You've heard the commercials. You've read about their differences.

Now see them in action, the two candidates vying for the 2nd District seat in the U.S. House of Representatives.

The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce has scheduled a luncheon debate between incumbent Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, and challenger Lana Pollack, a Democratic state senator from Ann Arbor.

The luncheon is scheduled Wednesday, Nov. 2, at the Plymouth Hilton Inn. Registration and a cash bar start at 11:30 a.m. with lunch served at noon.

The cost is $15 per person. For more information or to make reservations, call 453-1540.

Honored guests

The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce also has another important date to keep in mind. The 35th annual Community Gathering is set for 7 p.m. Thursday at the Mayflower Meeting House.

A special part of this year's celebration will include the first-ever presentation of awards honoring the business people of the year.

The chamber in cooperation with the Plymouth Observer is sponsoring the award. Winners will be named in three categories — industrial/manufacturing, professional and retail.

The winners have been selected, but the official announcement will not be made until Thursday night. Seventeen people were nominated for the honors.

Special guest for the evening will be Detroit Tiger broadcaster George Kell.

Tickets are $25 per person. For more information, the chamber's number is the same, 453-1540.

Daskalakis dissenter

When it came time for the Plymouth-Canton school board to name the members of a citizens' blue ribbon committee at its last meeting, Trustee E.J. McClendon spoke up. He balked at the appointing of Diane Daskalakis to CREW, Community Researching Educational Workings. CREW is charged with conducting an intensive review of the school district. Daskalakis is a Plymouth Township jeweler who's publicly objected to the use of certain teaching materials in the schools.

"She's entitled to the right to speak . . . but how can we take seriously the advice of someone who accuses us of promoting witchcraft and the occult?" noted McClendon. "I feel so strongly that she has not been a friend of education."

Trustee Barbara Graham disagreed. "I think you are wrong saying we don't have these materials. I think we're top heavy with them.

"When you have people coming forward volunteering their time to help and when you suggest they're on it to undermine the committee — to single someone out like this is a witch hunt," said Graham. The 14 CREW members, Daskalakis included, were approved 5-1-0.

Plymouth to benefit if 'C' passes

Proposal C on the November ballot -- a $660 million state bond issue for environmental protection programs — has special significance for Plymouth city residents.

Plymouth, involved in a long dispute with the state Department of Natural Resources over conditions at a closed, city owned landfill in Salem Township, stands to receive some of the bond proceeds for a cleanup if the proposal passes.

So believes city manager Henry Graper.

"I think it (Proposal C) has a lot of relevance locally people don't realize," Graper said.

"I don't think most people understand the (landfill) problems exist," he said. "A lot of people would have trouble understanding how it got like this and why we don't take care of it.

"We're not sitting on a gold mine."

THE 40-ACRE LANDFILL, at Five Mile and Chubb, was acquired by the city in 1955 and closed in the late 1960s according to standards existing at the time, Graper said.

The DNR now wants the city to fill in depressions, install ventilation stacks, close a drain, cap the entire property with clay and change the grade of the property, Graper said.

City engineer Ken West said the cost of the job — including materials, labor, planning and legal fees — could exceed $2 million.

The city has spent $115,000 on consulting and legal fees relating to the landfill during the past year and a half and could spend another $100,000 by July of next year, Graper said.

"WE'RE NOT ADMITTING there's anything wrong," he said. "We're saying if there is, we'll take care of it."

City officials have been told that the maximum state grant would be $600,000. A 33 percent local match is required.

"I expect we'll get something," Graper said.

If the ballot proposal doesn't pass, however, Plymouth probably will have to pay for a cleanup on its own, Graper said.

The city received no money from the Clean Michigan Fund last year and is reluctant to get involved with the federal superfund because reimbursement is required, Graper said.

> 'I think it (Proposal C) has a lot of relevance locally people don't realize.'
> — Henry Graper, city manager

CUTS IN PERSONNEL or services in future budget years could result depending on how large a grant Plymouth gets, Graper said.

No timetable has been established for the cleanup at Salem Landfill.

"I think as long as you're doing something, moving forward, they (DNR) will work with you," Graper said. "They don't want to put you in bankruptcy."

The city has hired an environmental consultant.

The city intends to seek damages from those who operated its landfill and those who may have dumped contaminating materials there, Graper said.

"We've identified some people who used it. When the time comes, our attorney will initiate the lawsuits," he said.

Board, parents need to talk — survey

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

An unscientific survey of Plymouth-Canton PTO members shows a majority think communication with the board of education needs to improve.

Responding parents numbered 176, said Richard Egli, administrative assistant for community relations. It's not known what percent of PTO members completed the survey, as total membership isn't known, Egli said. Nearly 16,000 students attend Plymouth-Canton schools.

Surveying parents has pointed up "the misperception people have of the board members being full-time employees of the district, when in fact they are elected officials with full-time jobs who spend a lot of time on district business," said Egli.

"Many people are stunned when they find out board members" have

City to sell bonds next month

$1 million sale set for improvements

Bonds will be sold Wednesday, Nov. 2, by Plymouth to finance improvements to the city-owned mausoleum, construction of more crypts and niches at the mausoleum and renovations to Fleet Street around the Central City Parking Lot.

The 20-year bonds with a face value of $1 million will carry an average interest rate — exempt from federal and state taxes — of about 7.25 percent, projected William Graham, city finance director.

Some $800,000 of the proceeds will be applied to the mausoleum, $200,000 to Fleet Street.

Graham is "thoroughly convinced" that no general fund money will be used to pay off the bonds.

"Fleet Street improvements will be paid for out of DDA (businesses in the Downtown Development Authority) as a result of captured tax dollars," Graham said.

"We're looking for the mausoleum to be paid for by the sale of crypt spaces," he said.

RENOVATIONS AT the mausoleum already are under way, Graham said.

"They've replaced all the grouting on the exterior stone work, rebuilt the rear corner of the building, waterblasted the exterior to get years of pollution off the building," he said. "They're working on the roof now."

Work on the addition — 856 crypts and 408 niches — probably will begin in April and take four to six months to complete, Graham said.

Crypts will carry an average sales price of $3,200, niches $1,200, he said. "Basically, we only have to sell 20 crypts a year to handle debt service on the $800,000."

Work on Fleet Street also will be put on hold until next spring for more favorable construction weather, Graham said.

"We'll be removing all existing concrete and replacing with new concrete as well as a brick walkway around the perimeter on the store side of the street," he said.

Stability makes bonds attractive

Unless you have $1 million in cash lying around, the only way to buy into Plymouth's upcoming bond issue is to deal directly with the brokerage house or bank that wins the bid.

The city usually awards bonds to the financial institution that charges the lowest average interest rate over the term of the issue.

"A brokerage generally purchases to resell. Banks normally purchase for their own portfolio," said William Graham, city finance director.

Larger banks generally won't resell a small municipal issue to a pool of investors because banks don't want to bother with record-keeping and processing expenses, Graham said.

> Interest rates on a 20-year issue with an average yield of 7.25 percent could range from 5.5 percent for early maturities to 7.6 percent for later maturities.

SMALLER BANKS looking for more business might, he added.

Graham suspects that as many as a half dozen institutions may bid on the $1 million offer to finance work at the mausoleum and on Fleet Street.

Interest rates on a 20-year issue with an average yield of 7.25 percent could range from 5.5 percent for early maturities to 7.6 percent for later maturities, Graham said.

Stability and the tax-exempt nature of interest payments are the big attractions of municipals.

Graham said he receives at least one call and sometimes up to a half dozen from city residents wanting a piece of the action on every local issue.

Individuals generally must invest at least $5,000 to get in on a bond issue.

jobs outside the district, he said.

"I feel like we're on the right track," he added, "but we need more visibility of board members and increased awareness of the role of the board."

The survey included a number of "open-ended responses," which Egli summarized.

He said parents' prime concerns involve:

- "The quality of education and the maintenance of that quality."
- "A feeling that the board of education was contributing little to an individual building."
- The perception that "the building principal is more responsive to the needs of an individual building than either central office administrators or the board of education."
- "Inadequate communication between the board of education and the respondents. Written comments indicate the board's dilemma of being perceived by some respondents as less than open and honest, while being perceived by other respondents as being threatening when detailing possible consequences."
- "Class size at all levels."
- "At the elementary level, the early closing of the elementary buildings, with such closings being viewed by some respondents as punitive. There was also a concern about the loss of Begindergarten."
- "At the high school level, the attendance office and attendance policies . . . and smoking areas."

Parents expressed "an appreciation for and recognition of many positive aspects of education in Plymouth-Canton ranging from a positive attitude to excellent teachers and administrators," said Egli.

Action already has been taken on some of the issues, Egli added. Informational articles have been written for school newsletters.

Board members are making themselves available to speak to PTOs and service clubs. Principals have been made aware that Superintendent John Hoben is willing to speak to their staffs.

Egli suggested a follow-up questionnaire and said "the very fact of asking for responses to a questionnaire is a clear indication of commitment" to strengthening communications, he said.

Survey sample Q&A

Here's a sample of some of the questions and responses.

- Q: How do you believe communication between your school and the board of education has affected education at your school?
  A: Positively, 3; No effect, 69; Negatively, 33; No answer, 39.
- Q: Do you feel you, as a PTO member, have good communication with the board of education?
  A: Yes, 40; No, 106; No answer, 30.
- Q: How responsive to the needs of your school do you believe the following people or groups are:
  Your principal? A: Generally responsive, 138; Not generally responsive, 11; Don't know, 17.
  Your central office administrators: A: Generally responsive, 51; Not generally responsive, 46; Don't know, 62.
  Your board of education: A: Generally responsive, 38; Not generally responsive, 62; Don't know, 58.
- Q: Do you feel you are adequately informed about the actions of your board of education? A: Yes, 61; No, 99.
- Q: In your opinion, how well does the board of education carry out its duties?
  A: As well as can be expected, 26; Not as well as can be expected, 68; Don't know, 37; No answer, 45.
- Q: Have you ever attended a board of education meeting?
  A: Yes, 74; No, 89; No answer, 13.

Stamper gets life for murder

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

In a courtroom teaming with onlookers and armed Washtenaw County sheriffs, 18-year-old Steven Stamper was sentenced Friday to life in prison for the murder of Mary Anne Hulbert, 13, of Canton Township.

A jury convicted Stamper of Ypsilanti Township of second-degree murder Sept. 30. Circuit Judge Henry Conlin could have sentenced Stamper to a minimum of eight years imprisonment.

Stamper, dressed in hunter-orange overalls, white T-shirt and a camouflage jacket, said nothing after the sentence was announced.

"He just looked solemn and very circumspect," said Jeffrey Strouss, Stamper's attorney. "He knew he was going to get a substantial prison term."

Stamper was one of two defendants charged with open murder in the shooting death of Hulbert, whose body was found in a Superior Township field in January 1987.

ACCORDING TO testimony, Mary believed she was pregnant by the co-defendant, Christopher Machacek. On Dec. 30, 1986, Stamper and Machacek drove Mary to a field where they claimed they intended to shoot rifles into the air, inducing a miscarriage by scaring Mary.

An autopsy showed Mary was not pregnant. The Stevenson Junior High School seventh grader was shot seven times.

Machacek was found guilty of first-degree murder in a separate jury trial in September. He is to be sentenced Friday by Conlin.

Addressing Stamper, Conlin said he received numerous letters from the friends and family of both the defendant and Hulbert.

"I'VE LIVED with this case now for over a year," said Conlin. "We've had a complete trial and a fair trial. After considering all the testimony, I cannot get past two or three things.

"One is the fact that if you hadn't driven the car and provided the guns and bullets, Mary probably would be alive today," he said. "The other fact is that you and other people involved were partying afterwards. While that young lady was laying in the weeds, you were partying at a hotel. I can't believe it.

"The court is convinced . . . that the only appropriate sentence is life." Conlin gave Stamper credit for the 653 days already served.

"It's not over for you," added the judge. "Everything you and your attorney have said about your desire to change your life is still available to you. I'm hopeful that I'll be hearing good things about you . . . about your getting an education and learning skills. You'll have a chance to convince the parole board. You're entitled to appellate review."

Strouss, who said he'd like to handle Stamper's appeal, said the average time served by those given a life sentence is 17 years.

But Strouss expects the decision to be reversed on appeal because of "four or five legitimate issues" concerning errors sheriffs made in investigating the case.

It will take about a year for the state Court of Appeals to rule on the case, Strouss said.

STAMPER WAS TAKEN directly to Riverside Correctional Facility, a maximum security state prison in Ionia.

Moments after Stamper was sentenced, Tudie Braddom, Stamper's grandmother and adoptive mother, said she thought the case was "handled pretty well" by the court. Of her grandson's future, she said, "Steve wants to go ahead with college courses.

"He wants to go as far as he can," added Braddom, who bought for her grandson the .22-caliber semi-automatic rifle thought to be the murder weapon.

Fran Mitchell, Stamper's great-grandmother, said, "Steve has always been a good boy. I think he'll do as he promised. He's had a bad life."

Judge heard pleas from Stamper, Hulbert

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Before Washtenaw Circuit Judge Henry Conlin sentenced Steven Stamper in the slaying of Mary Anne Hulbert of Canton, he heard pleas from Stamper, Hulbert's mother and grandfather.

"I understand that this is a very serious crime and that someone should be punished. I was 16 when I was arrested, and it has been a long road," said Stamper.

"I believe I can go back to society and straighten things out. I don't believe I was that bad when I was out," he said.

"Debbie Hulbert is very upset. She lost her daughter, and I am sorry. I am sorry that everyone who loves me had to go through this. I just want the opportunity to show them I am a good person," said Stamper, who has grown three inches and lost 33 pounds since going to jail 20 months ago. Stamper is 6-6 and weighs 182 pounds.

HULBERT WAS next to take the podium.

"I've been through this court process for almost two years, and it's been horrible," she said. "Part of my life has been taken from me.

"I'll never close my eyes again, or walk into my empty house and see Mary's pictures on the wall without remembering the joy she brought to everyone in our family.

"We had good times together, Steven Stamper, Mary and me," she said. "We had good times. When I was first searching for Mary, no one would help me. Steve wouldn't pick up the phone and tell me where she was.

"It will never be over for me," said Hulbert. "I don't want to see anyone else go through what I'm going through."

MARY'S GRANDFATHER, Norman McGarry of Canton, rose to speak next. But halfway up to the podium, he broke down.

Judge Conlin, as Debbie Hulbert embraced her father, told McGarry he'd read his letter, and that his statement was being taken into account.

McGarry, superintendent of quality control at GM's Willow Run plant, later showed the letter to a reporter.

It said, in part: "I agree with the statement the assistant prosecutor made in the juvenile court hearings, that to look into their (the defendants') eyes makes shivers run down your spine.

"I looked, and I shivered. Mary had so much going for her. She had had lessons in dancing, piano and skating. She had traveled to three continents and had lived in Africa for almost two years," McGarry wrote.

"We had already established a trust fund for her education. She never even had a chance to realize what she had and what a good future she had. Before her family ever even realized what was happening, she was taken out and executed."

The letter was signed "Norman D. McGarry, Mary's grampa."

FOR A YEAR and a half, Mary Hulbert lived with her grandparents in Nigeria, where McGarry was working. The three went on safaris in Tanzania and traveled through Europe.

"Then to come back and meet two people like this who have nothing to offer," said McGarry. "Mary was the light of my life.

"I'm just happy it's over. It's not going to bring Mary back. But maybe we can stop feeling so bad."

Room to scare

Cindy Mikelonis endures the electric chair.

Just when they thought they were safe, Doug Grandell waits outside the door and frightens Herbert Lincoln and sons Adam and Benjamin.

House tour is a scream

All right, so it may not be the scariest location in town.

But you don't need a boarded-up, spooky house to provide some Halloween frights.

The Canton and Plymouth Jaycees have teamed up to turn a shopping center into the scariest place in town. (No wisecracks about how scary shopping centers and their parking lots are during the holidays.)

The haunted house is set up at the corner of Ford and Lilley in Canton.

The cost for the frightening encounter is $2.50 per person. The house is 7:30-10 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 7:30 p.m. to midnight Friday and Saturday. The haunting continues through Halloween night.

The usual assortment of ghouls, goblins and monsters occupy the house along with everyone's favorite movie star, Freddy from "Nightmare on Elm Street" fame.

All of of the screaming benefits the community.

Money raised at the haunted house goes to support local Jaycee projects.

Last year, $75,000 was raised through haunted houses in the metropolitan Detroit region. And the money raised goes for food baskets, shopping sprees for the needy, senior outings and other community services.

And a word to those brave enough to enter the haunted house — just when you think you have made it out with your wits intact, be prepared for one last scare.

Tom Richards, disguised as "Freddie," gives a fright to Ray Stickney and Cub Scout Bret Kosick, 8.

Officer of NEA returns to area

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

The former Livonia math teacher who has risen to the vice presidency of the country's largest labor union returned to Livonia Monday to address his first local union meeting in 14 years.

Keith Geiger, who is now running for president of the 1.9 million member National Education Association, visited former acquaintances and appeared at a fund-raiser in connection with his candidacy for the NEA post. The election is in July.

"I honestly don't feel he has changed; he's still the dynamic person I remember," said Tom Lang, a math teacher at Frost Middle School who met Geiger at Bryant school in 1964.

"I remember when we were on strike, he held them together and didn't panic under fire," recalled LEA secretary Teddy Kazakos, also on hand for the fund-raiser.

SINCE LEAVING town, "I hope I've gotten a little wiser in dealing with people and representing this organization," said Geiger, 47.

His itinerary on Monday included stops at three Livonia schools, where he visited former acquaintances.

"The most common statement I heard was, 'We wish you the very best in your election,' " Geiger said, adding some old friends offered a friendly insult or two.

The Livonia Education Association, to which Geiger was elected president in 1970, raised around $2,000 for Geiger's campaign, as more than 150 union members turned out for the fund-raiser.

Geiger — who led the only strike in Livonia in the early '70s — was elected president of the Michigan Education Association in the late '70s, and first elected NEA vice president in 1983. He was re-elected to the post in '85 and '87.

As NEA vice president, Geiger occasionally testifies before Congress to urge passage of legislation, oversees a Washington office staff of 350 and speaks to numerous groups around the country.

Last week, he joined a group of 50 overseeing the plebiscite election in Chile.

EXPLAINING THAT he is often away from home, Geiger said, "I know I've had to value my time with my family much more."

Geiger, who also was a basketball referee in Livonia, said kids are more conservative than when he was teaching.

Keith Geiger

"Their dress is much much different, it's more expensive — kids are dressed up in school."

Teachers concerns, he said, are the same now as then. "Teachers are concerned about class size, prep time, getting a raise that keeps them competitive."

If there was a highlight to his return trip, Geiger said it may have been visiting Frost Middle School where he met with several former colleagues. "I established some long lasting friendships.

"It's an excellent school district."

'Ecuador' 1st part of series

The Kiwanis Foundation Club will present its first program of the Travel and Adventure Film Series at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the auditorium at Plymouth Salem High School.

"Ecuador" is a land of many colors and hues . . . a land of many opportunities. Pacific shores glisten with opportunities for work and play. Coastal lowlands provide products from fields and forests. Inland lie the mighty Andes Mountains where glaciers straddle the equator. Beyond the Andes' eastern flank stretches the Orient . . . a vast ocean of trees where petroleum deposits fuel prospects for a richer future.

For generations this beautiful but challenging land has made its imprint upon inhabitants. Today, however, Equador's mark on the world is increasingly evident. Through ingenuity and investment, its residents are exacting higher tribute from their labors and their lands.

Tarry with highland Indians as they gleen life's necessities from the world at hand. Share in the lives of banana growers, sugar cane harvesters, shrimp "farmers" and cocoa and rice growers.

In the pulsating cities of Ecuador you will find a cosmopolitan atmosphere rivaling other great cities of the world. In the hum of heavy industry and the buzz of a market scene, you will sense that these people have challenged life and found themselves on the winning side in Ecuador.

"The Galapagos Islands" are strung like pearls along the equator 600 miles from Ecuador's shore.

These islands became in time a terrestrial habitat for every living thing that chances their way on currents of wind and water. Here is nature's most perfect and tranquil playground where penguins frolic on the equator with sea lions, iguanas, tortoises, and the birds of the air.

It was here that the selective adaption of the islands tiny finches sparked Charles Darwin's curiosity about the origins of species. Your curiosity will be quenched . . . and whetted again as you experience the multi-faceted story of a nation and the islands they protect.

Cancer foundation cards available

It's not too early to be thinking of the holidays, especially in terms of Michigan Cancer Foundation Holiday Greeting Cards.

The cards are available in six styles, including Currier & Ives and "Country Christmas" designs, with messages conveying the warmth and friendship of the season.

Envelopes are lined with silver and gold foil.

Prices range from $9 to $18 per box of 25. Imprinting is available for an additional cost and requires four weeks for delivery. (Imprinting deadline is Nov. 18.)

Cards may be bought at MCF's Plymouth Office, 173 N. Main, where volunteers staff the office 1-3 p.m. Monday through Friday, or at foundation headquarters, 110 E. Warren, Detroit.

All proceeds support Michigan Cancer Foundation's research, prevention and patient care programs. MCF is a Torch Drive/United Way agency.

● GIRL SCOUTS

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council is looking for volunteers to "Take the Lead" in the Girl Scout tradition. Parents, as well as those without children, professionals and senior citizens, are needed as program consultants, committee members, event directors, media representatives and troop leaders.

If you're interested in volunteering or would like more information on Girl Scouting, call 313-483-2370 or write the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, P.O. Box 539, Ypsilanti 48197.

● PACT/REACT

The PACT/REACT team, which participates in crime prevention patrols, monitors emergency radio channels and assists as severe weather spotters in this area, needs members. The group meets the second Wednesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in the Plymouth Township Hall, Ann Arbor Road and Lilley. For more information, call 459-0020.

● MCF NEEDS VOLUNTEERS

The Michigan Cancer Foundation (MCF) in Plymouth needs volunteers for daytime officework. On-the-job training will be provided. Interested persons should call Catherine Cameron at 833-0710, Ext. 245.

● CAMP FIRE VOLUNTEERS

Camp Fire needs volunteer leaders to share their experience and skills with children in small group situations. Camp Fire boys and girls, from kindergarten through high school, are active, alert young people involved in a variety of non-competitive activities including self-reliance courses, camping, community service and crafts. Campfire Detroit Area Council serves young people and their families in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and Livingston counties. For further information , call Cleola Spates-Burt at 559-5840.

● HOSPICE VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

Hospice Services of Western Wayne County is seeking volunteers to provide assistance to terminally ill patients and their families in their homes. Volunteers may provide respite care, companionship, emotional support and bereavement care. Both lay volunteers and registered nurses are needed. Thirty hours of volunteer training begins from 7-10 p.m. Monday, Sept. 12, for 10 consecutive weeks. Interested volunteers may call, 522-4244.

● HELP CANCER PATIENTS

Harper Hospital is looking for volunteers to work with cancer patients. A free specialized training program will be held for interested participants, July 11 through July 27, on Mondays and Wednesdays 5:30-8:30 p.m. The training program will focus on the ability to provide support to patients and their families during their hospital stay. For further information, call 745-8939, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

● MEALS ON WHEELS

The Meals on Wheels program in the Plymouth area has recently expanded its hours. Volunteers are needed from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., for substitute drivers, and driver assistance. Please call 453-9703, Tonquish Creek Manor, between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Clerical workers and drivers are also needed to help out in the Northville office of Out-Wayne County Human Services, which administers the Meals on Wheels program. The Northville office is at Five Mile and Sheldon. For more information, call 453-2525.

● HEALTH MEETING

Adult and teen volunteers are needed to help at the Arbor Health Building in Plymouth, McAuley Health Building in Canton.

Volunteers may work directly with patients or in non-patient positions. Complete orientation and training are provided for all programs. To sign up for an information session, or for more information, call 572-4159.

● HOSPICE SPEAKERS NEEDED

Hospice of Southeastern Michigan seeks outgoing individuals to participate in our volunteer speaker's bureau, affording you the opportunity to service the community while providing yourself with a new and rewarding experience. Please contact the public relations department at 559-9209.

● MEDICAL HELP

Henry Ford Hospital is looking for men and women 18 and older as volunteers at the Plymouth Center on Main Street east of Penniman. Needed are people with all types of skills to help with patients or to perform clerical and other tasks. Nurses also are needed for blood pressure screening. For information, call Kathleen Kernen at the volunteer services department at 593-8131 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

● AMATEUR PERFORMERS

The Plymouth Community Arts Council is updating its list of amateur performers who are willing to share their time and talent with students. The resource list is provided by the PCAC to all elementary teachers in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. Particularly needed this year are dancers, singers and musicians. If you or someone you know has a special skill they are willing to share, call Pat MacIsaac at 453-8051.

● HISTORICAL MUSEUM

Volunteers are needed at the Plymouth Historical Museum. Are you interested in antiques and Plymouth history? Come in and visit your museum and see what's there. The museum needs volunteers for changing displays, helping in the gift shop, typing, printing, sewing and helping in the educational program for school children. Call 455-8940 or stop in from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday or Thursday to ask what you can do to help.

● IN-HOME CARE HELP

Volunteers are needed for in and out of home care for older adults. In-home care provides in-home relief for care-givers of the disabled or frail older people. Out-of-home care is a supervised program at a day-care center, which includes social and rehabilitative activities in a group setting. Care is provided for older persons who need supervision when family and friends are not available. For information, call Plymouth Family Service at 453-0890.

● PROBATION VOLUNTEERS

35th District Court Probation Department is seeking volunteers to provide direct supervision of adult misdemeanor probationers. The only experience needed is an interest in working with people. Volunteers are needed to work between the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. The number of hours per week and days per month are negotiable. Training classes are being scheduled. Interested people should contact the Probation Department, 459-4749.

● CANCER VOLUNTEERS

Anyone willing to serve as a driver or in another volunteer capacity in the Michigan Cancer Foundation office on Main Street in Plymouth may call Barbara Bicking at 833-0710, Ext. 348, or Catherine Cameron, Ext. 245. Volunteer drivers last year logged more than 34,000 miles. Because radiation therapy and chemotherapy often require daily visits for several weeks, a patient often will have two, three or more drivers during the course of one week's treatment. Michigan Cancer Foundation is a Plymouth Community Fund/United Way agency.

Area AIDS seminar planned

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Public health officials from throughout Wayne County are taking time out Saturday, Nov. 5, to discuss the disease AIDS.

A daylong county AIDS conference will be held at the Wayne County Intermediate Schools offices, 33500 Van Born, Wayne.

The conference, health officials said, underscores their concern about the deadly disease.

"AIDS is the number-one public health concern facing the nation today," said Dr. Donald Lawrenchuk, county medical director. The county health department is one of the event's sponsoring agencies.

The conference intends to dispel myths and misinformation concerning the disease, Lawrenchuk said.

'AIDS is the number-one public health concern facing the nation today.'
— Dr. Donald Lawrenchuk county medical director

"THE MOST common myth is that AIDS is a gay white man's disease, and that everyone else isn't at risk," he said. "The truth is, everyone is at risk."

There have been 431 confirmed AIDS cases in Wayne County, according to county records dating back to 1981. Of those cases, 348 were reported in Detroit, the rest in western Wayne, downriver and other suburban areas.

As of Sept. 12, 802 AIDS cases have been reported statewide.

U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop has said AIDS-related deaths could decrease by as many as 14,000 within two years if the public begins heeding warnings.

Despite large-scale government information campaigns, Lawrenchuk said, there are still widespread misconceptions about how the disease is passed.

"There are still people who believe you an get AIDS from casual contact or from mosquito bites," he said. "These are the kind of myths we want to overcome."

The conference will also provide information about where to seek counseling and treatment.

"THE CENTER for Disease control in Atlanta has cited the Wayne County Disease Control Division's program as being one of the best in the country," Lawrenchuk said. "And yet, it's one of the county's biggest secrets. We have programs and services that could be more fully used."

The seminar is open to the public. Admission is $7.50 including lunch. Reservations are suggested to reserve a seat.

Reservations can be made by by calling the First United Methodist Church, Wayne, 721-4801.

Additional information about county AIDS programs is available by calling 467-3325.

Special ed tax request receives endorsements

A proposed Wayne County special education tax increase has received endorsements from three teachers union organizations and a series of local politicians.

The Wayne County Michigan Education Association Political Action Committee, the Detroit Federation of Teachers, Michigan Federation of Teachers and Metropolitan Detroit AFL-CIO all endorsed the 1-mill tax increase request last week.

Elected officials adding their support included state Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, Wayne County commissioner Kay Beard, D-Inkster, Wayne County Community College trustee Juanita Ford and state Rep. Gary Owne, speaker of the Michigan House of Representatives.

The tax increase request was narrowly defeated by voters during the August primary.

THE INCREASE would primarily benefit the 6,000 severely handicapped youngsters who attend regional center programs in Wayne County public schools.

The increase translates to $37.50 per year for people living in homes with a market value of $75,000.

"Handicapped students deserve an education equal to that of other students and they typical increase will be the equivalent of purchasing one or two bottles of pop per week," the Wayne County MEA PAC said in issuing its endorsement.

Others who have endorsed the tax increase request include Wayne County treasurer Raymond J. Wojtowicz and state Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City.

ARTHRITIS CAN LEAVE AND THEN RETURN
Arthritis can leave. Departures after one attack are commonplace in gout, occur in polymyalgia rheumatics, and have happened in theumatoid arthritis and systemic lupus erythematosis.
However, arthritis can return. Unfortunately, there is no way that a physician can identify if, and when, the arthritis will recur, or why it has returned. Consequently, there are no instructions that a physician can offer that will lessen your chance of reoccurance.
Experience has shown that if your doctor can treat the reoccurence promptly, then the chance for control of the arthritis is good.
Therefore if your arthritis leaves, neither you nor your doctor can close the appointment book and plan to meet "as-needed." Even if you are feeling well, you should expect to see your doctor every 6-8 months or at the least, on a yearly basis. This schedule is for surveilance over your status, and as preparation, if the condition should return.
Thus, if you have arthritis, your best wish may well be that the relationship with your condition ends, while the one with your doctor does not.

Think twice

Projects take more than dreaming

Fred DeLano

"ON THE same recent morning I heard the word "snow" used in a local weather forecast, I sat in a hospital waiting room reading an article in a back issue of Golf Journal telling of one man's trials in building his own home putting green. It was a parlay that stimulated memory of the most futile project of my lifetime, the attempted construction of a backyard ice rink.

The italic plug over the yarn by Dr. Karl Danneberger, a turfgrass agronomist at Ohio State University, said, "An agronomist with a dream discovers there is more to building a backyard putting green than planting grass, and finds a thin line between dream and nightmare."

Well, let me tell you something, buster. In the four months ahead, if you feel inclined to be a good guy and create overnight ice on a portion of your estate to make the kiddies happy, you, too, will discover the same thin line.

Better you should go back to the couch, lie down and fantasize on how nice winter must be in Palm Springs.

IT WAS the winter of '67-'68 and we owned a house in what then was Farmington Township, now Farmington Hills. Bob was 10, Betty 7. For some dumb reason, on a bitterly cold day my memory clock turned back to childhood when Paul Piper, who lived next door, was envied by neighborhood kids because his pop had built a skateable rink in the Pipers' side lot.

For all the fun I had on it, I should have been born with blades on the inside of my ankles.

Anyway, I figured that getting some timbers and sheets of plastic would be a good start. The kids could clear the given patch of its snow and uncoil the hose that had been stowed in the garage. Then we'd lay out the rink, let the water run all night and presto, by morning Mother Nature would have given us instant ice.

Why an otherwise brilliant wife allowed the charade to proceed, watching the whole proceeding through the kitchen window, bewilders me. Or does it? Maybe she knew it was useless to challenge pig-headed stubbornness and was willing to let boys be boys. In the next life, I'll ask.

By bedtime all was in place, the water was running successfully, and the temperature kept dropping. I didn't realize that I had overlooked one teensy weensy detail: namely, that our lot had a slight west to east grade.

DANNEBERGER, A devout golfer, wrote that for years he had dreamed that if he could practice enough on a putting green in his own backyard, he could get down to 24 putts for an 18-hole round. He also wrote:

"As an ominous sign of things to come, the neighbors were curious about what I was doing. Fearing failure, I refused to tell them, which led to wild rumors of a swimming pool, flower garden and a family burial ground: Neighbors can be pretty nasty when they don't know what's going on."

Eventually this Buckeye completed his project and invited the neighbors to enjoy his success. Then, he said, " they began to complain the green was too slow, too grainy, too bumpy, too soft, too hard, had too much break, didn't have enough break and lacked consistency . . . The world will never be short on critics."

We never put our ice rink to such a strenuous test of inviting friends to bring skates and give it a try. And there was only one irate critic. That was the guy who owned the home next door into whose yard all our water flowed, leaving both of us with frozen mud.

AT THIS date, I harbor the never-spoken feeling that our youngsters lacked confidence right from the beginning. Early on, they may have realized I am not a do-it-yourself addict. Putting a washer in the kitchen faucet is a major plumbing feat. Changing a light bulb stamps me as a certified electrician.

If I had it to do all over again, I would have waited for spring and tried to cultivate a putting green myself. Then the tilt of the terrain could have been called an undulation, and maybe I'd even be called an agronomist. Heaven knows, I've been called many things worse.

Remember to aim high

Sam Hudson

Sam Hudson wrote the following in October 1987. The longtime Plymouth resident, historian, author and columnist died Aug. 8. This essay was read at his memorial service in September.

Now that I have reached the Sixth Age — I was born in the same year as the man in the White House — I feel impelled to join the ranks of oldsters who have reflected on what they would have done differently had they their lives to live over.

For one thing, in choosing a vocation I would not listen to friends, relatives and English teachers who saw in me a budding advertising man. I see now that I was not meant to be a media Willy Loman.

I would look into the possibilities of a career in some field of human endeavor where I could see a way of making a significant contribution to the world I live in. Statesman? Scientist? Medical researcher? Author? Dramatist? Supreme Court justice? Any field that might give me an opportunity to do more than just make money and live a comfortable life.

AND I would not exclude the field of business. In spite of bad apples that pollute the business barrel from time to time, an ethical business leader who does not gauge success solely in terms of wealth, or the number of bodies he has stepped over, is capable of contributing just as much to the society of his time as those in the arts, sciences or professions.

Whatever field I chose — and this is my main point — I would aim high. I would not be deterred by those whose opinion was that there was no hope for me if I was bent on improving Hamlet, or questioning the democratic efficacy of a strong central government, or demonstrating what was wrong with pasteurization, or refining the theory of relativity. Shakespeare, Hamilton, Pasteur and Einstein must have experienced similar putdowns when they were in their salad days.

Having chosen the field for which I had the greatest inclination and aptitude, I would also aim high in choosing the training that would fit me for it.

I would not be put off by learning that the university that seemed to be the best for that field was also the most expensive. Many a high-ranking institute of learning has special scholarships unknown to the student of limited means, who often takes second best simply because he or she is not aware of the unpublicized opportunities.

WHATEVER FIELD I chose, I would try to determine who was the best in that field and try to hitch my wagon to his star. If I chose to be a physicist, I would look for another Millikan and try to work under him. If my leaning was toward architecture, I would try to study under another Sullivan or Wright. And if I chose to be a golf professional, I would seek out a leading pro who was of my temperament, my height and my build and ask to carry his golf clubs.

I would not be discouraged by temporary setbacks. In thus persevering it is true that I might become another Sisyphus, but every time I began to roll that stone up the hill I would be convinced that this time it would stay at the top. Besides, as Horatio found out, anticipation is better than realization.

People tend to listen to those who are most often in the news — the famous or the notorious. Since my position in life is not outstanding, and I have not lied in public office and then capitalized on it by writing a best-seller, I have no illusions that these musings will have any widespread influence. Or that anyone young enough to benefit will read them.

A few fathers or grandfathers may, however, call these few paragraphs to the attention of their progeny. If they do, and if one or two youngsters decide to aim high, resist the influence of well-meaning but not necessarily wise friends, refuse to be awed by the seeming insurmountability of Olympian heights, and never lose sight of what they set out to achieve, these few words will not have been in vain.

Check facts on abortions

To the editor:

In your article "Abortion Foes Place Money Before Emotion" of Sept. 2, Department of Social Service Director C. Patrick Babcock is quoted, "There's no way to predict whether women on welfare would be more careful about getting pregnant, or give up more children for adoption, or find other ways to pay for abortions, or find back-alley abortions."

Mr. Babcock should refer to studies done in Ohio and Georgia regarding the effects of cutting off tax funds for abortions. In her article published in the Wall Street Journal on Dec. 31, 1986, Jacqueline Kasun reports that in Ohio and Georgia when the tax funds for abortion ended, both the number of abortions and the number of live births decreased. Planned parenthood also found that there was no increase in the number of emergency room treatments for the type of complications from botched illegal abortions.

Together these studies support the belief that fewer unwanted pregnancies would occur if tax funding for abortions were eliminated. As further evidence that abortion has become just another form of birth control, consider that 60 percent of those receiving tax-funded abortions admit to using no form of contraceptive. Additionally, 40 percent are repeat abortions, back for their second, third, or even eighth tax-paid abortion.

Let's use our tax dollars for something useful. Vote yes on Proposal A.

Tim Magers,
Canton

Heating Security From Consumers Power.
Our New Heating Security Plan Provides Winter-Long Peace Of Mind For Just Pennies Per Day.
The Heating Security Plan from Consumers Power puts an end to the hassles and headaches of dealing with breakdowns in your forced air or hot water heating plant. You're covered 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Should your gas heating equipment fail to operate, all parts covered under the plan will be replaced at no charge to you. (Some restrictions apply. See program brochure recently mailed to you for complete explanation.)
This year, relax and take the worry out of winter heating. For a few cents a day, you and your family will stay warm all winter long. The enrollment period has been extended until November 15. Sheriff, judge at odds over jail incident

By Wayne Peal
Staff writer

Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano said chief Wayne County Circuit Judge Richard Kaufman overstepped his bounds last week by holding him in contempt after a court-appointed monitor was denied access to the county jail.

Court sources, however, said it was Ficano who overstepped his bounds in denying access to court-appointed monitor Vincent Nathan of Toledo.

KAUFMAN issued a contempt citation against the sheriff Monday after holding a show-cause hearing on the incident.

The matter will be resolved at a Thursday, Oct. 27, hearing before Judge Kaufman.

Ficano, however, said he is convinced that if the judge allowed testimony at last week's hearing, "he'd see that there was no basis" for the citation.

Kaufman found the sheriff in contempt last week for what he said was failing to allow Nathan, the jail monitor appointed by the judge, to tour the jail. Ficano maintains that Nathan was allowed to visit and that the monitor's request for a clarification of Kaufman's orders was "not adversarial."

Nathan's request prompted the show cause hearing.

Kaufman declined direct comment on the case, citing judicial codes of conduct and ethics.

"I'd like to be able to comment, but my hands are tied," the judge said.

Sources close to the court, however, said Ficano was held in contempt for interpreting provisions of Kaufman's orders and that interpretation is the responsibility of the judge alone.

Sources said the judge acted within proper bounds in holding the show cause hearing without seeking additional testimony.

Chief Wayne County Circuit Judge Richard Kaufman issued the contempt citation against the sheriff and is giving him until Oct. 27 to resolve the matter.

Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano is protesting his citation for contempt for failing to allow a visit by a court-appointed jail monitor.

Kaufman has issued two orders regarding the jail. The first, in May 1987, said that the court monitor could use employees of the jail and have access to information. The second was issued on Oct. 6 and ordered the sheriff to provide staff to collect some 1,000 pieces of material so that it could be reviewed by the monitor. The Oct. 6 order gave the sheriff 10 days to comply.

FICANO said Nathan asked two doctors to come in on Oct. 13 to examine the medical case histories of 80 inmates.

The dispute, Ficano said, stemmed from a conflict between provisions of the two orders.

The sheriff also said any request for information takes staff time, and that there are 14 positions at the jail that are not filled.

At the hearing last week, Kaufman heard arguments from both attorneys then adjourned for a short time. When he came back he held a show cause hearing on the contempt charge. Nathan, according to Ficano, stood up in court and said "I didn't ask for that."

NATHAN was unavailable for comment last week.

The judge didn't hear any testimony and issued the contempt charge.

Ficano had previously asked Kaufman to excuse himself from the case.

Said Ficano about Kaufman's actions: "I am shocked that in an American court one isn't afforded the opportunity to defend oneself.

"The court acted on what it thought was going on in my head. If the court had allowed us to testify it would see that it wasn't the case."

Nathan is reviewing conditions at the jail under terms of a 1971 prisoner lawsuit.

Earlier this year, Ficano criticized a preliminary jail report filed by Nathan as full of inaccuracies.

Ficano has maintained jail conditions were vastly improved from those which prompted the 1971 lawsuit, to the point of inviting reporters to visit the jail.

No penalties were assessed against the sheriff. The judge gave him until the end of the month to arrange a visit by Nathan. According to reports, Ficano has agreed to allow Nathan to visit the jail.

IT WAS the second time this year Ficano faced contempt charges stemming from the jail. In February, both Ficano and Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara were threatened with a contempt citation over jail conditions. That citation, however, was never issued.

The county subsequently sought — and received — a new 1-mill tax for jail construction and expansion.

It was also the second time a Wayne County Sheriff has been held in contempt related to conditions at the jail. Ex-sheriff William Lucas, Ficano's predecessor, had also been held in contempt.

Olives neat in grocery and vodka

I really can't tell you which I enjoy more, strolling through a Greek grocery, breathing in the air scentented with Calamatta olives or stirring a few anchovy-stuffed olives in an Icelandic vodka on the rocks.

I love olives.

Whether they're served up on a steaming botana from Xochomilico's or sliced and tossed with some cherry tomatoes and a light vinaigrette, I love 'em even more.

The olive is one of the oldest known fruit crops. Man grew olive trees even before recorded history. It is not known when the wild olive was first brought under cultivation. But records point to the limestone hills of Attica, the Greek peninsula, as the seat of its first cultivation.

The olive is frequently mentioned in the Bible. The Spanish brought the olive to California in 1769. In the early Franciscan missions, the fruit was pressed for oil and used in the diet and burned for lamps.

AT LAST COUNT, there are more than 15 million acres of olive trees in the world. Each year, more than nine million metric tons of olives and more than three million tons tons of olive oil are produced. The countries bordering the Mediterranean Sea grow most of the world's olives and olive oil.

The olive tree is adapted to a hot, dry climate, and it does well on many different soils. For bearing fruit, it must have water, along with good drainage. Trees come into production at five years of age but are not in full production for at least another 10-15 years. They are long-lived, however, because it is known that trees brought to the United States by the Spaniards are still bearing fruit.

For the production of high-quality table olives, the fruit must be picked by hand. Harvesting for the oil industry is usually done mechanically, either by knocking the fruit from the trees or by the use of shakers.

Methods of processing the olives for the table vary widely. First, there is the traditional Spanish method, which has unripe yellowish-green olives being fermented. Second, the American method, in which half-ripe reddish fruit is used and fermented, and lastly (my favorite) the Greek method, in which the fully ripe, dark purple fruit is preserved.

In most processing methods, a weak solution of lye is applied to neutralize the bitter principle. The lye penetrates the olives and hydrolyzes the bitter taste. The lye-treated olives are immediately rinsed and soaked in water, with frequent changes, in order to remove the lye. The washed olives are placed in fermentation tanks and barrels and are then covered with brine. The use of lye is not allowed in Greece. Instead, the brine is relied on to lessen and mask the bitterness, hence the different taste.

Pumpkins more than an eyeful

By Mary Rodrique
staff writer

Halloween is just around the corner — the day when pumpkins are elevated to star status.

Those orange orbs are good for more than just carving jack-o-lanterns. The pumpkin, cousin to squash and gourds, and sure symbol of autumn, can be cut, cooked and transformed into everything from soup to dessert.

Upland Hills Farm in Oxford has been celebrating the pumpkin for several years with a Pumpkin Festival, complete with spooks and goblins and a haunted house. It continues each weekend through October, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Admission is $5 for adults, $3 for children. Visitors can take a horse-drawn hayride to a pumpkin patch, where they can pick their own pumpkin and have it named by the Great Pumpkin (who moonlights as a psychologist when he's not holding court in the pumpkin patch). Prices run from $1 for the smallest to $5.50 for a 16-inch pumpkin.

Of course, the less adventurous can do just as well at the local grocery store, fruit market or roadside pumpkin stand — which seems to multiply this time of year the way Christmas tree lots appear in December.

PUREEING FRESH pumpkin is not hard. The folks at Upland Hills recommend not peeling unless the pumpkin is very large with a tough rind. Cut the pumpkin into cubes and put the squares in a preserving kettle with a pint of boiling water. Simmer without a cover for 5 or 6 hours, until the juice has evaporated.

Mash the pumpkin through a colander, or use a blender to make the puree. Pies, puddings and soups can be made from the fine, creamy pulp. If you use a colander, the leftover pulp can be used for cookies, cakes and bread. One medium-sized pumpkin will produce five or six cups of pulp.

If you have a large pumpkin, whose rind can't be used, clean it out, put its cap back on, and bake it in the oven. Place it on a cookie sheet and bake at 300 degrees for five or six hours. Then scrape out the meat and puree it as previously described.

Upland Hills has two pumpkin patches and has been operating the autumn festival for about 10 years, according to staff. Farmer Knight Webster says the patches are 10 acres each. And if they run out of pumpkins, they bring in more from neighboring farms.

"We get 15,000 to 20,000 people each year," he said one recent Sunday. And despite cool, brisk weather, the farm was teeming with many families taking rides out to the pumpkin patch.

KNIGHT AND his wife, Dorothy Webster, operate the family owned farm with the help of sons Bruce, who serves as president, and Ken, who runs a catering business and restaurant: Ken's Kitchen at the Wagon Wheel in Lake Orion.

STEPHEN CANTRELL/staff photographer

Bruce Webster of Upland Hills Farm set out a plate of pumpkin tarts, and Tavio Benetti enjoys tasting one. The homemade tarts are 80 cents apiece at the festival.

From soup to tarts, mousse

Ever thought of serving pumpkin as a soup or a main course? Even desserts made with pumpkin can be more versatile than the usual star of Thanksgiving dinner, pumpkin pie.

Upland Hills Farm offers these recipes, which can be made with fresh pureed pumpkin or the canned solid-pack natural variety. If substituting canned for fresh puree, use natural solid-pack pumpkin. The amounts are the same. For example, two cups of fresh puree equals two cups of canned solid-pack pumpkin.

CREAM OF PUMPKIN SOUP

1 cup pumpkin puree
1 tablespoon butter
2 cups milk
¼ cup cream
½ tsp salt
¼ tsp nutmeg
pepper

Melt butter over low heat. Blend in pumpkin and heat. Mix remaining ingredients and continue to heat. Serves 4.

STUFFED PUMPKIN

1 ½ cups uncooked rice
2 pounds lean ground meat (beef, pork, lamb or combination)
1 green pepper, chopped
2 onions, chopped bay leaf

STEVE JONES

Gundella the Witch celebrates Halloween with party guests by serving them a frightful — but tasty — array of food including Bloody Mary Soup, and Liverheads and crackers.

Halloween party wards off chill

Halloween, like Christmas, is a season, not just a day. The whole month of October vibrates with it.

Early in the month, Mother Nature decorates with festive fall colors — orange pumpkins and brown cornstalks. The leaves are aflame with reds, yellows, oranges and golds.

Later in the month — as these leaves fall to the ground — bare, spectral branches reach out like arms against the background of the gloomy gray sky on a rainy day, or cast weird lacy shadows in the night, by the light of a cold, white moon.

Sometimes, a mist will rise up from the ground to add to the effect, and produce a bit of a shiver in even the most stalwart.

Is it any wonder that this is a favorite time for parties? People need to get together to ward off the chill. They need to laugh and make light of the scary things that threaten us all as winter draws near.

HALLOWEEN PARTIES are special fun. Guests can come in masquerade and act anyway they like because their masks hide their true identity, and everyone knows they are only playing a role.

For one party, I hired a young high school girl to don a burlap dress, rat her hair widly and smear dirt on her face. She was then seated on a shelf in the living room, where she screamed madly at the guests as they entered the house, startling them a bit — to say the least.

That was a great ice-breaker.

On another occasion, we had a young man wear a parachute harness underneath his clothing, and hang suspended from the rafters on the porch.

Everyone thought he was a stuffed dummy, until they get real close and heard him moan.

All sorts of tricks and scary games can be used, but at Halloween — as at any other time of year — it is the food that really determines the success of the party.

Traditional foods such as cider and doughnuts, apples in any form, pumpkins and popcorn, are always great.

But, at times, it is fun to try something different.

We once ordered a six-foot submarine sandwich, had it wrapped in a white sheet, delivered by a hearse, and carried in on a slab - like a corpse.

SUGGESTED HALLOWEEN MENU

Liverheads and crackers
Bloody Mary Soup
Dead-Eye Delight (salad)
Jellied Carrots and Dead Flies (salad)
Halloween Ham
Maggots and Mice (pasta and meatballs)
Pumpkin Shell Punch
Black Widow Cake

To make Bloody Mary Soup, use the recipe given in this column April 25. If you didn't save it, you can call me, and I'll give it to you over the phone.

LIVERHEADS

Liverheads are fun and easy to make. This recipe makes one large, or two small heads.
Use your hands to mix together:
2 pounds smoked liver sausage
2 8-ounce packages cream cheese
1 envelope dry onion soup mix optional: 2 ounces Lauche Kummel (carroway liqueur)

Shape mixture into heads, bats, witches, devils, pumpkins and monsters. Frost with cream cheese, softened with a few drops of lemon juice. Tint some of the cheese with food coloring for the hair, eyes and mouth. Serve with crackers.

DEAD-EYE DELIGHT

For each serving, place a ring of spiced apple atop a lettuce leaf. In the center of each, arrange one (canned) lichee nut stuffed with a raisin, a dark grape, or dyed cream cheese, to resemble an eye.

JELLIED CARROTS AND DEAD FLIES

Prepare one large, or two small, packages of orange gelatin dessert, using only 3 cups of water, instead of the four cups called for on the package.

Pare and shred two carrots. When the gelatin is semi-firm, stir in shredded carrot, along with one cup well-drained, crushed pineapple (canned), and one cup black raisins. Leave mixture in refrigerator until firm enough to cut into squares. (I make this a day ahead, to make sure it is jelled enough.)

HALLOWEEN HAM

4 pounds canned ham
½ teaspoon ginger
1 box frozen puff pastry
1 Tbsp. water
1 cup prepared table mustard
1 cup brown sugar
1 egg yolk

Cut ham into two-inch cubes. Mix together the mustard, ginger and brown sugar. Coat each piece of ham generously with the mixture. (Save the remaining mixture to serve as a sauce with the cooked ham.)

Meanwhile, thaw puff pastry and roll out until it is double in size. Cut into pieces to fit the ham. Neatly wrap each piece of ham with pastry. Use cold water to seal the edges and place on an ungreased cookie sheet.

Olives neat in grocery

OLIVE OIL is produced by mechnical extraction of the ground fruit. Traditionally, this involves three steps: the crushing of the fruit, the pressing (usually two-four times) and the separating of the oil from the liquor.

Most table olives are prepared commercially in ready-to-serve form, using one of the following methods:

1. Canned or bottled green Spanish olives. These are usually pitted and the pit cavity stuffed with pimentos, onions, almonds, anchovies or other edibles.

2. Canned, ripe American olives. The production of canned ripe olives is centered in California. The olives are picked when yellow to red color and are cured, then packed in enamel-lined cans, covered with a salt solution, sealed and sterilized.

3. Black, naturally ripe olives from Greece, are kept on the trees until they are fully matured and completely dark. The fruit is brined with a frequent change of water to hasten softening of the bitterness. Sold mostly by bulk in Greek groceries and some smaller stores, they come whole with pits intact.

Olives are low in calories, with the average large olive coming in at about five calories each. So the next time you want to swizzle one in your martini, what the heck, ask for two! Try these great olive recipes and let me know what you think. Bon Apetit!

Chef Larry Janes is interested in putting together a "package" cooking school tour of England and Europe. Those who would like to learn more about mini-sessions at such notable culinarys school as LaVarenne and Wittamer Pattisserie should send their names and addresses to: Chef Larry Janes, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

BAKED CHEESE AND OLIVE TERRINE

8 slices bread, broken into pieces
3 tablespoon melted butter/margarine
1 cup grated cheese (any type)
½ cup sliced olives
3 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
¼ cup liquid from the olives
2 cups hot milk

Toss bread cubes with 2 tablespoons of melted butter. Line the bottom of a greased bread pan with ⅔ cup of bread cubes. Add a layer of ½ cup cheese, then ¼ cup olives. Repeat. Top with remaining bread. Sprinkle with remaining melted butter. In a separate bowl, mix eggs, mustard, liquid from the olives and milk, mixing well. Pour over bread mixture and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Allow to set for 10 minutes before slicing.

PEACH AND OLIVE SALAD

⅔ cup sliced ripe olives
3 ounces cream cheese
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
4 peach halves (fresh or canned)
1 cup shredded lettuce
¼ cup slivered almonds
¼ teaspoon paprika

Blend together the olives, cream cheese and mayonnaise. Arrange fruit halves, cut side up on some fresh shredded lettuce and cover tops generously with olive mixture. Sprinkle with almonds and paprika.

OLIVE SAUCE (great on lamb)

12 green olives
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon onion, chopped
1 tablespoon carrot, chopped
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup chicken stock or broth
1 whole clove
Salt and pepper to taste

Remove pits from olives. Place in a saucepan, cover with water and boil for 30 minutes. Drain and chop olives. Melt butter in a medium skillet. Add onion and carrot and saute both till golden. Sprinkle with flour and cook, stirring constantly for 5 minutes. Gradually add the stock and stir with a whisk until thick and smooth, about 5 minutes. Add clove, season to taste with salt and pepper. Simmer over low heat, stirring occasionally for 15 minutes. Remove clove, add olives and serve immediately. Can be reheated if necessary.

CELERY AND OLIVE STUFFING

3 cups soft bread crumbs
1 cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped olives
¼ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
dash paprika
3 tablespoons butter/margarine, melted
½ cup chicken broth or stock

Mix together bread crumbs, celery, olives, onion, salt, pepper and paprika. Moisten with melted butter, melted in hot chicken broth. Mix throughly. Place in a lightly greased casserole or stuff into a bird, bake.

"This year we're using canned pumpkin," said Ken, a former teacher who got his start in the food business by baking tarts and bread for the pumpkin festival several years ago.

"The honey used as a sweetener is superior to sugar and a more important ingredient than fresh pumpkin," he said.

In addition to honey, the tart features a whole-wheat crust.

Near Upland Hills is the Middleton Berry Farm, on Stoney Creek Road in Oxford, which advertises a pumpkin harvest and has an ample fruit stand to boot.

If there's a difference between fresh pureed pumpkin and solid-pack canned pumpkin, even some professionals don't taste the difference.

"Pumpkin alone is pretty bland. It's the spices that add flavor," said Lorrie Leonard, owner of Lorrie's Confectionately Yours in the Laurel Commons shopping center in Livonia.

LEONARD'S PASTRY shop offers several mouthwatering confections, including pumpkin cheesecake sold whole in three sizes or by the slice. The cheesecakes are made with canned solid-pack pumpkin.

"Other than the work involved (with fresh), I don't see the difference," said Leonard, who admitted to pureeing fresh pumpkin just once.

"I think it's something that families might like to do in the fall, like dipping apples in caramel," she said.

"But as long as you're dealing with a good manufacturer, like Libby's or Stokely's, the canned is just as good."

To enhance flavors, an easier way than pureeing fresh pumpkin would be to use canned pumpkin, but spice the recipe with fresh ground cinnamon, she suggested.

Those who used fresh pumpkin though, can make use of the seeds as well as pulp. From the culinary program of Schoolcraft Community College comes this suggestion for gourmet, roasted pumpkin seeds.

Clean and soak the seeds overnight in four cups of water ⅛ cup of salt, and a cup each of molasses sherry and/or brandy. Drain and lightly salt seeds again. Bake in a 350-degree oven until golden brown.

Recipes' range: soup to mousse

3 cloves garlic, finely chopped
2 teaspoons basil
2 teaspoons marjoram
salt and pepper
1 medium pumpkin
2 tablespoons butter

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Cook rice. Saute ground meat, green pepper, onions and bay leaf together until all traces of red are gone from meat. Drain off fat, remove bay leaf.

In large bowl, mix meat, rice, spices, and salt and pepper. Add more spices, if desired. Remove top from pumpkin so that it can be replaced as a lid. Remove seeds and fibrous bits. Rub the inside of the pumpkin with butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Pack meat and rice mixture into pumpkin, replace top, and bake until you can pierce the side of the pumpkin with a fork (usually an hour, but could vary). To serve, slice down. Serves 10.

PUMPKIN MOUSSE

8 eggs
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
3 cups pureed pumpkin
2 tablespoons cinnamon
1½ teaspoon freshly grated ginger
1 teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons allspice
2 cups heavy cream
candied ginger as garnish

Beat eggs with sugar until thick. Add gelatin and blend well. Mix in pumpkin and spices, chill until mixture begins to set — approximately one hour. Whip cream into soft peaks, fold into pumpkin mixture. Pour into large serving bowl or 4 to 6 balloon wine glasses. Chill at least four hours and serve with freshly whipped cream and minced candied ginger.

Suffering from the symptoms of not having a doctor? Fill this easy, painless prescription:

Do you have any of these symptoms?
✓ Haven't had a physical in a long time and need one
✓ No family doctor and don't know any specialists
✓ Concerns about preventing a major illness
✓ Resorting to "home remedies" when you get sick
✓ New to the area and need a doctor
✓ Frequent visits to urgent care facilities or emergency rooms

If so, you probably suffer from "acute no-doctor-itis." But don't worry. The cure is easy. Just pick up the phone and call McAuley Referral Line. Based on your preferences, we can refer you to one or more of over 300 general doctors and specialists at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and Mercywood in Ann Arbor—many with offices in Canton, Plymouth and throughout western Wayne County.

You can also call McAuley Referral Line for information on any of the programs and services available from Catherine McAuley Health Center. All of this helpful information—right at your fingertips!

Parties offer ghastly food

From the remaining pastry, cut pumpkins, witches and bats to decorate the cubes. The scraps may be colored with food coloring, if you wish. Work a drop of color into them and knead the dough until the color is even.

Mix the well-beaten egg yolk with water and use a pastry brush to coat each decorated pastry-wrapped portion of ham, to glaze it.

At this point, you may refrigerate until ready to bake, or bake at once in a 350-degree oven until pastry is done and ham is tender (about 45 minutes to one hour).

In a saucepan, bring the remaining mustard mixture to a boil and serve as sauce for the ham.

MICE

Mix together:
½ cup bread crumbs
¾ cup milk or cooking wine (depending on your taste)
one package dry onion mix
2 pounds ground beef
salt and pepper for seasoning

Shape into oblong (not round) meatballs, and brown them in a skillet. (With a bit of imagination, these should resemble the bodies of little mice that have been dressed and fried.) These meatballs can be made days ahead and frozen, to be thawed at the last moment when you are preparing the dish for the oven.

(With a bit of imagination, these should resemble the bodies of little mice that have been dressed and fried.)

Using this tinted frosting, decorate the cake with a spider web and spider.

MAGGOTS

Use either orzo, langues d'oiseau (pasta shaped like large grains of rice), or tubettini peles (tiny pieces of straight macaroni).

These forms of pasta are sometimes available in your supermarket, but any good Italian market (such as Villa Bakery in Garden City) always carries them.

Place one pound of pasta in four quarts of salted, boiling water; cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until desired tenderness is reached. (Cook a little softer than usual, to more resemble maggots.) Drain well.

Add one-half pound butter or margarine, cut into small chunks. The heat of the pasta will melt it. Add one pound shredded Monterey Jack or Muenster cheese and one cup warm milk.

Toss vigorously until every little piece of pasta is coated with butter and cheese.

Add the mice carefully, and mix so as not to break them. Place in a baking dish and spread another half pound of shredded cheese on top.

Bake in a 350-degree oven 25-30 minutes until cheese is bubbly and slightly browned on top.

PUMPKIN SHELL PUNCH

Mix together:
1 quart cranberry juice (chilled)
1 quart apple cider (chilled)
1 small frozen orange juice (still frozen, do not add water)

When ready to serve, add one quart chilled Vernor's and pour punch into hollowed-out pumpkin shell.

BLACK WIDOW DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE

Using any good devil's food cake mix, bake an eight-or-nine-inch layer cake and frost it with any plain white frosting.

Save a little of the frosting and mix it with black food coloring. Using this tinted frosting, decorate the cake with a spider web and spider.

Arrange black spider mums or other black flowers around the base of the cake.

If you have any questions about these or other recipes, call Gundella at 427-1072. Or write her at Box 434, Garden City 48135.

Blue Cheese Salad

AP — This nearly instant salad needs no chilling. The thawed vegetables cool the other ingredients to serving temperature.

BLUE CHEESE AND VEGETABLE SALAD

⅓ of a 16-ounce package (2 cups) loose-pack frozen zucchini, carrots, cauliflower, lima beans and Italian beans
2 green onions, sliced (¼ cup)
¼ cup reduced-calorie Italian salad dressing
One 2 ½ -ounce jar sliced mushrooms, drained
1 tablespoon sliced pimiento
6 lettuce leaves
2 tablespoons crumbled blue cheese

Place frozen vegetables in a colander. Run hot water over vegetables just until thawed. Drain well. Meanwhile, in a medium mixing bowl stir together onions, salad dressing, mushrooms and pimiento. Stir in thawed vegetables. Spoon vegetable mixture onto lettuce-lined plates. Sprinkle with blue cheese. Makes 6 servings.

clarification

A recipe for Carrot Cake, in Larry Janes' column Oct. 17, left out one important ingredient. The missing line of type should have read: 3 cups grated carrots. Here's the entire recipe again.

The missing line of type should have read: 3 cups grated carrots.

CARROT CAKE

1 ½ cups vegetable oil
2 cups sugar
4 eggs
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
2 teaspoons baking powder.
2 teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup pecans, chopped
3 cups grated carrots
1 cup raisins
1 teaspoon vanilla

Blend oil and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time. Sift together the dry ingredients; add to mixture and blend well. Stir in remaining ingredients. Pour into three 9-inch greased and floured cake pans; bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes or until done. Serve with a cream cheese frosting.

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes between Sept. 30 and Oct. 7.

HOUSE

FOREIGN OWNERSHIP — By a vote of 250 for and 170 against, the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill (HR 5410) requiring foreigners who buy heavily into American assets to register with the Commerce Department.

These buyers would have to make certain information available to the government — their officers and directors by nationality and certain internal financial information.

Supporter James Florio, D-N.J., said, "We want to know who owns America, and that is what this legislation is all about."

Opponent Jim Cooper, D-Tenn., called the bill "an exercise in election year xenophobia," damaging to states that court foreign investment.

Members voting yes want foreign buyers of America to provide certain internal data to the U.S. government. Voting yes: Democrats Dennis Hertel of Harper Woods and Sander Levin of Southfield.

Voting no: Republicans Carl Pursell of Plymouth and William Broomfield of Birmingham.

Not voting: William Ford, D-Taylor.

TEXTILE BILL VETO — By a vote of 272 for and 152 against, the House failed to achieve the two-thirds majority it needed to override President Reagan's veto of textile trade legislation (S 2662).

The bill would have frozen non-rubber footwear imports at present levels and limited textile and clothing imports to a growth rate of 1 percent annually over 1987 levels.

Override supporter James Traficant, D-Ohio, said the bill is needed because unfair competitors abroad "are laughing in our face."

Jim Slattery, D-Kansas, said the bill would inflict "unnecessary increases in clothing and shoe prices" on American consumers.

Members voting yes wanted to override President Reagan's veto of the textile bill. Voting yes: Democrats Hertel, Ford and Levin.

Voting no: Republicans Pursell and Broomfield.

WELFARE REFORM — By a vote of 347 for and 53 against, the House sent to President Reagan legislation (HR 1720) giving the federal-state welfare system its first major overhaul in its 53 years.

Roll Call Report

Seeking to end welfare dependency, the bill:

- Requires most recipients to enroll in state job-training and education programs as a condition of getting their welfare checks.
- Requires payroll withholding of absent parents' child-support obligations.
- Institutes "workfare" under which one parent in a welfare family must spend at least 16 hours weekly in a government or community service job.

Supporter Don Pease, D-Ohio, termed the bill "a clear signal that we expect people on welfare to move on to regular employment."

Opponent Bill Archer, R-Texas, said "the bill will approach $1 billion a year in extra spending" after five years.

Members voting yes supported the bill. Voting yes: Pursell, Hertel, Levin and Broomfield.

Voting no: Ford.

CIVIL RIGHTS — The House voted 408 for and 12 against to give its employees the same protection against job discrimination that other workers nationwide receive under the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

Some 12,000 workers on the House payroll, including personal staff and committee aides, will immediately benefit from this change (H Res 558) in House rules. The vote created an in-house procedure to resolve complaints of job discrimination based on sex, race, age, handicap, national origin, religion, color or age.

Members voting yes wanted House workers to be legally protected against discrimination by their employers. Voting yes: Pursell, Hertel, Ford, Levin and Broomfield.

SENATE

TOBACCO, ALCOHOL TAXES — By a vote of 60 for and 33 against, the Senate tabled (killed) a proposal to raise alcohol and cigarette taxes. The revenue would fund multi-billion dollar anti-drug legislation that Congress may clear before it adjourns this month.

Deficit ceilings have left Congress far short of the revenue the drug bill will require to meet the high expectations lawmakers are raising for it in the countdown to Election Day.

This amendment to a tax bill (S 2238) sought to raise $2 billion over two years by raising federal levies on cigarettes, wine, beer and liquor.

Sponsor Warren Rudman, R-N.H., said the drug bill "will be meaningless without funding."

Opponent Terry Sanford, D-N.C., said Congress should consider instead a slight increase in top-bracket income-tax rates.

Members voting yes were opposed to the proposed "sin tax" hike.

Sen. Donald Riegle, D-Mich., voted yes, while Carl Levin, D-Mich., voted no.

TO FUND DRUG BILL — By a vote of 22 for and 72 against, the Senate rejected an attempt to fund the 1988 anti-drug bill (above) by cutting spending for Amtrak, low-income energy assistance, a controversial Pentagon coal buying program, the Legal Services Corp. and the Economic Development Administration. This occurred during debate on S 2238.

Sponsor Phil Gramm, R-Texas, said, "I know the people of America will not accept the cynicism" of Congress' touting a war on drugs that it refuses to fund.

Opponent Arlen Specter, R-Pa., said the Senate should repudiate Gramm's "wish list for how he would like to reconstruct the federal budget."

Senators voting yes wanted to take money from certain other programs to fund the war on drugs.

Michigan's Levin and Riegle voted no.

Trick or treaters to seek donations for pets

Some trick or treaters will be asking for more than candy this Halloween. The Michigan Humane Society will hold its fourth annual Halloween Collection for Animals that evening.

Children and adults will be going door-to-door to seek donations instead of treats.

Proceeds will be given to the humane society's cruelty investigation division.

Volunteers are still needed. Canisters are available at all Michigan Humane Society shelters, including the Westland Kindness Center, 37255 Marquette. Additional information is available by calling 872-3400.

Comeback falls shy as Canton tumbles, 17-12

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

The cold rain, a 17-0 Walled Lake Central lead and a woeful offense gave people three reasons to leave Friday's Plymouth Canton game. Karl Wukie gave them one reason to stay.

Canton caught fire in the final five minutes, but it wasn't enough to beat the visiting Vikings, who won 17-12 in a Western Lakes crossover football game.

The sophomore quarterback miraculously brought the Chiefs, 2-6, within 30 yards and 30 seconds of beating Central, 3-5. But time ran out faster than the yards would.

Wukie replaced starting quarterback Jason Dembny in the final quarter and promptly completed six consecutive passes for 99 yards. One of those was a 15-yard touchdown strike to Bruce Hermanson with three minutes left in the game.

Wukie moved the ball with efficiency and profiency in his relief stint.

Ironically enough, Wukie started in the Chiefs' win against Livonia Franklin the previous week. He was relieved by Dembny.

"LAST WEEK, he didn't look that good, so we went with Dembny," Khoenle said. "Tonight, Dembny didn't look good. Next week, we'll probably start so-and-so, and he'll probably play bad.

"Heck, I don't know. Maybe they can't stand prosperity."

Prosperity was only 30 yards away for Canton. After Hermanson scored, he recovered an onside kick that gave the Chiefs the ball on the the Viking 34. Four plays later, Jason Riggs carried the ball 4 yards for the touchdown with 2:10 remaining.

The two-point conversion attempts on both Canton TDs failed. The Chiefs needed a touchdown to win.

The Chiefs were left with 30 seconds to do just that after Central couldn't move the ball on its possession.

Wukie attempted four passes, but all were incomplete. End Aaron Adkins managed to sneak past the Viking secondary but missed grabbing a Wukie pass in a diving attempt.

Still, minus the last-second comeback attempt, the Chiefs were a sad sight to watch. Offensively, they were stagnant. The team did not get a first down until midway through the third quarter.

Defensively, Canton fell as easy as dominos hit by a bowling ball. Viking running back Joe Gough continually pounded the middle, accumulating 115 yards in 25 carries.

Bowie lifts ballclub to 21-14 win

The Pat Bowie Show rolled through Northville Friday evening, although it's doubtful it received rave reviews from the partisans.

Bowie, a 5-foot-9, 200-pound junior fullback, punished the Mustangs with 183 yards rushing and three touchdowns in leading Plymouth Salem to a 21-14 Western Lakes' football triumph.

Bowie scored on runs of 1, 3 and 14 yards. His final TD broke a 14-14 tie with 6:41 left in the game and capped a 59-yard, six-play drive. Bowie provided the key play in the game-winning march, a 27-yard run.

The Rocks, who improved to 6-2, never trailed in the game but had to withstand two Northville comebacks that tied the score. Bowie, who had 129 yards rushing in the first half, dived in from a yard out in the second quarter to finish a 12-play, 64-yard drive that included Bowie runs of 13, 9 and 27 yards.

BUT THE MUSTANGS tied it with just six seconds left in the half on a 3-yard pass from Greg Price to Dave Cryderman.

A fumble recovery by Salem's Mike Jarvey at the Northville 17 in the third quarter set up Bowie's second TD. It took the Rocks four plays to score: two runs by quarterback Ryan Johnson for 13 yards and two runs by Bowie for 4.

Northville, though, rallied again, tying the score with 9:41 remaining in the game on a 4-yard Mike Karfis run. The Mustangs negotiated 44 yards in 10 plays to knot the game at 14.

Salem outgained Northville, 273-213. The run-oriented Rocks threw just four passes. Johnson completed two for 28 yards. Bowie lugged the ball 19 times in rushing for 183 yards; Salem finished with 245 yards on the ground.

Northville's Price hit seven-of-15 passes for 72 yards, but was intercepted twice. The Mustangs (3-5 overall) also lost two fumbles. They gained 141 yards rushing.

Donovan Nichols was good on all three of his extra-point placements for Salem.

Salem stumbles in title meet boys cross country

To the winner goes the spoils of victory — and that includes the leftover pizza in the case of Farmington's boys cross country team.

Plymouth Salem honored a pre-meet wager by treating its opponent to dinner after Farmington defeated the Rocks 24-33 in Thursday's showdown for the Lakes Division dual-meet title.

Both teams go to preseason camp together each August and have developed a sportmanslike bond in addition to a competitive rivalry.

Their latest meeting was a rematch of last year's season finale in which Salem edged the Falcons for the division championship, winning a sixth-man tiebreaker.

Farmington, 5-0 in the Lakes and 8-0 overall, made sure their was no such ending to this year's dual meet, capturing three of the top five places and getting the jump on Salem.

"LAST YEAR THEY beat us, and we came back to beat them in the league meet," Farmington coach Jerry Young said. "They reminded us of that right away."

Brad Moore of Farmington won a foot race to the finish line and nipped Salem's Scott Stryker for first place. Moore ran 16:45 on the Oakland Community College course and Stryker 16:46.

Farmington's Ben Goba was right behind, taking third at 16:48, and Greg Endres nabbed the No. 5 spot after Brendon Masterson of Salem came across in fourth place. Endres was three seconds behind Masterson, who ran 17:32.

"Ben and Brad made the race," Young said. "We knew we needed one or two guys close to Stryker, who's certainly one of the best runners in this area. They did a great job.

"Ben pushed it today. He didn't win it, but he was the one pushing the pace."

Young was especially pleased with the efforts of Goba and Endres, who have been hurt much of the season.

"THE LAST GOOD race Endres ran was at (the) Schoolcraft (Invitational on Sept. 17)," Young said. "That tells you how long it's been."

Endres, who has been running in the 18- to 19-minute range, came through in the biggest meet of the year and ran his best time since the Schoolcraft race.

"Moore ran a great race," Young said. "I think that's the first time he's beaten Stryker.

"Goba and Endres, because they were hurt, were the key kids in the victory. Having them today was nice."

The Falcons had a 9-12 lead after six runners, and they sewed up the win when Mark Mitchell, Paul Brandt and Matt Langdon, following sixth-place Dave Hamway of Salem, captured the Nos. 7-9 positions, respectively.

Hamway was clocked at 17:40, Mitchell 17:42, Brandt 17:48 and Langdon 17:56. John Thomas and Sean Speakman completed the Salem scoring, coming in 10th and 11th at 17:59 and 18:01.

Fast start carries Rocks to easy victory

girls basketball

'We didn't pressure them and they hit some nice open shots pretty consistently.'

— Pat Bennett
Glenn basketball coach

Plymouth Salem made quick work Thursday of host Westland John Glenn, outscoring the Rockets 24-8 in the first quarter en route to a 65-51 trouncing.

Salem improved to 12-2 overall, 8-0 in the Lakes Division; Glenn dipped to 7-6 overall, 4-4 in the division.

Three Rocks reached double figures in scoring: Jill Estey (19), Teri King (15) and Sarah Ruete (11). Estey had 12 and King 10 of Salem's first-quarter points.

"We left too many kids open (in the first quarter)," said Glenn coach Pat Bennett. 'We didn't pressure them and they hit some nice open shots pretty consistently."

The Rockets were led by Yvette Lawrence's 16 points and seven rebounds. Tracy Martin scored 14 points and Janet Ternes tallied nine.

CANTON 66, HARRISON 5: Plymouth Canton showed no mercy at home Thursday against woeful Farmington Hills Harrison. The Chiefs held the winless Hawks scoreless in the first and fourth quarters in rolling to their 14th win in 15 games. They are 8-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association's Western Division.

Senior guard Amanda Bell netted 19 points and junior center Susan Ferko grabbed 17 rebounds to lead the rout. Harrison is 0-14 overall.

MERCY 35, LADYWOOD 32: Jenny Clinton's four free throws down the stretch carried Farmington Hills Mercy past rival Livonia Ladywood in a Catholic League Central Division girls basketball game Thursday before 900 fans at Madonna College.

"It was a great lift for us after that great embarrassment Tuesday (a 65-36 loss to Birmingham Marian), with all the turnovers," said Mercy coach Larry Baker, whose team improved to 4-10 overall, 4-4 in the Central. "The way they came back makes me very proud of this win."

Defense and rebounding keyed the Marlin victory. Mercy limited Ladywood forward Yvonne Barnett to seven points ("Holding her to seven is a great achievement for us," Baker said) and held Jenny Kennedy scoreless in the fourth quarter. Kennedy had 12 in the game.

On the boards, Mercy had a commanding 40-28 advantage. Lee Albrecht topped the Marlins with 10.

Clinton, who Baker said "did a masterful job running the offense," led all scorers with 15 points.

Clinton's four free throws came after Sherri Adams drilled a three-pointer to give the Blazers a short-lived 32-31 lead.

The loss dropped Ladywood to 9-5 overall, 5-3 in the Central.

FARMINGTON 44, STEVENSON 38: Marissa Ferrari's 10 first-quarter points enabled Farmington (2-7 in the Lakes Division, 4-10 overall) to roll to a 17-6 lead after one period and hold on for the win against visiting Livonia Stevenson.

Ferrari finished with 19 points. Erika Hatcher added eight and Kirsten Norman six and 13 rebounds.

Jeanne Magoulick led Stevenson (0-9 in the Lakes, 1-12 overall) with nine points; Jessann Martin had eight.

W.L. CENTRAL 60, N. FARMINGTON 58: North Farmington wasn't quite able to stop Walled Lake Central on the Vikings home floor Thursday.

North was paced by junior guard Kim Gurecki's 25 points, which led all scorers. Central got 24 points from senior forward Kelly O'Hanlon and 20 points and 19 rebounds from senior center Tonia Smith.

The Raiders slipped to 8-6 overall, 4-4 in the WLAA's Lakes Division. Central is 9-6 overall, 6-2 in the Lakes.

Jill Estey scored 12 of her game-high 19 points in the first quarter as the fast-starting Rocks put John Glenn out of business early.

Salem's upset bid fails

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Jennifer Kiel could have coasted through the finish line Thursday afternoon, but she was still running hard at the end.

The cross country standout ran a career-best time of 19:38 at Oakland Community College and paced the Farmington girls to their 21-35 victory over Plymouth Salem.

Kiel, however, was running another race in addition to the Lakes Division dual-meet finale. The race she was concentrating on was in her head.

Kiel was running a psychological race against Colleen Yuhn of Walled Lake Central and Lisa Rives of North Farmington, two of her biggest rivals.

"(Farmington coach John Barrett) and my friends keep reminding me that Colleen is out there, and Lisa is right on my tail," Kiel said. "We have a good team, but when I'm out there by myself I just need something to keep me going and make me run harder."

IN FACT, EARLIER in the season, Kiel set the OCC course record at 20:02, which was subsequently broken by Rives, who ran 19:51. Yuhn in turn broke her record by running 19:12.

"Lisa and I are good friends, but I wanted to beat that time," Kiel said. "I've always been second or third to (Yuhn).

"I keep that in mind and want to keep improving my time. In my mind, I just pretend I'm running against her.

"Yuhn is a senior and much more experienced runner," she added, "but I'm not going to give up on the fact I could still beat her."

Kiel, a junior who heads a group of quality underclassmen, will cross paths with Yuhn and Rives again Wednesday when the Western Lakes Activities Association has its league meet at Cass Benton Park.

The Falcons, 8-0 overall, won the Lakes Division title outright with a 5-0 record by beating Salem, 3-2 and 4-3.

BUT THE ROCKS had hopes of surprising Farmington and creating a three-way tie for the division championship. Salem had previously only lost to Livonia Stevenson.

"It would have been quite an accomplishment for this team," said Salem coach John Gravlin, noting the Rocks have fine runners in Traci Thomas and Shannon Donnelly but not as much depth.

"(The others) have been consistent, good runners all year, and today we were asking them to be great. At the one-mile point, Farmington had its eyes open, because we were in position.

"I think it would have been the upset of the year," he added.

Thomas was second at 21:07, but the Falcons captured the next three places with Jenny Derwinski finishing in 21:12 and freshmen Allison Davis and Sheri Ylitalo running 21:14 and 21:41, respectively.

Salem made a bid to stay with Farmington as Donnelly and Beth Cunningham took the Nos. 6 and 7 places with 21:59 and 22:03 times, holding the Falcons to a 13-15 lead.

FARMINGTON WRAPPED up the victory when Amy Trunk came in eighth at 22:04 and Carrie Walter, another freshman, provided blocking help with a 10th-place finish and 22:17 time.

Salem's Jenny Harris was ninth at 22:05, and Sarah Hayes rounded out the team scoring when she finished 11th in 23:02.

"I figured if everybody ran their usual race, we'd be OK," Barrett said. "Again, the freshman came through and ran well today."

Because of that, the Falcons continue to be successful despite losing three of their top six runners — junior Margaret Martin, senior Maureen O'Dell and sophomore Cheryl Casaroll — from a year ago to injury or illness.

"Our top six runners today have done an excellent job the last two weeks of running hard at practice and taking up where the injured runners left off," Barrett said. "They've really done a bang-up job."

Despite also having a career-best time, Salem's Thomas fell just short of her personal goal of running 21:00. She has the 10th-best time in school history and needed that time to move up to No. 9.

"I felt I held back in some places," the senior said. "Once I heard my two-mile time, I thought I had the time I wanted and slowed down, and I shouldn't have."

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Traci Thomas was Salem's top runner, finishing second overall. The Rocks made an unsuccessful bid to tie Farmington and Stevenson for the division title.

Chiefs are perfect in dual meets

It was supposed to be the showdown for the Western Division dual-meet girls cross country title Thursday.

Plymouth Canton, however, left little doubt it is the class of the division — not to mention the league — by crushing Livonia Franklin 17-46 at Cass Benton Park.

The Chiefs, who will defend their Western Lakes Activities Association championship Wednesday on the same course, finish 5-0 in the division and 6-0 overall. Franklin ends up 4-1 and 5-3.

Canton coach George Przygodski attributed his team's third consecutive division title "to good senior leadership. Every year we have a group of seniors who are willing to work hard.

"Our whole program is built around our senior class," he added.

THE TOP THREE places and seven of the top eight belonged to the Chiefs, who were led by Lori Penland, who won the race in 20:23.

Seniors Cindy Spessard and Kris Marquard were second and third but had the same 20:59 time.

Kelly Gustafson, a freshman whom Przygodski rates as an outstanding prospect, was the only Franklin runner able to stay with the Canton pack, taking fourth place in 21:05.

Canton ran away with the victory when Cathy McCabe, Lynda Schendel, Adrienne Garrow and Missy Jasnowski came across in the Nos. 5-8 places. McCabe ran 21:16, Schendel 21:26, Garrow 21:34 and Jasnowski 21:41.

The Chiefs are favored to repeat as WLAA champs, but Przygodski doesn't expect the other teams to concede automatically.

"I think (Lakes Division champ) Farmington will run well, and I think Salem is maturing and peaking at the right time," he said.

Rocks 2nd in division

"I TOLD OUR kids we had to be up there; we had to get a good group going," Young said. "Once you get six ahead of four, you've got it."

Salem coach Geoff Baker, whose team finishes 4-1 in the Lakes and 4-2 in dual meets, credited the Falcons for their successful pack running, which he said would be the deciding factor.

"They were bunched in there pretty well," he said. "Where that came from, I don't know. When they ran (Livonia) Stevenson at Cass (Benton Park), they weren't like that, but they don't like Cass."

Cass Benton also is Salem's home course, the site of last year's dual meet when the Rocks beat Farmington. The Falcons run their home meets on a relatively flat course at OCC.

"But that's why they switch it every year," Baker added. "They don't like hills as much as us, and we have a definite advantage there.

"They know their course real well — where they have to go and what kinda times they have to run."

Cass Benton will be the site of the Western Lakes Activities Association meet at 4 p.m. Wednesday. The meet was rescheduled from Tuesday.

Canton gets prepped for league meet

Plymouth Canton tuned up for the Western Lakes Activities Association cross country meet by crushing Livonia Franklin in its final boys dual meet Thursday.

The Chiefs nailed down the top five places and breezed past the Patriots at Cass Benton Park, 15-44. Canton ends up 4-1 in Western Division duals and 5-1 overall.

"We feel we'll be very competitive" in the league meet, Canton coach Jim Hayes said. "There's four or five teams that can win, and we're one of them."

Brian Beach led the Chiefs to their latest victory with a first-place time of 17:06, and just 35 seconds separated Canton's top five runners.

Mike Ream was second at 17:21, Matt Hall third at 17:23, Jason Napolitano fourth at 17:35 and Jim Gallagher fifth at 17:41.

Beach, Ream and Hall have been "doing a heckuva job," Hayes said.

Will Dawson finished sixth (17:42), John Shea seventh (17:45) and Jeff Horne eighth (17:52) to lead Franklin.

Chiefs, Rocks clash in district

Plymouth Canton is primed for tonight's first-round district soccer game with rival Plymouth Salem, following its impressive 5-0 victory Wednesday over Farmington.

The Chiefs, who improved to 6-7-4 overall by winning the Western Lakes Activities Association crossover game, play the Rocks at 7 p.m. in the Centennial Educational Park stadium.

The teams split their two meetings this season. Canton beat Salem 4-2 in the consolation game of the Plymouth Invitational on Saturday, Sept. 3, but the Rocks, 11-4-2, avenged that defeat with a 5-2 victory Monday, Sept. 12.

"We've won two in a row, and it's a good time of year to do it with Salem coming up Monday," Canton coach Mike Morgan said.

"Monday's game will be a pretty emotional game. We know Salem has had a successful season, and it should be a great game."

THE CHIEFS haven't had the kind of season they envisioned at the start, but Canton, buoyed by the solid defensive effort against Farmington, starts with a clean slate in the district.

"We've been struggling defensively all year," Morgan said. "We've been letting in a lot of goals, and it's hurt us. But the last couple of games we've really played well.

"We're all healthy," he said. "It looks like we're coming together. The kids believe in themselves, and that goes a long ways."

John Cortese and Dave Presley scored two goals each for the Chiefs. Cortese's first goal came with the game one minute old, and his second tally gave Canton a 2-0 halftime lead.

Eric Miller scored with five minutes gone in the second half, and Presley closed out the scoring with his two goals midway through the second half.

The Chiefs outshot the Falcons 12-5.

Salem routs N'ville

The Olympic Games are in the past, but Plymouth Salem's boys soccer team finally achieved Gold Wednesday.

As in Jeff Gold.

Salem, 11-4-2 overall, routed host Northville 5-0 in a Western Lakes Activities Association crossover game behind the two-goal performance of Gold, who missed the previous 16 games because of a broken foot.

Gold, a junior center/forward, recorded his first tally of the season two minutes before halftime, giving the Rocks a 3-0 lead. Joe Tippman opened Salem's scoring at the 30-minute mark, and Joe Nunez recorded his first varsity goal five minutes later.

But it was the return of Gold, a co-captain, that coach Ken Johnson wanted to talk about.

Gold will be a valuable asset for Salem today when it plays host to Plymouth Canton today in a 7 p.m. predistrict game.

"It's unfortunate (that he hasn't played), because he probably would have made all-league and maybe all-state had he played," Johnson said. "He'll help us in the district.

"He's a good leader and one of his best points is being in the right place at the right time. He's like a quarterback in the middle."

Sophomore halfback Todd Lajoy scored Salem's first goal of the second half, and Gold capped the scoring about four minutes later.

Rocks trounce Rockets swimming

Plymouth Salem captured eight of 11 events Thursday when it outdueled Westland John Glenn 125-42 in girls swimming.

The Rocks are 6-3 overall and 2-2 in the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Salem won both relays. The medley team of Laura Maciag, Aimee Austin, Amy Hobgood and Amy Syria began the meet with a win (2:14.9), and the freestyle team of Stacie Anderson, Dawn Shiek, Tammy Hickey and Nicole Bosse finished the meet with a victory (4:01.4).

The other six Salem wins went to six different swimmers. Kelly Dunn won the individual medley for the Rocks in 2:42.9. The 50 freestyle went to Candi Bosse (28.4).

Jenny Ezzo won the diving, accumulating 206.05 points. Andrea Alex claimed first in the butterfly (1:10.0), Maciag won the 500 freestyle (6:20.1) and the backstroke belonged to Kari Laberack (1:13.8).

JOHN GLENN'S JULIE Jensen won twice, placing first in the 200 freestyle (2:06.2), and the breaststroke (1:11.8). Krysten Rice got Glenn's other title, claiming the 100 freestyle (1:02.1).

Salem has three consecutive Thursday night tests ahead against Farmington, Livonia Churchill and Livonia Stevenson. The Churchill and Stevenson meets on Nov. 3 and 10, respectively, are away from home.

"I think Churchill will be after us," Salem coach Chuck Olson said. "We beat them (in the Western Wayne Invitational), so I imagine they'll be out to prove a point.

"Then Stevenson is one of our biggest rivalries. So there's a lot of work ahead of us over three weeks."

in a 23-yard pass from quarterback Derk Wallace with 1:43 left in the first half.

Gough had seven carries on the Vikings' first scoring drive of the game, which went 80 yards in 13 plays. Wallace capped the drive on a 1-yard quarterback keeper. Ruben Martinez kicked a 32-yard field goal midway in the second quarter.

Canton didn't look like a team that had won two of its last three games going into Friday's contest. Perhaps, the team was yearning for this week's opponent, Plymouth Salem, a little early.

"You can pick any excuse you want," Khoenle said. "But these guys were not mentally ready to play this game . . . Getting these guys mentally prepared is quite an endeavor."

Khoenle will not have a difficult time this week with Salem as the Chiefs' next opponent. Canton has yet to beat Salem in football.

With three quarters worth of Canton football Friday, the Chiefs certainly won't be able to buy a win.

● SOCCER TRYOUTS

The Canton Strikers '73 soccer team will conduct tryouts at the Canton Recreational Complex at noon Saturday, Oct. 29, on Field No. 8 and at 1 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 30, on Field No. 10. For information, call Bill Friend at 525-7013 or Wes Shasko at 459-2133.

The Canton Enforcers '74 soccer team will conduct tryouts at the same time, date and location, except their tryouts will take place on Field No. 9. Call Pete Rogissart at 453-0006 or Verne Kirby at 981-1972 for information.

Both teams are members of the Little Caesars Premier Soccer League.

● CONTEST WINNERS

Darren Butler, 8, of Plymouth and Doug Plunk, 10, of Canton won their respective age-division titles in the regional Punt, Pass and Kick competition Saturday, Oct. 15, at Central Middle School.

They will advance to the state finals at the Pontiac Silverdome during halftime of the Detroit Lions-New York Giants game Sunday, Oct. 30.

Butler won his age group with a 131-feet, 5-inch total, and Plunk compiled a score of 193 feet, 7 inches. Other competitors who placed were 8-year-old Joshua Brunskole of Canton (second), 9-year-old Bill Vitale of Canton (second) and 13-year-old Ryan McKigney of Plymouth (third).

● ICE SKATING

Ice skaters can register for winter classes Friday, Nov. 4, from 5:30-8:30 p.m. at the Plymouth Cultural Center. The program is offered by the Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department.

The cost is $22 for Plymouth-Canton School District residents, $24 for Northville and Novi residents and $26 for non-residents. The classes are taught by a professional staff, with each session lasting 25 minutes. The class meets once a week for eight consecutive weeks.

Classes for beginning, intermediate and advanced skaters are available. The minimum age is 4. For information, call 455-6620.

● COED VOLLEYBALL

A recreational coed volleyball league begins play Friday, Nov. 4, at West Middle School. The competition will last for 14 weeks and is limited to 16 teams.

The fee is $155 per team, plus $15 for each player who lives outside of the Plymouth-Canton School District. New teams can register from Thursday, Oct. 13, to Friday, Oct. 21.

Teams may register at the Canton Parks and Recreation Department or Plymouth Recreation Department. Call 397-5110 or 455-6620 for information.

● SOCCER REGISTRATION

Canton Soccerdome is accepting team registrations for youth (boys and girls), adult (19-over and 30-over) and co-ed divisions.

Select, competitive and recreational classifications are available. The eight-game session costs $575. The session starts Saturday, Oct. 29.

For team and individual registration information, call 483-5624.

● SOCCER MEETING

Canton Soccer Club will have a coaches meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 27, in the Township Hall. Final standings will be available, and information on the awards banquet will be announced.

State coach Klaus DeBoer will talk about future involvement, and a vote will be taken for the position of president-elect. All coaches are asked to attend or send a representative.

● CRUISERS SWIMMING

The Plymouth-Canton Cruisers Swim Club welcomes any interested competitive swimmer between the ages of 6 and 14. Swimmers must be able to swim one length of the pool. For further information call Kathy Sonnanstine, club president, at 459-6074.

● ELECTRONIC HOOP

The Michigan State Electronic Basketball Championships will be played Saturday, Oct. 29, from noon to 5 p.m. at S&M Sales and Service, 28801 Plymouth Rd., Livonia.

Players have 45 seconds to throw as many seven-inch, mini-basketballs as possible through a hoop for a high score. The four finalists will win trips to the $10,000 National Finals in Atlantic City, N.J., on the weekend of Nov. 18-20.

The entry fee is $10. Players must be at least 21 years old. Call S&M Sales and Service at 421-7171 for information.

Eagles lose game, goalie in 10-0 rout

Redford Thurston will have to play shorthanded today when it hosts Warren Fitzgerald in a Class B predistrict soccer game.

Non-conference foe Dearborn Edsel Ford blanked Thurston Thursday, 10-0, but that wasn't all the Eagles lost. Goalkeeper Jamie Zalewski and midfielder John Hazinski were ejected during the game after receiving red cards.

The red card rulings means both players must sit out today's match against Fitzgerald.

"That puts a crimp in the wire," said Thurston coach Ron Predmesky. "It takes the wind out of our sails real quickly."

On Wednesday, the Eagles downed host Garden City in a non-leaguer, 5-2.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH
HUNTING ORDINANCE

An ordinance to prohibit hunting except in prescribed areas in the Charter Township of Plymouth; to provide penalties for the violation of this Ordinance; and to repeal all ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS,

Section 1.0 Hunting Prohibited

Hunting with or the discharge of a firearm is prohibited in that portion of Plymouth Township, Wayne County, described as follows: With the exception of those properties owned by the Western Wayne Conservation Club and maintained as a target range, beginning at a point where Napier Road intersects with 5 Mile Road thence south on Napier Road to Plymouth Ann Arbor Road thence east north east on Plymouth Ann Arbor Road to Ridge Road thence north on Ridge Road to State Highway 14 to Beck Road thence north on Beck Road to 5 Mile Road thence west on 5 Mile Road to the point of beginning.

Section 2.0 Repeal of Ordinances. Ordinance No. 33 is specifically repealed and all other ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are repealed only to the extent necessary to give this Ordinance full force and effect.

Section 3.0 Severability. In the event any phrase, clause, sentence, or section of this Ordinance is declared illegal or invalid in any final adjudication by a court of competent jurisdiction, the remaining parts of this Ordinance shall be deemed to have been adopted and shall continue in full force and effect without such illegal or invalid provision.

Section 4.0 Violations; Misdemeanor; Penalties. The person who violates the provisions of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and may be fined not more than Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) or imprisoned for not more than ninety (90) days, or both, in the discretion of the court. Every act or violation and every day upon which such violation shall occur shall be considered a separate offense.

Section 5.0 Savings Clause. The repeal provided for herein shall not abrogate or affect any offense or act committed or done, or any penalty or forfeiture incurred, or any pending litigation or prosecution of any right established, or occurring prior to the effective date.

Section 6.0 Effective Date. This Ordinance shall be effective upon publication.

This Ordinance is duly adopted by the Township Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Plymouth at its regular meeting called and held on the 23rd day of February, 1988, as was ordered given publication in the manner required by law.

The story you are about to read is true.

And we haven't changed any names, either. In a nationwide taste test, a majority of smokers rated Merit as good or better than Camel Filters, a full-flavor brand with twice as much tar as Merit. Enriched Flavor™ is the reason why. Only Merit has it, in both regular and menthol. Which is why Merit can deliver full, satisfying tobacco flavor with far less tar than Camel Filters. In fact, Merit delivers all that taste with even less tar than other leading light cigarettes! Including Winston Lights. And Salem Lights. So taste Merit yourself. You'll find it truly remarkable.

Enriched Flavor,™ low tar. A solution with Merit.

RANDY BORST/staff photographer

Jim Vik of Farmington Hills bought his "dream" car, a Mercedes 190 SL convertible, in 1986, paying "in the ballpark of $12,000." The car, which also has a hard top, "is the little roadster I've always wanted, ever since I was a little kid."

Convertibles

It was 'love' at first sight

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

In its heyday during the late 1950s and early '60s, the convertible was the preferred automobile of choice for thousands of drivers who seemingly asserted a "U-be-U" individuality in their choice.

"If you wanted to be different or sporty, the convertible was the car to buy," said Ray Windecker of Livonia, who coined the U-be-U phrase. Windecker is a 41-year veteran of the auto industry who now works for Ford Motor Co.

The peak year for convertibles was 1963. Of 7.7 million automobiles sold in the United States that year, 540,000 had folding tops. Seven percent of all cars on the road were convertibles.

But by the late 1960s, the scene was rapidly changing. Buyers who took pride in driving something different had a whole new array of exciting selections, a veritable cornucopia of imported and American-made coups, pickups and sports cars.

The convertible plunged in popularity, almost gone from the U.S. market by 1973. Cadillac was the last to end production, discontinuing the El Dorado convertible in 1976 after manufacturing 14,000 that year.

By 1980, there were fewer than 50,000 licensed convertibles in the United States An estimated 20,000 of those were imported Fiats.

THE JET BLACK, 1969 Ford Torino is in mint, original condition.

Catherine "Katie" Ascencio, now 20 and a student at Oakland Community College, bought the used car four years ago while a sophomore at Redford Union High School. She labored long hours at after-school jobs to pay for it.

"It's my baby," she said. "The minute I saw it, I knew it was the car for me. I always wanted an old convertible. I love it.".

She parks the car in winter. Storage is something of a problem. She must rely on relatives with an empty garage or pay the cost of storage, sorely stretching her already limited budget. But Katie considers the sacrifice well worth while.

"I'd never sell it," she said.

Katie's devotion is not unusual among convertible lovers. And their numbers are rapidly increasing.

This fiscal year, 155,000 drivers in the United States and Canada bought new model convertibles, 18 percent more than last year. Sales are expected to top 190,000 in 1989. The majority of models sold are American-made.

U-be-U individuality, the culprit accountable for the demise of the convertible, has once again reared its head. Buyers are clamoring yet again for something different, and convertibles fit the bill.

Auto analysts first noticed the trend in 1980, buyers pestering dealers for convertible models. U.S. manufacturers responded. The first model in six years hit the market in 1982, quickly followed by a succession of others.

Nick Vitale, a sales manager for Joe Panian Chevrolet in Southfield for 10 years, recalls those first inquiries and the changes since.

"THIS YEAR, (the availability of convertible) Corvettes dried up all over the country. We had to go as far as Texas to find some," he said. In fiscal year 1988, Panion was one of the nation's leading Chevrolet dealers in convertible sales, selling 20 Corvettes and 10 Cavaliers and Cameros.

Today's buyer is reflective of those from yesteryear, "free spirits," according to Vitale and others in the industry.

They are also younger, better-educated and more affluent than the average buyer. Most live in the northeastern United States, many in the Great Lakes region. Only 10 percent seriously considered buying anything other than a convertible.

"They know exactly what they want and how much it costs," said Mark Cowell of Birmingham Imports who sells high-priced used and new imported sports car convertibles like Maserati, Rolls Royce, Mercedes Benz and Jaguar.

Late last month, Jaguar's new V12-powered XJS convertible, the first convertible produced by Jaguar since 1974, went on sale in the United States at a suggested retail price of $56,000.

The car is the latest response by auto manufacturers to a growing love affair between drivers and convertibles that has reignited this decade.

U.S. manufacturers first responded to the new affair in 1982, giving rebirth to American-made convertibles. Models now available include:

- Chrysler LeBaron — Introduced in 1982 and redesigned in 1987, only American model manufactured entirely in-house. Features all-power lined top, back window with heated glass and standard air bags. Suggested retail price: $14,495.

Port Stanley is definitely a place where you should slow down and live on 19th century time.

Port Stanley: life in the slow lane

By Iris Sanderson Jones
contributing travel editor

If you ever watch Bob Newhart on the NBC television series "Newhart," you will recognize the scene as you enter Kettle Creek Inn: Gary or Jean Vedova standing behind the small registration desk, a few guests enjoying drinks in the tiny dark wood bar, and another curled up with a book in the garden room across the hall.

The Newhart inn is in some unnamed place in New England. The Kettle Creek Inn is in the little village of Port Stanley, Ontario, Canada, on the north shore of Lake Erie, 125 miles from Detroit. It is half hour's drive south of London.

Inn life always seems to be centered around the lobby. At Kettle Creek Inn, the rest of the action is down the hall in the dining room or upstairs, where 10 simple guest rooms are lined up on either side of a single hall. The rooms are clean, contemporary and spartan, with down-the-hall bathrooms, containing showers, bathtub, sinks, sauna and toilets.

Gary and Jean Vedova look very much at home here, joshing with guests, running back and forth to perform some small service, that they never really intended to be in the inn keeping business.

Jean was a school teacher from Nova Scotia, on her way by train to a teaching job in the Canadian prairie city of Medicine Hat, when she met Gary, who had just left Michigan Tech for a Toronto law school and was working a summer job as a train conductor.

THEY SETTLED in St. Thomas, a 15-minute drive north of Port Stanley, for 18 years. One day they decided to make an investment to cushion their future retirement needs, a dilapidated old hotel being renovated by a group of investors in Port Stanley.

It looked like a good investment, one that would allow them to [illegible]

'Bat:' Heroes suffer, learn to be human

the movies

RECENT RELEASES:

"Bat-21" (B±) (R) 100 minutes.
True story of Air Force Col. Iceal Hambleton (Gene Hackman) and the 12 days he spent on the ground behind enemy lines in Vietnam. Film's unique characteristic: The enemy is not an impersonal monster. Our heroes and theirs, they all suffer together and learn what it means to be human. Good action film as well.

"Clara's Heart" (PG-13).
Whoopi Goldberg in touching story of Jamaican housekeeper and her influence on life of young boy, faced with harsh realities of his parents' planned divorce.

"Mystic Pizza" (A) (R) 102 minutes.
Warm, wonderful comedy about three young women dealing with life's unpredictable experiences in a pizza restaurant where they work, sharing the joys and pain of love and friendship. Reviewed by Kathy Guyor.

"Rikki and Pete" (C) (R) 90 minutes.

"Tapeheads" (R).
John Cusack and Tim Robbins try their hand at music video business.

"The Accused" (C) (R) 109 minutes.
Sara Tobias (Judy Foster) is gang-raped by three men, but Deputy D.A. Kathrayn Murphy (Kelly McGillis) believes it's impossible to "win" because of Sara's background. She sells out to defense, realizes her mistake and prosecutes spectators who encouraged the rape. This poignant drama about how our judicial system mishandles rape cases is too long and too slow to get the point across effectively. Rape scene is particularly horrible. Reviewed by Kim Brown.

"Bagdad Cafe" (B) (PG) 91 minutes.
Except for a confusing opening, this is a wonderful comedy about friendship, love and understanding. Jasmine (Marianne Sagebrecht) leaves her husband in the middle of the Mojave Desert and winds up in Bagdad where she rents a room from Brenda (C.C. Pounder), who has kicked her husband out. The two women, who start out with nothing in common, form strong bonds. Jack Palance also appears. Reviewed by Jennifer Morse.

"Crossing Delancy" (A) (PG) 95 minutes.
Isabella "Izzy" Grossman (Amy Irving) is a liberated young New Yorker with her eye on author Ivan Maes (Jeroen Krabbe). But never mind that modern stuff, Grandma Ida (Reizl Bozyk) hires matchmaker Hannah Mandlebaum (Sylvia Miles) to arrange things with Sam the pickleman. Don't worry about true love, this romantic comedy will charm and delight everyone.

Danny Glover is Bird-dog, a tenacious spotter pilot, whose radio transmissions are the only link to safety for Col. Iceal Hambleton, a career officer stranded on the ground for the first time in his life and waiting alone behind enemy lines for his rescue in Tri-Star Pictures' "BAT-21."

"Eight Men Out" (D) (PG) 115 minutes.
Say it ain't so, John Sayles ("Matewan," "The Brothers from Another Planet"). Tell us you didn't make a film with poorly identified characters, confusing plot, choppy editing and half-lit staccato images. But I guess you did. Music track is nice, but it is hard to believe the 1919 Chicago "Black" Sox threw the World Series just because Mr. Comiskey paid them poorly. There had to be more to it than that. Same goes for the movie.

"A Fish Called Wanda" (A) (R) 110 minutes.
A very funny film with the whackiest gang in town. Principals include Jamie Lee Curtis as Wanda the Wonderful, jewel thief extraordinaire. Among her colleagues are Kevin Kline in an absolutely inspired performance as a berserk American gunsel in London. John Cleese is a proper barrister, but . . . The whole thing is beyond words. The only solution is to see the movie.

"Gorillas in the Mist" (C-) (PG-13) 120 minutes.
Welcome to the wonderful world of gorillas. Sigourney Weaver plays it like the Magic Kingdom and the film's erratic pacing largely misses the point of Dian Fossey's life and her obsessive reverence for gorillas living freely in their natural habitat.

"Ground Zero" (B-) (PG-13) 95 minutes.
Government coverup is basis for this thriller. Twenty-five years after Britain tests H-Bomb in Australian Outback, Aborigines are dying of cancer. News of hidden, incriminating film leaks out, and it's a race between government agents and a photographer to find the negatives. Reviewed by Kathy Guyor.

"Heartbreak Hotel" (B) (PG-13)
Picture this, Elvis fans: Taylor, Ohio, 1972. Dad's gone, Mom's alcoholic, her boyfriend's abusive and she lives in a rundown hotel with her two kids. To the rescue, son Johnny (Charles Schlatter) who gets Mom (Tuesday Weld) a date with Elvis (David Keith) because the King can fix anything. He does in an entertaining, amusing film with 12 original Elvis songs on a great sound track. Reviewed by Kim Brown

"Imagine: John Lennon" (D) (R) 95 minutes.
If you believe, as I do, that there is life after rock'n'roll, you'll be bored by this pedestrian documentary about John Lennon. Even if you're rockin' round the clock and think that the Beatles made major contributions to western culture, you'll still be disappointed. This film is home movies at their worst, with limited music and low quality newsreel footage taken off the tube. John and Yoko lying around in bed talking about peace may be a media event, but it ain't great culture.

"The Kiss" (F) (R) 90 minutes.
"The Kiss" by any other name would still be the same senseless figment of someone's imagination, featuring voodoo, gore, sex and more gore as a curse is passed to a young woman in each generation via a bloody kiss. Reviewed by Verdell Waites.

"Memories of Me" (A-) (PG-13).
Alan King in bravura performance as nightclub comic and "King" of the movie extras. His son, the doctor, (Billy Crystal) comes to Los Angeles after a heart attack and tries to mend their broken relationship. King is perfect, but Crystal is just a shade miscast. On the whole, however, excellent film.

"Punch Line" (B) (R) 120 minutes.
Being a standup comedian is not always funny, or easy. Lila (Sally Fields) is a housewife who wants to make people laugh. Stephen (Tom Hanks) is a medical student who makes laughter his life. Struggling in a New York comedy club they learn more than how to be funny. Comedy-love story teams Hanks and Fields in convincing performances. Reviewed by Kathy Guyor.

Slow down for Port Stanley

being a teacher and a lawyer while the profits came in.

Famous last words. A series of business and legal glitches, and the next thing they knew they owned the whole inn and were innkeepers.

Gary eventually moved his office from expensive quarters in town to the inn. Jean went on teaching school and was an inn keeper after hours and during the summer.

But inn keeping is a time-consuming business, especially when you are serving three meals a day in the dining room. So they finally moved their three sons into a home just over the hill from the inn near Lake Erie.

Port Stanley — population 2,000 — is definitely a place where you should slow down and live on 19th century time. The town was established in the early 1800s where Kettle Creek flows into Lake Erie. The mouth of the creek makes a natural harbor, so this has been a fishing, boat building and shipping town for more than a century.

It is easy to imagine that time as you walk down the two or three streets built around the harbor. It is not so easy to imagine the great tourist boom that dominated Port Stanley from the 1920s to the 1950s.

TRAINS BROUGHT thousands of beach and music lovers from London and St. Thomas to the dance pavilion, casino tour boats and beaches. Port Stanley was the toast of the province.

That Big Band era brought all the great musicians to Port Stanley's famous Stork Club — Benny Goodman, Lionel Hampton, Count Basie, Duke Ellington, Louis Armstrong. It lasted 30 years, but by the late 1950s, the Big Band era was over, the trains were slowing down and "Port," as the local people call it, had returned to a quiet little fishing village, it's "skyline" sagging slowly toward the lake.

It is difficult to know what turns a town like this around. Some people say it was the Kettle Creek Inn. Whatever it was, the 1980s have seen new life along Kettle Creek.

There is still not a lot to do, fortunately, for those who prefer to relax, but there is enough to keep the rest of you busy enough while I relax at the inn.

In summer, you can walk or drive across the King George VI lift bridge to the tour train that runs a few miles down the track to the town of Union.

The great sand beach still spreads across the edge of the lake. It is wall-to-wall with beach lovers in summer, but at this time of year it's great for walking and beach combing.

On Main Street, you will find a number of interesting old and new buildings, converted into shops and restaurants. The Kettle Creek Canvas Co., which overlooks the fishing boats and the harbor, now has about five dozen franchised shops, selling its casual canvas and blue jean separates across Canada.

YOU WILL find the two-story blue clapboard Kettle Creek Inn on Main Street, facing across the square that seems to be the heart of town. The original building on the site was built by a 19th century justice of the peace, who liked to sit at the bay window in his dining room and look out at the garden. The garden is still here, expanded, of course, and with a white gazebo in the middle for those who prefer to eat outdoors.

Rates at the inn are $60 to $70 a night for two people, including a continental breakfast. Packages through June 1, 1989, are for two nights and include breakfast and dinner both days; rates are $110 per person weekends and $100 per person midweek, based on double occupancy. Singles get the same package for $125.

To reach Port Stanley, follow Highway 401 east from Windsor, turn south at the Union Road exit and follow Highway 20 into the town. If you miss that exit, turn off at St. Thomas and follow Highway 4.

For reservations and information, contact the Kettle Creek Inn, Main Street, Port Stanley, Ontario N0L 2A0, or call (519) 782-3388.

Easter stays Active

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

For Mitch Easter, the game isn't "What's My Line?" but rather "Who Have You Talked to Lately?"

After a recent Let's Active performance, the usual backstage well-wishers swarm around the one of the most-lauded new music producers today. The questions start.

"Hey, Mitch, great show. Have you talked with Game Theory lately?" "Mitch, the band sounded great. What's R.E.M. up to these days?"

Such is the life of a producer whose musical works include R.E.M., Game Theory (see related story), Marshall Crenshaw, Suzanne Vega and Velvet Elvis. But Easter has an album of his own, "Every Dog Has His Day" (I.R.S.), the latest from pop-rock outfit Let's Active.

He politely answers the barrage of inquiries. He's quite aware that Mitch the producer casts a bigger shadow than Mitch the performer.

"Apparently, it does," said Easter, almost resigned, "and that's too bad. I've been a musician much longer than I've been a producer. That's why I got into this stuff in the first place so I could play music."

Let's Active performs more than just music on its latest album. If anything, it could described as adventuresome pop.

"Every Dog Has His Day" perhaps has more of a sharp bite than other Let's Active works. That stems from having John Leckie (Pink Floyd "Dark Side of the Moon") along as co-producer. Easter said he focused more on the hard-edged side of Let's Active.

The members of Let's Active are Angie Carlson, Mitch Easter, John Heames, Eric Marshall.

EVEN HAVING a second producer is something new for the group. Easter usually handles things on his own.

"It was politics, really," said Easter, about having Leckie as co-producer. "People in the music industry like more guaranteed formulas for success. They think bringing in big names, going to expensive studios is going to help the album sell."

For the first time, Easter entered the studio with a solid band. He's joined by Angie Carlson on keyboards, guitars and vocals, Eric Marshall on drums and John Heames on bass.

The band is tight. In a recent show at Ann Arbor's Michigan Theater, Let's Active provided nearly an hour of high-powered pop as an opening act for The Church.

At the forefront is Easter, who's quite an adept guitar player in addition to his songwriting capabilities. Carlson, an accomplished vocalist in her own right, takes center stage for a couple of songs.

The show is varied, but could one expect anything else from Easter? He knows what makes for good pop songs.

"There has to be one outstanding thing to get hold of," he said. "It can be anything. It could be the melody. It can be the clever use of words or it can be the sound.

"The whole thing about pop songs is that you're limited in structure. You have to do it in three minutes. It's sort of a hit-you-over-the-head type thing. It has to grab you. It can't be bland."

IN THEORY, that might hold true, but in reality it doesn't. Easter feels commercial radio is the main culprit.

He points to the 1960s where a band with a new approach and sound was welcomed. Today, he believes the approach is repetitive.

"The way radio has pushed rock music, people don't how to listen to good songs any more," he said. "I think bands like Game Theory should be bigger than they are. But people hear them now and think, 'What's going on? There's too much going on?'

"It's ridiculous, but we've actually gone backward in our ability to take in musical information. I blame it on the way radio has continued to have recycled songs from the 1970s."

Easter continues to move forward, especially in the area of producing. He will have 10 new albums to his credit coming out next year. One of his upcoming projects will be working with an Australian band, The Hummingbirds.

Mitch the producer makes it tough on Mitch the performer.

"I don't ever think something is just quite right," he said, "but I don't lose any sleep over it."

Let's Active will perform Sunday, Oct. 30, at Saint Andrew's Hall, 431 E. Congress, Detroit. For more information, call 961-MELT.

Game Theory shoots for the top

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Scott Miller nearly had a hernia. The record label almost had a heart attack.

Miller wanted to make a good impression of Enigma Records, which had just signed his band Game Theory. So he lugged in a double-album set full of weird titles and even more bizarre noise tracks (including a vacuum cleaner). Talk about first impressions.

"There was horror," said Miller, recalling the looks from the record executives when what became "Lolita Nation" was placed in their laps. "There were chins hitting the floor, people were filing out of the room in disappointment."

Nobody went out the windows, but "Lolita Nation" went through the roof in terms of critical reviews and support from college radio. The project was lauded for its ambitiousness and general overall weirdness.

Along with the off-beat, though, the album carried its fair share of well-honed pop songs including "The Real Sheila."

Game Theory has recently released its second album on the independant label, "Two Steps from the Middle Ages." Miller said the northern California-based band took a more mainstream approach this time.

"We figured we'd better turn in a normal album this time around, or they probably wouldn't release it," Miller said.

ENIGMA HAS, and perhaps for the better. Again the group has hooked up with notable producer Mitch Easter (R.E.M., Velvet Elvis) and have released perhaps their most accessible album to date.

Included in the single disc release are pop tunes "You Drive," "Wyoming," and "In a DeLorean." College radio play is virtually guaranteed.

Yet there's uncharted territory for Game Theory called commercial radio. The eccentric pop band has an underground audience but is not sure how to cross the bridge into the land of mainstream success.

So far, they have stretched the limits of pop like a cheap piece of elastic on William "The Fridge" Perry's BVDs. The band formed in 1982 and produced a few mini-LPs and an LP "Blaze of Glory."

In 1985, Game Theory hooked up with Easter for "Real Nighttime." The collaboration worked.

"On the one hand, he musically thinks like I do," Miller said. "A melody that sounds good to me sounds good to him. There are a whole lot of producers who might not think the same way and there's usually a lot of second guessing.

"PLUS, HE'S really technically proficient. He's great in the studio. And he knows the guidelines for making good pop music."

But the A.B.C.'s of pop success means kowtowing to present day (and often mediocre) standards. Game Theory wants success of its own terms.

Few bands are able to do that, R.E.M. for example, is an exception. And like the Athens, Ga., rockers, Game Theory is using a combination of college radio support and extensive touring to try and make it happen.

Some critics of the band say Miller's voice is what keeps Game Theory from being a commercial. He just brushes it off like dandruff from the shoulder.

"Who knows if it's in the cards for us to be the best band around," Miller said. "Maybe my voice is too offensive to people in general. But I always hold out for that dream that we will be. Who knows?"

Game Theory will perform with special guests, Walk the Dogma, on Tuesday at the Blind Pig, 208 S. First, Ann Arbor. For more information, call 996-8555.

LIVE

HOTHOUSE FLOWERS — The Ritz

Hothouse Flowers might not bowl you over with their recorded material, but live this Irish band is something to behold.

The Flowers, touted as the "next big thing," performed a solid two-hour set featuring many of the cuts from their latest album, "People." But unlike the album, people can see first-hand the sincerity this band possesses in the way it performs.

In terms of stage presence, lead singer Liam O'Maonlai holds his own with the best of the rock'n'roll lot, including fellow country man Bono. The rest of the group follows suit, going straight ahead with a brand of music that blends, rock, folk, soul and Celtic rhythms.

The knock on this group is that their music tends to be over blown. Signs of that were certainly evident at this gig. The continuous saxophone solos by Leo Barnes don't provide texture as much as they do irritation. For the most part, they go against the grain of what Hothouse Flowers is trying to do musically. And, too, O'Maonlai tends to wail where a whisper would suffice.

Remarkable, though, is that this was Hothouse Flowers' fourth show in as many nights. The place was only half-full. Yet they didn't waiver or take it easy for one second.

The ultimate gauge for any band is its live performances. By that yard stick, Hothouse Flowers is more than a few feet ahead of the rest.

REVIEWS

SEE DICK RUN — See Dick Run

Finally, there is a document of what all the fuss has been about.

In the last year, See Dick Run has taken the Detroit area by storm. Already, the group's tunes have received airplay on WLLZ-FM and WRIF-FM. Also, the group won the monthly portion of "Local Riffs" and will be featured on the soon-to-be-released compilation album as a result.

Also, the pop foursome has been featured on other compilation works, such as "Digital Detroit" and "Detroit Music Scene Vol. 1."

On each of those productions, See Dick Run merely offered a sample of what the group is capable of: Good, infectious melodic pop. It's nothing more, nothing less. Yet these guys somehow have managed to figure out the formula in little time as evidenced in their latest cassette-only release.

Good pop doesn't just happen. It takes work. Yet See Dick Run makes it sound so effortless here.

There are only four songs, but they are a good representation of what See Dick Run is all about. Included are local bar favorites like "Good Thing" and "Everything Is Incomplete."

"Five O'Clock Bus Stop" is a pleasant surprise, simply because lyrically it holds its own. Mark Campbell lays down some acoustic guitar lines here while Jim Edwards shows why he is one of the best male vocalists in Detroit, belting out choruses in even, yet powered fashion.

If See Dick Run is to escape the realm of the Detroit music scene, there will be a need to avoid the banal route that often leads groups astray. There are a few too many cliches, for instance in "I'll Remember You."

Still, this four-song offering will only leave you wanting more.

SMALL WORLD — Huey Lewis & the News

Chef Huey and his musical partners went back into the kitchen for "Small World" (Chrysalis) — stirring a pinch of jazz, a dash of Cajun spice and a surprising world vision into a simmering mix that nearly reaches the boiling point.

"It's a small world," Lewis sings, and the sincerity of his affable, raspy voice saves the concept from Disneyland-level sloganeering.

The realities of this small world, its inequities and the way people survive them, surface not only in the title track but also in "Perfect World" the first single.

It isn't all heavy or heavy handed, however. The good humor listeners have come to expect from this Bay Area contingent is present in "Give Me the Keys (And I'll Drive You Crazy)" and "Walkin' with the Kid" — another sweet-tempered paen to domestic bliss.

But it isn't totally predictable, either. Who would have thought the band could have stretched out for the jazzy "Small World (Part 2)"? And "Old Antone's," sports a spicy Cajun beat that's satisfying as a steaming pot of gumbo.

Long in the shadows, the News steps out as one of rock's tightest backing bands. Tower of Power Horns add their always-welcome assistance.

Despite this potent mixture, there are signs fewer people will be dining at Huey's table this time around. Lewis' statement about making the album he and the band wanted to make is industry shorthand for lowered sales expectations.

No matter. This is a better album, in every way, than "Sports" and "Fore," its two multiplatinum predecessors.

As is now clear, those albums were merely appetizers. With Small World, Huey and the boys serve up their main course.

WORKER — Terminal White

Thump, thump. Who's there? Thump, thump, thump . . . Is it Thumper? No, this is the Chicago-via-Detroit rock outfit Terminal White doing what they do best.

"Worker" (White Records) is a six-song EP that is splitting at the seams with heavy-duty techno drum beats. For an idea of what this band sounds like, pull out a stethoscope and catch the next jogger running down the street and check his heart. You'll get the idea.

In short, this EP lacks soul. This is computer chip rock, not the kind Chuck Berry and Elvis made famous. Or the kind that is reminiscent of the raw Detroit rock sound of Iggy and the Stooges and the MC-5.

Oh sure you can dance to it, but that's not saying much these days.

"Worker," the title track, opens up the EP in a dark, futuristic tone. An deep meaning in the song is certainly hidden in a pulsating, repetitive drum beat.

Someone throws in another quarter into drum machine, and thus we have "Slaughter Me," another number that seems to go nowhere. This EP seems to have a few of those.

"Hamtramck" is another tune that gets lost in the murk. Any song about our favorite city needs to have lyric that can be clearly heard.

But somewhere in all this, there's hope. "Fair Noreliter" saves the day, mainly because you can actually hear the vocals. This track is worth buying the disc alone, simply because there is evidence that there are actually people performing and not robots.

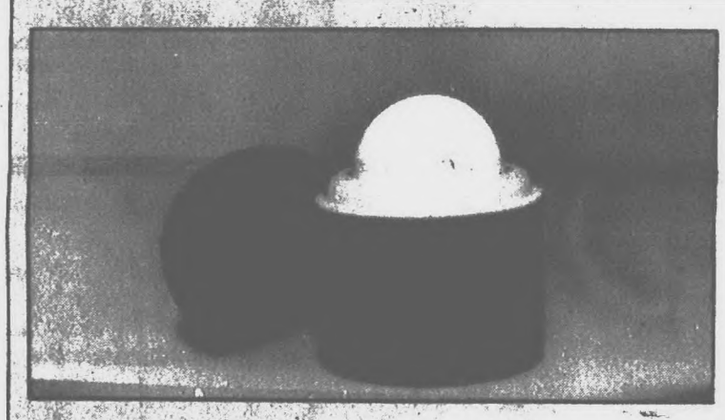
Bold and beautiful

The bold and chunky size of these oval earrings is calmed by the very feminine "crocheted" accents. The setting comes in a variety of colors. A wonderful accessory that's very eye-catching. $85 each. Quintessence at LaMirage, Southfield.

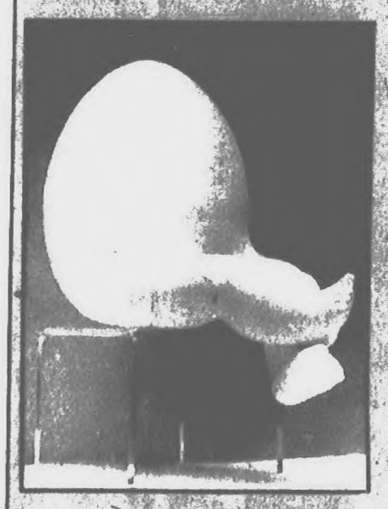
Fashion 'must'

One of the "must" fashion accessories for women this season are dainty touches of lace in the form of pocket squares. They add that necessary touch of femininity to man-tailored suits that otherwise look so severe and so — well, mannish. Whether you prefer cotton, linen or silk, the old-fashioned lace borders look absolutely great. From $10 to $40. Diane M, downtown Birmingham.



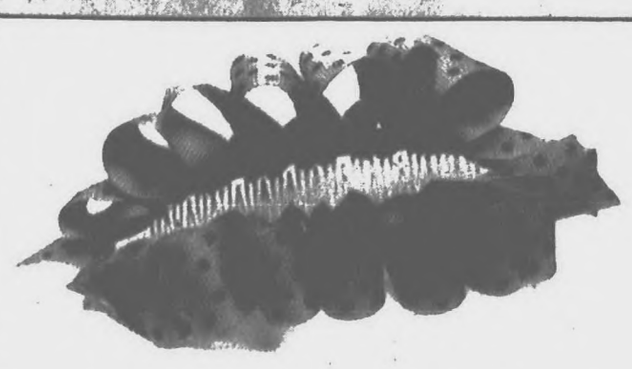
Let 'er roll

This odd-looking item could double for a hard-boiled egg, but look again. It's the world's smallest massage machine. Exactly the size and shape of an egg, it runs for quite awhile on one AAA size battery. Perfect for rubbing on your temples when that afternoon stress hits you. Handy enough for your desk drawer, glove compartment, purse or brief case. $20. Jacobson stores.



Eggs-actly exciting

This little egg baby is just as fragile as it looks. The faceless egg with dangling legs is handmade by American artist Hill Kleinman. A whimsical and decorative item that will look good in just about any decor. Lucite stand not included. Egg, $115.95; stand, $4.95. Gorman's Inner Circle, Southfield.



Chiquita style

The banana clip is a hair accessory that seems to stay in style season after season. It's practical use makes it popular. The fancy polka-dot ruffles make this one extra special. One of a variety of styles. $8.50. Nino Salon of Somerset Mall, Troy.

STREET WISE

Still showing

The Scarab Club Gallery is hosting its 45th annual watercolor exhibition now through Friday, Oct. 28, at 217 Farnsworth, Detroit.

The juried exhibition features Michigan and Ontario artists. It's open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and 2-5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Admission is free and works of art will be for sale during the exhibition.

Trail walks

If you enjoy walking in the woods during the fall, then the University of Michigan has an invitation for you: Come and search for the fruits of the season at the Matthaei Botanical Gardens during its free, monthly trail walk at 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 6.

Fall is the time when most plants disperse their seeds to ensure species survival. Fruits, which were well hidden during the summer, are more apparent now. Bright berries adorn branches and nuts litter the ground.

Participants will have the opportunity to look at many of the fruits and discover the dispersal methods, to figure out which are popular foods for wildlife and which are starvation foods, and to learn of human inventions which were patterned after some fruits.

Nature enthusiasts and families are welcome to join in this 1½-hour walk along the trails that wind through the natural areas of the gardens. Docents will meet visitors at the front steps of the conservatory at precisely 2 p.m.

The Mattaei Botanical Gardens is at 1800 N. Dixboro Road, a quarter mile south of the Plymouth Road intersection, Ann Arbor.

Tree trimming

Are you an artists? If so, you're invited to participate in the holiday happenings on Belle Isle this year by donating an original tree ornament to help decorate the Michigan artist Christmas tree.

The Christmas tree will be displayed in the main show house of the Anna Scripps Whitcomb Conservatory during the holiday season.

The only requirement is that the ornament can be hung from a 12-foot fresh cut fir tree. There are no other restrictions. Subject, material and design are up to the individual artist.

Artists can send their ornaments to the attention of Sandra Phillips, decorating chairman, Belle Isle Botanical Society, P.O. Box 14693, Detroit 48214, by Nov. 10.

A day with the doctor?

You can learn how they treat a giraffe with a sore throat or an elephant with a runny nose by spending "A Day with the Doctor" at the Detroit Zoological Park Thursday, Nov. 3.

The 7-9 p.m. program is part of the Detroit Zoological Society's class and lecture series.

The zoo's chief veterinarian, Dr. Albert Lewandowski, will host the two-hour class on zoo animal medicine. Through a slide presentation, he will give insight into the daily tasks faced by the veterinary staff and how they keep the zoo's animal collection healthy.

The cost is $15 for society members and $20 for non-members. Tickets can be ordered by calling the zoological society at 541-5717.

The world famous Moscow circus, one of the USSR's greatest art forms, will be coming to the Palace of Auburn Hills Nov. 15-20.

The circus will feature the likes of the Flying Cranes, 10 aerial artists whose act combines quadruple somersaults and other daring and dramatic moves with the choreography of a ballet in telling the story of the soldiers who died in World War II and their souls becoming like those of cranes.

Performances of the Moscow Circus will be 7:30 p.m. Nov. 15-19. There also will be shows at 10:30 a.m. Nov. 16, 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. Nov. 19 and 1 and 5 p.m. Nov. 20.

Tickets cost $7.50, $10, $12.50 and $15. They're available at the Palace box office and all Ticketmaster outlets. For more information, call 423-6666.

Convertibles: A new love affair

Dean Mooney, 42, floral manager for Bordine's Better Blooms in Rochester, bought a cobalt blue Dodge 600 in 1982, the year of rebirth for the American convertible.

"It's something I always wanted; I love it," Mooney said, expressing an often-heard refrain among convertible lovers. His only problem: Deciding on a new model since the Dodge 600 was discontinued in 1986.

Women are big buyers, buying convertibles 6 percent more often than other models.

"YOUNG WOMEN are more inclined to seek uniqueness in their automotive product than are men," Windecker said. "It stands to reason. They seek more differentiation in clothes. Unlike birds, they are the peacocks of humans."

A Bloomfield Hills matron exemplifies the point. Self-described as conservative in most things, she drives a shocking-red Mustang convertible with black trim because "it goes well with my mink."

"Convertibles are a very hot market niche, an option vehicle," said Mark Gebhard of American Sun Roof. Sun Roof converts autos into convertibles at various stages of production in four locations in Michigan, including Livonia.

Conversion, which started in the United States as early as 1980, is now an international business, according to Gebhard who said "there are 22 convertible manufacturers worldwide and we do business with all of them."

Chrysler Corp. was the first U.S. firm to hit the market with two models, the Dodge 600 like Mooney bought and the LeBaron. Both cars were unveiled at the Detroit Auto Show in 1981. Sales started in 1982.

Cars and Concepts in Brighton converted 12,243 LeBarons into convertibles the first half of 1982, installing body braces and strengthened windshield posts to ensure safety.

"We had orders for more than one-third of them before they were built," said Tom Jakobowski of Chrysler. The LeBaron was so successful, Chrysler assumed in-house production in mid-1982.

FORD MOTOR Co. launched the Mustang convertible one year later, followed by models by Chevrolet, Pontiac and Cadillac.

Today's models, featuring back windows of heated glass, fully power-operated lined tops and hi-tech dash consoles, differ considerably from earlier models.

An all-season Studebaker roadster in 1929 was one of the first. The car sported wind-up windows of canvass and flexiglass and a removeable canvass top. Production was discontinued in 1934.

Today, convertibles constitute 1 percent of the total U.S. auto market.

Film role 'hooks' Bertinelli on flying

By Sue Mason
staff writer

First she said its "was better than sex," then she let herself get pinned. What's Eddie Van Halen going to think about his wife?

He'll probably act like a typical husband. After all, his wife is actress Valerie Bertinelli.

Bertinelli was in town last Thursday to promote her CBS mini-series about pilot Florence "Pancho" Barnes. The mini-series, "Pancho Barnes," will begin at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 25, on WJBK-TV 2.

"Better than sex" was what she said after her first flight in an old Tiger Moth airplane. Unknown to Bertinelli, it was the same comment made by Barnes after her first flight.

"It scared the heck out of me because I didn't think it would take off," she said. "The inside of the plane looked like a bicycle."

The pinning was by members of the Michigan chapter of the 99s, the international women pilots association. It was done during at breakfast gathering at WJBK-TV 2 in Southfield.

The 99s, led by Lillian Snyder, director of Detroit City Airport, made Bertinelli an honorary member of the organization.

"THIS is really an honor, but will someone here teach me how to fly," Bertinelli said. "They wouldn't let my fly the plane . . . Really, Pancho would be proud."

Barnes' name comes up in Bertinelli's conversation quite a bit and she admits that for a while she "was" Pancho.

Barnes was a female aviatrix, who among other things, set the world's speed record for women, was Lockhead's first woman test pilot and the first female stunt pilot in motion pictures.

She also helped organize the Motion Picture Stunt Pilots' Association as the result of a dispute with multi-millionaire moviemaker Howard Hughes and eventually opened a flying school and club on her ranch in the Mojave Dessert, a club that attracted the likes of ace pilot Chuck Yeager.

The mini-series recounts Barnes' life from her first hot air balloon ride and how she got her nickname to her flying school and club.

Bertinelli, who literally grew up on television in her role of Barbara on the sitcom "One Day at a Time," spent eight weeks in Texas, filming the mini-series.

She spent much of her time on the ground in wool jodhpurs, a leather jacket, wig and leather cap in the hot and humid weather. And even being airborne didn't provide relief.

"It really didn't cool off that much at 2,000 feet," she said.

AT THE urging of the women pilots, Bertinelli donned a leather flight suit, complete with a silk scarf to drape around her neck. A bit large for the petite brunette, she needed help getting in and out of it.

And it wasn't until she was zipped into it and the 4-inch wide belt was buckled that it was announced — quietly — that the suit belonged to Florence Lowe, better known as Pancho Barnes.

On a tight schedule, much the result of being caught on an airplane for two hours, Bertinelli didn't have much time to spend with the 99s before dashing off to her next appointment.

She did, however, find out if the group did stunts like Pancho. Her question drew a somber "nothing exciting, just stalls" response.

"You do nothing more than stalls?" she echoed. "Stalls are very exciting. I was up with (pilot) Charlie Hillyard and he did a stall and a double spin.

"I was screaming and laughing so loud they could hear me on the ground and we were at 2,000 feet."

JOHN STORMZAND/staff photographer

Actress Valerie Bertinelli drew chuckles from members of the 99s when she talked about her flying experiences during the filming of "Pancho Barnes," a made-for-TV movie.

Olympic and world champion skier Stein Eriksen may be director of skiing at Deer Valley in Utah, but he also is busy helping his son master the finer points of downhill skiing.

Olympic 'spirit' finds Sporthaus

So it's not quite like having the Olympics in your own backyard, but it's the next best thing — a visit with an Olympic ski champion.

Stein Eriksen will be at the Don Thomas Sporthaus in Birmingham Thursday, as part of "The Best of the Best '89," a formal ski fashion show at 7:30 p.m.

The Sporthaus will introduce ski buffs to the latest in clothing for the slopes and the clubhouse.

The Sporthaus also will introduce ski enthusiasts to the legendary Eriksen, who will be the special guest that evening.

Eriksen is considered a "skier's skier" because of his flawless, textbook style of skiing. In fact, Paul Anderson of the Aspen Times wrote that "his presence, his looks, his skills helped lay the foundation . . . that will go far beyond his years."

He was a bronze medalist in the slalom in the 1950 world championships, a gold medalist in the giant slalom and a silver medalist in the slalom at the 1952 Olympics and won gold medals in the slalom, giant slalom and combined in the 1954 world championships.

Eriksen is no stranger to Michigan. At one time, he was director of skiing at Boyne Mountain. He has held similar positions at Heavenly Valley in California, Aspen Highlands in Colorado, Sugarbush in Vermont, Snowmass in Colorado and Park City in Utah.

He currently is director of skiing at Deer Valley in Utah.

The Don Thomas Sporthaus is in the Bloomfield Plaza shopping center at 6600 Telegraph, Birmingham. Seating will be on a first-come basis. For information, call 626-9500.

'Craning' for a good look

By Marie Chestney
staff writer

On a hill in Jackson County, there isn't a sign that says, "Rest Stop, Sandhill Cranes."

But you know there's something special about this place because benches dot the rural hilltop. There's got to be some reason why folks gather here on this well-worn hill overlooking a vast watery marsh.

The reason shows up in the sky every fall. That's when great flocks of the four-foot-tall cranes come back to Haehnle on their long trek southward.

The annual migration from north to south starts with a trickle of cranes in mid-October. By Nov. 1, the trickle has turned to flocks, with the evening sky flush with cranes gliding to a stop in the distant marsh.

On some fall days, at least 200 of the big birds with their seven-foot-wingspans can be counted. On one November day in 1980, bird watchers counted a record 1,325 cranes in the bird sanctuary.

By mid-November, the marshland is empty again, the last of the visitors having left on their long flight to Texas, Mexico or California.

And yes, the long-legged, long-necked, long-winged birds drift into the marshes of Phyllis Haehnle Memorial Sanctuary in April on their trip north. But their numbers are few and their stay is short because there's not much to eat at Haehnle in the springtime.

A few of the cranes, the early arrivals or those who grew up in the Haehnle marsh, stake out a claim and stay the summer to rear their young.

BUT MOST move on quickly to other marshy areas in Michigan and Canada. These big birds need a huge area to feed in, whereas Haehnle can support just a handful of cranes over the summer months.

There's lots of water in the Haehnle marsh, but cranes don't eat fish. They stick to grain, frogs, snakes and insects.

But the fall migration, well, just call it spectacular. The cranes, accompanied by their young, fly in, in large groups. And they don't arrive quietly, either.

With trumpeting, boisterous noises, they glide into the marsh and onto the marsh's flood plain. They roam over the hillside on which the benches sit.

"It's a spectacle at dusk," said Roger Sutherland, biology professor at Schoolcraft College and a bird watcher for many years. "They spread out for miles, eating. The water is shallow and when they come in, it looks like they sink out of sight. But they barely get wet."

The cranes spend their days eating the corn planted for them in nearby fields by local farmers working in cooperation with the Jackson Audubon Society. The society doesn't want the cranes eating the corn of nearby farmers, so a crop is planted each year just for them.

"They're voracious eaters," said Grover Niergarth, a biology professor at Schoolcraft College who also is a bird lover. "They build up their carbohydrate reserves."

Fog offers a thin shroud over the Haehnle Sanctuary where sandhill cranes congregate during their annual migration.

Cranes that get to the sanctuary early get to enjoy the rest stop the longest; the late arrivals have just a few days to rest up.

WHILE FATTENING up for the long trip ahead, the cranes wait for two things to happen. One is for their flock to get bigger. For reasons of protection, they like to travel in massive groups.

The second is to wait for just the right air currents in which to take off. Because they are high fliers, the cranes depend on high air currents to get them to Texas and Mexico.

By mid-November, both of these things have happened, and the last of the noisy, big birds are gone. The countryside around the Waterloo Recreation Area becomes quiet once again.

At one time, because they were widely hunted, the sandhill crane was close to being an endangered species. After being named a protected species, they made a comeback.

The sandhill cranes return to Haehnle each year because there are very few large wetland areas left in southern Michigan for them to use as a stopover.

Most of the small marshy areas left can't support a bird with the voracious eating habits of the sandhill.

In the early 1900s, Jackson County was dotted with marshy areas. These areas attracted huge numbers of ducks — as well as a huge number of duck hunters.

Casper Haehnle was an avid duck hunter who bought land on which to hunt. In 1955, he gave 500 acres of this land to the Michigan Audubon Society as a memorial to his daughter Phyllis.

IN 1957, much to the chagrin of nearby farmers, the state named it a wildlife sanctuary. That designation closed the land to hunting, fishing and trapping.

Since then the society has bought other pieces of nearby land, making the sanctuary bigger.

"Hunters saved Haehnle," said Sutherland, who was "overwhelmed" 20 years ago when he first saw the sandhill cranes at Haehnle. "Farmers didn't drain it because they wanted to shoot ducks. They knew there would be good hunting only if they kept the habitat.

"They wanted to maintain the water levels. In the process, they became good conservationists."

How to get to Haehnle

The Phyllis Haehnle Memorial Sanctuary is near the western fringes of the Waterloo State Recreation Area in Jackson and Washtenaw counties. It's about an hour's drive from Livonia, via M-14 and I-94.

Parking is in a small lot off Seymour Road, but it can be troublesome if a lot of bird lovers show up at the same time. During the migration, many have to park along Seymour, which is a not heavily traveled blacktop road.

Take exit 147 (Race Road) off I-94 north about 2.5 miles to Seymour Road. Turn west on Seymour and go about 1.5 miles to the sanctuary.

After parking, follow the mowed trail near the road to the hilltop overlooking the marsh.

The best times to see the cranes are mid-afternoon to sunset. Bring binoculars.

Dorothy Lehmkuhl

Q. It seems my car is always littered. Do you have any hints for organizing your car?

A. Exercising a bit of self-discipline and a few little rules can make a tremendous difference.

First, make it a habit to take every bit of litter with you each time you get out of your car. By practicing regular maintenance, you will never have a clutter build-up.

Second, utilize small bits of time to clean out your car. While getting gas, insesrt your gas tank cap into the nozzle handle for hands-free fillup and clean out your car or wash windows while you wait. Shake out your floor mat while you are caught in a traffic jam or waiting for someone., Carry a terrycloth hand towel to dust off the dash while you wait for a red light. Buy two towels (for alternating in the laundry) in a color to match your upholstery to also cover items you don't want others to see, wipe off fogged windows or clean up messes.

Extend your car's beauty by forbidding eating or drinking in your car; otherwise something will eventually be spilled. This can also help you break bad habits of consuming extra calories or unneeded caffiene while you drive.

A sure way to lose a camera or a purse is to place it on the top of your car. If you must lay something down, put it only on the front hood of the car so you will be able to see it before you drive away.

Certain items should be carried in your car, especially those for emergencies now that winter is approaching. Those include your owner's manual; photocopies of insurance and registration forms; spare tire, jack, tire "key" and lug wrench; tire puncture sealer; spare fuses; flashlight with magnet; warning flares; first-aid kit; fire extinguisher, CB radio; ice scraper; shovel; tire chains; umbrella; blanket, gloves, extra sweater; battery booster cables (and instructions if you aren't absolutely sure how to use them).

Another important item is a reflectorized "Please Call Police"sign. These are available in some emergency kits or for $4.50 from the Los Angeles Commission on Assults Against Women; 543 N. Fairfax Ave., Los Angeles, Ca 90036.

Items can be kept either in your dash pocket, under the seat (don't overstuff that space) or in an attractive covered box (that won't roll over) in your trunk.

Now is time to start work for next year

weeder's guide

Earl Aronson

Autumn is the time to start working on next year's outdoor-living season and to reduce next season's potential garden-insect and disease problems.

Some landscape maintenance chores to be done include:

— Apply wood chips or mulches to areas around trees, evergreens or shrubs. Avoid materials likely to contain weed seeds, food for rodents or obnoxious odors.

— Add nitrogen fertilizer, but apply early in the season to avoid late growth subject to winter kill.

— Remove extended growth of ground covers that have overlapped sidewalks, driveways or patio areas.

— Trim shade trees to remove heavy lower limbs that obstruct views or are bothersome in other ways.

— Reshape boundaries of walks and driveways to encourage users to follow intended pathways.

— Remove or recycle objects, including weeds, that tend to detract from the basic quality of the landscape.

— Consider adding a grassy mound or rock composition to relieve bareness in winter.

A FALL CLEANUP will reduce the inevitable spring garden invasion by insects. This should include removal of old plant debris and tilling the garden this fall to eliminate many over-wintering insects and disease organisms.

Debris left in the garden provides winter homes for cucumber beetles, squash bugs, Colorado potato beetles and European corn borers. Remove plant material by raking and bagging or burning it, or plowing it under. This will eliminate many bugs, and limit your insect population largely to insects that migrate into the garden.

In the flower garden, iris borers lay eggs on iris foliage. Dig out infested plants and remove dead foliage to reduce this problem.

Rake fallen fruit and leaves from fruit plantings to interrupt the life cycle of the apple maggot, a serious home-orchard problem.

Cleaning up fallen fruit and leaves also will help control apple scab, a fungus disease that affects apples, crab apples and mountain ash trees. Leaf-spot disease on hawthorn, elm and horse chestnut also can be reduced by raking leaves and fallen fruits and destroying them.

IF BLACKSPOT ON roses is a problem, prune plants of infected areas. Don't use these clippings as a winter mulch as it will encourage blackspot next year. One spot on one leaf in the neighborhood can produce enough spores to infect all nearby plants. A really good cleanup is recommended.

If you plan to compost diseased materials, be sure your compost pile is an active one where plants will really decay. Putting plant materials on a rubbish heap will not destroy disease organisms, but composting will.

condo queries

Robert M. Meisner

Q. I am thinking about developing a condominium project on raw land and am wondering whether or not I must deal with any regulatory bodies at the state level beside the DNR. I have heard that condominiums have been deregulated, but I an not sure what consequences that results in. Can you help?

A. In 1983, Michigan effectively deregulated the sale of condominiums. What that meant, in effect, was that the developers would no longer have to seek approval from the Department of Commerce Securities Division before selling a condominium unit in this state.

That did not eliminate the various statutory requirements imposed upon developers in marketing condominiums. What it did minimize, however, was the need to seek approval for all the condominium documents, purchase agreements, advertising, and the like, which was previously required under the old scheme of regulation. The end result is that developers have much more latitude in regard to the processing of condominium projects, although there is also the incumbent additional risk upon developers, their attorneys and advisers as well as the general public since there is no longer a regulatory body overseeing the accuracy and thoroughness of the entire condominium documentation process.

Q. When I purchased my condominium unit, the developer promised that additional units would not be built outside of my balcony which juts out from my living room. I am advised now that the developer is in the process of building a unit which will block my view of some beautiful natural foliage. What can I do?

A. Check to see whether the developer made any commitments in writing to you concerning this promise regarding future development. Also check the master deed to see whether the developer has followed the site plans and/or reserved the right to build additional units at any location in the condominium. You may still have a claim for relief against the developer but it would be much stronger if it were in writing and/or if the documents backed you up on your position. The lesson to be learned, of course, is to get any commitments made by the developer in writing.

Superlative Living
In The Hills of West Bloomfield

NEW lavishly large 1, 2 and 3 bedroom terrace ranch dwellings of unsurpassed size that are utterly extraordinary - up to 2,800 square feet and every amenity: private entries, attached garages, fireplaces, cathedral ceilings, designer kitchens with separate breakfast areas, master bedroom suites with dressing area, double vanities, double closets and walk-in closets too, in-residence laundry and storage, full carpeting, central air conditioning, patio or balcony.

Truly resort-like recreational facilities include: oversized pool in a spectacular wooded setting, a manor-home like clubhouse — ideal for private parties — tennis courts and, of course, a 24-hour manned gatehouse with package reception services. There is even a private lending library. All on over 130 incomparable private acres for estate-like living.

Unquestionably the standard for beauty and luxury. For their size, design and breathtaking setting, YOU MUST SEE the 1, 2 and 3 bedroom terrace homes of ALDINGBROOKE.

Travel Maple Road to Drake Road; turn north and drive through the woods, to the summit of the hill, and enter ALDINGBROOKE through the manned gatehouse on your left.

Note: Limited number of short term executive rentals available. 1 and 2 year leases being offered.

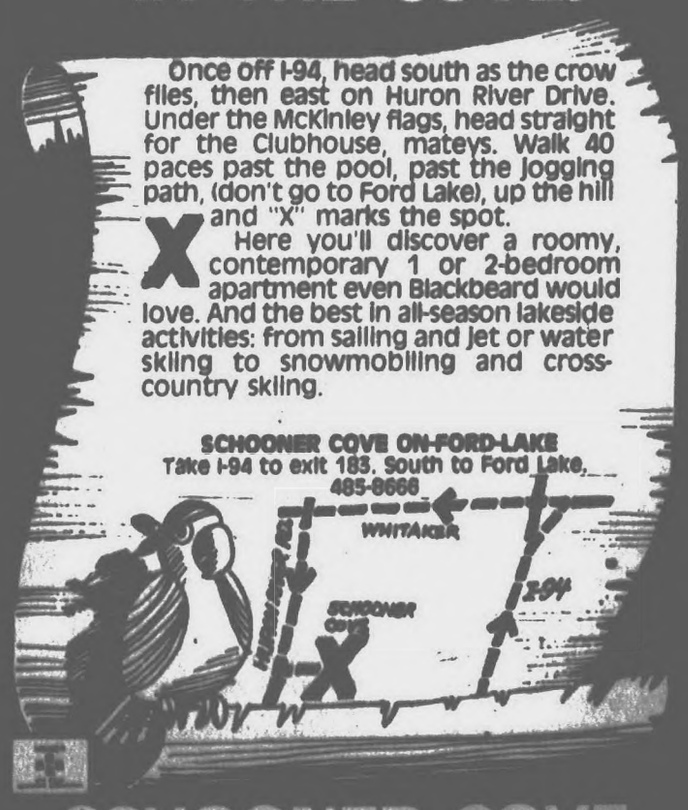
THERE'S TREASURE IN THE COVE.



Once off I-94, head south as the crow flies, then east on Huron River Drive. Under the McKinley flags, head straight for the Clubhouse, mateys. Walk 40 paces past the pool, past the jogging path, (don't go to Ford Lake), up the hill and "X" marks the spot.
X Here you'll discover a roomy, contemporary 1 or 2-bedroom apartment even Blackbeard would love. And the best in all-season lakeside activities: from sailing and jet or water skiing to snowmobiling and cross-country skiing.

CUSTOMER SERVICE TRAINEE OPPORTUNITIES

AAA Michigan sells and services more personal lines of insurance than any other company in the state. Our success is largely due to first-rate Customer Service personnel who are there when our customers need them. If you are eager to succeed with an industry leader, AAA Michigan invites you to consider one of these opportunities:

Customer Service Representatives

Positions, available in the Metro Detroit and outstate branches, involve handling problems and questions presented by customers, and assisting potential customers in determining insurance/membership needs.

Customer Account Representatives

Our 24-hour Customer Service Centers in Westland and Dearborn enable you to select a shift that best suits you. (Shift differential available on afternoon and midnight shifts.) You'll service existing customers on a wide range of insurance needs.

Group Customer Representatives

Working a 4-day, 40-hour week, you'll handle the problems and questions of group customers.

All positions require some college (degree preferred but not required), sound basic math skills, demonstrated customer service, communication, problem solving, telephone/telemarketing skills, and successful completion of a paid, six-week training program designed to develop your complete understanding of AAA Michigan insurance lines and membership products. All AAA Michigan representatives are bonded.

We provide a competitive starting salary, comprehensive benefits that include choice of medical plans, dental, life insurance, 401(k), tuition reimbursement, Auto Club membership, insurance discounts, and solid growth opportunity. For consideration, please send your resume, signifying order of position preference, by Friday, October 28, 1988 in confidence to: Customer Service Training Opportunities, AAA Michigan, 1 Auto Club Drive, Dearborn, MI 48126. Equal Opportunity Employer.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
Holy Spirit, You make me see everything & show me the way to reach my ideals. You give me the Divine Gift to forgive & forget the wrongs that are done to me & You are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue, want to thank You for everything & confirm once more that I never want to be separated from You, no matter how great the material desire may be. I want to be with you, my Loved One, in Your perpetual glory. Amen.
