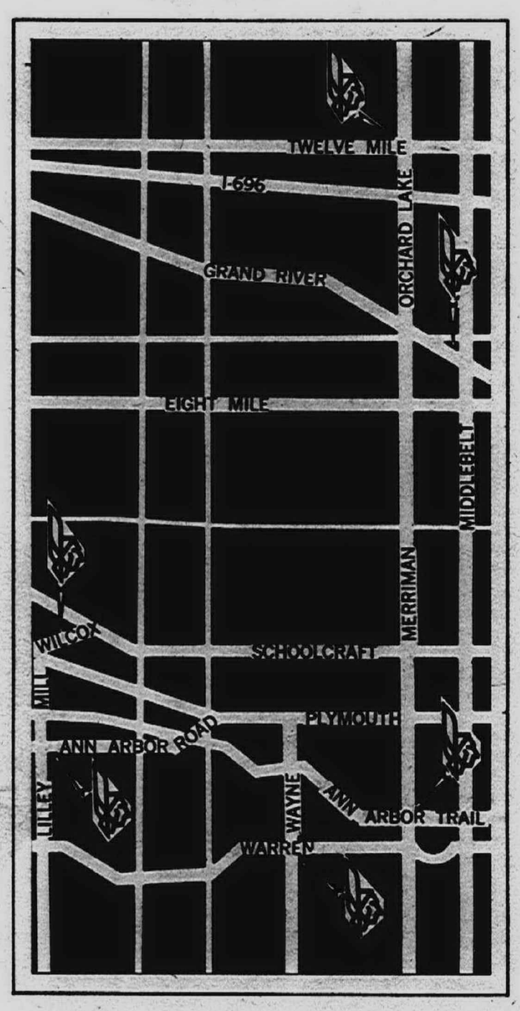

Ferguson was presented with an inscribed gavel and a framed commendation calling attention to his tenure during transition from the elected highway commissioner to the Commission form of administration.

Making the presentation in behalf of the Commission was Charles H. Hewitt, Detroit, vice chairman under Ferguson and who succeeded him as chairman in January.

Foil Bag Useful

The foil insulating bag that ice cream comes in makes a great container in which to warm rolls.

TOP WINNERS in the regional industrial arts competition were five boys from Franklin Junior High School, in the Wayne Community School district which serves most of Westland. The five are (left to right) Gerald Gill, second place winner in general wood-working; David Riley, second place in wood-turning; David Schwalben, first place in wood-turning; Dean Minton, and Mel Shebester, first place winners in the electricity category.

State Lists 'Safe' Garden Pesticides

"Use the safest pesticides available, and be sure to read and heed the labels on their containers."

That is the pointed appeal of Conservation Director Ralph A. MacMullan to Michigan householders who are planning to apply commercial chemicals this spring to control pest and weed problems around their homes and gardens.

He particularly urges homeowners to avoid DDT and some other "hard" or persistent pesticides which have a serious long-term impact on wildlife, soil organisms, and water purity. Others on the Conservation Department's "black list" include Dieldrin, Aldrin, Endrin, Chlordane, Lindane, and Heptachlor.

* * *

EVEN WITH safer, shorter-lived pesticides, householders can't be too careful. "All pesticides are poisons," he explains, "and they must be used with care and all directions on their labels should be followed to a 'T'."

Before the U.S. Department o. Agriculture allows a pesticide to be registered for sale, its manufacturer must show proof that the chemical, used at dosages recommended on the label, will kill the pests listed.

On this point, MacMullan notes: "If the labels says to use one tablespoon in a gallon of water, you shouldn't use two. Excessive amounts will be wasteful and could cause added dangers to other organisms. On the other hand, under-dosages may not do the job."

Michigan's conservation director sums up his "read it and heed it" warning this way: "Safety precautions are listed on each label for a purpose. You should pay strict attention to them---for your own safety, for the good of others, and for the safety on non-target birds, fish, and animals."

The Conservation Department, hoping to turn the tide on pesticide pollution and spearhead steps toward a cleaner environment, offers the following list of some safer pesticides and herbicides for recommended home and garden use:

* * *

1. METHOXYCHLOR---for controlling houseflies, lice, ticks, leaf hoppers, Japanese beetles, army worms, coddling moths, spittlebugs, scale (crawlers), and many others.

2. SEVIN (also called CARBARYL)---for controlling aphids, coddling moths, scales, leaf hoppers, army worms, spittlebugs, thrips, grasshoppers, stink bugs, cucumber beetles, and many others, including ticks, fleas, and mites on dogs and cats.

3. MALATHION---for controlling aphids, mites, scales, flies, leaf minors, loopers, army worms, grasshoppers, lice, ticks, ants, spiders, mosquitoes, and many others.

4. PYRETHRIN---for controlling mosquitoes, flies, aphids, mites, beetles, loopers, lice, and many others.

5. ROTENONE---for controlling beetles, weevils, slugs, mosquitoes, thrips, fleas, lice, flies, and many others.

6. NALED OR DIBROM---for controlling loopers, mites, aphids, houseflies, army worms, leaf miners, cutworms, fruit flies, thrips, mosquitoes, gnats, grasshoppers, and many others.

7. 2, 4-D---a commonly used, safe herbicide which will handle most weed problems. Check the label to make sure the chemical is recommended for your weed situation.

8. DALAPON---a herbicide used to kill grasses.

9. 2, 4, 5-T---for eradicating brush and other woody plants. This is a more powerful herbicide than some of the others and should be carefully used according to the label instructions. Keep away from streams and other surface water.

While there are other safe chemicals for special uses, those listed here should cover many of the householder's needs around the home and garden.

Some of the other "soft" pesticides are extremely dangerous to use and should never be applied except by trained specialists who use special equipment. These include parathion, TEPP, thimet, and temik. A drop of temik in the eye could be fatal.

May Is Festival Time In Michigan

May is springtime in Michigan, a coming-alive time when the tulips bloom by the thousands in Holland and the blossoming orchards look like row after row of giant pink and white popcorn balls in Berrien County.

The May events calendar leans heavily toward outdoor activities highlighted by Holland's 39th annual Tulip Time and St. Joseph-Benton Harbor's 35th Blossom Festival.

* * *

TULIP TIME is May 15-18 when Michigan's Netherlands breaks out in a profusion of colors with innumerable tulips and varieties.

The Klompen Dancers, 500 high school girls in Dutch dress and wooden shoes, are a favorite attraction and give several free performances daily.

Noted for their cleanliness, the Hollanders scrub the street, hold square dances and stage parades. Tulip Time visitors can tour a wooden shoe factory, a typical Dutch market and see the 12-story, 200-year old windmill, "De Zwaan," brought over from the Netherlands and re-assembled here.

* * *

JUST DOWN THE Lake Michigan shoreline from Holland is the St. Joseph-Benton Harbor Blossom Festival set for May 12-18. It opens with the traditional blessing of the blossoms in one of the area orchards.

Twenty-nine lovely Blossom Queens, fashions, dancers and a Count Basie concert lead up to the May 18 Grand Floral Parade, the highlight of the week.

Colorful floral floats from around the state, numerous bands and celebrities make the parade one of southwest Michigan's biggest annual events.

ELSEWHERE AROUND Michigan, canoe races will be held in Holly, Mt. Pleasant, Lansing, Bear River and Linden.

Anyone wi' a wee bit of Scottish blood will enjoy the skirling of 20 bagpipe bands and kiltie dancers in the first highland Festival and Games in Alma on May 25.

Two historical moments in Michigan's past will be re-enacted--the landing of Father Marquette at Sault Ste. Marie and the Indian massacre at Fort Michilimackinac.

The re-enactment of Marquette's landing at the Soo 300 years ago will take place May 19 as part of the Soo's year-long tricentennial celebration and the Indians' 1763 Michilimackinac takeover will be re-staged May 30-June 2 in the shadow of the Mackinac Bridge

Two Lanes Of US 131 'Retired'

The State Highway Commission plans to take bids in July to retire two of the four lanes of divided US-131 in Antrim County and to convert the other lanes to two-way operation.

The Highway Commission said the lanes to be retired were built in the 1920s and have outlived their usefulness. The lanes to be retained were built in 1956 and the Commission said the approaches to this pavement will be rebuilt to accommodate two-way traffic.

Estimated cost of the project is $170,000 and it is expected that the work will be completed this year.

The Commission said the 13-mile stretch of US-131, between Mancelona and M-32, was not designed to be a four-lane highway, but in the big push to open multi-lane highways in the middle '50s, the old roadway was not retired as planned.

The Commission considered reconstruction of the old roadway at a cost of $1.5 million, but said its traffic counts show that two lanes will be adequate in the foreseeable future to accommodate two-way traffic.

The Commission's long-range plans call for extension of the US-131 freeway to the Straits of Mackinac.

BEDTIME FOR BASS

Spawnin' time is fishin' time. And it's right around the corner, already underway in the south, about to begin up north.

For many bass fishermen this event signals the start of the wildest action they can expect to find during the season.

The spawning of America's favorite game fish holds more than passing interest, comment the angling experts at Mercury outboards.

When early spring water temperatures approach 60 degrees, fish move into shallow water. Papa Bass works hard to fan out a nest in the bottom and induces Mama Bass to lay her eggs in this specially created haven; the number may range from 4,000 to 10,000.

This done, Mama flips her tail and disappears, leaving the old man to protect the nest against all intruders for a period of incubation that may last from two days to more than a week.

And protect the nest he does.

Any creature or object that trespasses is violently attacked. Hence, the effectiveness of almost any fishing lure plopped in the vicinity.

Production Line Work Monotonous To Theorists

The production line worker is probably a lot happier in his specialized routine than social scientists give him credit for being, a special study indicates.

William P. Sexton, formerly of the labor relations staff of Western Electric Co. and now a management professor at the University of Notre Dame, suggests that theorists are more horrified by routine work than the people who perform it.

His study, he says, has convinced him that for many people such routine work is ideal.

* * *

WRITING IN Management of Personnel Quarterly, published by the Bureau of Industrial Relations, University of Michigan Graduate School of Business Administration, Sexton notes that modern industrial growth has increased the need for managers to regulate and control workers for the sake of efficiency.

"So structured are such jobs that a worker may be required to do little more than tighten a bolt, check a dimension, or clean a surface on an inexhaustible stream of identical parts," the author writes. "Some thinkers contend that this structuring of behavior has a psychologically devastating effect on the worker."

Sexton sampled nearly 200 employes in a large Midwestern electronics firm, studied their reactions to routine work, and came up with these general conclusions:

1. A job structure perceived by a worker as being rigid has no devastating effect upon his satisfaction of his higher level egoistic needs (sense of independence, creativity, and the like).

2. The theory that the close restrictions required for effective production would tend to reduce individual job satisfactions should be rejected.

* * *

WHILE SOME JOBS "offer little opportunity to express oneself and become involved," Sexton says, many things would lead toward a higher satisfaction.

He cites three: satisfaction of a need for security; the sensation of being "freed" by a highly structured job; and the existence of stable expectations.

Security for the average industrial worker means more than financial incentives, he explains. "It might include the need for highly predictable interaction patterns, for stability in the job, and for freedom from the personal threat of the unfamiliar or unusual.

"Scientists and engineers would probably be repulsed by this prospect, but certainly there is a great difference here in aptitude, in temperament, and, more basically, in value systems. Those who label present-day work monotonous and boring are speaking for themselves."

* * *

IN A PRACTICAL way, the line worker may have more freedom and variety in his job than his counterpart, the staff assistant, Sexton maintains.

"For the most part, the staff assistant must concentrate upon his work. The line worker's concentration, in contrast, is not wholly required in the performance of his job; perhaps it is he who is actually enjoying a sense of freedom!"

Sexton emphasizes the confusion between monotony and habit. We dress, eat, and walk every day in much the same way, but these activities are not monotonous; they are habitual.

"The task is not monotonous unless the individual is forced to concentrate on it," he adds. "The worker whose job is highly structured can, in great measure, direct his mental processes to whatever he desires."

In such a job, the author explains, a worker "would be free to socialize with fellow workers and, after a fashion, initiate his own activities autonomously."

Classes Prepare For Jobs

To prepare college-bound students for interim employment, an intensified course in office procedures will be offered by the vocational education department of Farmington schools.

Included will be classes in electric typewriting, use of transcribing equipment, ten-key and full-keyboard adding machine operation, calculator operation, duplicating and copying equipment usage, data processing, filing techniques, office procedures, shorthand and transcription.

Required to enroll are one semester of typing, satisfactory grades, completion of 10th grade, a personal interview with the project director and approval by counselor and screening committee.

Special features of the program will be individualized instruction with class size limited to 20, use of electronic laboratory facilities, single concept films and programmed instruction designed to fit the individual.

Classes will be held from 8 a.m. to 12 noon Monday through Friday, June 19 to Aug. 9. Inquiries should be directed to the director of vocational education, 476-9215.

Maxwell House® Announces Freeze-Dried Coffee

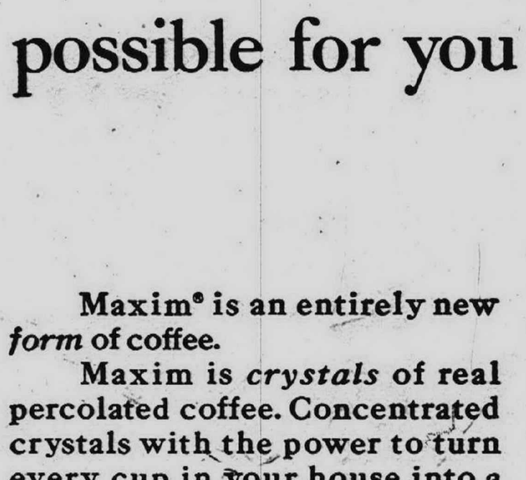

Now, an entirely new process called freeze-drying actually makes it possible for you to brew real percolated coffee...without a percolator!

Maxim® is an entirely new form of coffee.

Maxim is crystals of real percolated coffee. Concentrated crystals with the power to turn every cup in your house into a percolator!

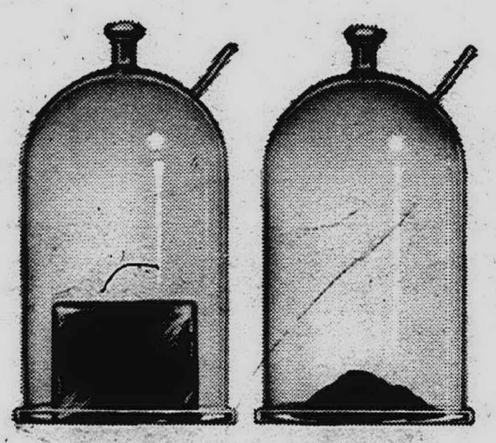

Maxim is an amazing breakthrough in coffee-making. It is entirely different from any instant coffee. It is entirely different from any ground coffee. Maxim is, in fact, concentrated crystals of real percolated coffee.

Maxim's secret—freeze-drying—is the result of years of coffee research at Maxwell House. A way has been discovered to transform actual pot-brewed coffee into concentrated crystals. Here's how it is done.

Freshly percolated coffee is poured into freezing containers.

Maxim begins with pots and pots of dark, strong, percolated coffee. This freshly brewed coffee is poured into special freezing containers. Here it is flash-frozen at the peak of perfection, when coffee flavor and aroma are at their breakfast-time best.

Vacuum chamber turns block of frozen coffee into crystals.

After the coffee has been frozen, the ice is drawn off—not by heat which destroys flavor—but by an amazing new vacuum process. It spirits the ice away without losing any of the honest flavor and body of freshly-percolated coffee.

Freeze-Dried crystals that need no refrigeration!

This "ice removal" leaves concentrated crystals of real percolated coffee. And that's exactly what Maxim freeze-dried coffee is—fresh-brewed coffee without the water. These waterless crystals stay fresh until you're ready to use them. They need absolutely no refrigeration and can be kept right in your kitchen cupboard.

Different from any other form of coffee.

You can tell at once that Maxim is unlike any other coffee you have ever used. Take a spoonful, and you see golden brown crystals that actually sparkle. Smell them, and you smell the rich, roasted aroma of freshly percolated coffee.

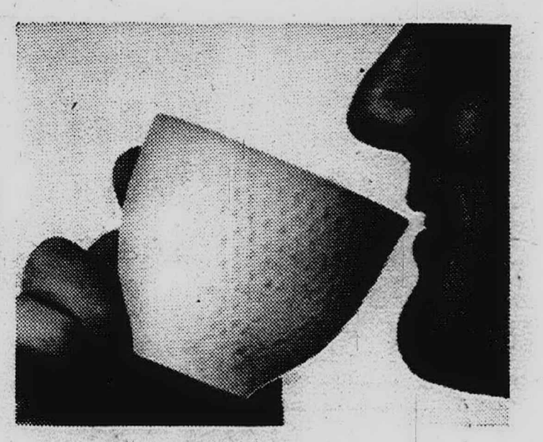

Turns your cup into a percolator!

The real miracle happens in your cup. The moment you add hot water Maxim's concentrated crystals explode into real percolated coffee. Maxim actually turns every cup in your house into a percolator! No pots. No grounds. No instant taste!

Important—you need less per cup!

Because Maxim's crystals are concentrated, you use less per cup than you do with any other form of coffee. For each cup, just use a level teaspoon (more or less to taste). You'll find it's surprisingly thrifty to use Maxim!

Discover Maxim—America's first Freeze-Dried coffee.

Get Maxim soon. Try it and see if you can detect a difference between Maxim and the good coffee you've been brewing in your percolator! You'll get the surprise of your coffee-loving life! Discover Maxim—America's first Freeze-Dried coffee—new from Maxwell House.

One 4-oz. jar of Maxim makes as many cups as one pound of ground coffee.

14 TOPS Lose 264

The ladies of Farmington TOPS Scale Watchers have outdone themselves. Since Jan. 1, 14 of the women have shed a total of 264 pounds and that's not figuring in the fractions of the pounds they lost.

Looking very svelte, these 14 members are Marge Boden, over 10 pounds lost; Francis Cornice, over 11; Caroline Strand, more than 12; Bea Biem, 16; Edna Koglin, 16; Carole Haidor, over 16; Diane Cottongim, over 17; Judy Drogmiller; 18-plus; Alice Corriviau, 18-plus; Francine Hendrickson, over 19; Ann Shewfelt, more than 21; Judith Prager, 26-plus; and at the top of the list Arlene Palmer with almost 32 pounds and Mary Lou Ostrander with over 33.

Queen of the group Geraldine Johnson and group leader Ruth Sherrick have returned from TOPS national convention in Florida with deep tans and newly-inspired after seeing the national grand prize-winner who lost 200 pounds in a year's time.

Farmington's queen last month was Diane Cottingim who lost more than 17 pounds. Loser of 11-some pounds, Arlene Palmer was runner-up. Beth Drombrowski was named princess for shedding over four pounds. Queen for the week was Pat Domenzain, who slimmed down by four pounds.

Doctor in the Kitchen®

by W.W. Bauer, M.D.
Consultant, National Dairy Council

Are there really snacks that slim? Not actually. No single food is fattening, nor is any single food weight-reducing. Nor are there foods that "burn up fat." There is never a time, never an age when calories do not count.

But there are patterns you can follow in food selection as well as in your style of life that will help you control your weight. One of the life-style ideas for weight control concerns snacks.

* * *

THERE IS SOME evidence, for example, that eating oftener may help in weight reducing and control. The person who eats more often may actually eat less, whereas the person who eats only three meals a day may be hungry enough to put away more total calories in those three meals.

Thus, snacks might help to slim if they are chosen wisely, i.e., from the four food groups, so as to become little meals that in themselves take the edge off that otherwise too-gusty appetite at the time of those vaunted and traditional three "squares" a day.

* * *

WHAT ARE SOME snack ideas, along this line? Milk is one of the first things that comes to mind. With its balance of top quality protein, fat, and carbohydrate--all accompanied by a generous supply and variety of vitamins and minerals--milk is a small meal in itself. It is admirably suited, too, to flavoring with fruit juices or a dash of coffee.

A break in the day, or at work, can refresh and revive if snacks are sensible and considered as part of the food you may normally eat as part of your meals. At home, you could even save one of the foods you would otherwise have had at a meal and enjoy it later as a snack.

Or raid the ice box, but allow yourself only one bite each of several tidbits. A fourth of a cup of plain ice cream is only 73 calories, sherbet or fruit flavored water ice even less.

* * *

HOT BEEF BROTH, bouillon, and chilled vegetable juices qualify as snacks. Appetizers can be high in flavor but low in calories and used with toast strips or crackers for a crunchy snack. Try slices of cucumbers, tomato wedges, radish fans, celery branches, carrot curls, hard-boiled egg slices, and bite-size chunks of lettuce.

If the time between your meals allows, and it fits into your weight-reducing daily calorie budget, there is no reason why a sandwich cannot be a healthful snack.

MSU Unearths History

Ships longer than two football fields now glide under the mighty Mackinac Bridge that joins Michigan's two peninsulas. But in its shadow, where birch bark canoes once landed, archaeologists literally are turning back the sands of time.

They're uncovering two centuries of drifting sand to reconstruct a time of adventure, of treachery, of intrigue, of cannibalism.

They're topping a time when the Straits of Mackinac was inhabited by voyageurs, French and British soldiers, fur trappers and traders, the Chippewa and Ottawa Indians.

* * *

THE SITE IS Fort Michilimackinac (that's "Mish-il-uh-mac-uh-naw"), at Mackinaw City at the top of Michigan's lower peninsula.

Under the direction of the Mackinac Island State Park Commission, archaeologists from Michigan State University are rebuilding the fort as it was 200 years ago when it was a key western outpost for the lucrative fur trade.

Restoration began in 1959. Painstaking excavation has uncovered more than 300,000 artifacts that help tell the story of the fort and its inhabitants.

Coupled with the Fort Michilimackinac findings and research in Canadian and English archives, the archaeologists have pieced together precisely the plans of the fort, its buildings and the village outside its gates.

* * *

THE FORT WAS founded in 1715 by the French as both a fur outpost and jumping-off spot for further Great Lakes exploration.

The British took control in 1761 at the conclusion of the French and Indian War.

The Indians, however, had their revenge on the British in the 1763 massacre. They gained entry to the fort by a ruse during a connived lacrosse game, slaughtered most of the English garrison, but spared the French-speaking traders. It was part of a general Great Lakes uprising inspired by Chief Pontiac.

The British retook the fort in 1764 and held it until the Revolutionary War when they abandoned it, moving to nearby Mackinac Island which offered a better defensive position. Fort Michilimackinac then was left to be covered by the drifting, blowing sand until 1959.

* * *

AMONG THE CENTRAL figures in the fort's history was Alexander Henry, a British fur trader whose journal recorded the horror of the 1763 massacre.

Through the intercession of an Indian friend, Henry's life was spared, and he witnessed the cannibalism of a less fortunate prisoner who the Indians "chose as the fattest, cut off the head and divided the whole into five parts, one of which each was put into five kettles..."

Major Robert Rogers' fate was somewhat better. He was taken from the fort in chains, accused of being a traitor in 1767, and sent to Montreal for a court martial. He was acquitted, but life wasn't the same again for him.

Rogers, a hero of the French and Indian War as leader of Rogers' Rangers, dreamed of finding a northwest passage to the Pacific while commandant of Fort Michilimackinac. But the expedition was a failure and led to his arrest.

* * *

THE COMMANDING officer's house, where Rogers lived, is among the houses restored at the fort.

The latest restoration is that of Charles Langlade's house. Langlade, a native of the Straits, helped lead an Indian war party that routed British General Braddock's western Pennsylvania expedition in 1775. And it was Langlade's house in which Henry sought refuge from the Indians during the massacre.

Archaeologists also have found the blacksmith's forge and the foundation of the priest's house next to the already reconstructed Chapel of St. Anne de Michilimackinac where Langlade's wedding is re-created electronically for visitors several times daily by means of spotlights, sequence lighting and stereophonic sound.

Fort Michilimackinac had a normal population of approximately 500 persons. It rose to 2,000 to 3,000 during the peak of the fur trading season.

* * *

THE FORT IS much more popular today--and more readily accessible--thanks to Michigan's excellent highway system; Interstate 75 runs right next to the fort.

Mom Disgruntled By Teachers' Acts

EDITOR:

Recently, Martin Luther King was killed. He was a Man! No one has the right to take another man's life. He spoke out about what he thought and believed all men should be able to do that. I'm sorry he was shot. Many people are.

On Tuesday, school was canceled in the City of Livonia because of the funeral of Martin Luther King. A note sent home with students stated: It is suggested pupils watch funeral proceedings on television. Fine!!

But the proceedings lasted 7 1/2 hours. No small child (if they are anywhere near normal) will sit and watch television for 7 1/2 hours. So my child did not watch the funeral on TV. I, myself, did not watch all of it. Not many people could.

Wednesday when my child returned to the classroom. The teacher asked asked "How many watched the proceedings on TV?" When she found out that there were some who did not watch she gave them a lecture.

Now it just so happens that I also believe in civil rights. I believe it is my childs right and privilege to watch TV or not to watch it if he so desires, no matter what is on. I also believe it is not a teachers place to insist that they watch.

Her job is over once the child is home. Then the parents take over. My child realized and was sorry over what happened.

Sunday was the national mourning day for Martin Luther King. We attended church on Sunday and the service of course was dedicated to him.

I do not like to have someone else force their opinion on my children.

Let others believe how and what they may. Let my child be able to believe how and what he may choose. Because if the school and teachers start to dictate to the children, God help us all!

A FIRM BELIEVER IN CIVIL RIGHTS.

Conditions In Parks Concern Livonians

EDITOR:

We are concerned about conditions in our City parks, particularly those in Whitman Park which is near the homes of many of our parishioners.

The parks are becoming liabilities to our neighborhoods and community rather than assets. Many of us are afraid to permit our children to walk near the parks, much less play in them. The parks have become places for youthful drinking and fighting. They are illlighted and covered with broken glass from beer and pop bottles. We appeal to you to take immediate steps to improve these conditions.

We recognize that part of the problem is undisciplined neighborhood children and disinterested parents. However, recognition of this does nothing to improve the situation for the vast majority of people who do care. Some way must be found to direct and channel the interest of such problem kids or at least to highlight who they are and let them know they aren't welcome in the parks until they are willing to abide by the rules.

We suggest that the City mount a program to solve this problem and make the parks places which can be enjoyed by everyone. We are confident that there are many park neighbors who would be glad to participate in a "Parks Betterment Program" if leadership was provided.

With the active support of the Parks and Recreation Department, the Livonia Police and other City Departments, many people would participate in supervision and maintenance of park areas. We appeal to you to plan and implement such a program. We assure you of active citizen support.

We urge that some immediate steps be taken to alleviate the problem quickly and to demonstrate that the City means business in this area. Specifically, we request that:

1. More lighting be installed in the parks.
2. Police patroling of the parks be increased.
3. Playground supervision be provided in the parks in connection with the summer Parks and Recreation program.
4. The City proceed more rapidly with plans for swimming pools and recreation facilities in the parks which will have the effect of providing increased park supervision.
5. The Tank be junked.

We look forward to receiving from you further suggestions and specific plans for action.

How Laws Hit Man's Best Friend

While many of us have enjoyed the family dog or admired the pedigreed pooches of others, few people are aware that they are perhaps the most heavily regulated subject matter in our statutes.

Since before the turn of the century our lawmakers have seen fit to legislate in this area until at the present time Fido and his owner are faced with many statutory mandates. It may be interesting to look at a few of these requirements.

* * *

THE LAW SAYS it is unlawful for any person to own a dog four months old or older unless the dog is licensed and wears a collar at all times--the tag issued upon licensure must be attached to the collar.

It is also provided by statute that every dog shall at all times between sunset of each day and sunrise of the following day be confined upon the premises of its owner or custodian, except when the dog is otherwise under the reasonable control of some person.

The law even provides for a little harmless discrimination among dogs when it requires a higher license fee for females than for males.

* * *

DOG BEHAVIOR is also a matter of concern to the law and it is provided that it is the duty of every police officer, on complaint, to kill any dog or dogs which are found outside of an incorporated city, running at large and unaccompanied by its owner or keeper.

For killing and burying these roaming animals the police officer is entitled to a fee of $1 for each dog killed and buried.

The law is even broader in the case of dogs attacking livestock or persons, and the statute provides that any person seeing a dog committing any of these offenses may kill the dog and not be liable in damages for such killing.

Cities with a population exceeding 250,000 are excepted from the state dog law but are required to enact ordinances regulating and licensing the keeping of dogs.

Dogs and the dog law have been the subject of considerable litigation in Michigan commencing as far back as the year 1880 when the Michigan Supreme Court ruled that dogs are a proper subject for special and peculiar legislative regulation under the police power.

In an even earlier case the court ruled that dogs have a value and are to be considered as personal property. So the next time you see man's best friend remember that he has been talked about many times in our legislative halls and in the courts of Michigan.

'Instant Lawn' Production Is Booming

Green grass is not only pretty, it's profitable.

Michigan, with its $72 million sod industry, leads the nation in sod production.

The industry that makes a business of producing "instant lawns" has been on a steady climb from less than 1,000 acres grown in 1955 to 22,000 in 1968.

Excellent soil and climatic conditions are the chief reasons for success of the industry, according to James Beard, Michigan State University turfgrass researcher.

Economic factors such as high wages, continuous construction and accessibility to major population centers of the Midwest also influence the sod industry, Beard said. Michigan sod growers are within 12 hours trucking time from a significant portion of the growing U.S. population.

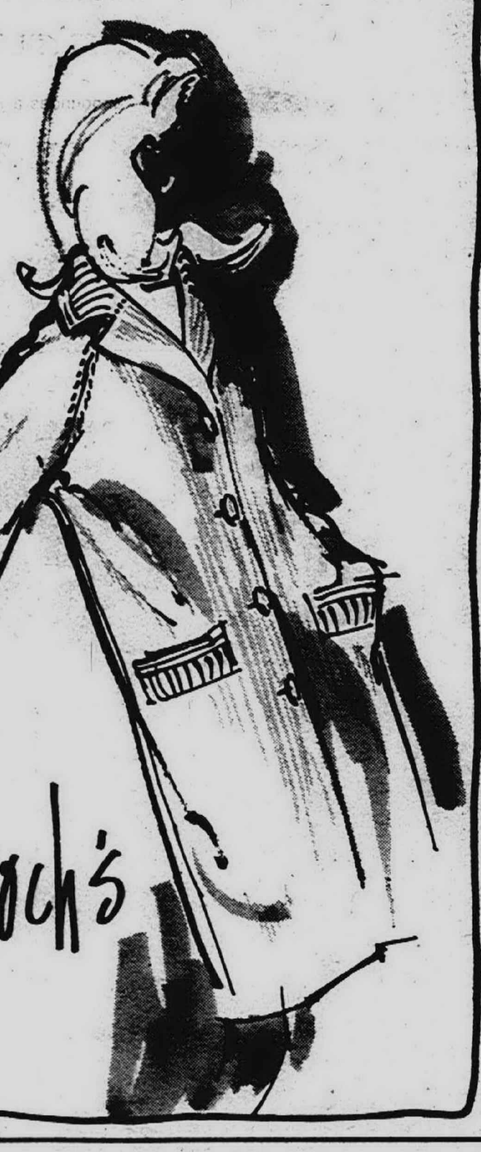

"The long-ranged future of the industry looks good," said Beard. "But the problems of producing and marketing sod should be studied carefully before anyone decides to go into sod production."

Lower Huron Nature Center Now In Bloom

The seasonal nature center at Lower Huron Metropolitan Park, 12 miles south of Plymouth near Belleville, is now open on week-ends, and the cclorful redbuds are in bloom along the parkway.

The flowering redbud, white dogwood, Juneberry trees and various wildflowers are also in bloom throughout the park and along the park's nature trails.

Visitors may observe these colorful shrubs while driving through the scenic park along Metropolitan Parkway from Hannan Rd. to Walz Rd. within the 1,000 acre site. The picturesque flowers should remain in bloom through Sunday, June 19 or longer.

* * *

ONE OF THE POPULAR attractions at the park this time of year is the seasonal nature center. Several exhibits of natural science are on display.

Children especially like to feel the animal pelts of stuffed species and to play the matching games to identify the correct names with the appropriate pictures of various animals or wildlife.

Nature Center hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. The same hours will be in effect during the four-day Memorial Day week-end and daily during the summer months starting Saturday, June 8.

* * *

THE PAW PAW and Bob White nature trails are open for self-guided hikes and wildlife is labeled for easy identification.

A map showing the location of the nature trails and facilities is available without charge by writing to Lower Huron Park Map, The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, 1750 Guardian Building, Detroit, Mich. 48226.

More than 78,400 persons have visited the nature center at Lower Huron Metropolitan Park since it opened in the spring of 1963, with over 21,600 visitors during 1967 from May through October.

Usage has more than doubled since the 10,300 visitors first used the center six years ago.

Let's Go Fishin'
BY BOB BREWSTER
Outdoor Editor, Mercury Outboards

IT STARTED WITH A WOMAN

While fishing is usually thought of as a man's sport, the first fishing expert was really a woman.

A printing of a bit of outdoor writing penned on parchment around fourteen twenty-five has been credited to a sweet little English nun named Dame Juliana Berners.

Juliana was born of a royal family in England and did some fishing and hunting as a girl with some of her sporting cousins and friends. Later on, she entered a nunnery at St. Albans and wrote the first known works on fishing.

Juliana wasn't any slouch concerning the art of angling, say the fishing experts at Mercury outboards. For instance, here's how she recommends making a fishing rod.

First you cut a smooth six-foot staff of willow or aspen. Heat it in an oven, get it good and straight, and let it dry for four weeks. The next trick is to get a piece of plumber's wire, heat it red hot, and burn a hole clear through the staff. Then store it in a smokehouse for a while.

Now you take a stroll in the woods and cut a slender slip of hazel the same length. Soak it thoroughly, straighten it out, and let it dry in the smokehouse too. The next step is to trim the hazel whip so it can be inserted into the butt section. Now, fashion a metal pin to hold the two together, and you have a two section fishing rod.

Juliana advocates such a two section rod because it forms a good walking staff for a Sunday afternoon stroll, and can easily be transformed into a fishing rod if you happen by a good fishing hole.

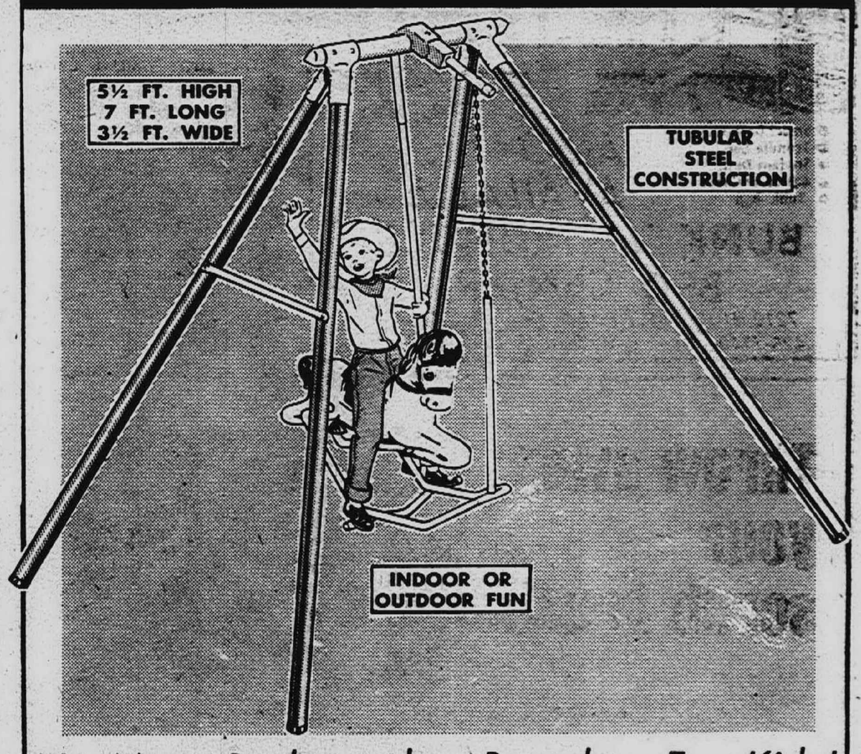

For a line, Juliana advocates the long horsehairs woven together and colored with a mixture of ale, crushed walnut leaves and alum. Such a line, she says, blends with the water and fools the fish more readily.

In her tips for anglers she recommends not casting a shadow on the water, fishing below waterfalls or in deep pools, fishing when the wind is west and using a wire leader either out of the south or the when fishing for pike.

Park System Picks Naturalist

For the first time in the 16-year history of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority nature study program, a woman will be placed in charge of a park nature program.

She is Miss Patricia Eising, well-known area naturalist, who will assume the new post at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropolitan Park May 27. She replaces Richard Mortemore who left in April to make his home in Hilo, Hawaii.

PATRICIA EISING
HCMA Naturalist

Since joining the Huron-Clinton park agency in June of 1965, Miss Eising has been a member of the naturalist staff at Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica.

The HCMA nature program operates two year-around nature centers and one seasonal nature center plus nature trails at most of its eight parks throughout the counties of Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne.

Her duties will be to interpret the natural environment of the nature study area through exhibits at the nature center and through labels along the nature trails and by conducting field trips for school classes. The HCMA program started at Kensington Metropolitan Park in 1952 and expanded with the addition of the nature center in 1957 which had about 70,000 visitors in 1967.

Prior to joining HCMA, she was on the naturalist staff of the City of Detroit Parks and Recreation Department and worked at the nature center at Rouge Park on the west side of Detroit.

She graduated from Michigan State University, with a Bachelor of Science degree in 1959 and graduated from Lincoln Park High School in 1955. At the present time she resides in Romeo, but soon expects to move into the Milford area.

WINNERS in the annual kite contest held Saturday by Cub Scout Pack 738, sponsored by the Westland Lions Club, were five boys who won the top six prizes offered. They are (left to right) Ken Plante, second in artistry and neatness; John Greybill, first in artistry and neatness; Scott Diamond, first in high flyers and second in construction and originality; Scott McKelvey, second in high flyers; and Guy Miller, first in construction and originality. The event was held at the McKee Elementary School playground.

Byron Oliver To Head Group

Byron Oliver, administrative assistant for Farmington schools, is president-elect of the Oakland County School Business Officials.

The organization's election will be May 15, with Paul DeRose, of the state department of education slated to speak on "School Financing Under the New State Aid Act."

Train In Fire Drills

FHS Students Will Spend Summer Abroad

Farmington High School students Vicki Peterson and Sydney Petralak will combine study and travel this summer when they attend school abroad. They will divide their time between Austria, Holland and Germany.

The girls' visit to Europe will be made under sponsorship of the Foreign Language League. The league's concept in education combines classroom instruction in foreign languages, culture, literature and government with daily opportunities to become acquainted with Europe on a person-to-person basis.

To be eligible for the program, a student must have a 2.5 grade point average.

Easy-To-Build Patio

The outdoor living season is at hand. Here are six easy steps to help make your summer more enjoyable with a new concrete patio. If you're experienced, you can handle the job yourself. Otherwise relax and call your concrete contractor.

Step 1. PREPARE THE BASE - Select your patio area carefully to be sure it's exactly where you want it. Stake out the area to help you visualize its appearance. Remove the turf and at least four inches of top soil. Compact loose soil with a tamper or heavy roller. Place a smooth, level one-inch layer of sand to provide firm, even support for your patio.

Step 2. SET THE FORMS — Your concrete patio can be laid out in almost any shape: square, circle, diamond, or free form. For a 4-inch thick slab, use 2x4 boards on edge, nailed to 1x2-inch stakes driven firmly into the ground. The top edge of the forms will be the surface grade of your patio. Be sure that water will drain properly.

Step 3. ORDER CONCRETE — After the base is prepared and forms set, call your local ready-mixed concrete dealer. Tell him the size patio you are building and that you want to use concrete with 6 percent air-entrainment. He will deliver enough concrete to do the job. Be sure to have enough help ready to place the concrete when it arrives. Wait until you are ready to place the concrete before calling the ready-mix company.

Step 4. PLACE THE CONCRETE — Place the concrete as near as possible in its final position. Don't spread it from one central pile. Spade the concrete thoroughly to help consolidate it. After the concrete is placed, strike it off with a 2x4 resting on the forms as shown here. This insures a flat, level patio surface. Keep enough concrete ahead of the 2x4 to fill in all low spots.

Step 5. FINISH THE SURFACE — After the surface water evaporates and the concrete starts to stiffen, "float" the patio surface with a light metal or wood float. This produces a textured, slip-resistant finish. If a very smooth surface is desired, finish with a steel trowel. But remember that the smoother the surface the more slippery it will be when wet.

Step 6. CURE THE CONCRETE — Cure the concrete properly to produce a strong durable surface. For best results keep it wet for at least six days after placing or cover it with a plastic film as shown here. Wet burlap or straw are equally good for curing. Your concrete patio should provide many seasons of enjoyment.

Hamilton Shows A Profit For The First Time

E. Keith Owens, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Company of America, announced that after less than four years of operation, the company has shown a profit as of the first quarter ending March 31.

He announced that this is a highly significant accomplishment inasmuch as most new life insurance companies do not show a statutory profit until approximately the seventh to the tenth year.

Owens indicated the reasons for such a noted profit could be attributed to the continuing and excellent efforts of the company's sales force, economies effected in operations during the past year, and to the contribution made by the acquisition of Wayne National Life Insurance Company last year.

The first quarter sales written amounted to approximately 15 million with a total premium income of $2.6 million. The Farmington based company has approximately one third billion dollars of insurance in force after less than four years of operation, with assets of $24.6 million.

Stagger Plantings Of Summer Bulbs

No article on summer-blooming bulbs would be complete without mentioning glads. Start planting now and repeat at two-week intervals several times more for a longer season of bloom.

If you like the very big ones, get the giant show type. For indoor use, however, more moderate-sized varieties are available and for arrangements use miniatures. For colors consult any good glad catalog or your local garden center.

For planting, prepare the soil as you would for a vegetable garden. Spade up the soil at least 8 inches deep, incorporate thoroughly a 2-inch layer of humus in most areas and 3 to 5 pounds of any good vegetable fertilizer per 100 square feet, raking it level.

Then dig your furrows and plant the bulbs 6 inches deep and 6 inches apart in rows 18 to 24 inches apart or in irregular clumps in the flower or shrub border.

* * *

NEXT MOST POPULAR ARE the dahlias. Here there is also a choice of height, giant or dwarf. Even more you can get flowers of all sizes and forms: singles, collared, button, cactus, formal (ball-like) and informal with less stiffly-arranged petals.

Set the tubers in holes 6 to 8 inches deep, preparing the soil as above. For the larger type stake - now when planting. It won't tear the roots as it would later.

However, for a sweet scent throughout the garden, especially in the evening, plant tuberoses. Waxy - white flowers that are most fragrant. Plant 5 inches deep and 5 inches apart. When you dig the bulbs up in fall do not separate them. Wait until replanting time.

Like the tuberoses, exceedingly fragrant but only a foot high instead of 30 inches, is the ismene, large snowy-white, with spidery flower parts sticking out well beyond all the others. One of the quickest bloomers, it often takes only a month or less. Plant the large bulbs upright 6 inches deep in well-prepared soil.

* * *

TWO LITTLE-KNOWN, gladiolus-like flowers are the acidanthera, white with maroon markings and the montbretia in yellows, reds, browns, orange, etc. The acidanthera is also sweetly-scented. Wonderful for cutting. Plant 4 inches deep and 4 inches apart.

* * *

For something really unique try the tigridia, three horizontal petals, with a deep cup in the center and spotted like a leopard in the cup. With slightly more moisture than the others it will produce many blooms. Plant like acidantheras. All colors.

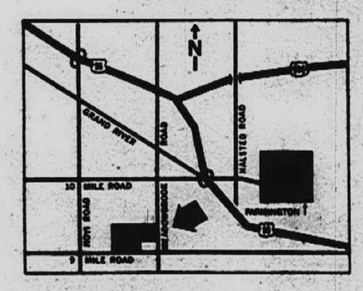

Friendly Gate

A garden gate should be door-like--an inviting entrance, not a barrier. For an open appearance, good privacy, design yours of spaced slats nailed on both sides of the frame.

THE WORLD'S FINEST* HAND MOWER . . . . FROM ANY ANGLE!

Scotts

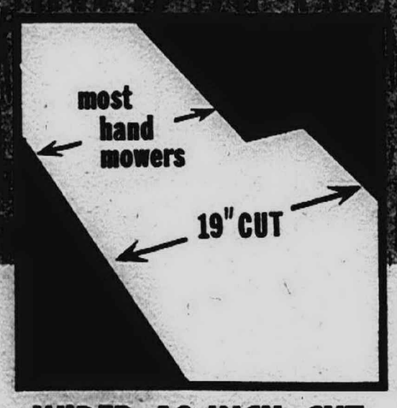

. . . YOU must agree, or your money back from Frank's

PUSHES SO EASILY

So carefully engineered and manufactured, every part works with a minimum of friction. Cut your lawn in minutes and benefit by the moderate and healthful exercise it provides.

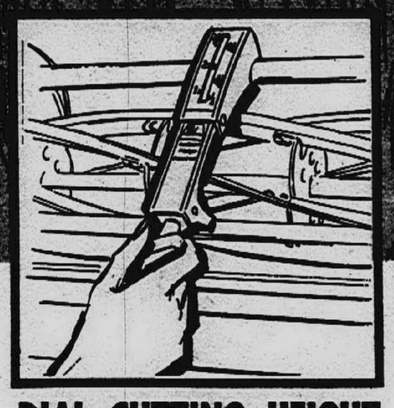

WIDER 19-INCH CUT

Mow your lawn in less time and with less effort using a hand mower that grooms a path 19-inches wide with every pass. We know of no hand mower anywhere that compares with that!

IT'S WHISPER QUIET

This is the mower you can use early in the morning or late at night! You won't disturb the lightest sleeper. So carefully engineered, the blades cut without making direct contact with the bed knife.

DIAL CUTTING HEIGHT

We don't think you'll find a mower with a cutting height that's easier to adjust. Just turn the knob and the dial shows the height. Adjusts from ½-inch to 2¾-inches quickly and easily.

SO S-M-O-O-T-H

This Silent Scotts Deluxe doesn't just cut your grass, it c-l-i-p-s each blade off carefully at the exact height you've set. The result is a better looking lawn, the bonus is healthier grass.

Here are More Reasons Why the Scotts 10M Deluxe is Such a Good Buy

THIS IS FRANK'S ABSOLUTE AND UNCONDITIONAL GUARANTEE TO YOU

If you don't agree this is the finest hand mower you've ever used, return it to any Frank's for a full refund with no questions asked. YOU BE THE SOLE JUDGE . . . if you aren't completely happy with it just bring it back to us!

A few more reasons why the Scotts Deluxe is the finest mower you can buy: 6 reel blades instead of 5 . . . each blade double riveted to the spider . . . large, easy rolling wheels with wide ribbed tires . . . rubber covered roller . . . scissors action cutting because blades are set at critical cutting angle. Now you know why many people prefer the Scotts Deluxe to a power mower!

FRANK'S HAS A COMPLETE LINE OF SCOTTS PRODUCTS. EACH IS GUARANTEED TO GIVE YOU COMPLETE SATISFACTION OR MONEY BACK.

*We sincerely believe this mower is unmatched . . . and we feel sure you'll agree with us.

PACKAGES containing articles for up to 30 patients at Wayne County General Hospital were given last week to Westland Mayor Thomas Brown, who is also chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors Hospital Committee, by Mrs. Carl DeVore, of the Dearborn Christian Church, Dearborn Heights. The packages contain personal hygiene articles for men, women, and children at the county hospital in Westland. Mrs. DeVore pointed out that other churches may also give articles to the patients by calling Mrs. Mary Landtrom, coordinator of community services for the hospital, at 274-3000, extension 6250.

Good Driver Pays Big For Cost Of Accidents

If you wince every time you look at your auto insurance premium, there is a way to bring the cost down. It's simple, says Secretary of State James M. Hare ... "cut accidents."

"Michigan's tab for auto accidents on all fronts each day is a staggering $1-million plus and rising," says Hare. "In a short time, our annual bill for carelessness behind the wheel will be up to a half-billion dollars.

"The truly unfortunate aspect about the increased cost of insurance and accidents is that the good driver pays a disproportionate share of the load.

* * *

"ACCIDENT-LESS drivers have had their premiums rise tremendously in the past few years.

"The good driver pays through the nose."

Hare reminded that the "key" to stemming the "tide of accidents" begins in the legislative tribunals, in Michigan's case, the state Legislature.

Three of the major safety proposals Hare is most interested in seeing passed during this session of the legislature are: (1) the "Illinois traffic ticket system"; (2) legislation which would impound vehicles if a suspended or revoked driver is found driving; and (3) a bill which would permit the Department of State to take effective action against persons who have been involved in several accidents regardless of the points they have on their records.

* * *

HARE SAID he favored the Illinois ticket system, embodied in House Bills 2023 and 2029, because the officer picks up the driver license at the time he gives the motorist a violation ticket. The motorist then receives his license back from the court at the time that he appears before the judge.

In contrast, Senate Bill 1102 only assesses more points against the motorist who does not appear in court but allows that motorist to continue to keep his driver license. Obviously the motorist under that bill who plans to leave the state within a year or two can simply ignore the violation ticket.

At the present time, the Department of State has hundreds of thousands of "failure to answer summons" in its files because of motorists who make no response to the violation ticket.

Hare said he was optimistic about the passage of the impoundment bill which passed the Senate the other day.

* * *

"WITH SOME persons, there is no effective way of keeping them off the road short of jailing them or taking away their vehicle. Senate Bill 1101 provides the latter.

"It's a proven fact that jailing people only makes them more belligerent, more rebellious, and, under these conditions, worse drivers.

"And I think it's less expensive to impound a vehicle where the owner must pay for the impoundment than to jail him where the taxpayers must foot the bill for his keep. We immobilize the vehicle and at the same time immobilize the driver."

Also, atop Hare's agenda for passage is H.B. 2237, already passed by the House and now in Senate committee. This enables driver improvement specialists to take action against drivers who get into an inordinate number of accidents without accumulating enough points to re-exam them on that basis.

Drunk Driving Arrests Are Up

EAST LANSING, -- Excessive drinking continues to be one of the major factors contributing to traffic fatalities in Michigan.

Is the state's new "implied consent" law helping to take the over-indulging driver off the road?

The law, effective since Nov. 2, 1967, states that drivers operating a motor vehicle in Michigan must consent to a chemical test for blood alcohol content if arrested for driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor (DUIL).

* * *

SINCE NOVEMBER, 4477 DUIL stops have been reported by state, local and city police and it has been reported that 417 drivers have refused to take a chemical test. Under the law, a driver's refusal can result in the suspension or revocation of his driver's license from 90 days to two years.

Since the law specifically states that a suspect has the right to demand that only a breath test be given, 4,048 motorists received this type of chemical test.

In order to assure that an adequate number of qualified police operators and breath testing instruments are available throughout the state, a mammouth training program has been underway at Michigan State University's Highway Traffic Safety Center since September.

Thus far, over 800 state and local police have attended a 40-hour training program and have been qualified as breath testing operators by the Michigan Department of Public Health.

* * *

THE SCHOOL IS being conducted with the cooperation of the Michigan Law Enforcement Officers Training Council, the Michigan Department of Public Health, the Department of State Police and MSU's Highway Traffic Safety Center.

Buying A House Is Taxing

When purchasing a home, most of us realize the importance of ascertaining the amount of any taxes due and owing. This awareness frequently results in an adjustment of the purchasing price requiring the seller to bear the expense of those taxes which accrued during his ownership and occupancy.

Often, however, in the purchase of a business or business assets, we overlook the possibility that the purchase price should be adjusted to properly distribute the tax liability between the purchaser and the seller.

THE LACK OF awareness by purchasers of the taxes for which they may become liable has resulted in a large number of appeals by employers from determinations of the Michigan Employment Securities Commission.

Two major classes of appeals directly result from business acquisitions. One is that employers as a result of a business purchase become subject to the payment of contributions (taxes) under the provisions of the Michigan Employment Securities Act.

The other general class of appeals is from holdings by the commission that the employer contribution rate under the Act should be increased as a result of such acquisition.

DREAMS COME TRUE

. . . When You Let Your Savings Work for You!

Let Us Send You A Monthly Check For Life!

If you have $1,300-$13,000 in a savings account that is now earning approximately $40-$400 interest per year let us show you how your savings can earn that same $40-$400 and MORE EACH & EVERY MONTH FOR LIFE without interfering with your present occupation whatsoever.

One of Michigan's most progressive development Co. will accept limited partner to share in extensive real estate developments through Michigan. If your application is accepted income will start within 45 days and will develop continuously from your original savings.

Any local resident who is sincerely interested in being paid a retirement income right now instead of waiting 'til age 65, will be shown the courtesy of our complete program and may confer with others who are receiving their monthly income.

SIRLOIN STEAK AU ROQUEFORT

Another all-time FAVORITE RECIPE from McCall's

3-lb. sirloin steak, about 1¼ inches thick
1 envelope dry blue-cheese salad-dressing mix
¼ cup crumbled Roquefort or blue cheese

Prepare blue-cheese salad-dressing mix as package label directs. Marinate steak in salad dressing in large dish 1 hour; turn once. Adjust grill 5 inches from prepared coals. For medium rare, grill steak 8 minutes on one side. Then carefully turn steak with tongs. Sprinkle top evenly with cheese. Grill 8 minutes. Makes 6 servings. To cook indoors: Marinate steak as directed above. Broil, on rack in broiler pan, 3 inches from heat, 5 minutes. Turn; broil 5 minutes. Sprinkle top with cheese and let cheese melt slightly before serving.

RULES

Handicap: 70 per cent of the difference between high average and 400 for each team. No fractions carried. Handicap not to exceed 120 pins per game per team. Eighteen games constitute league average. 1967 Summer League average accepted. Prizes will be awarded on scores with handicaps included. Three games across same pair of lanes.

Entrants other than those governed by the Detroit Bowling Association and the Detroit Women's Bowling Association may be required to provide affidavit of all league averages signed by league secretary or city association secretary.

Any bowler who falsifies his average forfeits all rights to prize money. Prizes will be paid when averages of prize winners have been verified. Any bowler who has won $300 or more total in any tournaments over the past 2 years must report to the tournament secretary, and is subject to average re-rating. This must be done before bowling.

All lanes will be assigned by the tournament committee.

Employees of Merri-Bowl Lanes not eligible to enter this tournament.

All decisions rendered by the Tournament Committee will be final, whether regarding tournament rules or anything not covered herein.

Survey Finds Parochiaid Bill Support Weak

How do people feel about such issues as prayer in public schools, whether parochial schools have outlived their usefulness, and whether nonpublic schools should get state money?

Denise Grant of Beaverton, Susan Krieger of St. Joseph, and Don Noland of Ann Arbor, all University of Michigan graduate students in education, decided to find out.

As a research project, they constructed an opinion questionnaire, and distributed it in the Ann Arbor area. It presented controversial statements on current religious issues and asked whether respondents agreed, disagreed, or were neutral.

They got answers from 54 U-M students, eight professors, 50 public school teachers, 12 teachers in a Catholic school and a Lutheran school, and 77 persons who did not fall into any of those categories.

* * *

OF THE 201 respondents, 80 had attended nonpublic schools and 121 had gone to public schools.

Differences arose when the issue was public money for nonpublic schools. Most such differences could be traced to where the respondent or his children attended school.

"Results of the survey indicate that most people are not in favor of the bill which is presently before the Michigan Legislature, which would give $150 a year to parents of children attending nonpublic schools," she said. Stronger opposition to the bill came from those who had attended public schools.

"Surprisingly, even the nonpublic school teachers were not greatly in favor of the bill," Miss Krieger said. "One explanation might be that these people would rather see the money given to the schools themselves."

* * *

ON OTHER subjects:

"There are indications that many people want religion in the form of devotional services to be kept out of the public schools but that some aspects of religion are acceptable in the schools--the display of religious symbols, such as Christmas trees, the dismissal of students from school for the purposes of attending special religious services, the teaching of fundamental beliefs of the major religions in the classroom."

The survey showed that of those who attended nonpublic schools, half agreed with the Supreme Court that prayer in public school should be prohibited. But among the professors and the teachers in both public and nonpublic schools, more than half opposed the decision.

Most condoned the dismissal of individual students from school for holy days such as Yom Kippur or Good Friday.

There also was general agreement with the teaching of the fundamental beliefs of the major religions as a part of the academic program.

* * *

ONE SURVEY statement concerned state monetary aid to nonpublic schools.

Those who had attended public schools opposed this idea rather strongly. Those who attended nonpublic schools had a wide range of opinion. The college professors and the nonpublic school teachers, in general, endorsed such aid.

"It is interesting," said Miss Krieger, "that the public school teachers and the lay people were in strongest discord with such a measure, even though they themselves have attended a nonpublic school or their children have."

No group expressed strong support for a state tax deduction for parents whose children attend a nonpublic school. Those who did attend nonpublic school were generally more in favor than those who did not.

There was general agreement that the present system of school taxes based on property value is inadequate and unfair.

One statement presented the idea that people who do not have children in school or whose children attend nonpublic schools should still have to support the operation of public schools. About the same majority of both attendance groups agreed.

* * *

ANOTHER LAST statement dealt with the part-time use of public school facilities by students attending nonpublic schools.

Both groups generally tended to agree with such a practice, the exceptions being the college professors who had not attended nonpublic school and the public school teacher who had.

"This last could be explained by the assumption that public school teachers could be afraid of additional work loads," Miss Krieger said.

Finally, respondents were asked whether parochial schools are valuable and should be encouraged. Those who had not attended such schools were mostly neutral, but those who had attended them were generally convinced of their value.

Auxiliary Sets Up Library

Residents of the Oakhill Nursing Home may now spend their leisure time reading due to the efforts of the Farmington Jaycee Auxiliary. Members of the auxiliary have just completed setting up a library in the home as one of the group's community projects.

Next on the agenda for the group is a rummage sale, Bargain Boutique, to be held beginning at 9 a.m. May 25 in the Wheeler Street Fire Hall. For sale will be furniture, clothing, kitchen equipment and white elephant items.

Among other auxiliary community projects are sponsorship of Helping Hands, collection of winter clothing for needy children and the "Easter Needy Family" effort.

A bank cashier had the names of 25 girls in his little black book but was only short $2,000 at the bank. What a cheap skate.

In a house without a basement people have to put things where they belong.

"The gateway to a new life"

Do you want a fresh start . . . to cope with family troubles, ill health or lack of any kind and come out on top? Like thousands of other people you can find the answer in a better understanding of God and of your place in His creation.

Christian Scientists have found that this understanding can give one a fresh start to a happier and more useful existence.

Come and hear this lecture "The Gateway to a New Life" by Naomi Price, C.S., a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

DATA PROCESSING SALESMEN
The Future Is Now!

Are you presently making money commensurate with your ability? Is your present position challenging and do you have the opportunity for rapid advancement into management?

If not, why not call the Friden company for a personal interview and let us tell you about Friden's present and future position in the sale of data processing machines.

Friden now has machines from automatic letter writers to small-scale electronic computers. We have a large variety of accounting machines as well as paper tape to magnetic tape converters.

If you are an experienced-professional salesman, ideally in the business equipment industry, who feels that you have more to offer than your present affiliation demands, may we suggest a personal discussion with Friden. At Friden you will find enthusiasm, programs that demand creative thinking, and unlimited high income potential.

Basement Waterproofing Basement Waterproofing

End Basement Flooding!

Install an Automatic Backwater Valve
Prevents Water in Floor Drains
From Backing Up!

This is how "DRAIN GUARD" works:

In normal position, drain water is always free to flow through "Drain Guard" into the sewer.

BUT

the instant any sewer water starts to back up, the rubber float rises and acts as a check valve to prevent any water from flooding basement.

Insure against flood damage with

Drain-Guard
