EXTRA MILER: Hats off to George Dodson, principal of Smith Elementary School, who was awarded the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Extra Miler award at the last school board meeting.

"George has developed a wonderful rapport with children and with his staff," said trustee Jeanette Wines, who presented the award. "His caring attitude for kids exudes from him. It is this quality that makes him go above and beyond."

"I do appreciate this Extra Miler recognition," Dodson told the school board. "It's been a joy and a privilege to serve the children of this community."

Dodson joined the district in 1945, teaching at Geer Elementary. He became a principal in 1973. Dodson has been honored numerous times, most recently by the Michigan Elementary and Middle School Principals Association.

DUTY ON DUFFERS:

You golfers who live in the city or township of Plymouth didn't really believe you were going to get away without paying more to play Hilltop Golf Course this year, did you?

The Plymouth Township Board, which earlier had boosted greens fees at the township-owned course for non-residents by as much as 20 percent, confirmed last week that it intended rates to rise for locals as well.

Residents will be charged $7.50 for nine holes and $11 for 18 holes weekdays and $8.50 for nine holes and $13 for 18 holes weekends and holidays.

Non-residents, whenever they tee it up, will pay 50 cents more for nine holes and $1 more for 18 than locals.

Hilltop is on Powell Road at Ann Arbor Trail.

ON BLACK HISTORY:

A number of activities are being scheduled this month to observe Black History Month in Phoenix Correctional Facility on Five Mile in Plymouth.

The inmates will be viewing an exhibit on original African artifacts and listening to lectures on black history by Mr. and Mrs. M. McCoy. The presentations have been arranged by Jean Yukim, principal at Phoenix. Also included in the activities is the showing of the films "Candace" with James Earl Jones and Deborah Carroll; "In the Heat of the Night" with Sidney Poitier, Red Steagor and Lee Grant; and "Motown" with Daniel Barenboim, Mimi Fari McKinney, Henry Gray, Frankie Belle De Knight and the Dells Jubilee Singers. A contest also was held featuring a quiz on black history, with cash prizes awarded. Yukim notes that Phoenix now has more than $1,500 worth of black literature in its library.

TOP TRUCKER:

Stephen Zdan of Plymouth, a driver for 18 years for Hovnan Hovnan Inc. of Plymouth, is one of 13 winners for the National Trucking Association's annual "Driver of the Year" award. The winners will be announced at the National Trucking Association's annual convention in Las Vegas, Nevada, in May.

Senior citizens confused and upset about changes in their health insurance policies received some answers at a meeting last week sponsored by the office of U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth.

Numerous Health Maintenance Organizations are shutting down or raising premiums on Medicare supplement riders, claiming they can't afford the federally subsidized programs.

McAuley MediCare, which serves more than 2,200 Wayne and Washtenaw County seniors, announced recently it is going out of business in 1989.

Blue Care Network of Southeast Michigan, which has 10,000 senior subscribers in metropolitan Detroit, is raising its premiums and supplying fewer medical benefits next year.

Medicare covers 80 percent of seniors' health costs, excluding prescription, optical and dental fees. Medicare supplement riders offered by HMOs pay the remaining 20 percent.

At an added cost, many Medicare supplement riders offer dental, optical, hearing and prescription plans.

PROMPTING THE informational meeting was widespread concern and uncertainty among seniors, dozens of whom have contacted their legislators.

Good and bad news greeted those who packed Plymouth's Tonquish Creek Manor meeting room.

"You can get insurance," said Barbara Zaret of the Washtenaw Council on Aging.

"There are a number of programs available to you that won't refuse you. But they won't be able to offer you anything as good as what you have with McAuley."

Zaret encouraged seniors to shop around before signing on with a new company to complement Medicare.

Among those offering supplemental health coverage are the American Association of Retired Persons, American Community, Blue Cross, Mutual of Omaha, Finlan & Son Insurance Agency of Plymouth, Continental Casualty Co., Harvest Life, State Farm Mutual, Inter-Ocean and United American.

McAuley is helping its subscribers switch to new insurers. For information, call McAuley's member services office at 747-7200.

Seniors who meet certain income guidelines may be eligible for Medicare.

Illuminated billboard irks homeowners

By Doug Funke
staff writer

The lighting last month of a billboard along M-14 has aggravated some homeowners on Ridgewood Street in Plymouth Township.

"It's unbearable," said Jim Mills, who lives at the end of the roadway closest to the billboard. "It's just a big, bright white elephant."

James Anulewicz, planning director for Plymouth Township, agrees that the illuminated billboard is a nuisance.

"My impression was I could not enter or exit the house without being aware the billboard was being imposed on them," he said. "They feel their tranquility has been impinged upon and I agree."

A 1986 SETTLEMENT agreement in federal court between the township and National Advertising Co. allows for illuminated billboards but not "of a nature to constitute a nuisance to abutting properties or drivers."

The billboard was erected last year and lighted earlier last month.

The township board has directed its lawyer to try to get satisfaction for the homeowners, either through voluntary compliance from National or through legal action.

"As far as I know, we're not in any violation," said Kurt Lawicki, an operations supervisor for National.

"I'd say it's at least 700 feet away on the other side of the highway," he said of the billboard. "They're below the highway. I angled the lights back a couple of degrees."

As for the abutting argument, the

Hearing on bar's liquor license set

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

The Plymouth Township Board is expected to decide at an administrative hearing at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday whether to recommend revocation of the Plymouthrock Saloon's liquor license.

Since 1985, the bar on General Drive in Plymouth Township has been fined twice by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission for serving alcohol to minors.

In December 1986, a Canton woman was killed in a traffic fatality outside the saloon.

Dorcas Ruth Aumann, 67, died when the car in which she was riding was struck head on by a vehicle driven by Yvonne Hillier of Westland.

According to trial testimony Hillier, then 20, had been drinking at the Plymouthrock. Michigan State Police lab results showed her blood alcohol level was .20. Drivers in Michigan are considered under the influence of liquor if their blood alcohol level is .10 or above.

TOWNSHIPS ARE empowered to revoke liquor licenses if a business violates the local liquor ordinance.

The LCC must uphold the township's decision if the board grants the licensees their due process rights

Burglary ring uncovered in shooting investigation

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Break-ins in a number of communities have been linked to a burglary ring uncovered during the investigation of the recent shooting of a Livonia police officer.

Three suspects were arrested in the Livonia officer shooting earlier this month.

Police in Canton, Plymouth Township, Livonia, Westland, Taylor and Romulus as well as Michigan State Police are investigating those suspects and others in a connection with the burglaries.

One of them, a 17-year-old, is being held in connection with an armed robbery in Westland.

"We had information (before the Livonia incident), but not enough for a warrant," Westland police Sgt. Tom Kubitsky said. "After this shooting, we (officers from a number of police agencies) put our heads together and started charging them."

Canton police are expected to seek arrest warrants this week on breaking and entering charges.

The suspects range in age from 16 to 37.

"The Livonia shooting brought everything to a head," said Charles Raycraft, the Canton police detective who worked on the cases with Canton Police Detective Rick Pomorski.

POMORSKI AND Raycraft are investigating the suspects in connection with three break-ins that occurred at the beginning of the year north of Ford in Canton.

Canton Police confiscated 10 guns, hundreds of rounds of ammunition, a slot machine, jewelry and more than $1,000 worth of tools from a house in Taylor during a search Feb. 10, Raycraft said.

Raycraft said he believed they recovered property stolen in Westland, Adrian and Canton.

Police describe the mode of operation in recent months in these suburban areas as follows:

• House would be robbed and property from those robberies would be fenced.

• Stolen automobiles would be used during the break-ins and later burned.

"The lines of communication were open between the departments," Raycraft said. "It was a multi-jurisdictional thing with a lot of cooperation between everyone."

Plymouth Township Police are investigating a possible connection with a break-in on Chestnut earlier this month. Plymouth Township Chief Carl Berry said his department is continuing its investigation.

Livonia Police arrested the three young men earlier this month for attempted burglary of a Livonia house.

Olga DeLano dies at 65; 20-year resident of area

Olga DeLano, a resident of the Plymouth community for 20 years, died Feb. 11.

Death came at the Plymouth Township home of her daughter and son-in-law, Betty and Jim Smith, whom she had been residing with since her husband's death on Jan. 22 from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Superior Township between Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti.

Mrs. DeLano and husband Fred, a longtime journalist in Plymouth and Southwestern Michigan, lived 10 years in the city of Plymouth and in the past 10 years in Plymouth Township.

MRS. DELANO was born June 25, 1922, in Detroit and graduated from Southwestern High School in 1940. After a year at the University of Michigan, she completed a business college in Detroit and then worked as a secretary until retirement in her own birthday last June.

Her final 11 years of employment were spent as a secretary in the college of education at Wayne State University, the last eight as personal secretary to Wendell Hough of Plymouth, formerly associate dean of the college and later director of staff development. Previously she had served in secretarial positions at Ford Motor Co., General Motors and Chrysler Corp.

Amazon journey

Region featured in Kiwanis travelogue this week

The Amazon region will be featured at Wednesday night's travelogue series sponsored by the Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation.

By raft and ship down the Amazon is the film narrated by Ted Bumiller, which will be shown at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High on Joy just west of Canton Center Road. Admission at the door is $4.75.

The Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation is the joint fund-raising arm for community service projects of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club and the Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth.

BUMILLER, a Cincinnati architect, started traveling in his high school days.

His first rugged trip was 600 miles by canoe along the Albany River to Hudson Bay in Canada. On this trip

Bumiller and a companion almost lost their lives running "Speckle Trout" rapids — four miles of white water — through twisting rapids and over waterfalls.

Plane smashed, given up for lost, an Indian found part of the equipment and made a report to the Mounted Police. They were found seven days later and were flown out by a sea plane to safety.

After graduating with a degree in architecture from the University of Cincinnati, Bumiller traveled for the next half-year year in Europe and Africa. Upon returning he took up the practice of architecture. But the wanderlust prevailed and within a year he was off to film a solo Jeep trip around the world.

On that trip Bumiller shared the life of the staffed-robed monks in their monasteries, the Arabs in the Middle Eastern desert, Saubis in India and traveled with a tribe of Aborigines in a flatland in Australia.

The last portion of that trip were climbing the Matterhorn, a 14,799-foot mountain of ice and rock in an unseasonable snowstorm, skin-diving in the Mediterranean where 200 feet beneath the sea he discovered 2,000-year-old amphorae, the clay wine jars with ships off the rocky French coast centuries ago, and filming sea life off the Great Barrier Reef in Australia.

The Jeep journey used 16 tires, involved 37 flat tires, seven complete sets of springs, and 3,000 gallons of gasoline while traveling 61,000 miles — 45,000 miles by land.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT'S film focuses on life along the Amazon — the longest river in the world flowing from its headwaters in the Peruvian Andes 4,000 miles to the Atlantic in Brazil.

Along the Amazon are lofty mountains, vast jungles, lost civilizations, animal life and modern cities.

The colonial grandeur of Lima, the City of Kings, is highlighted, along with the seals and penguins of the Guano Islands near Paracas. A trip is taken by plane to see the Nazca Lines, Uro Indians paddling reed boats on Lake Titicaca, llamas and alpacas on the altiplano.

Viewers will see the Inca festival, the Inti-Raymi dedicated to the sun at Cuzco, the market at Pisac, and Machu Picchu — lost city of the Incas.

Other scenes include Indian crafts, logging mahogany, Yaguas Indians showing their skill with blow guns, a floating village, monkey island near Leticia, Columbia, and Salvador, the resort town of beaches and colonial architecture.

Bumiller films Brasilia, the futuristic capital of Brazil, Sao Paulo, the fastest growing city in the world, Iquassu Falls, the eighth wonder of the world, and Huascarán, the second highest mountain in the Western Hemisphere.

Among the scenes in this Wednesday's travelogue on the Amazon are these Yaguas Indians demonstrating their skills with blow guns.

Snow and ice off sidewalks

The city of Plymouth Department of Public Works (DPW) warns property owners that snow and ice must be removed from their sidewalks within 14 hours after a snowfall.

Failure to do so may result in the DPW removing the snow or ice and assessing a cost of $40 an hour to the property owner.

Get the drift? Winter storm closes schools

By Doug Funke
staff writer

The decision to cancel classes Friday in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools was a fairly easy one, as far as that kind of decision goes, said Richard Egli, community relations director for the district.

Superintendent John M. Hoben made the call at 11 p.m. Thursday as the snow, which started earlier that morning, continued to fall at a steady pace.

Egli notified the police law enforcement information network, radio stations and then started the telephone fan-out procedure to employees.

"The primary concern has to be safety — safety for students, safety for drivers and safety for employees," he said.

THERE ARE no clear-cut guidelines as to when to cancel, Egli said. "We try to call it as early as possible. The depth of the snow, kind of snow, whether road crews are out has to be taken into account. There is no easy formula."

Dale Goby, transportation director for the district, and other employees sometimes take to the roads as early as 2:30 a.m. to inspect conditions before making a recommendation to Hoben.

The ease or difficulty of getting buildings ready for school — clearing sidewalks and parking lots — also is considered.

Decisions whether to cancel classes are open to second-guessing, especially considering that hindsight always is 20/20.

"Any way the decision is made, there's going to be some people unhappy with it. In somebody's view the decision is going to be wrong," Egli said.

ANOTHER TOUGH call, which was considered Thursday, is whether to send students home early due to deteriorating weather conditions.

"A ramification of closing earlier is you have to call bus drivers and get them in earlier," Egli said.

"High school kids are sent home first, then middle school, then elementary so high school kids are there to respond when younger brothers and sisters get home."

Students and staffs in Plymouth-Canton schools probably welcomed the snow day Friday because it gave them an early jump on mid-winter break this week.

And they won't have to make up the time, either.

The third and subsequent snow days during the academic year must be rescheduled, according to state board of education requirements.

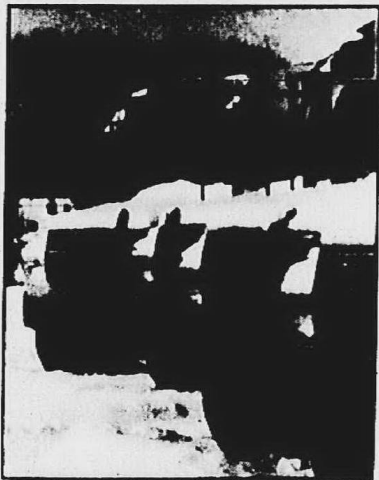

The snowstorm meant labor for Kevin and Kirk Eshelman of Canton.

State composer to attend local orchestra concert

Michigan composer Anthony Iannaccone Sunday will attend the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra performance of his composition, "Divertimento for Orchestra."

The concert is scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday, in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School on Joy just west of Canton Center Road. Iannaccone's composition was composed on commission from the Michigan Unit of the American String Teachers Association in 1983. It has been performed by the Detroit Symphony and most recently by the Kalamazoo Symphony in November, as well as by several others.

Iannaccone described the composition as "cast in two contrasting movements: night music (Nocturne) and morning music (Aubade)."

Both movements are based on three interwoven ideas: a lyric lullaby, which dominates the first movement; a spirited dance theme, which characterizes the second movement; and a fragment of Boccherini's popular minuet.

A NATIVE New Yorker, Iannaccone studied composition at the Manhattan School of Music and earned his doctorate at the Eastman School of Music.

Iannaccone is a professor of composition at Eastern Michigan University, founded the school's electronic music studio, and became director of the Collegium Musicum in 1973.

His catalog of about 40 compositions shows a variety of forms, more than 17 are available on commercial recordings.

His music has received critical acclaim in many journals and newspapers, including The New York Times, Fanfare and High Fidelity/Musical America.

Iannaccone has received many awards, commissions and grants, including those from the National Endowment for the Arts, Sinfonia Foundation, the Eastman School, Cornell University, American String Teachers Association and the Prix de Centenaire Committee of France.

Other musical selections on the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's February program include: Der Freischütz: Overture by Weber, Handel's Water Music, and Strauss's Death and Transfiguration.

Ticket prices are $6 for adults, $5 for senior citizens and college students. Admission is free for students in kindergarten through 12th grade.

Tickets will be available at the door, at Beitner's Jewelry on Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth, and at Arnold Williams Music, on Canton Center Road in Canton.

Olga DeLano dies at 65; 20-year resident of area

Olga D. DeLano, 65, a resident of the Plymouth community for 20 years, died Feb. 11.

Death came at the Plymouth Township home of her daughter and son-in-law, Betty and Jim Smith, where she had been receiving hospice care since her discharge Jan. 22 from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Superior Township between Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti.

Mrs. DeLano and husband Fred, a longtime journalist in Plymouth and southeastern Michigan, lived 10 years in the city of Plymouth and for the past 10 years in Plymouth Township.

Her final 11 years of employment were spent as a secretary in the college of education at Wayne State University the last eight as personal secretary to Wendell Hough of Plymouth, formerly associate dean of the college and later director of staff development. Previously she had served in secretarial positions at Ford Motor Co., General Motors and Chrysler Corp.

MRS. DELANO was born June 28, 1922, in Detroit and graduated from Southwestern High School in 1939. After a year at the University of Michigan she enrolled at a business college in Detroit and then worked as a secretary until retirement on her 60th birthday last June.

SURVIVORS INCLUDE: husband, Fred; daughter, Betty Smith, Plymouth Township; son, Robert, Incline Village, Nev., a grandson and step-grandson.

Funeral arrangements are being handled by the Schrader Funeral Home, 280 S. Main, Plymouth. Visitation will be 2-9 p.m. today. Funeral services, conducted by the Rev. Robert S. Shank Jr., will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday in St. John Episcopal Church, 574 Sheldon, Plymouth. Burial will be at Riverside Cemetery, Plymouth.

The family suggests memorial contributions to the Michigan Cancer Foundation or to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Amazon journey

Region featured in Kiwanis travelogue this week

The Amazon region will be featured at Wednesday night's travelogue series sponsored by the Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation.

By raft and ship down the Amazon is the film narrated by Ted Bumiller, which will be shown at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High on Joy just west of Canton Center Road. Admission at the door is $3.75.

The Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation is the joint fund-raising arm for community service projects of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club and the Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth.

BUMILLER, a Cincinnati architect, started traveling in his high school days.

His first rugged trip was 600 miles by canoe along the Albany River to Hudson Bay in Canada. On this trip

Bumiller and a companion almost lost their lives running "Speckle Trout" rapids — four miles of "white water" through twisting rapids and over waterfalls.

Canoe smashed, given up for lost, an Indian found part of the equipment and made a report to the Mounted Police. They were found seven days later and were flown out by a sea plane to safety.

After graduating with a degree in architecture from the University of Cincinnati, Bumiller traveled for the next half-year in Europe and Africa. Upon returning he took up the practice of architecture. But the wanderlust prevailed and within a year he was off to film a solo Jeep trip around the world.

On that trip Bumiller shared the life of the saffron-robed monks in their monastery, the Arabs in the Middle Eastern desert, Sikhs in India and traveled with a tribe of Aborigines on a "walk-about" in Australia.

The high points of that trip were climbing the Matterhorn, a 14,700-foot mountain of ice and rock in an unseasonable snowstorm, skin-diving in the Mediterranean where 200 feet beneath the sea he discovered 2,000-year-old amphorae, the clay wine jars with ships off the rocky French coast centuries ago, and filming sea life off the Great Barrier Reef in Australia.

The Jeep journey used 16 tires, involved 37 flat tires, seven complete sets of springs, and 3,000 gallons of gasoline while traveling 61,000 miles — 45,000 miles by land.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT'S film focuses on life along the Amazon — the longest river in the world flowing from its headwaters in the Peruvian Andes 4,000 miles to the Atlantic in Brazil.

Along the Amazon are lofty mountains, vast jungles, lost civilizations, animal life and modern cities.

The colonial grandeur of Lima, the City of Kings, is highlighted, along with the seals and penguins of the Guano Islands near Paracas. A trip is taken by plane to see the Nazca Lines, Uro Indians paddling reed boats on Lake Titicaca, llamas and alpacas on the altiplano.

Viewers will see the Inca festival, the Inti-Raymi dedicated to the sun at Cuzco, the market at Pisac, and Machu Picchu — lost city of the Incas.

Other scenes include Indian crafts, logging mahogany, Yaguas Indians showing their skill with blow guns, a floating village, monkey island near Leticia, Columbia, and Salvador, the resort town of beaches and colonial architecture.

Bumiller films Brasilia, the futuristic capital of Brazil, Sao Paulo, the fastest growing city in the world, Iquassu Falls, the eighth wonder of the world, and Huascarán, the second highest mountain in the Western Hemisphere.

Snow and ice off sidewalks

The city of Plymouth Department of Public Works (DPW) warns property owners that snow and ice must be removed from their sidewalks within 14 hours after a snowfall.

Failure to do so may result in the DPW removing the snow or ice and assessing a cost of $40 an hour to the property owner.

Help for diabetics

Help for diabetics can be obtained by calling the American Diabetes Association-Michigan Affiliate, 552-0480.

The association is a voluntary health agency, concerned with the detection, care and education of the 250,000 diabetics it serves in Michigan.

Get the drift? Winter storm closes schools

By Doug Funke
staff writer

The decision to cancel classes Friday in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools was a fairly easy one, as far as that kind of decision goes, said Richard Egli, community relations director for the district.

Superintendent John M. Hoben made the call at 11 p.m. Thursday as the snow, which started earlier that morning, continued to fall at a steady pace.

Egli notified the police law enforcement information network, radio stations and then started the telephone fan-out procedure to employees.

The primary concern has to be safety — safety for students, safety for drivers and safety for employees," he said.

THERE ARE no clear-cut guidelines as to when to cancel, Egli said. "We try to call it as early as possible. The depth of the snow, kind of snow, whether road crews are out has to be taken into account. There is no easy formula."

Dale Goby, transportation director for the district, and other employees sometimes take to the roads as early as 2-3 a.m. to inspect conditions before making a recommendation to Hoben.

The ease or difficulty of getting buildings ready for school — clearing sidewalks and parking lots — also is considered.

Decisions whether to cancel classes are open to second-guessing, especially considering that hindsight always is 20-20.

"Any way the decision is made, there's going to be some people unhappy with it. In somebody's view the decision is going to be wrong," Egli said.

ANOTHER TOUGH call, which was considered Thursday, is whether to send students home early due to deteriorating weather conditions.

"A ramification of closing earlier is you have to call bus drivers and get them in earlier," Egli said.

"High school kids are sent home first, then middle school, then elementary so high school kids are there to respond when younger brothers and sisters get home."

Students and staffs in Plymouth-Canton schools probably welcomed the snow day Friday because it gave them an early jump on mid-winter break this week.

And they won't have to make up the time, either.

The third and subsequent snow days during the academic year must be rescheduled, according to state board of education requirements.

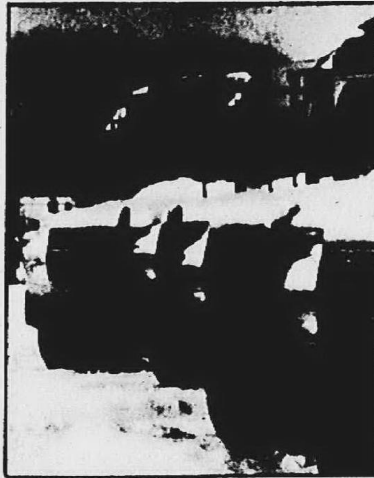

The snowstorm meant labor for Kevin and Kirk Eshelman of Canton.

State composer to attend local orchestra concert

Michigan composer Anthony Iannaccone Sunday will attend the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra performance of his composition, "Diver-timento for Orchestra."

The concert is scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday, in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School on Joy just west of Canton Center Road. Iannaccone's composition was composed on commission from the Michigan Unit of the American String Teachers Association in 1983. It has been performed by the Detroit Symphony and most recently by the Kalamazoo Symphony in November, as well as by several others.

Iannaccone described the composition as "cast in two contrasting movements: night music (Nocturne) and morning music (Aubade)."

Both movements are based on three interwoven ideas: a lyric lullaby, which dominates the first movement; a spirited dance theme, which characterizes the second movement; and a fragment of Boccherini's popular minuet.

A NATIVE New Yorker, Iannaccone studied composition at the Manhattan School of Music and earned his doctorate at the Eastman School of Music.

Iannaccone is a professor of composition at Eastern Michigan University, founded the school's electronic music studio, and became director of the Collegium Musicum in 1973.

His catalog of about 40 compositions shows a variety of forms, more than 17 are available on commercial recordings.

His music has received critical acclaim in many journals and newspapers, including The New York Times, Fanfare and High Fidelity/Musical America.

Iannaccone has received many awards, commissions and grants, including those from the National Endowment for the Arts, Sinfonia Foundation, the Eastman School, Cornell University, American String Teachers Association and the Prix de Centenaire Committee of France.

Other musical selections on the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's February program include: Der Freischutz: Overture by Weber, Handel's Water Music, and Strauss's Death and Transfiguration.

Ticket prices are $6 for adults, $5 for senior citizens and college students. Admission is free for students in kindergarten through 12th grade.

Tickets will be available at the door, at Beitner's Jewelry on Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth, and at Arnold Williams Music, on Canton Center Road in Canton.

Tuning in

Cable workshops to start this week

Three public access cablevision workshops will be offered in February and March by the programming department of Omnicom Cablevision.

The workshops are open to the general public. New access users are encouraged but all previous and current access users also may enroll.

The port-a-pack and editing refresher course (previously certified users only) is: port-a-pack assembly and basic composition on Tuesday, Feb. 16, and basic editing on Tuesday, Feb. 23.

Advanced composition for current users only will be on-location videotaping on Monday, Feb. 22, and in-studio videotaping on Monday, Feb. 29.

Studio workshop schedule is: basic camera operations, glossary/terms

(commands), lighting techniques on Friday, Feb. 19; character generator, audio, switcher on Friday, Feb. 26; composition, pre- and post-production on Friday, March 4.

All of the above classes will meet from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

New access users will be charged a $10 registration fee, which will be refunded if each session of the workshop and the assigned project are completed.

All registered (current and previous) access users will not be charged the registration fee. The classes are free for residents of Canton, Plymouth and Northville to introduce them to the concept of cable community access productions.

Omnicom provides the training and equipment for community/government groups, schools, churches and organizations to create and cover events in and about the community.

To make a reservation call 459-7358, 459-7391, or 459-7300.

Irked resident calls sign a 'bright white elephant'

billboard about the railroad and freeway, not the homeowners, Lawicki said.

There's nothing shining in their place. It's just brightness. With crime, it wouldn't bother me having a sign light up the area.

It's all personal taste," he concluded. "I've been a homeowner, but not under these circumstances."

A MEETING had been scheduled recently involving Lawicki, Ridgewood residents and Anulewicz, but Lawicki arrived after everyone had left. He blamed heavy traffic complicated by snowfall.

Lawicki said he wants another chance to meet. The township board, however, apparently agreeing that all administrative remedies have been exhausted, authorized legal intervention.

Robert Law, the township attorney, said he would hope for an out-of-court resolution.

There's only two solutions I see self-imposed no lighting or evergreen trees a minimum of 20 feet," Anulewicz said.

Mills, who has lived in the house for eight years, has retained a sense of humor in spite of the aggravation.

"If I wanted to at night, I could turn out all my lights, open the drapes and have a nice glow in the house," he said. "It's just total frustration."

Sue Mills looks at the controversial billboard along M-14 while shoveling snow in her backyard on Ridgewood.

Health policy hearing held

and a state-funded program for low-income people, Zaret added.

PUBLIC ISSUE Advocates is a public interest advocacy organization in Lansing. Its director, David Shultz, is attempting to determine whether the Blue Cross HMO rate hike is warranted.

Shultz suggests that seniors wishing to formally express their HMO complaints write the Michigan Insurance Bureau, P.O. Box 30220, Lansing, Mich 48909.

They can write the commissioner on insurance, stating their dissatisfaction within 30 days of the notice that the rate is going to be increased, or within 30 days of the effective date," said Shultz.

If seniors aren't happy with the response they receive, they can ask the state public health department to hold a hearing, Shultz said.

Requests should be mailed to Raj M. Wiener, acting director, Michigan Department of Public Health, P.O. Box 30035, Lansing 48909.

Consumers also might want to express their displeasure by calling assistant attorney general Sharon Feldman at (517) 373-1160, he said.

The concern of the subscribers I'm working with is that no one has had an opportunity to get their questions answered in a formal way," said Shultz. "They want to know whether the full extent of the (Blue Cross) rate increase is warranted right now, and what the underlying assumptions are for the rate increase."

Insurance commissioner Herman Coleman approved the rate hike without a hearing.

Should subscribers and the Public Issue Advocates be successful in getting a hearing, it will be seeking volunteer actuaries and economists "to give us an evaluation of the rates" and a judgment as to whether they're reasonable, said Shultz, who also deals with utility company rate hikes.

The problem that comes up here is how do you line up legal help to assist you through the process and evaluate the filings?"

I really think there is a need at the state level for some kind of funded consumer intervention to protect the interests of insurance subscribers. I don't think their interests are adequately protected by any existing state agency."

BOTH McAULEY and Blue Cross say the cause of their financial dilemma was lower than expected revenues from the federal government and member premiums.

McAuley's HMO program lost more than $1 million in 1987, said Richard Dorr, executive director of McAuley Medicare.

State Rep. Gerry Law, R-Plymouth, (whose district includes Canton) told seniors that Blue Cross claimed it was being reimbursed for just one third of its per-patient cost.

High costs and the hassles associated with health care irk Plymouth Township senior Anne Featherstone.

"All your life you work hard, raising your kids. You get to your so-called twilight years, and have all this aggravation. It's not right," she said.

Saloon liquor license to be discussed

at a hearing, said John Stora, deputy director of the LCC's licensing division.

Plymouth Township's liquor ordinance says licenses can be revoked if the licensee has been "convicted of a violation of any federal or state law concerning the manufacture, possession or sale of alcoholic liquor."

Attorney John Stewart of Plymouth will act as special prosecutor at the show cause hearing. Stewart has subpoenaed Hillier, Plymouthbrook owners, employees and customers to testify. Some of the customers are minors. A private investigator hired by Stewart also will take the stand, he said.

Would-be witnesses "have been coming out of the woodwork," added Stewart.

Hillier will be transported here from a Coldwater prison where she is serving a five-to-15-year sentence for manslaughter in connection with Aumann's death.

'This kind of action isn't taken too often. In the past year, I can recall only two instances. One was successful, and one wasn't.'

— Ken Wozniak, LCC aide

Norman Farhat, attorney for the Plymouthbrook, declined comment.

THE LCC MOST likely will hold a revocation hearing four to six weeks after the Plymouth Township session, said Ken Wozniak, a commission aide. The hearing, which Stora terms "just a formality," will be at the LCC's Lincoln Park office.

The LCC has no authority to decide whether the township's ordinance is lawful, added Wozniak.

"We might even disagree with the reasons for which the township board acted the way it did but we are not really free to impose on it our own feeling about that," Wozniak said.

"If the licensees feel the ordinance goes too far in some aspect or other, or somehow infringes on their constitutional rights or conflicts with laws of state, they would have to go to court to have that proven," added Wozniak.

"The LCC is not a court per se. It really cannot get into questions as to whether this ordinance was lawful or not. It's not the LCC's area of expertise. We lack that type of authority."

Circuit court is where Stewart expects the issue to land.

"It is almost granted pro forma that a circuit court action is filed by the respondent. They ask for an injunction to keep the bar open, and fairly often it is granted," said Stewart.

Plymouth Township is seeking to do what few others have done in Michigan, Wozniak said.

"This kind of action isn't taken too often. In the past year, I can recall only two instances. One was successful, and one wasn't."

Bootlegger's bar in Farmington lost its license in 1986 after Farmington won a 2½-year battle that ended in the Michigan Court of Appeals.

Student of Month

Kevin J. Campbell, son of Donna and Hugh Campbell of Plymouth, has been named Student of the Month at Plymouth Christian Academy in Canton by the Plymouth Elks Lodge. Kevin, a ninth grader at the Academy on Joy just west of Morton Taylor, is a former student of Smith Elementary School. He is a member of soccer teams at Plymouth Christian Academy and in Plymouth community leagues. He is vice president of the ninth grade class and his hobbies include baseball-card collecting, aquariums, and biking.

Comedy club opens

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Sure Joe Allison of Plymouth can fly a plane. However, he also has to eat. So Allison is a cargo pilot. He works for Zantop International Airlines out of Willow Run Airport.

Whenever he's on the road — which is often — Allison will visit a local comedy club and do some material on their amateur nights. It also gives him the opportunity to see how each club is operated.

And he doesn't want to see some of the things he's seen at other clubs. "I don't want to see politics," Allison said, "the 'if you work this club, you don't work here' type of thing."

Working with Allison at his new club will be his brother, Edward Bielaska. He is sort of the straight man of the outfit, handling the business end of the venture while his brother is in the air.

"He's constantly bouncing jokes off me," Bielaska said, the youngest of the two brothers. "He's always got to be the center of attention."

The brothers' main attention has been focused on getting lights and a sound system installed at Stoyan's. Also, they have been busy booking acts and advertising the club.

ONE OF THE advantages Allison has is his experience as a stand-up comedian. He started doing amateur nights at the Comedy Castle in Royal Oak as a teenager.

Allison has done amateur nights at the Comedy Store in Los Angeles, Dangerfield's in New York and the Comedy Womb in Chicago.

Comedy is something he finds therapeutic. "A lot of people will pay a psychiatrist and tell him their problems," Allison said, "I go on stage, tell people my problems. They laugh. I feel better, and I get paid. Comedy is a good release."

SOME OF THE comedians appearing in February will include "Downtown" Tony Brown, Norma Zager and Leo DuFour. Local comedians will open for the national acts.

Tuesday nights will be "open mike" nights for amateurs. "There's a lot of talent around here," Allison said, "but there's no place to work."

Allison knows the frustration all too well. He's been doing comedy, his No. 1 love, since he was 19.

However, he also has to eat. So Allison is a cargo pilot. He works for Zantop International Airlines out of Willow Run Airport.

Whenever he's on the road — which is often — Allison will visit a local comedy club and do some material on their amateur nights. It also gives him the opportunity to see how each club is operated.

And he doesn't want to see some of the things he's seen at other clubs. "I don't want to see politics," Allison said, "the 'if you work this club, you don't work here' type of thing."

Working with Allison at his new club will be his brother, Edward Bielaska. He is sort of the straight man of the outfit, handling the business end of the venture while his brother is in the air.

"He's constantly bouncing jokes off me," Bielaska said, the youngest of the two brothers. "He's always got to be the center of attention."

Local musicians score high in recent festival

Several musicians of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools orchestra classes received high rankings recently in the District 12 Solo and Ensemble Festival held on consecutive weekends at Livonia Franklin High.

On Saturday, Jan. 30, the following middle school orchestra members performed and received high ratings in the junior high division:

- From Central Middle School: Sixth grader Christian Hebel, Division I rating for violin solo, seventh grader Melissa Zagorski, Division I rating for violin solo, eighth grader Katie Montjar, Division II for cello solo.

- From West Middle School: Seventh grader Jenny Freese, Division II for piano solo and for violin and flute duet, eighth grader Ian Riley, Division I for violin solo.

- From Lowell Middle School: Ninth graders Kevin Kim and Michelle Walquist, both Division II ratings for violin solos.

On Saturday, Feb. 6, the following

Centennial Educational Park orchestra members earned ratings as follows:

- Michael Abesamis, Division II, violin solo, Alex Chin, Division I, viola solo, Danielle Walquist, Division I, violin solo, Frances Chang, Division I on both her violin and piano solos, Jeff Noricks, Division I, violin solo, Suzanne Long, Division I, violin solo, Alex Chien and Wendy Stuart, Division I, viola cello duet, Danielle Walquist, Leslie Capozzoli, Sue Long and Wendy Stuart, Division I for string quartet performance.

All senior high students who received Division I ratings qualify for the State Solo and Ensemble Festival held in late March at Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti.

The solo and ensemble festivals are sponsored by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association.

All orchestra members are students of Michael Endres, orchestra director for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Huber: Hands off Senate race

By Tim Richard
staff writer

"I hope the party leadership stays out of it," Robert Huber said of this his third bid for the Republican U.S. Senate nomination.

Huber, 65, an industrialist from Troy, says much the same thing as he blisters state GOP Chairman E. Spencer Abraham for the deep divisions arising from last month's state convention. The Bush-Kemp camp and the Robertson-Kemp camp each will send 77 disputed delegates to the national presidential nominating convention in New Orleans next summer.

"I believe we've got to go to the (presidential) primary and have registration by party," Huber said as he criticized the district convention system that began with election of 9,000 precinct delegates in August 1986.

Abraham and the party leaders "could have agreed on returning to the primary" and avoided the "disaster" of January, Huber said.

HUBER SAID he has his best shot yet at a Senate nomination. "In previous campaigns, the party leaders had somebody who had been anointed in the 'consensus' smoke-filled room, which should never be allowed."

Scheduling help is offered

The office of Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara is offering a scheduling service to all civic groups, local city officials, chambers of commerce and other community organizations.

According to McNamara, nothing is more frustrating than devoting time, attention and hard work in planning a special occasion only to discover that the timing is wrong.

His staff has implemented a 1988 Community Events Calendar to help avoid scheduling conflicts when planning community events.

The calendar will serve as a clearing house for anyone planning a special event in the community.

Diet Pills Sweeping U.S.

Doctors Invent 'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight

New 'Fat Magnet' Diet Pill Guarantees Fast Weight Loss

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special)—An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat-magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose fat by simply taking their tested and proven new pill.

No Dieting—Eat Normally
Best of all, "you can continue to eat all of your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. You will start losing fat from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire."

There has never been anything like it before. It is a totally new major medical breakthrough for weight loss (worldwide patent pending).

Flushes Fat Out of Body
The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in fat particles. Then, all that trapped fat is naturally "flushed" right out of your body because it cannot be digested.

Within 2 days you will notice a change in the color of your stool as the fat particles are being eliminated.

"Pills Do All the Work"
According to the doctors, the fat magnet pills do all the work while you quickly lose fat with no starvation diet menus to follow, no calorie counting, no exercising, and no hunger pangs. It is 100% safe. You simply take the pills with a glass of water before meals.

The fat-magnet pills have just been offered to the American public and are already sweeping the country with record sales and reports of dramatic weight loss. It's the "lazy way" to lose weight for people who enjoy eating.

Now Available to Public

If you need to lose 20, 50, 100 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these new highly successful fat-magnet pills (now available from the doctor's exclusive manufacturer by mail or phone order only) by sending $20 for a 90 pill supply (+$2 handling), or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+$3 handling), cash, check or money order to: Fat-Magnet, 9016 Wilshire Blvd., Dept. W24, Beverly Hills, CA 90211. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not 100% satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard and American Express OK. (Send card number, expire date, and signature.) For fastest service for credit card orders ONLY call anytime 24 hours, toll free 1(800)527-9700, ext. W24.

"They've done such a poor job of uniting the party that I hope they (leaders) stay out of it and let the four of us carry our positions to the people." Huber said. He was interviewed on the "Spotlight on News" program due for broadcast at 8 a.m. Sunday on WXYZ-TV.

In 1970 party leaders picked Lenore Romney, wife of former Gov. George Romney, as the "consensus" candidate for U.S. Senate against Philip Hart. Huber gave her a hard run for the nomination, taking 49 percent of the vote. She lost to Hart by 500,000 votes that November.

In 1976 most party leaders lined up behind U.S. Rep. Marv E. Felt of Ann Arbor for the nomination, and Huber finished with 17 percent. He lost to Democrat Donald Riegle, seeking his third term this year.

Also seeking the GOP nomination are former U.S. Rep. Jim Dunn of East Lansing, Birmingham attorney James L. Elisman and Detroit attorney Armand Velardo.

"I haven't been out trying to raise funds," said Huber, who will concentrate on hitting Riegle's record as a "pork barrel spender."

Huber has been mayor of Troy, a county board member, a state senator and a U.S. Representative.

RIEGLE WILL campaign against Japanese imports, especially of autos, contending the Japanese government restricts sale of American products there.

Wrong approach, said Huber. "We do export considerable billions. It happens we are importing more than we are exporting," he said.

"It isn't building walls that's gonna solve our problem. We have to rebuild our industrial power... build better and cheaper as we used to do... be competitive... return to our industrial pre-eminence."

RIEGLE, IN line to be Senate Banking Committee chairman next year, has been raising a multi-million dollar war chest with business contributions. Huber called the business money "a disgrace" because "business leaders don't really study issues."

Huber is board chairman of Michigan Chrome and Chemical Co., which makes industrial products, and said he has felt the "heavy hand" of government.

"We got a bill from Iowa for $177,000 in taxes. We do business with one company in Iowa. There's no residency there. There's no plants. There's no warehousing."

"Iowa has suddenly decided to tax everybody who sells in their state," Huber said, contending Iowa is interfering in interstate commerce, the sole jurisdiction of the federal government.

"It's why a lot of industry has left the United States. That's one of Mr. Riegle's problems. He's done nothing to correct this situation."

CONSTITUTIONAL amendment ideas are abounding. In his congressional term (1973-4) Huber advocated an anti-busing amendment. Other popular ideas among conservatives are a balanced budget, line-item veto, school prayer and a ban on abortion.

Huber's favorite banning abortion "One whole section of the abortion problem is never considered—the husband. We only deal with the wife's problem, half of it."

Other Huber stands on issues:
• Balancing the budget — Congress can do the job itself by freezing spending and making across-the-board spending cuts.

• Drug testing and AIDS testing — "I would have no objection to being asked to take a test. I have no objection to asking the people who

'They've (GOP leaders) done such a poor job of uniting the party that I hope they stay out of it.'

— Robert Huber
Senate candidate

go to work for me. Once you're in the plant (employed), it's a little bit more difficult. I think you can ask them, but I'd have a problem insisting on it."

• Aid to the Contras in Nicaragua — strongly in favor

• Defense spending — it's expensive but necessary "That's what brought the Russians over here looking for a treaty."

• Dealing with the Soviets — "I wouldn't trust the Russians after what we've been through the last 75 years."

Appeal denied

Former Wayne County Circuit Judge James Canham was denied appeal before the Michigan Supreme Court last week in his bid to regain his law license. Canham's license was revoked last year by the Michigan Attorney Discipline Board for his role in a bribe scheme involving former Michigan Appeals Court Judge S. Jerome Bronson. Canham has 21 days to file for reconsideration, though a Supreme Court spokesman said the justices rarely reverse themselves. Canham, a one-time Redford District Judge, can also file again for reinstatement in 1992.

ANTI-INFLAMMATORY DRUGS
Articles discussing arthritis treatment usually make mention of "anti-inflammatory" drugs. What does this designation mean?
The term anti-inflammatory refers to thirty or more medications that include aspirin, motrin, advil, naprox, nalfon, meclomen, orudis, rufen etc.
While these drugs are different in their chemical composition, all of them share the ability to check the body's production of the chemical prostaglandin. This chemical, when produced by the stomach, protects its lining from injury by stomach acid. The same prostaglandin, when made in the joints, sets off events leading to the accumulation of white blood cells and fluid within the joint. Thus, drugs which stop prostaglandin act as ulcer producing substances in the stomach and anti-inflammatory agents in the joints.
To date, no anti-inflammatory drug has established itself as the preferred medication for any group of patients or any particular arthritis. The choice of which anti-inflammatory drug to use depends on the patient's health and the physician's experience with that therapy.

Rotary Foundation marks 30-plus years

(Part One)

If you enjoyed that finger-lickin' chicken at the Plymouth Rotary Club's barbecue last September and felt good about participating in an event whose proceeds are used to benefit the community in scores of ways, you might want to know more about the Plymouth Rotary Foundation which observes its 31st anniversary this year.

The Foundation is the non-profit organization through which the Rotary Club has been channeling the proceeds of its fund raisers since 1957. For a number of years before that, however, the club had been engaged in what is still one of the Foundation's main efforts — helping needy students finance their way through college.

The original student-loan concept came from George A. Smith, superintendent of schools here from 1918 to 1945. A poor orphan placed in a home when his parents died, Smith wanted to assist needy students to further their education.

In 1945, the year he retired, Smith organized a small group of teachers, including former high school principal Edna Allen, in the formation of a student loan fund.

Small loans were made to students who needed help to go to college. Once that was operating, Smith also got the Plymouth Rotary Club to start a similar fund.

Smith was influential in the Rotary Club, having been its founding president in 1947. The Rotary Student Loan Fund started in a small way, with money coming from contributions to a "penny box" and from gifts made by members on their birthdays.

When Smith died in 1951, the teachers changed the name of their fund to the George A. Smith Memorial Fund. Its board of directors was broadened to include representatives of local service clubs, including Rotary. Contributions to the fund began to come from outside the teachers' circle.

In 1952, Edna Allen, secretary-treasurer of the Smith Memorial Fund, wrote to Lou Goddard, president of the Rotary Club, proposing that the teachers' fund and the Rotary Student Loan Fund be merged. The work of the two funds, both past and present

started by George A. Smith, was beginning to overlap.

The Rotary Club agreed to the merger. The name chosen for the merged funds was "Plymouth Rotary Club Student Loan Fund" — founded by George A. Smith. This cumbersome name was usually shortened to Student Loan Fund.

THE COMBINED fund was first administered by a committee composed of two immediate past presidents of the Rotary Club, the superintendent of schools, and two others appointed by the Rotary president. In 1964, to provide continuity, an executive secretary was added.

As early as 1953, Frank Arlen, then chairman of the Student Loan Fund, wrote to Rotary International asking for information which would help the club to decide whether to incorporate the fund. It was not until four years later in 1957, however, that legal papers were drawn up and the fund incorporated as "The Plymouth Rotary Foundation" — a non-profit Michigan corporation. This year marks its 30th anniversary.

The attorney who drew up the incorporation papers was Rotary member Perry Richwine, who later became club president and Rotary District Governor. In addition to Richwine, the incorporators of the Foundation were Rotarians Jim Taylor, Harry Draper, Russell Isbister, Harold Guenther, Don Sutherland, David Galin, Carl Caplin, and this writer.

Only three of the nine incorporators are active in the club today — Harold Guenther, Don Sutherland and me. Richwine and Draper live in Florida and the rest are no longer living. The first officers of the Foundation were Jim Taylor, president, Harry Draper, vice president, Carl Caplin, executive secretary and I was the treasurer.

The intent in forming the Foundation was that its activities always include student loans but that it should also serve as a tax deductible vehicle through which Rotarians, and others outside the club, might donate money to be used for "charitable, educational and civic project." Children of club members are not eligible for loans.

Fines, penny box contributions and birthday gift money began to be augmented by donations from club members and excess funds from the club's general treasury (turned over to the Foundation at year-end). Later, chicken barbecue profits became the chief source of funds for the Foundation.

UNTIL 1962, the officers of the club doubled as officers of the Foundation.

In 1962, the club's board of directors decided that the Foundation should have its own officers, separate from the club's board. In September of that year, officers of the Foundation began to be elected by a vote of the entire club membership.

Among early bequests to the Foundation, long before the Student Loan Fund was incorporated, was one from the estate of William Pettigill. Bill Pettigill was a charter member of the club in 1924 and vice president of the club in 1926. After the fund became the Foundation, one of the first bequests was the sum of $10,000 from the estate of Mrs. Bernice Reddeman.

On June 10, 1962, Carl Caplin reported that student loans outstanding totaled $18,000 and that the student loan fund had $8,000 in reserve. The number of students granted loans up to 1963 was 43.

Among the first disbursements from the Foundation, after its incorporation in 1957, was $1,000 to the State of Michigan Guaranteed Student Loan Program. The club has been told by the State Department of Education that it was the first to make such a donation, and that the State Fund now exceeds $5 million. (To be continued)

Vandals, thieves hit vehicles

A spree of vandalism and larceny last week cost Canton's Sunflower Subdivision residents more than $3,500.

Between 4:30 a.m. and 12:47 p.m. Feb. 2 at least nine residents reported to Canton Police that their car windows had been shattered. In some of the cases, goods were taken from the vehicles.

A wide assortment of items including a cassette recorder, leather jacket and a brief case were taken. Radar detectors were the most common items stolen.

Police are without suspects.

Keeping house lights on and parking vehicles on driveways and in garages could deter these types of incidents, said Dave Boljesic, Canton Police information officer.

He also encouraged residents to be aware of unusual happenings in their neighborhoods. The more information police have to work with, the more likely arrests will be made, he said.

Canton's detective bureau may be reached by calling 397-300.

School quality bills face Senate votes

By Tim Richard
staff writer

The Michigan Senate is scheduled to vote Tuesday on a package of educational quality bills which bogged down last week.

"There's a question of whether to have a core curriculum," said Sen. Rudy Nichols, R-Waterford, putting his finger on the center of the controversy.

Nichols was named to a 14-member ad hoc committee to work on three school bills, covering core curriculum, school improvement plans and school board annual reports to the public.

"People are asking more money (for education) and more accountability. The two march in concert," Nichols said.

"IMPLEMENTATION is a several-hundred million dollar package," said Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, another member of the ad hoc panel.

There is a question of whether this is the best way to use the funds.

And there is a question of do we have the funds?

In his State of the State address, Gov. James J. Blanchard tied the question of improving school quality to his "closing tax loopholes" plan — $250 million in revenue from increases in taxes on banks and insurance companies, plus taxes on large lottery winnings and military pay.

"His plan has no legislative support," said Faxon. "His agenda is not this Legislature's agenda."

But Faxon sees Republican legislators as seeking a massive revenue shift from southeastern Michigan to the outstate, where living costs run 22 percent lower, in the name of equity.

"It's interesting that the Republicans are posturing for the most socialistic form of education ever advocated — a boost to the outstate at the expense of southeastern Michigan," Faxon said.

THREE BILLS were scheduled for a Senate vote last Wednesday (see related story). But the process broke down, according to Senate Majority Leader John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant.

The speaker (Democrat Gary Owen of Ypsilanti) asked for an ad hoc committee. He insisted on it. It's difficult to discern the reasons," said Engler, who prefers to work through the standing committee process.

There was a breakdown over the partisan makeup of the 14-member committee. Engler announced on the Senate floor. After they had agreed to a 4-3 party split (Republicans control the Senate and Democrats the House), Engler said Owen wanted a 5-2 split.

But the Republican chief was pleased that "we're going to move (these bills) in an orderly session, and not let them pile up 'til June when we have the budget bills."

"QUALITY" has become the 1988 buzz word in Lansing.

Republicans unveiled their program late last year, and Blanchard countered in the State of the State with similar proposals, many of which delighted the GOP.

Blanchard's fiscal 1989 budget message recommends only a 1-percent general increase in state aid to K-12 schools, but it asks much "careful targeting of resources to initiatives that improve the quality and accountability." Among them:

- $600,000 for implementing teacher competency testing by 1991
- $100,000 to reinstitute science testing, along with updated state assessment tests in math and reading.
- Targeted aid for computer literacy.

• A greater response to the school dropout problem, including alternative education programs or remedial services to 10,700 pupils in 122 districts and nine other pilot programs.

• An "employability skills test" for high school graduates.

• The "Detroit Compact" — a guarantee that middle school students who meet achievement and attendance goals will earn either scholarships for higher education or

• $500,000 to disseminate education research directly to classrooms.

Trio of bills are being debated

Here, according to staff analyses, are key features of three educational quality bills facing the Michigan Senate Tuesday.

• Core Curriculum — SB 547 requires local boards to make a "core" curriculum consisting of required and elective courses available to all pupils attending a public school. It would take effect in September of 1989.

The "core" would include: career education, communication skills (defined as "English grammar, composition, oral skills, literature and reading"), computer science, foreign language, health and physical education, math, science, social studies, visual and performing arts, vocational education.

Local and intermediate districts would be able to offer courses through consortiums. An amendment exempts non-public schools.

• The state school aid act provides incentive funds.

Supporters of the bill include the associations of school boards and school administrators and the two teachers' unions. Sponsor is Dan DeGroot, R-Port Huron.

• Annual improvement plan — SB 548 requires local boards to develop and implement 3-5-year school improvement plans for each school in the district, beginning with 1988-9. Plans would be based on state Board of Education models. An amendment requires "proposed methods of maintaining classroom management."

The state board would annually review a random sampling of school improvement plans, reporting to the legislature's two education committees.

Supporters are the same group backing SB 547. Sponsor is senate Education Committee Chairman John Schwarz, R-Battle Creek.

• Annual Educational Report. SB 549 requires local districts to prepare and make public an annual educational report, beginning in 1990. It would cover accreditation status, every school, core curriculum activities, student achievement, dropout and retention rates.

Current policy requires only a financial report.

Supporters are the same. Sponsor is Schwarz.

Fuel prices have dropped 7.1 cents

For the 12th straight week, average self-serve no-lead gasoline prices fell along main state highways. Prices have tumbled 7.1 cents during the 12-week period, reports AAA Michigan.

Its weekly "fuel gauge" survey of 300 stations along major state travel routes shows self-serve no-lead down 0.7 cent in one week to average 92.3 cents per gallon — 18.7 cents less than full-serve. Self-serve no-lead averaged 99.4 cents last Nov. 25.

Self-serve regular decreased 0.8 cent to average 91.2 cents, 16.5 cents below full-serve.

A survey of 100 metropolitan Detroit stations shows self-serve no-lead down 0.1 cent to average 88.5 cents per gallon. It is 40 cents below the full-serve price and ranges from 80.9 cents to $1.069. The price has fallen 6.8 cents from 95.3 cents on Nov. 25, 1987.

Self-serve regular increased 0.4 cent to average 87 cents per gallon. It costs from 79.9 cents to $1.059.

Full-serve diesel along major state highways decreased 0.6 cent to average $1.124, varying from 81.9 cents to $1.699.

Fine cheese pairs nicely with pasta

I am so happy that pasta has finally been taken off the list of bad-boy starches. Now, after all these years, food nutritionists are telling us pasta is a complex carbohydrate and is actually good for us.

Ah, but what is good pasta without the customary grating of a fresh block of Parmesan, Asiago or Pecorino Romano cheese? A simple dusting. A complex outburst of taste. Of course, too much of the "so-called simple dusting" of cheese and you can undo all the good. No sense swelling on the salt content, cholesterol and fat contents of these cheeses. Why spoil such a delectable experience?

If you haven't already guessed, good, aged cheese is as important as a fine grade of pasta. You wouldn't make a cake from scratch and top it off with pre-packaged icing. Why even consider doing the same with shaker-can Parmesan cheese and a plate of steaming pasta?

Unfortunately, imported grating cheeses like Asiago, Parmesan and Romano aren't readily available in most markets and must be searched out, usually in small local Italian groceries or gourmet-type food shops. Every now and then, I stumble onto one of those super "supermarkets" that have a deli with imported cheeses, but even then, on a pound-for-pound variety and selection, make sure you're getting the best and freshest imported product.

ASK TO see labels and rinds of the block. Be aware that there are many varieties, both imported and domestic (some made locally) but the flavor difference when buying the true variety always stands out.

Take Asiago, for instance. Asiago cheese is golden, nutty and, in my opinion, has more flavor than Parmesan and Romano. When I want to toss a simple pasta not covered with a flavorful sauce, I always choose Asiago because it complements the pasta rather than covers it. Asiago can be purchased two ways, stravecchio (very old) and vecchio (old). Of course, the best is the very old variety but in some markets, I've seen this priced as high as $9 per pound. Look around and you should be able to find it in the $6-per-pound price range.

Don't think you have to purchase a pound. A quarter-pound will grate between 3/4 and one cup of cheese. Be careful, once you try this flavorful and nutty variety, you'll be hooked.

When it comes to Parmesan, the best variety available is called Parmigiano Reggiano, made the same way as it was in the 10th century. This is a finely textured, golden cheese and is very hard and aged to perfection. If you want the best, this is it.

Other very dependable brands include Polenghi, Galbani and Locatelli. Contrary to popular belief, imported Parmesan should have a light sweet flavor and be slightly nutty and have almost no trace of saltiness. You'll pay even more for imported Parmesan than you will Asiago, so shop around and check out the market areas (the Windsor Farmers Market and the Eastern Market in Detroit) for the best prices and availabilities.

I AM amazed at the positive reputation and the easy availability of Romano cheese. Romano is a hard white cheese that is somewhat salty in flavor and has a tendency to be very sharp. Pecorino Romano is the best Romano available, and when you see it called for in a recipe, I suggest using half Romano and half Parmesan or Asiago for an improved, less sharp flavor.

Tuesday, patrons will be celebrating the Polish custom of enjoying the rich, jelly-filled doughnuts before Lent.

Punchy over paczki

By Arlene Funke
special writer

You don't have to be Polish to enjoy paczki.

Tomorrow — known to some as Fat Tuesday — people of many nationalities will flock to Polish bakeries to buy paczki (punch-key).

Paczki is a fruit-filled doughnut deeply linked to the beginning of Lent. The Polish custom is to feast on paczki the day before Ash Wednesday, traditional start of the Lenten season preceding Easter.

"It's tradition on Fat Tuesday," explained Richard Jurkiewicz, general manager of the Paris Bakery in Livonia. "You live it up before starting 40 days of sacrifice."

The Jurkiewicz family, owners of the Paris Bakery, have been turning out the delectable paczki for 40 years. They moved to Livonia from Detroit 22 years ago.

"People come in droves," said Jurkiewicz, 39, a Livonia resident. "It's beyond Polish. It's almost everybody now."

The ground rules for eating paczki are: (1) Enjoy them while they're fresh, and (2) think about calories later.

JURKIEWICZ estimates that his staff will make and sell some 2,000 dozen of the yeast-raised paczki to satisfy hordes of hungry customers. The two days preceding Ash Wednesday, which falls this week, are expected to be marked by lines of people waiting their turn at the shop on Joy Road between Inkster and Middlebelt roads.

Paczki are made with eggs, flour, sugar and yeast and then deep-fried in pure vegetable oil. Jurkiewicz said a richer dough is made in honor of Fat Tuesday.

The doughnuts are filled with fruit or jelly and covered with icing or dusted with sugar. The price is $5 per dozen (regularly $4.50).

"The tradition is prune-filled," Jurkiewicz said. "The most common filling, now, is raspberry."

The Paris Bakery was born around 40 years ago, in a predominantly Polish area near Michigan Avenue and Junction in southwest Detroit. Jurkiewicz's parents, Marion and Genevieve, both born in Poland, started the business.

"The business was developed on the Polish rye bread and from there everything branched out," Jurkiewicz said. "We lived above the bakery. I started cracking eggs when I was 7 years old. Somebody had to do it."

The parents, who now live in Farmington Hills, remain active in the business. Jurkiewicz's brother, Ted, who lives in Canton, also is part of the team.

The Paris Bakery staff started to prepare the dough Sunday night, in order to meet the demand that begins Monday.

"MY MOM and just about everybody is going to take a turn at frying," Jurkiewicz said. The goal is to produce at least 40 dozen doughnuts per hour.

Celebration package from the Flower Barn in Farmington includes Paris Bakery cake along with flowers and balloons.

Offbeat cakes They can be part of the package

By Arlene Funke
special writer

Suppose your friend is a fast-food fanatic.

Wouldn't it be fun to surprise him or her with a birthday cake shaped like a giant taco, bulging with cheese and lettuce made from icing. Add some flowers and balloons, and you have a festive occasion.

That's the concept behind the "celebration package" recently introduced by the Flower Barn, a Farmington florist shop.

"It's fun," said Chris Lamb, owner of the store in the Crossroads shopping center at Nine Mile and Farmington roads. "I think kids get a kick out of it."

The specialty cakes come from Paris Bakery in Livonia. Lamb provides the flowers and balloons and delivers the entire package to customers.

"I remember years ago, you could buy a little cake," said Lamb, 38, of Northville. "I was looking to try something different, to set us apart from everybody else."

Lamb started her business four years ago after working for several other florists. She has been at her present location two years.

"I ALWAYS was interested in interior design and art," she said.

Richard Jurkiewicz, general manager of Paris Bakery, found the idea an appealing way to gain exposure for his specialty cake business. The celebration package began last October.

"It took off like wildfire," Jurkiewicz said.

All the cakes are baked at Paris Bakery's Livonia headquarters, on Joy Road between Inkster and Middlebelt roads. The decorating is done by Jan Stawars of Northville, who has attended numerous seminars on various techniques, and Jim Anholfski of Livonia, a graduate of the culinary arts program at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

"Most everything is edible," Jurkwicz said. "It's tinted with food color."

Lamb, who always keeps a couple of cakes in her display case, finds the new idea has boosted her business, particularly among people who are looking for something special.

"I tell people they can do anything that suits a holiday or special interest," she said. "When people come in here, they are coming for an emotional idea, for an occasion."

One man wanted a special cake for his wife, who collects shoes. Voilà, a cake shaped like Cinderella's slipper.

OF COURSE, St. Patrick's Day evokes the obvious novelty cakes featuring shamrocks and leprechauns. Easter will bring bunny-shaped cakes.

You say you want a special cake for your biology teacher?

"They did one of a green frog lying on his back with his tongue out," said Lamb with a laugh. "Those decorators are fantastic."

One day's notice is required for a custom cake, which is available in yellow, white, banana, chocolate and marble batter.

A six-inch cake, which feeds six, costs $6. A six-inch "taco" cake costs $8, while a small hamburger-shaped cake is $12. Generally, prices are based on size and labor.

The customer's budget determines the elaborateness of the package.

"There is no minimum cost," Lamb said. "They can order in any cost. The fact that we deliver is the whole key. With flowers and balloons, it's something where you can bring a whole party or a cheer-me-up."

The Flower Barn is in the Crossroads shopping center at Nine Mile and Farmington roads, Farmington. Phone 478-9173. Hours are 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday-Wednesday and Saturday and 9:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Thursday-Friday. Closed Sunday.

Jelly doughnuts are Fat Tuesday treat

Nine Mile and Farmington roads in Farmington, carries a line of Paris Bakery breads and sweets. The Bakery Barn, a florist in the same center, sells some of the family's specialty cakes (see related story).

All the baking is done at the Joy Road location, where the air is sweet with the yeasty fragrance of baking bread and the aroma of cakes and doughnuts.

We do just about anything with poppy seeds, said Jurkiewicz, pointing to rows of coffee cakes and tea rings. "We make an old-fashioned raisin coffee cake."

In the work area, one employee mixes a big vat of cake batter while another cuts the dough for a batch of doughnuts to be immersed in the deep fryer. A third may be filling dispensers with apricot or blueberry filling for coffee cake.

On the selling floor, racks hold loaves of hearty sourdough bread and boxes of chrusciki, a feathery light twist of flavorful dough dusted with powdered sugar, also known as angel wings. While Mom makes her selection, a toddler gazes in awe at fancy cakes decorated to look like giant hamburgers or tacos.

PRICES ARE reasonable. A one-pound loaf of bread costs 65 cents, while a two-pound loaf fetches $1.25. A small bundt cake with alternating layers of chocolate and peanut butter batter costs $1.75.

Jurkiewicz expressed quiet pride in the business, which has managed to bring the same quality of fresh-baked goods to families, church groups and civic organizations.

We've grown from a purely ethnic bakery to selling everything, Jurkiewicz said. "It's never monotonous."

Paris Bakery is at 2848 Joy Road, Farmington. Phone: 485-2000. Hours are 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday, Saturday and 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, Monday.

Remember, you want to complement, not overpower, simple pasta.

If you really enjoy your pastas and are looking to try some other imported grating varieties, I suggest Incanestrato, a bitey personality cheese, or Pecorino De Tavola, somewhat sharp and an excellent cheese to use for baked pastas.

Looking for something spicy? Try the imported Ragusano, a Sicilian cheese loaded with flavor, or Pepato, a grating cheese impregnated with whole black peppercorns. Add to this list of power cheese the Casuvalle variety, again excellent when used with baking pastas.

Enough said about cheese. Now a simple word on cheese graters. Every kitchen has (or should have) the standard hand grater with four sides, available at local houseware stores for about $4. However, if you really want to get the best, search out the Mouli hand grater. Now you're cooking Italian.

FOOD PROCESSORS such as the Cuisinart and mini grinders can handle small chunks of cheese but because these grating varieties are best aged more than three years (and some up to 10 years), they are extremely hard, and trying to cut them up into small chunks for grinding in a food processor is senseless. I think this is the first hard word I've ever said about my Cuisinart!

When it comes to storing grating cheese, keep them tightly wrapped, as they can impart flavors to other foods and vice versa. I've found that the freezer works best for long storage. Just allow the cheese to come to room temperature after grating and before serving. If you are grating a big hunk, store it in screw-top jars (baby food jars are best) and keep it in the freezer almost indefinitely.

Grating cheese lovers will love these basic recipes. Make them with all the leftover shaker-type cheese you have in the fridge, then make them with fresh grated. No doubt you will notice the difference. Bon Appetit!

HOT ARTICHOKE BREAD
1 cup fresh grated Parmesan or Asiago cheese
1 cup mayonnaise (not salad dressing)
1 can artichoke hearts (not the marinated variety)

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Place in a small ovenproof casserole and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Pop under broiler till golden. Serve with cracker, bread cubes, corn chips or fresh vegetables. (Grate in a small onion for a different flavor.)

PARMESAN BAKED CHICKEN
3 lbs. chicken thighs and drumsticks
2 cups milk
1/2 cup plain breadcrumbs
1/2 cup fresh grated Parmesan or Asiago cheese
1 egg, beaten
3 tablespoons olive oil

Place chicken in a bowl with milk and refrigerate at least 1 hour.

Combine breadcrumbs with parmesan cheese. Pat chicken dry then dip in beaten egg and coat well in breadcrumb and parmesan cheese mixture. Place skin side up on a lightly oiled pan and drizzle with olive oil. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 minutes. Serves 4-6.

Chef's note: you want to taste the cheese here, so don't try to mask the flavor with tons of herbs, salt and pepper.

BAKED TOMATOES FLORENTINE
4 strips cooked bacon, diced
4 medium tomatoes
1 package (10 oz.) frozen spinach, thawed
1/2 cup fresh grated Parmesan or Asiago cheese
1/2 cup breadcrumbs

Chop bacon, set aside. Slice tops off tomatoes and scoop out centers. Squeeze as much of the water out of the spinach as possible. Place spinach in a bowl. Scoop out center of tomatoes and place in bowl with spinach and remaining ingredients. Mix well. Stuff tomato shells with mixture and bake uncovered at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Serves 4.

Chef's suggestion: Try this with some finely chopped seafood instead of the bacon or with simple steamed and chopped vegetables for a vegetarian treat.

CAESAR SALAD DRESSING
Great for all greens
1 clove garlic, finely diced
2 anchovies (optional)
1 coddled egg juice of 1/2 lemon dash tabasco
dash Worcestershire
1/2 cup wine vinegar
1/2 cup imported Italian olive oil
1/2 cup fresh grated Parmesan or Asiago cheese

Mash garlic with anchovies. Add the egg and beat. Add the juice of the lemon and beat until well mixed. Stir in tabasco, Worcestershire and vinegar. Mix well. While beating, slowly add the olive oil in a slow, steady stream. Just before serving, add grated cheese. Mix well and toss with fresh greens and homemade croutons, if desired.

How to make paczki

PARIS BAKERY PACZKI (makes 24 doughnuts)

- 1 cup milk at room temperature
- 3 eggs
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tsp salt
- 1 tsp baking powder
- 1/2 cup all purpose vegetable shortening
- 4 pkg. dry yeast
- 4 1/2 cups all purpose flour
- juice from 1/2 fresh lemon
- 1/2 tsp vanilla extract
- vegetable oil for frying
- jelly for filling

Cream dry ingredients with shortening. Add eggs and milk. Mix until dough is completely incorporated and pliable, approximately 5-8 minutes. Cover dough with damp cloth or cloth moistened with oil to prevent crustling and let rest for 10 minutes. Divide dough into 24 pieces, cover again and let rest until dough doubles in size, approximately 45 minutes to one hour.

Place doughnuts into pot containing pure vegetable oil heated to 375 degrees (doughnuts will not be entirely covered but will float on top of oil). Cook for two minutes or until golden brown crust forms. Turn doughnuts over, submerge completely and continue frying for two minutes. Remove doughnuts from fryer and let rest on screen or rack until cool. Split doughnuts partially and fill with favorite preserves or jelly. When doughnuts are completely cool, top with sugar water glaze or dust with either powdered or granulated sugar.

Tips save you time preparing dinner

AP — Not so long ago, we thought a meal that took an hour to prepare was fast. Now the dinner pace has speeded up, and 20 or 30 minutes is often winning time for weeknight meals. Here are some tips to help you save time preparing meals.

PLAN NOW, SAVE TIME LATER

— Plan several days (a week is better) of menus and grocery shopping at once. You've heard it before, but there's still no better way to be ready to start dinner the minute you walk in the door.

— Serve fewer courses for a meal. Use a purchased item for one of the courses: barbecued chicken from the deli with homemade salad, or frozen yogurt or pudding for dessert after a casserole.

SHOP SMART

— Make a weekly grocery list as you plan menus. Shop only once a week at markets you're familiar with so you don't waste time on extra trips or looking for items. Shop when the store is not crowded.

— Buy ingredients in the form you'll need them for cooking: pre-shredded fresh cabbage, bottled lemon juice, pre-sliced and pre-shredded cheese, boned and skinned fresh chicken breast halves.

GET ORGANIZED

— Arrange your kitchen so you can find things quickly. Store utensils close to where they're used.

— Clean out jumbled drawers or overcrowded cabinets. Buy duplicates of often used items, such as glass measuring cups, so you don't have to stop to clean them as you cook.

COOK EFFICIENTLY

— Avoid using (and dirtying) extra dishes. Mix a casserole in its baking dish. Use a saucepan as a mixing bowl besides cooking in it.

— Foods cook faster in smaller portions. Bake single-serving meat loaves in muffin pans and casseroles in individual baking dishes.

— Serve foods in big pieces when possible: a wedge of lettuce instead of torn greens, apple wedges instead of Waldorf salad.

— The night before: Place frozen meat, poultry, fish or seafood in the refrigerator to thaw. Read the recipe and check your pantry to be sure you have all the ingredients.

Pancakes mark Shrove Tuesday

Shrove Tuesday tradition calls for pancakes. A centuries-old European custom, making pancakes the day before Lent was a festive way to use up ingredients that were disallowed until Easter.

Today's pancake lovers can continue this tradition and enjoy their favorite breakfast with contemporary speed and convenience. For a syrup-topped stack in minutes, prepare pancakes (why not a double batch?) whenever time allows and freeze. Reheat single servings in the microwave oven any time you feel a penchant for pancakes. What could be easier?

Two new pancake recipes have been developed that are ideal for this fix-and-freeze procedure. Both streamline preparation with complete pancake and waffle mix, and both boast lively, fresh flavors and special toppings that make breakfast seem like a special occasion.

Top fresh banana-flavored pancakes with a sweet-tart blend of pancake syrup, strawberry preserves and a hint of lemon to make Strawberry Banana Pancakes. For rich banana flavor, use well-ripened bananas in the batter. Save picture-pretty, just-ripe bananas to garnish each stack, if you wish.

Oatmeal Pecan Pancakes incorporate whole grain, fiber-rich oats into the pancake batter. A blend of pancake syrup, pecans and margarine sweetens the stack.

Strawberry Banana Pancakes are good to serve Shrove Tuesday or any busy weekday morning. They may be prepared ahead and reheated in the microwave.

OATMEAL PECAN PANCAKES

- Syrup
- 1/4 cup chopped pecans
- 1 tablespoon margarine or butter
- 1 cup syrup
- 2 cups pancake and waffle mix
- 1 1/2 cups water
- 1/2 cup quick or old-fashioned, uncooked oats
- 1 tablespoon firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon

Syrup: In saucepan, saute pecans in margarine 1 or 2 minutes. Add syrup, cook until heated through, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat. Serve warm over pancakes. Syrup can be stored in refrigerator up to one week and reheated.

Pancakes: Heat griddle to 350 F, grease lightly. Combine all ingredients, mix just until large lumps of pancakes mix disappear. For each pancake, pour 1/4 cup batter onto prepared griddle. Turn when pancakes begin to rise and edges look cooked. Turn only once. 4 servings.

Freeze and microwave reheat directions for pancakes: To freeze, wrap pancakes securely in foil or place in a freezer bag, store in freezer up to three months. To reheat frozen pancakes, stack 3 pancakes on microwaveable plate, microwave at HIGH for 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 minutes.

Broccoli, rice combine in dish

AP - Most favorite vegetable casseroles convert easily to microwave cooking. Case in point: a microwave version of the popular broccoli, rice and cheese combination. It cooks in 6 minutes compared to about 30 minutes for the conventional recipe.

CREAMY BROCCOLI AND RICE

- 1/4 cup quick-cooking rice
- 1/4 cup water
- one 10-ounce package frozen cut broccoli
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon margarine or butter
- 1/2 teaspoon all purpose flour
- 1/2 teaspoon finely shredded lemon peel
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 third cup milk
- 1/4 cup shredded process Swiss or American cheese (3 ounces)
- 2 tablespoons broken pecans (optional)

In a 1-quart casserole combine rice and water. Place broccoli on top of rice mixture. Cook according to the broccoli package microwave directions. Let stand, covered, while preparing cheese sauce.

For sauce, in a 2-cup microwave-

Olympic tours generate little area interest

By Susan Buck
Staff Writer

The 1988 Winter Olympics are under way but suburbanites are apparently more interested in cooking in front of their televisions than in viewing the events in person.

Travel agents in Wayne and Oakland counties say Michigan's big chunk has sent residents scurrying to Florida, Hawaii and the Caribbean rather than flying north to Calgary, Canada.

"NOBODY HAS ever asked to go there to the Olympics," said Jennifer Nicholson, a travel agent for Livonia Travel. "It's a big difference from the Rose Bowl."

Eight people booked flights through Heritage Travel Service in Southfield, said office manager Mary Morrison.

"It's so expensive to get to and there are not a whole lot of flights to get there," Morrison said. "Airfare can $400-$600. It's a long flight five or six hours — about the same time it takes to get to the Caribbean."

Located in southern Alberta, Calgary is a modern metropolitan center boasting a population of 600,000 — slightly larger than metropolitan Boston. It is a major agricultural and oil center with a climate much like Detroit.

Feb. 13-28, more than a million spectators are expected to view the events, which feature 1,500 athletes from 57 countries, said George Ayotte, manager of tourism for the Canadian Office of Tourism in the Renaissance Center.

Nonetheless, some travel agents said interest was so low that they didn't even feel a need to research prices or accommodations availability.

Jerry Wilcox, an agent with Farmington Travel said people in his area showed little interest in traveling to the games. "It's not easy to get to," he said. "There's not a lot of direct service to Calgary. You can drive to Calgary."

Travel packages contained tickets to selected events each day, Wilcox added, but travelers generally cannot choose to attend specific events.

"PERSONALLY, I think you see more of the Olympics on TV than if you go in person," said June Mancuso, owner of Bloomfield Travel Service in Bloomfield Hills.

Mancuso said that she received one request for travel information.

"People are still afraid to fly," said Judy Clark, a travel consultant for Venture Out Travel Service in Westland. "The crash of Northwest Flight 255 is still on their minds."

Economy is another factor, Clark added. "People are still paying off their Christmas card credit bills."

The Calgary games mark the first time that the Winter Olympics have spanned 16, rather than 12 days.

IF DIABETES IS A DISEASE YOU CAN LIVE WITH, WHY DID 150,000 DIE LAST YEAR?

Since 1 out of every 20 people has diabetes, you probably know someone who lives with it.

But what you probably don't know is what it's like to deal with diabetes: to have to stick to a diet every single day; to constantly monitor your blood sugar level; or to take insulin injections several times daily.

And you probably didn't know that diabetes can lead to other diseases, like heart disease, kidney disease and blindness.

Or, that every year 150,000 die.

Trees selective about soil

To many people who look at a forest, it may appear that trees and plants are growing just anywhere.

A closer look, however, will reveal that plants are particular about where they put their roots. Woodland trees and shrubs need certain requirements in order to survive.

Lowland areas near rivers and marshes have wet soil. Willows, musclewood and swamp white oak are able to grow where the water level is high. Other trees — like ironwood, beech and red oak — would not be able to grow in wet soil. They need dry, well-drained terrain to survive.

MICHIGAN SPORTS two main types of forest that demonstrate how trees grow in different areas.

Northern Michigan is at the southern edge of the northern coniferous forest. In a coniferous forest, such evergreens as spruce, white and red pine predominate.

Timothy Nowicki

Southern Michigan, south of Clare, is dominated by deciduous trees that lose their leaves every year.

In the southern deciduous forests, the age of a forest can be determined by looking at the types of trees and shrubs growing in an area. Such trees as aspen, staghorn sumac and sassafras love sun and are found only in open or recently developed forest areas.

When species such as sugar maple and beech invade an area and grow tall, they provide so much shade that sun-loving trees die. In southeastern Michigan, a beech and maple forest is the ultimate forest because it can perpetuate itself.

DIFFERENT TYPES of forest also provide homes and food for different kinds of animals.

Goldfinch like open areas with scattered trees, while wood thrush like the deep forests.

Fox squirrels prefer forests where nuts are produced, while woodchuck like the meadows.

Forests have provided the needs of both man and wildlife for many years.

This year the National Wildlife Federation is featuring the theme "Forests are more than trees" for its 50th National Wildlife Week — March 20-26. Teachers and scout leaders may want to send away for an informative packet of booklets and posters explaining about forests.

Send a dollar to: Michigan United Conservation Clubs, Box 30235, Lansing, 48909, and ask for the National Wildlife Week packet.

Law will protect Great Lakes

AP — A new law signed by President Reagan will help keep garage doors and septic tanks from washing into the Great Lakes, the legislation's author says.

Rep. Fred Upton, R-Mich., said Monday the law will encourage homeowners to remove their condemned houses before they fall into the water and also encourage them to relocate their houses beyond the 30-year erosion setback line.

Although introduced to benefit the Great Lakes, the legislation was amended to apply to all coastal areas.

My legislation corrects a serious flaw in current practices that forced lakeside property owners to sit idly by and wait for their house to fall into the lake before they could resolve their insurance claim," Upton said. "As a result of this bill, homeowners will no longer be encouraged to allow their garage doors, aluminum siding and septic tanks to be washed into the lake."

Previously, a homeowner could claim insurance only after the house collapsed.

Under the new law, a homeowner can claim 40 percent of a house's value when it is certified as endangered by erosion, and the remainder when the structure is razed.

Up to 100 percent of the house's value can be claimed if the structure is moved behind the 30-year erosion setback line.

Upton said the law will cost on average only $2 a year for each federal flood insurance policy.

The law curtails abusive practices in the Federal Flood Insurance Program, making it impossible to buy a house in danger of collapse at a bargain-basement price and then to collect insurance on the full value of the structure.

The legislation was the first the freshman congressman had introduced.

Reagan signed the bill on Friday.

The Lifetime Convertible ARM

Standard Federal Bank introduces the Adjustable Rate Mortgage that lets you convert to a Fixed-Rate Loan anytime during the life of the loan.

A convertible adjustable rate mortgage provides a great way to get low initial interest rates and low initial monthly payments when buying a home. And if there comes a time you'd like to convert to a fixed-rate mortgage, you can. Other convertible ARMs put time limitations on when you can convert to fixed rates. What is unique about all our Lifetime Convertible ARMs is that you can convert anytime during the life of the loan!

What's more, with our Lifetime Convertible ARM, as with all of our mortgage loan programs, you can use our ExpressLoan® service to process and close your loan within 15 days.

So, contact any Standard Federal branch office and learn more about our exclusive Lifetime Convertible ARM.

15-Year ARM
7.50% Annual Interest
9.94% Annual Percentage Rate

* All annual percentage rates are calculated based on a 2% loan discount for a loan amount of $50,000 at a 20% downpayment and monthly principal and interest payments of $463.51 for the 15-year term. The estimated annual percentage rate is subject to increase or decrease on an annual basis after the loan is closed based on the formula set forth in the loan contract. The actual interest rate may not correspond to the formula. There is a 2% annual and 6% lifetime interest rate cap on all adjustable rate mortgage loans. Conversion is subject to certain conditions provided in the loan contract.

Hawks gain share of first

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

To say Farmington Hills Harrison was ready for its showdown with Western Division basketball leader Plymouth Canton would be an enormous understatement.

Rarely is there as great a point swing in games involving the same teams as occurred Saturday night when the Hawks battered Canton en route to a 69-53 victory.

That was in contrast to the 17-point, 81-64 victory the Chiefs chalked up when the teams met last month at Canton.

To tell you the truth, neither game is really a true indication," Harrison coach Mike Teachman said. "If we played eight times, I think there would be one game like that for them, one for us, and six games within three points."

BUT THERE was little doubt the Hawks were on the money Saturday. From the start, they were in control and held an amazing 31-7 lead at one point in the first half.

"They just beat us, from pillar to post," Canton coach Tom Niemi said. "They played an outstanding game and took us out of what we do well."

Harrison's victory creates a tie for first place in the division, both with 6-2 records. The Hawks improved to 11-4, while the Chiefs slipped to 12-3.

"Every game is a must win in the next week — just as it is for anybody else that's in the race," Niemi said.

Harrison came up with its most impressive win of the season in the rematch, but Teachman said the earlier loss to Canton wasn't the source of its motivation.

"Having a young team, I didn't play up that Canton game," he said, afraid that strategy might backfire. "I emphasized the following four games, and going into this one I felt we were playing as good basketball as anyone in the league."

After the first Canton game, we said the next four were real important. Quoting Bobby Knight, we wanted to be in position to be in position."

THE HAWKS were led by Chad Burgess and Jason Lichtman, both of whom scored 17 points, and Bryan Wauldron, whose 14 points included a first-quarter dunk that fueled Harrison's momentum.

Matt Littleton, who made three of his four triples in the second half to rally the Chiefs, scored 16 points to pace Canton, and Brian Paupore added 12.

The big difference between the two games, however, was rebounding. In the first meeting, Canton had 17 offensive rebounds to Harrison's five defensive. The Hawks outrebounded Canton 29-10 on their defensive boards Saturday.

Burgess got all nine of his rebounds off the defensive glass, Wauldron seven of his eight.

THOMAS ARNETT/staff photographer

Jason Lichtman controls the ball for Harrison while Canton's Brad Carey gives chase. Lichtman's shooting sparked the Hawks to a 69-53 victory that gave them a share of the division lead.

"You know what that means? They're not going to get any more easy shots," Teachman said, recalling the Hawks were hurt by Canton's multiple chances in the first game.

HARRISON JUMPED on the Chiefs right away as Burgess and Lichtman, who connected for three first-half triples, made their team's first two field goals from three-point distance.

Wauldron's slam made it 12-3, and the Hawks ran off six straight points to lead 18-5 after one quarter.

"We came out with some kind of intensity," Teachman said. "We really, really have improved, and that's what we've built the whole season on."

While Harrison shot 6-of-13 in the opening period and 12-of-27 for the half, the Chiefs were 2-of-15 and 9-of-28, respectively.

Canton's cold shooting, combined with the Hawks' strong rebounding, gave Harrison plenty of transition opportunities. Harrison's aggressive defense successfully harassed the Chiefs and took away their fast-break game, also.

GOING WITH a three-guard offense in the second half, Canton did a good job at playing catch-up, but the Hawks, led by Burgess and Wauldron, kept pace to hold a 52-39 quarter lead.

The Chiefs whittled the margin to eight, 53-45, with 4½ minutes to play when Littleton sank a running layup after four big points from Dave Foxworthy. Canton's comeback had put it in position to make a run and, surprisingly after the lopsided first half, possibly salvage a win.

"But it didn't happen," Niemi said. "The ball didn't drop, we had 3-4 guys hitting the boards and didn't come away with it."

Lichtman responded with a layup, converted a three-point play and came back with a fast-break basket to boost Harrison's lead to 58-45.

"We needed somebody because, at that point, we were playing not to lose," Teachman said. "But this group has come a long ways. And (Canton) put a lot of pressure on us and we handled it."

Rocks fall short against Rockets

Plymouth Salem never had the lead Saturday night against Westland John Glenn, but victory was never far off of sight either.

The Rocks trailed by five or six points all game, but couldn't muster enough momentum to overtake the Rockets, who took home a 65-60 Lakes Division basketball victory.

The game, which saw Salem drop to 4-4 in the division and 6-9 overall, had been postponed from Friday due to last week's snowstorm. Glenn is 6-2 and 10-5.

The Rocks got within three points in the final minute but were forced to foul. Glenn made the free throws to regain a five-point lead and then went to a delay game.

"The kids played hard, but it was just a matter, at the end of the game, of who could get a few breaks," Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "It could have gone either way had they not made their free throws."

Other fighters want to avoid boxer's punch

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

Kermit Fitzpatrick, a super heavyweight at the Livonia Boxing Club, has trouble finding anyone crazy enough to spar against him.

And those that do challenge the 6-foot-1, 235-pounder from Highland Park don't always come back.

Greg Owens, who is helping train Fitzpatrick for a possible berth on the 1988 U.S. Olympic team, remembers the last guy he brought in to the Livonia Club to challenge Fitzpatrick.

The challenger, who hailed from the well-renowned Kronk gym in Detroit, stood 6-7 — until he met Fitzpatrick's right hand.

"He was at least 6-7, and when Kermit hit him, his whole body folded over the top rope," Owens said. "After the fight, he said, 'I'd come back.' I haven't seen him since."

"I've got to start bringing pro fighters in to spar against Kermit."

JUDGING BY his performance last month, it's no wonder it takes a professional to stay in the ring with Fitzpatrick.

He won the Michigan Amateur Boxing Federation Tournament in January, defeating Jonathan Hittles — the nation's sixth-ranked super heavyweight — by unanimous decision. The win qualified Fitzpatrick for the Regionals, held March 4th and 5th in Detroit.

If he wins the five-state regional competition, he will advance to the ABF Nationals held April 3rd in Colorado Springs, Colo. To make the Olympics, Fitzpatrick would have to win the ABF Nationals and then win a five-man box-off next summer.

In short, it is still a long road to the Olympics, but then again this is a man who is used to traveling long and winding roads. In June, Fitzpatrick, 27, graduated from the Police Academy in Lansing and became a state trooper for the Michigan State Police.

HE PATROLS the roadways near New Baltimore on the midnight shift. The rest of his time is spent either training for the Olympics or sleeping.

Fitzpatrick, 20-4 lifetime, has been boxing competitively since 1984. He took a five-month sabbatical from the sport earlier this year while training at the academy, and the lay-off has meant even longer hours lately in the gym.

"Sometimes I feel sorry for myself," said Fitzpatrick, jokingly. "It's a hectic schedule, but my wife (Gertrude) is supportive. At 27, I'm getting real old for a boxer. I've got to get out and do it. Right now all I want is the Olympics. It's all I think about. It's been my dream to make the Olympics."

Beating Hittles was the first step toward that dream.

"It's been a long lay-off," Fitzpatrick said. "I wasn't sure how I'd do. It was a good fight, I mean this guy has fought them all, including Mike Tyson. Of course, he lost to Tyson."

Before entering the academy, Fitzpatrick was a member of the 1986 U.S. Amateur Boxing Team that toured Yugoslavia. Among his honors are the Motor City Championship in both 1985 and 1987. He also won the Ohio State Fair in 1986 and he was national runner-up for the Golden Gloves title in 1986.

A 1979 GRADUATE of Highland Park High School, Fitzpatrick played football and earned a teaching degree while at Western Michigan University. From September 1984 until last February, when he entered the academy, Fitzpatrick trained at the Adam Butzel Gym on Detroit's West Side.

He started training at the Livonia Club in June after graduating from the academy and, according to Owens, is one of the club's most dedicated boxers.

"Kermit works hard. He has to work hard, because he has set very lofty goals, he has a full-time career and a wife," Owens said. "He seldom misses a workout."

Fitzpatrick doesn't have the greatest talents for a super heavyweight, so he has to outwit his opponents to be successful.

"For his weight, Kermit is not tall, and he doesn't have real long arms, so he has to stay inside and keep pressure on the opponent," Owens said. "The key to winning for Kermit is making the other fighter fight his fight. If he stays outside, he would probably lose."

Jill Watson has high hopes for an Olympic medal. Watson and partner Peter Oppgaard practiced with coach Rita Lowery at the Birmingham Ice Arena.

High hopes for her first Olympics

By Marty Budner
staff writer

RITA LOWERY'S life revolves around figure skating.

She's a former professional ice skater who's now coaching. She married a former Canadian champion. And Lowery, who lives in Bloomfield Hills, has a daughter who's a professional skater.

But, for all of her worldly experience involving more than 25 years of coaching, Lowery has never felt the personal passion of Olympic competition.

That is, until this year.

When young proteges Peter Oppgaard and Jill Watson step onto the ice Tuesday, it will be Lowery's first up-close experience with the Olympics.

Lowery has coached Oppgaard, 28, and Watson, 24, the past four years. Their daily practices at the Birmingham Ice Arena have been strenuous and diligent.

All that preparation promises to climax around 8 p.m. Tuesday when the finals of the Pairs Figure Skating competition will be held at the Calgary Saddledome in Calgary, Alberta — site of the 1988 Winter Olympics.

It's certainly a moment Lowery and her students have been anticipating.

Oppgaard and Watson are three-time national champions who are picked to finish among the medal winners in Calgary. Sports Illustrated predicted a third-place finish for them behind two Russian couples.

LOWERY TRULY believes they have a legitimate shot at the gold. But she's also a realist. Subjective judging, one mistimed jump and unyielding pressure all are integral parts of Olympic skating competition.

"We're waiting for (the Olympics), and yes there's pressure," Lowery said before she left for Canada on Thursday morning. "But I think there's more pressure just waiting for the Olympics to begin."

"Once you get there things settle down a little better. After your first practice you become more relaxed. And to come back with a Gold Medal would be phenomenal."

"The U.S. hasn't had anyone with a (gold) medal in (figure skating) for a long time," she said. "We were the first ones to get a medal at the Worlds in the last four years when we placed third last year. That was a step in the right direction."

Lowery says the key to Watson and Oppgaard's medal chances rests with their short program.

Olympic Pairs Figure Skating competition is divided into a short program (an approximate two-minute skate, which counts 25 percent of total score) and long program (an approximate five-minute skate, which counts 75 percent of total score).

While the short program counts less in overall scoring, it is crucial because it sets up placings for the final long program (the short program in Calgary was held Sunday evening).

"IF THEIR (Watson/Oppgaard) placing is well after the short, that's good," Lowery said. "Then the draw is better after that."

"I feel, naturally, they can win the gold. But everybody has the same chance — especially among the top five or six (pairs). They're all very good."

"It's just who will skate well that day," she said.

Watson, a petite blonde from Bloomington, Ind., and Oppgaard, a lean, handsome skater from Knoxville, Tenn., are relative newcomers to Olympic competition. Watson skated and finished sixth in the 1984 Olympics in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia.

While this is their first Olympics as a team, they are not new to world-class competition. They know what pressure is all about.

"Pressure is what you make it, really," Watson said. "I think for us it involves personal pressure because you just want to go out and give your best performance."

Music for their long performance will be primarily from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly." The most exciting elements of their routine center around at least two points where he flings her high into the air, plus, a dangerous swoop move out of a death spiral.

"It seemed so far away. It seems like time just flies," Watson said. "It's kind of like you're in a dream or something, you can't really believe it's here yet. But the main thing now is just to keep things in perspective."

Lowery is hoping their "perspective" ends in gold.

Wrestlers advance to next round in tourney

Plymouth Canton and Dixie High School had four winners apiece in pre-district wrestling and qualified a total of 22 wrestlers for district competition.

Salem High School was the site of last Wednesday's individual pre-district meet and also Saturday's school district tournament.

The regional for individual wrestling will be Saturday, Feb. 20, at Salem and the state finals Friday and Saturday, Feb. 26-27, at Battle Creek, Michigan. Also will be a team tournament this year with districts scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 17, and regionals Wednesday, Feb. 24.

Canton's pre-district winners were Tom Flores at 98 pounds, freshman Liam Rantz at 132, Jim Crow at 198 and Jerry French in the heavyweight bracket.

Salem and Canton wrestlers met in the finals of two weight classes, 98 and 109, and both were headed by pins. Flores defeated Matt Koeniski and Salem's Jeff Ischewski beat Matt Koeler for first place at 109.

KOENISKI AND Koeler also qualified for the district since three of the four wrestlers in each bracket advanced.

In addition to DeBeke, Salem's Dave Mang at 112 pounds, Steve Burison at 136 and Brian Burison at 167 captured first places, too.

Brian Burison, a sophomore, wrestled one of the greatest matches of his life, according to Salem coach Ron Krueger, when he defeated Ann Arbor Pioneer senior Andy Turner, a state qualifier a year ago in the final.

For a 10th grader, he's doing real well," said Krueger, who also commended the effort by Steve Burison, another sophomore, who was working off a tough finish in the league meet. He was not among the top six in the Western Lakes tournament Feb. 6 but rebounded four days later.

Other Salem wrestlers who qualified were Todd Bourlier, second, 119; Mike Shumate, second, 126; Scott Contini, third, 132; Ed Barlage, second, 138; Mike Smith, second, 145; Chuck Graczyk, third, 198; and Ken Coker, third, heavyweight.

Canton's additional qualifiers included Chris Zelek, third, 112; Josh Barrie, third, 119; Craig Rinke, third, 138; Nick Purzer, third, 145; Larry Pardi, third, 155; Gary Golchuck, third, 167; and Tony Sayers, third, 185.

Falcons in market for new grid coach

Dave Catherman

By Dan O'Meara
Staff writer

Farmington High School will need a greater commitment on all fronts if the Falcons are to turn their football program around, according to former coach Dave Catherman.

The 26 year coaching veteran stepped down after two years as Farmington's head coach, citing the amount of time the position required and that it took away from his other roles as teacher and family man. The Falcons were 2-7 last season.

Ron Holland, director of athletics for Farmington Public Schools, said he has interviewed 10 candidates — all from outside the district — and hopes to name a new coach by March 1.

Catherman, who plans to continue as coach of the boys track team, was the only football coach in the high school building and only one of two who was a teacher.

CONSEQUENTLY, much of the responsibility for organizing and seeing through non-coaching related matters was shouldered by the head coach. There was not enough added support from other sources to be able to delegate, Catherman said.

"There needs to be more of it to get the program going," he said. "There needs to be much more of a commitment from everybody in the Farmington school system."

Catherman spent a lot of his time reconditioning equipment and overseeing fund-raising projects such as car washes on weekends. Fund raising was necessary for such things as filming games, replacing practice dummies and paying off a large debt incurred after renovating the school weight room.

"After 26 years, I just lost the will to do all those little things other than coaching," Catherman said. "It got to the point I wasn't interested in that."

The way the program is structured it forced me to take a lot of time away from my family obligations," he added. "I didn't think I could do the job right and still handle my teaching and personal life."

FARMINGTON has taken a back seat to city rivals Farmington Hills Harrison and North Farmington in the sport, as well as other Western Lakes Activities Association members.

Catherman said he was envious of programs that are "well into their routines" that allow the head coach to concentrate on coaching. Unlike other schools, Farmington has no sports or conditioning classes that enable coaches to meet with athletes in a classroom setting.

"There was not enough contact with the kids on an individual or team basis to get to the point we ought to be," Catherman said. "Other schools seem to have created such an advantage, being able to see the kids during the day." Jerry Potter, principal of Farmington High, said it's a matter of priorities in scheduling that prevent the school from providing that benefit. Catherman, who teaches math and physical education, was needed to balance the teaching load in those areas, according to Potter.

"You can do those things if you don't need him in an academic area," he said. "Philosophically it would be wrong to build a schedule around a P.E. or football class."

POTTER ADDED the school would be obligated to do the same for other sports. Farmington offered a football conditioning class under its phys-ed curriculum several years ago, but was required to open it to all students.

Catherman said his resignation was not meant as an expression of protest. He said he simply accepted the situation as it was and decided to act in regard to the impact of the job on his own life.

"That's just the way it is," he said. "First of all, I thought I could do the job under those circumstances. I wanted to take my shot in spite of those handicaps."

Catherman, a former star athlete at Farmington, added it was "entirely" his own decision, too. There was no pressure from boosters or the administration to resign.

"My plan was to re-evaluate things after three years," he said. "I didn't think I needed to let things go any farther."

Chiefs beat Northville in volleyball

Plymouth Canton won a pair of close games from Northville to even its volleyball record at 3-3 in the Western Division last Wednesday, Feb. 12, 15-14.

Shannon Meath was 4-of-7 attacking and Susan Ferko 3-of-4 in the first game. Alisha Huth had seven assists, and Alison Flakamp came off the bench to serve an ace for the winning point.

The Chiefs, 6-4 overall, rallied from a 6-13 deficit in the second game. Ferko had five of the team's 13 kills and Michelle Fortier three. Huth had two of Canton's four aces.

The players are starting to know the difference between the feeling of losing and the feeling of winning," coach Allie Suffety said, "and I think they're starting to like winning more."

N. FARMINGTON 10-15-15, SALEM 15-8-10: The Rocks had their game thrown out of sync when Kara Cummings, their only setter, missed the match due to illness. Asaka Motoyama, an outside hitter, filled in for her.

If we would have received serves better, we could have gotten away with Kara not being there," coach Betty Smith said, "because Asaka did a good enough job."

Motoyama had six aces in 15 serves, and she had three kills in five hitting attempts. Roseann Sumpter 7 of 12 and Laura Porterfield 5-of-7.

Salem, 3-5 in the Lakes Division and 7-6 overall, goes to Churchill today and plays host to John Glenn Tuesday, not Wednesday as some schedules say.

Canton gymnasts win

An all-around performance by Mary Jo Charron helped carry Plymouth Canton's gymnastics team over Farmington Wednesday, 127.55 to 115.35.

Charron won the floor exercise with 8.65 points and placed second on the balance beam, scoring an 8.2. She won the all-around competition with 32.35 points, just ahead of teammate Maureen McLean (31.8).

Canton took command of the match on the beam, placing four gymnasts in the first three slots. Sharon Moran's score of 8.3 won the beam. She was followed in second by Charron and McLean, and Heather Murphy tied for third at 7.8.

Jackie Daly did her best to help keep Farmington close. Daly, who was third in the all-around, finished first on the vault with an 8.9. She also placed second on the floor exercise at 8.3.

Canton's Darryl Gignac had a first-place finish on the uneven bars, scoring 7.95. She also placed second on the vault with an 8.7, which was just ahead of McLean's score of 8.3.

Marlins ski champions

Farmington Hills Mercy has been the class of girls high school skiing in southeastern Michigan this winter, and the Marlins made official their place of eminence Thursday.

Mercy claimed the Mount Brighton Interscholastic Ski Association title by capturing first place in the slalom and giant slalom competition at the seven-team league meet.

The Marlins, who were 7-0 in dual meets, had four skiers named to the all-league team: Beth McIntosh, Deanna Senatore, Jennifer Moore and Sarah Frizzell.

Brighton's Sarah Holmes was first in both events, but nobody could match Mercy's team strength. Mercy's top four scorers were among the top 10 in each.

sixth (48.19), Moore eighth (49.62) and McIntosh ninth (50.42). Holmes posted a 43.50 time.

McIntosh paced the Marlins in the giant slalom, finishing second at 33.88. Senatore was third (35.14), Molly McDonald seventh (36.44) and Moore ninth (37.39).

Mercy had 25 points in the slalom, Birmingham Groves 31 and Brighton 41. In the giant slalom, it was Mercy (21), East Lansing (35) and Brighton (38).

The final overall MBISA standings have Mercy with undisputed claim to first followed by East Lansing, Brighton and Groves in the top four.

The Marlins go to Alpine Valley for the regional tournament Thursday. The top two teams qualify for the state finals on Monday, Feb. 29, in Marquette.

Rub-a-dub-dub

Therapists let their fingers rub out life's aches, pains

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Massages are like potato chips. One just isn't enough.

Barbers, nurses, singers, painters, arthritis sufferers, moms, musicians — all kinds of people under stress are finding that weekly massages can keep tension, anxiety, aches and pains at bay.

Television watchers note that even Spuds MacKenzie of Budweiser fame loves a rubdown.

A few years ago, massage therapists in the U.S. totalled about 3,000. Now there are more than 6,500.

Some say massage is growing in popularity because it's "the last touching profession," as well as an effective way to prevent disease by relieving stress.

"We all know and recognize the signs of stress: nervousness, muscular tension, headaches, hypertension and changes in blood pressure," say Celeste Hamilton and Kandis Mueller, owners of Plymouth's new Health and Wellness Center.

"During massage, the body releases endorphins. Endorphins are the body's natural pain killers, which act to relax the muscles and calm the nerves."

"Massage rejuvenates the body's own healing capabilities by increasing circulatory flow. It assists the movement of nutrients and oxygen to the cells and aids in the elimination of cellular waste," add Hamilton and Mueller, who practice and teach massage in clean, cozy, carpeted quarters at 22 Forest Place.

DRAWINGS ON cave walls in Egypt are proof that massage has been around for centuries. Even so, massage has had a difficult time entering the mainstream.

That's partly due to the black eye it's received from so-called health spas and massage parlors, often used as fronts for prostitution.

But as awareness grows, massage therapy is gaining acceptance in medical, business, athletic and social circles.

"When I've told new acquaintances what I do, sometimes a faint smile would appear on the person's lips," said Hamilton, certified by the American Massage Therapy Association in 1979. "But that seems to be changing. Now, with all the education, that type of reaction is much less frequent."

Even among those who recognize massage therapy as a legitimate form of health care, there are those who feel uncomfortable disrobing. Others are unsure about the surroundings in which they will find themselves.

"A lot of people don't know what to expect, and they don't know if their privacy will be respected," said Hamilton, who welcomes her clients with fruit-flavored tea and soft music. "The fear of the unknown is there to begin with."

Most clients probably are pleasantly surprised. While massage therapists can work wonders with oil on exposed skin, there are modes of massage that are done over clothing.

"People who do remove clothing are always kept covered with a sheet from head to toe," said Hamilton. "The only part of the body that's revealed is the part I'm working on."

"MEN, ESPECIALLY, keep their underwear on. That way if there's any misconception that they're in a massage parlor, it helps to eradicate that idea."

Bill Thimm, a 27-year-old Plymouth painter, gets massages regularly.

"Using your back all day can cause soreness and stress on the muscles, which massage therapy relieves. I also have chronic knee pain which massage has helped," said Thimm.

Linda Sayer, an Ypsilanti chiropractor, recommends massage to her patients.

"Massage therapy is a natural complement to chiropractic care, providing relaxation, normalization of muscle tone, increase of blood and lymphatic supply and pain reduction," she said. "For me, massage therapy is a perfect way to release all tension, both physically and mentally, allowing me to feel calm and rested."

He trades in his job for a good massage

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Michael Townsend was making a good living as an engineering draftsman for Duckworth and Associates in Livonia when he decided to become a massage therapist.

Opening Birmingham Massage Therapy meant taking a 90 percent pay cut, a move he doesn't regret.

"Duckworth was an excellent place to work. I worked with wonderful people," said Townsend. "But I was working on a computer 50 and 60 hours a week. One time I worked 80 hours a week. I had computer burnout."

Townsend began getting massages "and it really helped."

"I had a very good release of stress," he said. "Massage therapy is treatment for stress-related disorders — the classic diseases of the '80s: alienation, addiction and burnout."

Townsend also is skilled in sports massage. As you read this, he is on duty at the Olympics in Calgary.

TRADITIONALLY, massage therapists have worked in their own offices, or made house calls. Townsend, along with two other staffers, give therapeutic massages at Birmingham Massage Therapy at 386 S. Hunter in the Birmingham Place Building.

Townsend launched his new company, "Just Touch," at a Christmas party hosted by Wayne County government officials.

"They invited me to come there, and I ended up kind of being the en-

See those Olympian mountains by train

MICKY JONES

One way to take in even more of the scenic Canadian Rockies is with a stay at the Banff Springs Hotel in Banff.

By Iris Sanderson Jones
special writer

Q: I see those glorious Canadian Rockies on every picture they show of the winter Olympics. I'll never make it out there in time to see the Olympics, but I would love to take the train through those beautiful mountains later in the year. What's involved?

V.E., Farmington

A: I have taken that train through the Rockies several times. The days of railway elegance may be mostly gone, but the facilities and service are still pretty good and the Rockies get better every time you see them.

If you were a real train buff, you could take the transcontinental train from Toronto to Winnipeg, go west through Banff and the Rogers Pass to Vancouver and return via the Yellowhead Pass and Jasper, which is the northern route through the Rockies.

Most of us don't have that kind of time. If you do, buy a Canrailpass. If not, take the train in one direction or the other, or fit it into another western trip by taking the final 24-hour run from Calgary through three ranges of mountains to the sea. You can also take a special train that takes two days to cross the mountains, allowing you to see everything by daylight.

Drugs and violence make 'Action' very predictable

RECENT RELEASES

'Action Jackson' (C) (R) 90 minutes

Action movie set in Detroit pits police Sergeant Action Jackson (Carl Weathers) against corrupt auto magnate. Vanity is the sexy singer caught between them and an abundance of drugs, violence and wild car chases in this predictable film. Reviewed by Kathy Guyor

'Ironweed' (B) (R) 140 minutes

The down and out world of an aging alcoholic (Jack Nicholson) closes in and crumbles as ghosts from his past surface and friends fade. Meryl Streep and Tom Waits bolster the cast in this potent story of life turned sour. Reviewed by Jeff Limmatta

'Rent A Cop' (C) (R)

'School Daze' (D) (R) 120 minutes

Director/Writer Spike Lee's 'She's Got to Have It' tries to do it all in two hours with a comic spoof/satire/musical mockery of black college life. He also tries to tackle apartheid but, at best, this poorly produced film is a slap in the face to both institutions, particularly the student body. Reviewed by Jeff Limmatta

'Shoot to Kill' (B) (R) 100 minutes

'Requiem' chronicles Argentina's 'madness' of '70s

By John Killeen
special writer

There exists a body of work so horrible in its subject matter and, at the same time, so important, that it cannot be ignored. It is difficult to say that one can enjoy books in this group.

They treat the seemingly constant inhumanity of mankind. Many celebrate the triumph of the spirit over the evil that seeks to crush it. Sadly, a large number of them chronicle the senseless waste of life.

We have been presented with a steady flow of books about the horrors of Nazi Germany, the madness of Stalin and the Soviet system, the treatment of blacks in both South Africa and in this country and the crimes of countless Third World countries. For all the warnings that these books bring, "Never Again" appears to be a faint prayer rather than a loud, strong reaffirmation of our determination to put an end to the sickness.

In the late 1970s and early 1980s Argentina was engaged in a "dirty war." Begun as a response to urban terrorism, it soon became a war waged by the government on the entire population. Anything the government saw as dissent could be a capital offense. Any suspicious military had could lead to arrest. Any grudge could be settled, if one was in power. The "disappeared" became the state secret that was on most minds and few lips.

OUT OF THIS period few writings have emerged. There have been reports on the torture and murder made by civil rights groups and church organizations. Unfortunately, these reports haven't been widely read. Fewer works of fiction have been written. Some writers disappeared, while other chose to live with silence.

"Requiem for a Woman's Soul," by Omar Rivabella, is one such novel dealing with the Argentine madness. Rivabella, currently living in New York, is a journalist by trade and has authored several essays and short stories that have been published in Latin America. While this book is a work of fiction, it is indeed informed by the testimony of victims of the repression.

"Requiem for a Woman's Soul" (Penquin Books, $4.95) is a slim volume. It tells the twin stories of Susana, one of the disappeared, and Fr. Antonio, an activist priest who is given Susana's prison diaries.

The entries are written on scraps of paper, foul smelling and out of order. They are delivered to Fr. Antonio at Mass one day in a small town.

His first impulse is to throw out the papers without looking at them. This must be some bad joke, this jumble of stinking wads of paper.

However, his housekeeper discovers writing on them and Fr. Antonio, and the reader, begins a journey into hell.

As the priest reads the entries and puts them in order, he begins to become obsessed. Who is this Susana? Why has this collection been given to him? What is he to do with it?

ALL TOO SOON he learns that he knew Susana in his previous parish. He becomes more obsessed with reading them to the end. His duties are ignored; his mind aches. His housekeeper, his bishop and his former bishop worry about him. He is

Second Self's high-energized rock'n'roll produces success

Second Self is itself. But trying to convince others of that at times has been as difficult as getting people to believe "Maida Marcos goes barefoot."

The five-member group produces a raw, high-energized brand of rock'n'roll that has been said to sound too much like U2 and/or INXS. And frankly, such critiques have band members really honked off.

Second Self has had to live down or live up to such labels. Part of the problem has been early reviews.

"You would write serious lyrics, you'd get compared to U2 and Bono," said an exasperated Mike Nehra, lead singer of Second Self. "If you play dance music and lower your voice, you would get compared to INXS."

"One reviewer said our song, 'The Glory,' sounded like something we got from INXS. We wrote that song a year and half ago. That cracks me up."

'We're not aiming songs to be hits. We're writing songs for ourselves.'

— Mike Nehra, lead singer

THE ONLY THING Second Self really wants to crack, though, is the national spotlight. Already, the band has staked a claim in regional circles.

"Second Self," a four-song EP, has received considerable airplay on college radio throughout Michigan, Ohio and Ontario. The group has played several venues in those areas as well.

Closer to home, Second Self has played before packed houses at St. Andrew's Hall in Detroit and has been a regular around the Hamtramck scene.

Second Self has further enhanced its reputation as one of the finest up-and-coming groups around, having opened up for (ironically) INXS, Thrashing Doves, Crowded House and Lords of the New Church.

Second Self, which produces a high-energy brand of rock'n'roll, features Jeff Fowlkes, Andrew Nehra, Mike Nehra, Greg Giampa and Dan Hess.

Yet group members feel stuck in neutral.

On the one hand, they're antsy to move on to bigger things. But Second Self doesn't want to leave Detroit.

"Why move?" said Dan Hess, keyboardist for the group. "Why go to Boston, New York or L.A.? You'll just get lost."

IT WASN'T until the addition of Mike and Andy Nehra two years ago, though, that Second Self really found itself. Greg Giampa, Jeff Fowlkes and Hess formed the nucleus of the group. The pre-Nehra period is one they rather pretend didn't exist.

It was Fowlkes, the drummer of the group, who convinced Mike Nehra to join. The two used to write songs together over the phone while Nehra was living in New York.

Nehra at the time was in a band called ShyTalk, which was signed to Columbia Records. He felt ShyTalk was becoming "too poppy" and it was time to come home.

"The direction is right here," Nehra said about Second Self. "It's natural. We're not aiming our songs to be hits. We're writing songs for ourselves."

SONG WRITING IS done by committee. The group already has about "three or four albums" worth of numbers.

Most of the songs center on frustration and how those feelings can be overcome.

The band has its own 16-track recording studio, which allows members to record at least two or three songs a month.

Lately, the numbers are taking a different vein. Disillusioned with the new music scene, Second Self is getting back to basics.

"New music sounds like there's one songwriter out there writing for everybody," Fowlkes said. "We're going back to our roots. I'm listening to stuff now that I listened to when I was 5, like Hank Williams, CCR and Sly Stone. Now that stuff was original."

Fowlkes said the group doesn't aim its music for one particular audience.

"My ideal situation would be for some guy in a mohawk to come up after a show and say, 'Hey, that was cool.' Next to him would be a guy in a preppy golf shirt saying, 'Wow, you're cool. Maybe you can play one of our frat parties sometime.'"

REVIEWS

GOOD MORNING VIETNAM SOUNDTRACK — various artists

By all accounts, this one should be big. The film was a smash hit right out of the box and its soundtrack should follow suit. But this oldies-and-comedy set only works half the time.

The fault isn't with the music. Director Barry Levinson supposedly hand-picked the songs and, if so, he did a fine job.

The goal here is to re-create rock 'n' roll radio, circa 1965. As with Levinson's earlier "Diner" soundtrack, however, the emphasis is upon the obscure, overlooked and unfamiliar.

Martha and the Vandellas' forbidding "Nowhere to Run" is a more imaginative choice than "Heat Wave" or "Dancing in the Streets." The Beach Boys' "Warmth of the Sun" (a very minor hit) reveals group leader Brian Wilson's romantic side. The Searchers' glittery "Sugar and Spice," meanwhile, is a certified rarity that anticipates the birth of folk rock.

It's hard to quibble with the few obvious choices, either. Wayne Fontana and the Mindbenders' throbbing "Game of Love" recalls the heyday of the British Invasion. James Brown's "I Got You (I Feel Good)" hasn't lost any of its funk power over the years.

Where the set falls down, however, is with inclusion of snatches of Robin Williams' antic comedy between the songs.

It's not that Williams isn't funny, he is. But Williams' footloose, immediate style works best as a once-only occurrence. In a movie theater, or over broadcast radio, the bits hit with the force of heavyweight champ Mike Tyson. Heard repeatedly, they lose their punch.

And the imaginative music choices make this an album that demands to be heard over and over again.

— Wayne Peat

"THE BEST OF RY COODER — Ry Cooder

The import Ry Cooder collection showing up in some record stores is a welcome surprise.

But they could have done a better job of choosing songs for "Why Don't You Try Me Tonight?" — The Best of Ry Cooder.

It opens with the Depression-era lament, "How Can A Poor Man Stand Such Times And Live?" and the instrumental "Available Space." Both are vital, as they're taken from Cooder's excellent first album, now out of print.

They also belong because they show Cooder at his best, creating catchy string band arrangements of great but little-known country blues songs.

Next comes Cooder's bouncy, blues mandolin-tinged version of "Money Honey" from his second album.

The country blues "Tamp 'Em Up Solid" from the "Paradise And Lunch" album would have been a better choice than "The Tattler," included here. But whoever assembled this collection opted for Cooder's up-town-sounding numbers.

Next comes "He'll Have To Go,"

one of the best songs from Cooder's Tex-Mex period, and "Smack Dab In The Middle."

"Dark End Of The Street," a moody slide guitar instrumental also included here, is one of Cooder's classics. But after that, the collection leans heavily on Cooder's bland R & B period.

On these songs, the slide guitar is muted and the blues mandolin is gone. They're replaced by slick versions of songs that Cooder's primitive voice can't handle: "Little Sister" and Wilson Pickett's "634-5789."

Still, his instrumental version of "I Think It's Gonna Work Out Fine" from this period is moving, as is the title song, "Why Don't You Try Me."

Overall, it's a halfway decent collection, at best. They should have included the slide guitar piece "Paris, Texas" and more Cooder country blues, not the slick stuff.

— Kevin Brown

NOVELTY — Hippodrome

Psssst, pass it on. Hippodrome is happening.

The initial reaction when listening to this four-song cassette is to heap unlimited amounts of praise on these enthusiastic music men: Chris Richards, Kyle Richards and Doyle Dean. But what good would that do?

The rest of the world might find out about these guys and some fat record company man in a pinstripe suit might sign them and whisk them away in a big black Cadillac. Then what would we be left with?

So let's just say for the time being that Hippodrome shows a lot of promise.

Highlighted on this first effort by the Livonia-based group are songs filled with bouncy guitar lines and breezy lyrics. Hippodrome doesn't sound like anybody else, which is definitely to its credit.

Too many groups in and around the Detroit area seem to churn out rehearsed R.E.M., U2 or Replacement fodder. Blah.

creative energy into patenting a good, clean sound.

"Autumn Colors," a number saturated with excellent harmonies and spirited guitar work, reeks with hit potential. This is deserved of regular radio air time on any FM station.

Chris Richards, the band's lead singer and lead guitarist, single-handedly turns what might otherwise be an ordinary pop product into a stylistic uptempo number.

"Josephine," a tune penned about an imaginary girlfriend, is a rather friendly song with plenty of promise as well.

Anyone looking for a message or the meaning of life in Hippodrome's lyrics might be disappointed, though. Frankly, some of the written lines don't make a bean's worth of sense.

Abstract as they may be, they're still fun to listen to. (For more information on the tape, write: Hippodrome, 28024 Whitcomb, Livonia 48154. Or call 525-7512.)

Pulitzer play

"The Crucible," Arthur Miller's Pulitzer Prize winning play will be presented Friday, Feb. 19, at the Smith Performing Arts Theatre on the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College.

The highlight of each afternoon is the evaporation and syrup production, which takes place in the New England style sugar house. After sap is boiled and converted into syrup, the sweet results can be tested or bought in bottles.

Participants can learn that it takes nearly 40 gallons of sap to produce just one gallon of pure maple syrup.

Demonstrations, included in the museum admission of $3 for adults and $2 for students and senior citizens, also will feature a question-answer period with a Cranbrook naturalist.

Also offered during the Maple Syrup Festival will be planetarium demonstrations focusing on astronomy and photography and the laser light concert "Rocking in Space."

The Cranbrook Institute of Science is at 500 Lone Pine Road, Bloomfield Hills. For more information, call 645-3230.

March might be a few weeks off yet, but your sweet tooth can start making plans. The Cranbrook Institute of Science will have its 15th annual Maple Syrup Festival to be celebrated from 1-5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays, March 5-20.

One-hour tours, which will take place every half-hour 1-4:30 p.m., include a slide presentation about the syruping process, a walk through Cranbrook's sugar trails and watching as trees are tapped and sap flows through spiles.

Runners aren't the only ones making massage a habit. Long accepted by Soviet athletes, massage is being used more and more by American boxers, professional football teams, skaters and tennis players.

This wouldn't surprise Hippocrates, the father of medicine, the renowned Roman naturalist Pliny, or Julius Caesar.

In the 5th century, Hippocrates said: "The physician must be experienced in many things, but assuredly in rubbing for rubbing can bind a joint that is too loose and loosen a joint that is too rigid."

PLINY WAS "regularly rubbed to relieve his asthma. Caesar, who suffered from epilepsy, was daily pinched all over to ease his neuralgia and headaches," say massage analysts.

Hamilton and Mueller are graduates of the Health Enrichment Center School of Massage Therapy in Lapeer. The massage school is the only one in Michigan approved by the American Massage Therapy Association.

They charge $30 for a 30-minute session, $40 for an hour's massage, and $50 for a 90-minute massage.

Townsend, who with fellow therapists does sports massage for free at bike races and road races, has found his practice "extremely rewarding."

"Some people come into the office, and they can't raise their arm above the shoulder level," he said. "When they leave, they can raise it above their head. When people say thank you, it makes you feel pretty good."

Townsend treats ice skaters, waitresses, people going through divorce and all sorts of others on an ongoing basis.

"Stresses build up, they accumulate," Townsend said. "Just like stress is cumulative, so are the effects of massage. One might make you feel good, but as you continue getting massages, you find your attitude will change a little."

"MASSAGE GIVES you really good body awareness. You start to understand your body a little better and know where your back is."

Why is massage enjoying a sudden surge in status?

"Because of people's interest in health and their bodies," said Townsend. "Massage therapists are coming to the rescue. We realize that there is a need, so people are getting involved."

Townsend makes available to anyone interested a list of certified massage therapists all over metropolitan Detroit. To receive one, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to 288 East Maple, Suite 277, Birmingham, 48011.

STREET WISE

The play will be presented at 8 p.m. Feb. 19-20 and Feb. 24-27. There will be a 2 p.m. matinee on Saturday Feb. 27.

The Crucible is based on the historical facts of the 1692 witch trials in Salem, Mass., when 39 women were hung. The play is being performed by members of the community and students from OCC. The play is directed by Sandra Sutherland, English and philosophy faculty member at OCC.

The Wallace Smith Performing Arts Theatre is at 27055 Orchard Lake Road, Farmington Hills. For ticket information, call 471-7700.

Massage therapy gains popularity

Professional singer Charlotte Nelson is another convert.

"Massage therapy has increased my lung capacity by helping to open up the muscles directly connected to breathing, including my diaphragm," she said. "The end result has been more ease in singing and increased size of the voice."

Massage helps me feel more confident and open to people and situations," added Nelson, a music professional.

entertainment," he said. "At first, everyone stood around, wondering if my massage chair was a chiropractor's chair."

"There were some jokes about it, but after I got started and a few people got a massage, they were all for it."

"Corporate massage" is a $12, 15-minute treatment of the hands, neck, shoulders and back done over clothing.

"It relaxes as well as stimulates the person getting the massage," said Townsend. "It works out the kinks people get from sitting at a typewriter typing in a contorted position."

"Sitting is very hard on people. Having a little bit of soreness over a prolonged period of time causes some real stress. It hasn't been proven empirically, but massage therapy has been found to improve productivity in the workplace."

Townsend is one of Michigan's 220 certified massage therapists.

AMONG THOSE who've offered such employee perk-ups are Merrill Lynch, Vanderbilt University, the New York Times and Apple Computer.

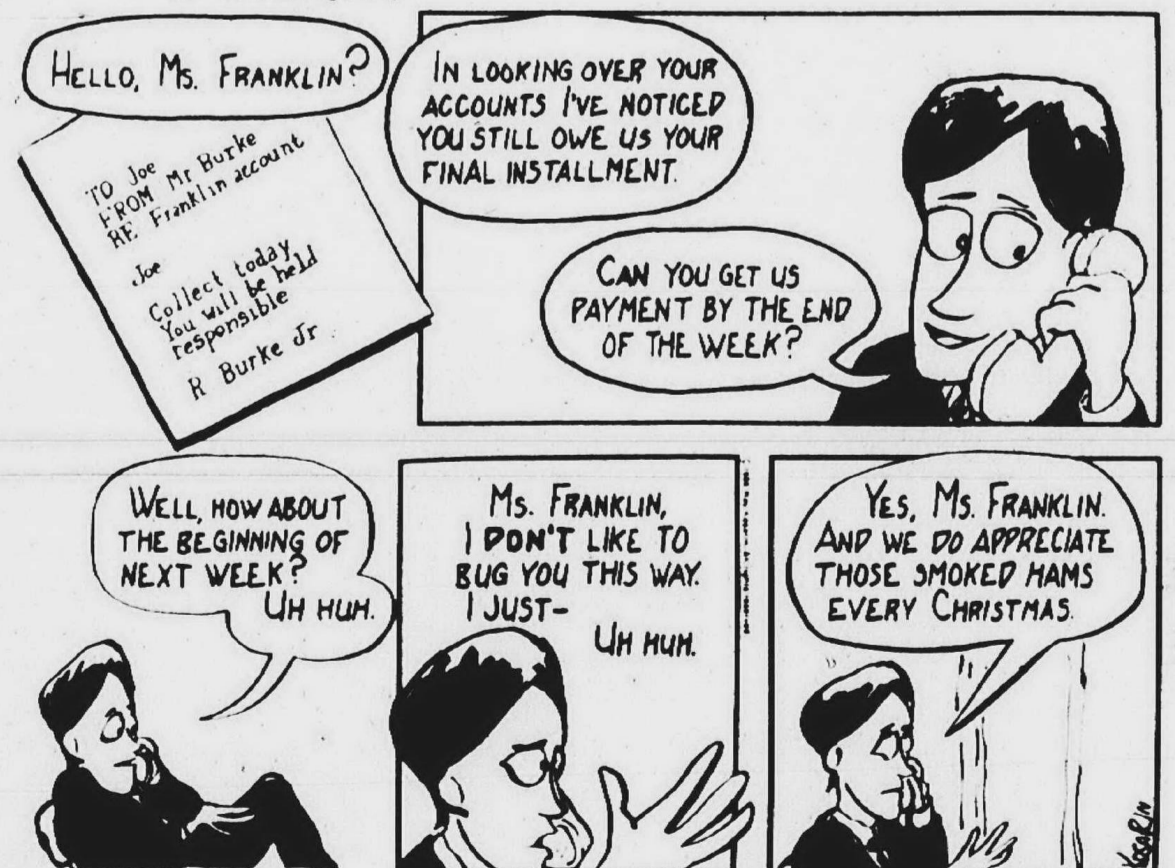

"The most important thing massage does is stimulate the circulatory system to carry way toxins and nourish all the cells," said Townsend. "It improves healing and digestion." "Massage isn't for everyone, he cautioned.

"There are some conditions massage cannot help. People with circulatory problems have to be very careful about massage, so do people with cancer."

And while expectant moms have learned that prenatal massage can alleviate low back pain and swelling, some gynecologists don't recommend it. Checking with your doctor

New labels here from Northwest

A couple of years ago this column announced the pending arrival of many new labels from the Pacific Northwest.

It is time now to take an assessment of those that now adorn the shelves of select wine stores in our area. They are still not an everyday item and must be searched for. Public acceptance here has been slow but is growing, as it is nationally.

Oregon wineries first, Washington and Idaho next time.

Probably the premier wine-growing region in the United States for certain varietals, the industry is small but growing steadily. Its cool north region below Portland in the Willamette Valley produces some of the finest pinot noir in the world and some distinctive chardonnays, rieslings and gewurztraminers. Farther south in the Umpqua Valley cabernet and merlot show well along with sauvignon blanc and, further south still, zinfandel.

There are now 13 winery choices available in Michigan, many of them with only select representation.

ADAMS VINEYARDS Winery: Makers of excellent pinot noir and chardonnay, limited quantities.

Adelsheim Vineyards: Very prestigious and respected, David Adelsheim produces excellent pinot noir, chardonnay, riesling, pinot gris (an excellent grape), semillon and a bit of sauvignon blanc.

Alpine Vineyards: Most northerly grower of cabernet, Dan Jepsen also makes a decent pinot noir, gewurztraminer and riesling from his Corvallis vineyard.

Amity Vineyards: Myron Redford, creative and imaginative, makes some of Oregon's finest rieslings, a delicate chardonnay and very acceptable pinot noir and gewurztraminer. He also produces a startling nouveau from pinot noir grapes as well as a couple of proprietary wines.

Bethel Heights Vineyard: An excellent 1986 chardonnay has just made its local debut from here, one of Oregon's finest producers. The winery's chenin blanc, gewurztraminer and pinot noir are also notable. Bethel Heights tried a 1985 cabernet and will, blessedly, discontinue those efforts.

Elk Cove Vineyards: Makers of three vineyard-designated pinot noirs each vintage, look especially for Campbell's Reserve releases. Nice fruit is developed in the rieslings and chardonnays as well.

Eyrie Vineyards: The dean of Oregon winemakers, David Lett produces pinot gris, muscat ottonel (dry and crisp), excellent chardonnays and pinot noirs. He also produces small amounts of pinot meunier, a full and robust white wine too little known in the United States.

KNUDSEN ERATH Winery: One of the mini giants of the state, this veteran producer is an industry staple. Its 1983 Vintage Select pinot noir won several prizes nationally and has done more to call attention to the state than any other single wine. Riesling, chardonnay and cabernet are also produced.

Oak Knoll Winery: Formerly a producer of chiefly marvelous berry wines, it is now moving into producing standard Northwest varietals. Very dependable.

Forgeron Vineyard: Highly respected winery with very limited release here. Main releases are chardonnay, pinot noir, riesling, muller-thurgau and pinot gris, all worth seeking out.

Ponzi Vineyards: Produces fleshy riesling, warm and full pinot gris along with world-class chardonnay and pinot noir. The 1982 reserve of the last is still available locally and is a fine representation of Oregon's finest.

Sokol Blosser Winery: The other mini-giant, only two of its three pinot noirs are available here, very worth finding.

Yamhill Valley Vineyards: Recently arrived here, they have won numerous awards for both pinot noir and chardonnay. Also look for its Elderblossom, made from riesling and elderblossoms, estate grown.

HOPEFULLY, the next year or two will see the arrival of other quality wineries: Arterberry, Cameron, Evesham Wood, Henry Estate, Houston, Pellier, Rex Hill, Shafer, Tualatin, Tyee and Veritas.

But a couple of caveats are in order in this enthusiasm. Avoid 1984 pinot noirs or, at least, do not use them as a yardstick for Oregon. It was a poor year but, happily, has been followed by three fine vintages.

Bow-Wow Ball

A strolling supper, donated by Detroit-area chefs, will highlight the Bow-Wow Ball, to benefit the Michigan Humane Society, at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, April 9, at Somerset Mall in Troy. Restaurants participating include Sebastian's, Opus I, London Chop House, RIK's Total Cuisine, MacKennon's, Appetiser, Van Dyke Place, the Whitney, Romanik's and Home Sweet Home, Excaltur, Midtown Cafe and the Rattlesnake Club. The evening (black tie optional) also features a fashion presentation, live auction, coffee, desserts and dancing to the Bugs Beddow Band. For tickets at $50 per person, call the Michigan Humane Society at 872-3400.

Travel-Holiday

Machus Red Fox Restaurant in Bloomfield Township is the recipient of the 1987 Travel-Holiday Magazine Dining Award for the fourth consecutive year. The award was accepted by Robert J. Machus, chairman, Martin A. Kreger, president, and John H. Wood III, executive vice-president general manager of Machus Restaurants and Pastry Shops. Travel-Holiday gives the annual awards for excellence in the complete dining experience, with emphasis on food, service and decor.

Daily specials

Chef Michael Jacobi of the Blue Sky Bar-B-Q in Southfield prepares daily specials based on traditional recipes of the Southwest United States. Among these are mesquite-grilled trout or lamb chops, quail, and Cornish hens — alternatives to the restaurant's standard fare of ribs, chicken and shrimp.

Dixie music

Doug Jacobs and the Red Garter Band are regulars now, along with

Where to lunch

A new book, "Let's Do Lunch - Where to Go for Lunch and What to Do After," gives recommendations for restaurants within a day's drive of the metropolitan area. The book is available in local bookstores for $7.95. It also may be ordered by mail or phone. Send a check (add $1.50 for mail order) to "Let's Do Lunch," 5567 Westwood Lane, Birmingham 48010, or phone 851-3485.

Medieval feast

The Hotel St. Regis in Detroit has extended its dinner theater program for a single performance of "The Canterbury Tales" by Geoffrey Chaucer. A series of selected tales will be dramatically read by professional actors during an authentic eight-course medieval feast in the main ballroom of the hotel on Monday, Feb. 29. Hors d'oeuvres will be served at 6:30 p.m.; dinner theater performance begins at 7. Tickets are $65. For more information, call Maria White at 873-3000.

International

choice of three different International Burger Toppings. The Mexican comes with spicy meat sauce, cheese, onions, lettuce and tomato, the American with lean, thin-sliced ham and American cheese, and the Italian with tangy tomato sauce and real mozzarella cheese.

Get acquainted

Through February, the Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Hills is honoring diner's cards from any restaurant that offers one complimentary dinner when a second dinner of equal or greater value is purchased. The offer is good until 11 p.m. Sundays-Thursdays. Reservations are required.

Flambe cookery

Benji's Fish & Seafood Restaurant in Sylvania Lake keeps alive the tradition of tableside cooking. Among flaming dishes offered two nights a week are appetizers (shrimp pernod and scampi flambe), entrees (scallop flambe, sole amandine, steak Diane and flaming steak teriyaki kabob) and desserts (cherries jubilee and bananas flambe). Classical caesar salad also is served tableside.

French toast

Five types of French toast, in addition to French champagne, is available at the Radisson Suite Hotel's brunch at Periwinkles Restaurant in Farmington Hills. Several hot entrees, scrambled egg dishes and many other offerings are on the brunch menu. Prices are $8.95 including a champagne toast for adults, $5.95 for children 6-12, children 5 and under are free. Champagne also may be ordered in a cocktail or in a mimosa.

Annual cuisine

Fourth annual Cuisine Extraordinaire, sponsored by Children's Hospital of Michigan's Auxiliary, will be held 6-9 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 28, at the Roostertail in Detroit. The cuisine features international food prepared by 18 members of the Chef de Cuisine Association. Chefs will provide hot and cold hors d'oeuvres, entrees and desserts. Fine wines will be for sale, and there will be dancing to the Mark Phillips Band. Tickets at $60 may be ordered by calling Diane Cuper at 745-5325. Proceeds benefit Children's Hospital.

Hot Dawg!

The Chicago Dog is a specialty at Hot Dawg! & More in Farmington Hills. Owner Larry Freedman said he offers "the real Chicago dog, a pure beef delicacy created totally free of fillers and additives." It is served on a steamed poppy seed bun and topped with mustard, relish, chopped onions, tomato slices, hot peppers, dill pickle spear and celery salt. The interior of the new fast-food operation is by Gluckman Designs of Southfield. Hot Dawg! features original artwork, stained linen mosaics (assemblages) and a color scheme of pink, peach, aqua and lavender. Jazz and classical music is played throughout the day.

WORKING

Money 'talks'

So why do you work? Stop and think about it. Most of us spend the great majority of our waking hours at work, preparing for work, getting to and from work or talking about work. But why do you actually do it? Listen carefully as working women and men grapple with answers to questions that apparently aren't as simple as they sound.

Dee Whitaker has worked part time in the same shoe store at the Westland Mall for 10 years for the money.

"Boy, I'd like to stay home," she said then quickly added, "Once I got everything done and caught up, what would I do then?" "We have an older clientele. I enjoy working with them. They're nice. They'll talk to you. I've had customers for years who just stop by to say hello when they're in the mall."

"Most people are working because they have to work. That's not enough out of life. I think 90 percent of people who work aren't happy in their jobs. They're stuck. You get yourself in a rut and make the best of it."

Joe Goshin, a teacher at Troy High School for 12 years, also teaches at Macomb Community College and is on a dissertation committee at Western Michigan University.

"I guess the bottom line would be to have a decent lifestyle. If I didn't make enough money teaching, I wouldn't be there," he said.

"The first reward is immediate — money. The long-term reward is to see kids come back five, 10, 15 years later and see you have produced something."

"I think when the 'I-generation' came to be in the mid-'70s, it changed the work ethic. The I-am-important factor. It's not a matter of I love my company, I love my school district. It's for me," Goshin said.

Ray Dennis manages a gas station convenience store in Garden City. Joan Fuller, an area supervisor for the business, also happened to be on hand during a recent visit.

"To earn a living, even though the money isn't a lot," Dennis said in response. "Believe it or not, I couldn't go into a factory. The money is there, but I wouldn't see daylight for hours."

Fuller said that money doesn't motivate her.

"I don't have to work," she said. "I get to meet all different people. It's not the same job every day. You can talk with people. You're not bored."

Dennis said his attitude toward work has changed from his days as an employee.

"I can see how I was. If I worked for me, I would have been gone," he said.

Flexibility, he added, is a key to success.

Fuller blames parents in great part for what she perceives is a decline in the work ethic.

"Younger kids today don't care," she said. "They're handed everything on platters. Years ago parents didn't have money they have now."

Sharon Wallace, a waitress for three years at a family-oriented restaurant in Southfield, works "to support my family." She said she can do it even though she's paid less than $2.25 per hour plus tips.

"I have a computer programmer degree. I took training and didn't like it. You're with a computer and I like people. You've got to like your job. The people are the main thing."

Wallace said she enjoys waitressing so much she'd do it for even less money if she had to. She also seemed firm in her faith to the work ethic.

Resumes: Accent on positives

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Resumes either open doors or lie unnoticed.

And with a future dependent upon the result, it's expected the eager job hunter's elaborate calling card will be crammed with flashy adjectives, exaggerated abilities and embellished job experiences.

The good points are expounded, and the faults don't exist.

But where is that fine line between exaggeration and lying? Experts in the field say they know.

"I'd say between 40 and 50 percent of all resumes I write, the people don't give me accurate information," said Ginny Eades, owner of the Letter Writer in Plymouth and Wayne. She detects lies by "inappropriate responses" and long delays to simple questions such as "What year did you graduate from high school?"

Even personnel directors expect a certain amount of exaggeration and take into account the "fudge factor."

"Do I have an obligation to say, 'Are you lying to me?' I don't think so," said Eades.

SHE CHARGES $60-$80 to write a resume, which includes a personal interview usually lasting 30-40 minutes and discussion of the resume layout and design. The person can walk out with the completed resume the same day.

"I suspect most people in a situation where they're marketing themselves will enhance their qualities," Eades said. "If I'm sort of good at something, I'll say I'm good at something."

Once the applicant lands an interview, they will have a better opportunity to explain some of the negatives in their work and education experience, she said.

Even personnel directors expect a certain amount of exaggeration and take into account the "fudge factor."

"My expectation is that on a resume applicants will make themselves look the best they can — they'll accentuate the positive," said Dan Durack, Canton personnel director.

"If a person gets through the initial screening process based on the resume, you have to look deeper than the resume to find out all you want to know about the applicant."

Checking backgrounds, calling former employers, conducting follow-up interviews and questioning details found on resumes usually weed out the lies.

This extra work is necessary not only to check the validity of the resume but to find out more about the applicant, Durack said.

"A resume, or any of the words in a resume, won't get a person a job, of course — a resume can get you an interview and after that point it is up to the person to get the job," said Suzanne Jackson, executive writer for A Professional Resume and Writing Service in Southfield.

"Your resume can look flashy with different type sets and pretty paper, but if it doesn't say anything or doesn't get a point across, it won't be effective," Jackson said.

"If a person puts something down on their resume, they had better be ready to back it up in person and know what they are talking about. Many people like to play with dates. If there are a lot of jobs in a short period of time, dates are changed . . . to avoid looking like they've been job hopping."

"In my position, I can't tell people, 'Well, can you prove this?' I have to take what people say as their word."

"But, of course, if they get caught in a lie, it's going to cost them the possibility of getting a job."

IN THE PAST, resumes were required only for the executive and manager jobs. That's not true anymore, Eades said.

"Ten or 15 years ago, I don't think 10 percent of the people had resumes. Now most people have one." Eades said even minimum-wage jobs require resumes.

Schoolcraft College in Livonia offers free resume consultations, as well as occasional free resume training workshops.

"We look at helping clients identify their job target," said William Heise, Schoolcraft College career planning counselor.

Clients who think they're exaggerating about skills, might really be expressing the truth "but maybe they take those skills for granted," he said.

Attitudes are changing for the worse

By Carolyn Carman
special writer

Worker attitudes have changed over the last five years, and the change is not for the better.

At least that's the opinion of corporate managers polled in a nationwide survey by Uniforce Temporary Services of New York.

The survey said that 65 percent of corporate managers believe employee attitudes on the job have "worsened" in such areas as working extra hours without compensation, commitment to their work, and attendance and punctuality.

HOW DO local business and academic leaders react to the survey?

Jim Eastman, vice president of employee relations at Southfield-based Federal-Mogul Corp., said he cannot speak as to the competency of the questions asked or the audience that participated in the survey. But he said he feels worker attitude may vary whether the company is doing well or not.

"Attitudes vary significantly with the position the company is in, positive or negative, and how they perceive their situation," Eastman said. "It is very personalized, very intimate. Much of it is the circumstances of the business."

Eastman said at Federal-Mogul the turnover rate is low, and employment positions are filled without a sacrifice of quality.

"My experience in the field would indicate that some parts of our company are happy and content and others perhaps not so much so," he said.

THE REPORT also said that the primary reason employees remain on the job is wages paid, followed by chances of career advancement with personal growth a distant third.

Lowest on the list were such concerns as job challenge, praise for good performance and having autonomy.

William R.D. Martin, professor of business management, University of Michigan-Dearborn, said these attitudes may be truer in larger organizations, where workers feel alienated from the top.

"But I don't think it is true in smaller organizations, where people are closer to top management," he said. "The same is true of a smaller university, where everyone eats in the cafeteria and parks in the same lot as opposed to a very large university."

Martin said in a larger organization the employee derives satisfaction and reward through a larger paycheck.

He also pointed out that there is a difference today in values and ethics. His own values and ethics, at age 56, are different from those of a much younger individual.

"Some management figures today are using their values and ethics to judge a younger person, and our experiences are so different that it just does not work," he said.

ALTHOUGH Dr. Dan Braunstein, professor of management and marketing at Oakland University, said he is not familiar with the Uniforce survey, he said he has seen other national surveys indicating a greater — not lesser — interest on the part of workers in a job's intrinsic factors.

Intrinsic factors include prestige and satisfaction with job activities, Braunstein said.

Braunstein said the United Auto Workers, in its bargaining, is not only concerned about pay and job security, but the union also wants to make sure there are employee involvement programs at all of the Big Three.

Dr. Ernest Shaw, professor emeritus of management, Walsh College, Troy, said employee participation in the operation of businesses is on the increase.

Theories of management are also different today, and the authoritative style of management is not acceptable now, Shaw said.

"The latest style of management is sharing or collaborative management, where everyone shares in the solution of problems," he said. "But it is not appropriate for every company."

Shaw said many managers grew up participating in other styles of management and cannot change to the new styles.

"You can have unrest if the wrong style is being applied in the wrong situation," he said.

THE SURVEY also said that 90 percent of managers believe employee performance is related to the quality and pace of their immediate manager. The study said that the highest amounts of entry-level-personnel turnover are caused by low pay, boring jobs and lack of swift promotion.

Uniforce Temporary Services is a nationally franchised, publicly held temporary personnel service that provides temporary employment for all office and light industrial job classifications.

Discover Rockies by train

To give you some idea of what train travel means in Canada, let's go back a little. In Canada, as in the United States, the country was opened for settlement by the railroads. The difference is that most Canadians live within 100 miles of the U.S. border, so a Canadian train trip literally threads its way through Canadian life like a string of pearls.

TWO CANADIAN railway companies raced across the country to the sea in the 19th century. They built almost parallel lines from Montreal to the prairie city of Winnipeg, due north of Minneapolis.

From there, the Canadian Pacific tracked south through the Rogers Pass and the Canadian National went north through the Yellowhead. Canadian passenger service is now operated by a government agency called Via Rail Canada, similar to Amtrak, but they use the CN and CP lines, so they still follow those two routes west.

One hundred years ago these railway companies built more than trains; they built elegant hotels, passenger ships and other facilities to lure the upscale traveler from Europe. Our grandparents dined aboard with silver finger bowls. Our parents still enjoyed hovering waiters and a little elegance.

Jet planes changed that. Most of the elegance is gone from train life, but Canadians never stopped using or maintaining their trains, as we did, so the facilities and the service are still fairly good.

If you decide to go all the way, take the four-hour run out of the Windsor railway station to Toronto and board the Canadian, which leaves Toronto every day about noon. You quickly run out of city lights as the train tracks north into the unshaded wilderness.

If you leave Toronto Monday, dawn will break Tuesday on the northern shore of Lake Superior, where nature still rules the world. This is Canada as the explorers and fur traders saw it, a moose stamping down the earth to establish his own space just outside your moving window.

IT IS rock-lake-tree country through Thunder Bay, Ontario, and Lake of the Woods country. The prairies begin at Winnipeg late Tuesday night. You wake up Wednesday among the grain fields and track through the cattle country of Alberta in time to slide into Calgary mid-afternoon.

From Calgary it is two hours to Banff, where you might want to get off and play for a few days. It is only another hour to Lake Louise. By then you will certainly be in the observation car at the back of the train, looking out at those magnificent mountains.

The Canadian Rockies were carved by glaciers, giving them sharp rocky peaks. The tree line stops at about 8,000 feet so there are a lot of spectacular snow-clad slopes outside your train window.

The bad news is that it gets dark before you have finished looking unless you travel during the longest days of the year in mid-June. You can see the glorious Fraser Canyon if you lift your window shade at dawn. If you leave Toronto Monday, your train arrives in Vancouver, the San Francisco of Canada, mid-morning Thursday.

Life aboard your train might depend on the accommodations you choose. If you're lucky, you can sit up all night in a coach chair. The Daynighter coaches have reclining airline-style seats. An upper or lower berth transforms into day seating and gives you the chance to get to know your neighbors.

For privacy, pick a roomette, which is a tiny private room by day and completely fills up with a bed at night. Two of you may be able to justify the cost of a bedroom.

YOU CAN bring some food aboard and pick up snacks at stations, but plan to eat some meals at either the casual cafe car or in the dining car.

The most important information I can give you, however, is this: reserve your train trip as soon as possible. It is a very popular vacation and sells out fast, especially for June through September.

Contact Via Rail Canada at their toll-free number, (800) 387-1144.

Moving south? Don't discard furnishings

GREETINGS once again from Sarasota, Fla. I will be spending the next several months here and in San Francisco. You will be informed as to what is going on in the world of interior design. Many of the new designs come from these areas.

A word of advice to people who are planning on retiring to Florida. Don't sell your furnishings because you feel you must have the "Florida" look. A home done in wicker and rattan can be very boring. If you feel you want a lighter look, you can accomplish it without discarding your "northern" furnishings.

The floors are very popular design creations here. Ceramic tile, quarry, tile, marble and bleached oak flooring work well in this environment.

MICA CABINETS in white or almond will give an airy feeling. Bleached oak washed with white is a fresh new look. Tile is used for the back splash in kitchens and bathrooms as well as on counter tops.

If you are hesitant about using tile because of the staining of the grout, you needn't worry any longer. There is a silicon product that is mixed into the grout to keep its original look.

Tile is available in many colors and patterns as well as quality. Tiles for the floors in major areas (foyer, hall, living, dining room) are eight- to 12-inches-square. A variety of effects can be achieved with tile. For a more expansive look, tile is laid on the diagonal. A brick-size tile laid in a herringbone pattern is interesting. A contrasting border around the herringbone center is most effective.

While I recommend the aforementioned for Florida, it will work as well as anywhere.

Currently a Southfield resident, Eve Garvin has been an area interior designer for a number of years. She welcomes comments and questions from readers. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48154.

Family 'heirlooms' — pitch or not to pitch?

Q I have a table which belonged to my mother. It's very old but in poor condition. I can't decide whether to keep or sell it.

A To keep or sell, that is the question. Unless you are an educated collector, you may be like millions of others who hang on to old items because you believe that "old" equals "value." Not necessarily.

One of my seminar students suggested that heirlooms were created by ancestors for the purpose of punishing descendants. As Jim Davis' Garfield character puts it, "An heirloom is something that's been in your family for generations that no one's had the guts to pitch out."

While I treasure a number of our own family's heirlooms, almost every family harbors hand-me-downs of questionable sentimental value and no monetary worth.

TOO OFTEN, EITHER actual collectibles or plain old junk are preserved when they are more of an irritant than a treasure. Yet we save them because: 1) we feel they might be valuable (but we've never checked to make sure) or 2) we feel responsible for them just because we ended up with them.

Some people immortalize heirlooms they don't even like and could gain from handsomely by selling, and they complain they don't have enough money to do the things they enjoy or have enough storage space.

Here are the two best questions you can ask yourself: 1. Does the item bring me joy? If the answer is yes, then keep it and get some estimates from furniture refinishers.

2. Will I feel relieved if this item is gone? If yes, then check values with some of the following: library books, resale shops, charitable organizations, appraisers, historical societies, estate or antique dealers.

Please note that I am NOT coldly referring to a wholesale disposition of beloved family treasures which you hold dear to your heart. And before you dispose of anything, be sure to check with other family members and be willing to work out equitable agreements.

Dorothy Lehmkuhl welcomes questions and comments from readers. Send those to her in care of this newspaper, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

WE KNOW Just when you've finally mastered your home interior style, along comes an irresistible new trend. Pure and simple, original American design. Warm adobe brick colors, simple hand-carved furnishings, Indian pottery, Navajo rugs and colorful American folk sculpture.

It's called American Primitive, American Southwest or Santa Fe style. It embodies the romance of Santa Fe, creating a style that is unique in the world — a casual elegance enlivened by a dynamic, ever-changing mixture of the old and the new, the west and the east and the plain and the sophisticated.

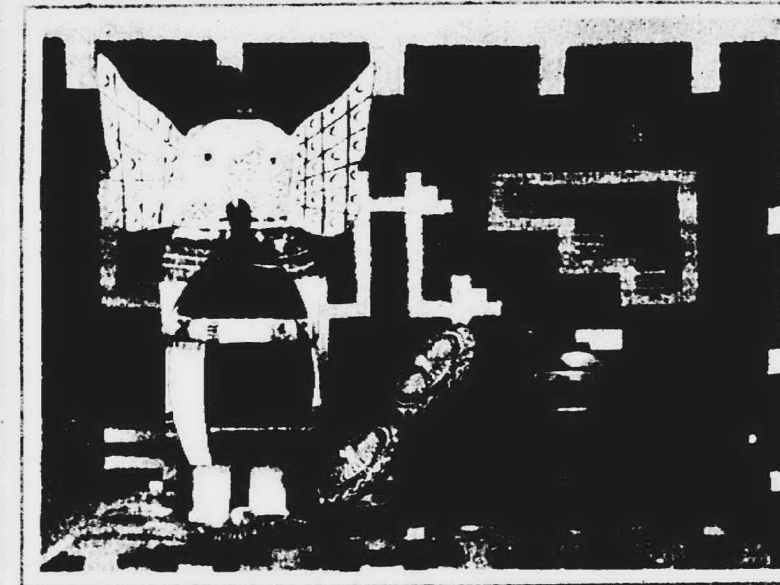

Painted primitive pieces, howling coyotes and American Indian artifacts are examples of our new celebration of things American. A recognition of roots. A style as distinctive and simple as desert sand and as fresh as a morning sunrise.

Two new galleries dedicated to the celebration of things American are Mesa Arts Ltd. in Franklin Village and Four Winds Gallery, which is scheduled for a March opening in Birmingham.

A Trestaro cupboard (upper left), beckons from a quiet corner, $575. Showcased on top are: Mudhead Kachina doll from Hopi tribe, $280; and the storyteller doll from the Jemez tribe, $385, from Mesa Arts Ltd., Franklin. At the right, a Navajo Kachina owl is hand-carved in wood then decorated with fur, beading, bells and feathers, $750 from Mesa Arts Ltd. Lower left, a hand-carved three-foot tall wood coyote is by well-known folk carver David Alvarez, $525. In the background is a large, all-wool, hand-woven rug, $400, Mesa Arts Ltd.
