Big spenders

School board race costly for hopefuls

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Expenditures by Plymouth-Canton school board candidates are making this year's school election one of the most costly in district history.

Thus far, with gross receipts of $5,353, candidate Carl Battishill leads the big spenders in the quest for two four-year terms on the school board. The election is June 11.

Candidates are required by law to file campaign finance statements with the state Bureau of Elections.

Candidate K.C. Mueller ranks second with receipts of $3,780, followed by Robert Anderson, who's raised $3,074. Anderson raised $5,458 in an unsuccessful election try last year.

Les Walker reported receipts of $2,897.

Diane Stamp has raised $2,465.

Candidates Richard Sumpter, Toni Hartke and John Engdahl, who is not campaigning, plan to spend under $1,000. Candidates who raise under that amount are eligible to receive waivers and don't have to report contributions.

School board members are paid

Candidates are required by law to file campaign finance statements with the state Bureau of Elections.

$30 per meeting, and earn a maximum of $1,500 annually.

Battishill, who spent about $900 in last year's election bid, raised $1,303 at a back yard fund-raiser for 100 people May 20. He's spent $1,000 of his own money.

The Plymouth-Canton Education Association Political Action Committee contributed $550. The Lakes Area Educators Political Action Committee gave $500. Battishill is director of bands for West Bloomfield Public Schools.

Forty-two individuals funded Battishill's campaign, including Kathy Harenda, $150; George Croll, $100; Mark and Lee Stamper, $100; Marilyn Stemberger, $100; Sharon Belobraidich, $100; Tom and Anita Hinks, $75; Sue and Andy Scott, $50; David and Sharon Pugh, $50; Michael Chi-Philip Rodgers Magee, $25; and Doug and Sandra McClennen, $25.

MUELLER HAS FUNDED her own campaign. The Plymouth realtor reported loans to herself of $3,630. Carol Anderson of Plymouth donated $100 to Mueller, and John Dempsey of Plymouth contributed $50.

Mueller was fined $25 for filing statements a day late. She said she

Jaeger: 'We're not giving up' on store

By Kevin Brown

Is the city getting the run-around from Farmer Jack over that vacant downtown store-front?

"It appears that way," said City Manager Gordon Jaeger.

In recent weeks, Jaeger has tried to schedule a meeting with Borman Inc. officials to discuss the vacant building, called an eyesore by city officials.

But several calls have not been returned, he said, adding, "We're not giving up."

on Main Street in Plymouth, city officials say.

But some city officials say Borman Inc., owner of the Farmer Jack supermarket chain and holder of the lease on the downtown store, may not want to rent the building to a potential competitor.

"Our goal is to find a satisfactory tenant," said Borman Inc. spokesman Ted Simon. "We'd obviously like to see a positive use for the city," he said.

But a Farmer Jack or A&P supermarket — stores owned by Borman — would not go into the now vacant building, Simon said. He refused to speculate on the future of the site.

City, township look at more joint operations

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Joint city township operations — a potential money saver for Plymouth area residents — will get more attention from government officials this month than at any time in recent years.

"I think anything is in the realm of possibility," said Plymouth Mayor Dennis Bila. "I wouldn't want to close off any ideas at this point."

Our residents — city and township — think in terms of one community," he said, adding officials in each government are "getting along probably better now."

City Manager Gordon Jaeger and Township Supervisor Maurice Breen have been meeting informally, said Bila, adding that possible joint operations have been discussed.

"We're (city commissioners) waiting for a recommendation on how we can continue this process," Bila said.

The mayor said sometime this month commissioners will convene to discuss possible joint operations, and present ideas at a city commission meeting.

In February joint committees on recreation planning and solid waste were announced. Those committees were made up of both city and township officials.

While some committees met, others didn't, as meetings were put on hold due to the delay in finding a city manager for Plymouth, some officials said.

But several officials say they still see benefits for city and township residents from joint projects — which could include joining city and township departments.

"I think anything's open for discussion," said Plymouth Township Trustee Ron Griffith.

Echoing Bila, Griffith said, "I think most of us think of our community as one — I know I do."

Griffith said the merging of services could make for more efficient and cheaper operations. "The first thing that pops into mind are fire and police," he said, adding recreation, library services and possibly department of public works services could also be merged.

"I see that as a real possibility now," he said, adding "I think the chemistry is right."

"The leadership has to take the initiative," said township Trustee John Stewart. "There can be some mutual benefit if we can start combining some services."

Township Trustee Smith Horton said, "The theory is by merging something you're going to eliminate some heads and in that way be more efficient. I'm not sure if it always works out that way."

Still, he said, joint services should be explored.

City Commissioner James Jabara is a strong backer of joint city-township operations. "I've always believed in a more unified form of government," he said.

"I've been working toward that for 30 years, and quite frankly I haven't given up," he said.

Resident positively sells Detroit to out-of-towners

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Because Detroit has been known as "Murder City," you'd think selling it to potential visitors would be a challenge.

Plymouth's Mike Wright — vice president of the Metro Detroit Convention & Visitors Bureau — smiles at that suggestion.

From behind Wright's desk on the 19th floor of the Renaissance Center, one gets a good look at the city skyline — from the Penobscot building to the Ambassador Bridge.

While some focus on the city's crime rate when considering Detroit's image, "We deal with it in a positive way," said Wright, who's lived six years in Plymouth. "Detroit suffers from all of these (crime) problems as do other big cities."

Man strips by bushes at Hines Park and runs away

A man described as in his early 20s shed his clothes along Hines Drive on Tuesday, then ran up a hill out of sight of witnesses, according to a report filed with Plymouth Township police.

The man, described as white with brown hair and a thin to medium build, just stripped by the bushes and then ran up the hill to the railroad tracks and east from there, the police report stated. The incident occurred at 7:35 p.m.

crime watch

The 26-year-old Plymouth woman filing the report said the man had been wearing a green shirt and black shorts.

DOG BITE: A boy 3 needed seven stitches to treat wounds suffered when a shepherd husky mixed breed dog bit him at about 5:30 p.m. Wednesday at Washington near Jet person in Plymouth Township. The boy's uncle reported the incident to police, who had the dog confined at a vet clinic for 10-day observation. Police are investigating the incident.

CAR SWIPED: At 6:30 a.m. Tuesday a Plymouth Township woman discovered her locked 1987 Chevette recently had been stolen from a parking lot in Plymouth Township. The car is valued at $4,000, the police report said.

PITY THE PETTY CASH KEEPER: It was not a good week for keepers of the cash at two Plymouth businesses.

The 44-year-old building manager at McAuley Urgent Care on Ann Arbor Trail told police that while she was off work for a few days $30 in petty cash disappeared.

Several such thefts have occurred at McAuley in the last 10 months, police said. There were no signs of forced entry.

The money was taken sometime between May 25-31 from a first floor office access from the emergency room. The door is kept locked, as is the file cabinet containing the petty cash.

Both were locked upon the manager's return. The keys to the file cabinet were in the receptionist's unlocked desk.

The 39-year-old office manager at an Ann Arbor Trail doctor's office reported the theft of $205 from her desk drawer May 30.

The petty cash and cash to be deposited were kept in a locked filing cabinet. The cabinet and office were locked. Keys to the cabinet are kept on a wall hook in the reception area in plain view. They were found on the receptionist's desk.

A maintenance employee is a possible suspect.

LARCENY: Sometime between 1 a.m. and 3 a.m. May 31 someone did more than $100 worth of damage to a lawn on West Spring Street. The 61-year-old homeowner said a 60-foot stretch of lawn was ruined by car tires. This is the second such incident this month.

clarification

Profiles on candidates for Plymouth-Canton school board in last week's Observer should have said Robert Anderson does not favor a $30 million to $50 million bond issue to finance new school construction. Anderson said the school board hasn't done a good job of handling complaints over the last few years.

Candidate Diane Stamp said $1 million has been spent on capital improvements at Central Middle School. What it would cost to renovate Central for use as a high school isn't known.

Resident sells Detroit to attract conventions

The bureau is successful in stressing positive things about Detroit, said Wright, evidenced by how the city is able to draw conventions, trade shows and tourism to Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

"A lot of things are happening that make Detroit an easier sell," Wright said.

For starters, Cobo Hall "has more than doubled its capacity," he said, and that attracts trade shows. Also, Northwest Airlines has established Metro Airport as a Midwestern hub.

In recent promotional materials produced by the bureau, "We focus on the automobile, the generally positive emotions people have about their car," said Wright.

The car is a focus of an 11-minute promotional video titled "Detroit - It's an American Classic," recently produced by the bureau. The video features a narrator touring metro Detroit from behind the wheel of a pink Cadillac.

Among the featured attractions touted in the video is the Plymouth ice festival. Wright said the bureau also promotes bus trips to Detroit and tours of the area for the 50 and over crowd - and the Mayflower Hotel is a popular place to stay.

What would Wright stress if he was just touting Plymouth to visitors? "The proximity of the nice shops that travelers can enjoy. They can have a complete experience including fine dining, interesting shopping opportunities and comfortable lodging."

The non-profit bureau is the oldest such group in the country, formed in 1896 by journalists and big downtown hotel owners. Wright said the bureau's annual $4.5 million budget is made up mainly from a 1 percent assessment on room rates for tri-county hotels, and from member contributions.

He joined the bureau 15 years ago, as manager of member relations. Wright held several other posts, before becoming executive vice president this year.

Does he like the work? "There's not many jobs where you can contribute to the welfare of your community in a meaningful way," he said.

Among recent successes, he cites the scheduling for 1992 of conventions involving two major national associations whose members find convention and trade show sites for their respective companies.

But Detroit can do more to make it more attractive to convention and trade show planners. "There is a need for another one or two convention hotels downtown," he said.

"That's what we view as the major weakness."

Asbestos removal bid OK'd

Asbestos will be removed from three Plymouth-Canton schools this summer, following approval by the Plymouth-Canton school board.

The board approved a bid from Michigan Medical Abatement Co. of $73,984 to take the asbestos out of East Middle, Smith Elementary and Allen Elementary schools.

The bid by Michigan Medical Abatement Co. was the lowest of five. Bids ranged as high as $107,577.

The board has allocated money in the school district's 1990-91 budget to pay for removal. The removal of asbestos at the three schools is part of a five-year asbestos removal plan.

The asbestos removal will be done during the summer break and should be completed by mid-July.

Cleanup volunteers have their day in sun

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Rouge Rescue organizers hope the river someday flows as smoothly as Saturday's multi-community cleanup.

"So far as we've been able to gather, there weren't any problems at any of our sites," said Larry Coogan, director of Friends of the Rouge, the volunteer agency that coordinated the cleanup.

Volunteers from Livonia, Westland, Redford and the Plymouth-Canton area helped swell the ranks of participants at the fifth annual cleanup.

Workers cleared logs, tree stumps, tires and other debris from the river, helping to improve its flow.

DESPITE predictions of thunderstorms — and it rained afterward — the weather stayed warm and sunny for the Saturday morning event, to the delight of its sponsors.

Early estimates put the number of volunteers as high as 3,000.

"At the very least, I'd say we had more people than last year," Coogan said.

An estimated 2,700 volunteers participated in the 1989 cleanup.

Though Rouge Rescues always carry a strong pro-environmental sentiment, the timing of this year's event — just six weeks after Earth Day — put environmental concerns into even sharper focus.

"WE HAVE to do what we can to save our wilderness areas," said Dick Ewing, who drove to from his Oakland County home to the Holiday Nature Preserve cleanup site in Westland.

"I hike in this park and I want to see the river clean."

Some volunteers said they felt honor-bound to participate.

"My cousin volunteered for a couple of this things, but now she's in Florida," said first-time volunteer Kathleen Carrie of Canton, who cleared tree branches at the Dorsey Park site in Westland. "I figured now it was my turn."

Rouge rescuers say they are making a difference. The goal is to allow people to once again use the heavily polluted river, at least for canoeing and boating.

"I canoed down a stretch of the river (as a test) earlier this year," Coogan said. "And I saw a lot of positive signs. Maybe next year, there will be general canoeing. That was something that seemed a long way off."

Westland, Livonia, Plymouth and Canton were among the communities sponsoring cleanup sites.

Canton's site, behind an area UAW Hall, was shared with the City of Wayne.

IN REDFORD, Karen Hicks organized a citizen-sponsored effort in Lola Valley Park.

"I went to the township a few years back and said we should have a site and they said — go to it," Hicks said.

Nearly 100 Livonia Churchill High School students pitched in at the Holiday Park site, most seeking extra credit for science classes.

Many students admitted it was the first time they ever set foot inside the nature preserve.

"THAT'S AN important side effect," said site coordinator Patrick Kobylarz. "Here we have this perfectly lovely nature area, but many people don't even know it's around."

Next year's volunteer efforts could be bolstered by a proposed $3 million federal grant.

U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, said he would seek grant money to have the Army Corps of Engineers clean the heavily polluted river.

"Michigan gets so little back from the federal government, especially for water projects," said Pursell, a member of the House subcommittee on Energy and Water Development. "Using the Army Corps of Engineers to clean the Rouge is a natural."

Pursell said the grant should be issued before the end of the year.

But Army Corps were already out working on the river as Rouge Rescue volunteers.

"This beats sitting behind a desk," said corps member Bill Willis of Livonia, as he carried a heavy log up the steep banks of his city's work site.

"I'd say we'll be working this same site for the next five years," site coordinator Sharon Sabat said. "This is a pretty bad stretch of the river."

They were also talking about next year, at Westland's first-year site.

"We'll be back," site coordinator Bruce Getin said.

Despite the potential Army Corps of Engineers participation in a larger cleanup, it appears as though the volunteer cleanup shows no sign of stopping.

"Whatever we do, there'll still be place for the volunteers," said area corps of engineers chief Col. John Glass.

Broadcaster making news at student station

By Michelle Johnson
staff writer

Sarah Kuhaneck has broken a lot of rules.

However, the Plymouth Canton High School sophomore has won awards for breaking them.

Kuhaneck, sports director, news anchor, and play-by-play announcer at WSDP FM 88.1, the Centennial Educational Park radio station, recently became the first person to win two first-place awards in the Michigan Association of Broadcasters' high school competition.

She was also the first female to win a sports play-by-play award.

Last year, she took third place in the newscast category. It was a notable achievement because, according to station manager David Snyder, WSDP accepts few freshmen.

Kuhaneck's sister worked at WSDP before her. She said she came to visit her sister at the station and liked what she saw.

"Even the equipment," she said. "I thought, this is sharp."

So Kuhaneck auditioned for the staff at the end of her eighth grade year — and made it.

THE NEXT year, after winning a third-place award for newscast, Kuhaneck was appointed sports director, a position usually reserved for juniors and seniors.

Besides doing newscasts, Kuhaneck broadcast men's and women's basketball games.

"Basketball's my baby,"

Sarah Kuhaneck of Plymouth is sports director, news anchor, and play-by-play announcer at the student radio station WSDP. She recently became the first person to win two first-place awards in the Michigan Association of Broadcasters' high school competition.

Kuhaneck said. "It's what I enjoy the most."

Kuhaneck used to play basketball. She said this helps her announcing.

"I know how it feels to be the first second stringer," she said.

She said she misses playing sometimes, but broadcasting is her true calling.

"Once in a while you're sitting there, and you see some guy line up for a shot," she said. "You think, I could take that shot. But then you think, I'm in a broadcasting booth. Why am I here? Because I didn't make that shot."

In the middle of the season, Kuhaneck entered the state high school broadcast news competition. She said she didn't enter the sports competition because she didn't have time to prepare a tape.

Kuhaneck was notified of her newscast award before she went to the broadcast association banquet.

I had this all figured out, Kuhaneck said. "I was going to be Miss Cool, Calm, and Collected. I was going to walk up there and be very majestic when I picked it up. So I did that for the news one."

Right before the first place sports-cast award was announced, Snyder passed her a note saying he had entered her in the competition.

"The man announced first place sports broadcasting," Sarah Kuhaneck, she said. "And my eyes bugged out. And I must have been drooling while I ran to the podium. So there goes Miss Cool, Calm, and Collected."

Snyder said if anyone deserved two first-place awards, it was Kuhaneck. He described her as intelligent, reliable, and focused. He rated her play-by-play announcing ability at beyond the college level.

Besides working at WSDP, Kuhaneck writes for the Perspective, the Centennial Educational Park newspaper. She also recently qualified as a CEP candidate for the State Student Congress. Kuhaneck admits to being a workaholic but says being busy is good for her.

"I manage time better," she said.

For next year, she has applied for a Perspective editorship and the position of programming director at WSDP. She said she would like to do a broadcasting internship after her senior year. Then she plans on going to college and pursuing a career in broadcasting.

The Main Street building has been vacant since December 1988.

Mayor Dennis Bila said last week. Maybe they're (Borman's) being evasive, he's still working on it.

The site is owned by Stanley Dickson of Grosse Pointe and leased to Farmer Jack, which still has several years remaining on the lease, Dickson said.

The lease specifies that only a food store can go into the downtown building, Dickson said.

Plymouth officials are concerned with the site because "it's standing vacant and deteriorating," Jaeger said.

It's become an eyesore there's grass growing in the cracks in the parking lot," he said.

Last month, two area business partners who operate rock clubs in Westland and Green Oak Township said they were interested in turning the building into a teen club. Bila said several residents contacted him to say they don't want a teen club there.

People, Bila said, have approached us generally about the looks of it, the state of disrepair."

Some city officials have also lamented the lack of a grocery store downtown.

The former store, at 705 S. Main, was closed after nearly 30 years of operation. The site has the largest concentration of free parking of any single store in the city. The building has 16,855 square feet of floor space.

It certainly is a unique building in that it's probably too small for most large grocery chains and too large for many small retail stores, said Dickson last year. "It's a tremendous location."

Men, if you're about to turn 18, it's time to register with Selective Service at any U.S. Post Office.

It's quick. It's easy. And it's the law.

Bill would ban yard waste from incinerators

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Homeowners would have to stop putting their yard clippings in the trash and burning them beginning in 1994 under two bills that cleared the Michigan House of Representatives and are on their way to the Senate.

It doesn't make economic sense to spend $30 a ton to put yard clippings in valuable landfill space, said Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, sponsor of House Bill 4872 that passed 77-10 Thursday.

In other action, the House gave final passage to three Senate bills aimed at recycling old motor oil and sent them to Gov. James Blanchard for his signature.

IF KOSTEVA'S bill becomes law Michigan would more than meet its state goal of composting 10 percent of its solid waste stream by 2005.

It's estimated that 20 percent of landfill space is yard clippings, said Kosteva. Michigan United Conservation Clubs' estimate is even higher — 25 percent.

We've gotten away from the garden ethic, though it's still very much the European ethic," Kosteva said. Homeowners could leave grass clippings on their lawns.

He said many cities, townships and villages already are setting up programs of composting, a process of naturally converting dead plants into fertilizer. He cited a 14-community group in southeastern Oakland County and the western Wayne County communities of Canton, Plymouth and Northville.

Composting does not emit an odor. Only if there are food or animal wastes will there be any odor," Kosteva said.

In committee, the bill was amended to define yard clippings to include tree trimmings less than four feet long and under two inches in diameter. Clippings which are diseased or infested would be exempt and could be disposed of in landfills.

THE ONLY area lawmaker voting no was Rep. Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion.

Are we turning garbage companies into garbage police, sorting through and finding what you have?" he asked after the vote. Dunaskiss said the state should focus on new technology that would allow waste processors to turn clippings into a source of fuel.

A week earlier, Kosteva's bill survived a challenge from some out-state members who wanted to allow counties the option of accepting yard clippings.

The companion measure, House Bill 4834, would prohibit burning of leaves and clippings unless specifically authorized by local ordinance. That, said Kosteva, would occur only in rural areas not covered by air pollution laws.

Sponsored by Rep. Kay Hart, D-Swartz Creek, the bill received 74-18 approval. Kosteva, floor manager of both bills, said Hart's bill also would encourage composting.

The bill was supported by all local lawmakers except Dunaskiss and Gordon Sparks, R-Troy.

THE HOUSE gave 91-0 final approval to three regulatory bills which Kosteva said will help keep oil out of underground water supplies. Primary target is do-it-yourself oil changers, according to a House staff analysis.

"It's estimated that 11-plus million gallons (of oil) are improperly disposed of in the state of Michigan each year. That's more than the Exxon Valdez spill off Alaska," said Kosteva.

"There is a market for used oil to be re-refined and sold. There is a hope this will stimulate recycling. In Canada, you can purchase recycled motor oil that meets the standards suggested by auto manufacturers.

"Where we have easily identifiable and separated elements of the waste stream, the Legislature is taking action to encourage environmentally conscious legislation."

THE BILLS, sponsored by Sen. Vern Ehlers, R-Grand Rapids, would

MADD campaigns for summer safety

Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) is urging summer drivers and boaters to keep Michigan roadways and waterways safe this summer through its fourth annual Keep It a-Safe Summer campaign (KISS).

The three-month KISS campaign, calls attention to — and tries to reduce — the number of automotive and boating accidents caused by drunk drivers during the period from Memorial Day through Labor Day.

"Not only do we want people to be mindful of sober driving on the highways to and from their destinations," said MADD Michigan Executive Director Bethany Goodman,

"but also when enjoying motorcycling, three-wheeling, boating or camping with the home-on-wheels RV's — each requires driving skills unimpaired by the effects of alcoholic beverages."

National Highway Traffic Safety Administration figures show a significant increase in fatalities during the summer months.

The KISS program includes Family Vacation Kits filled with safety tips on travel, boating and swimming, as well as travel games.

Additional information on the program is available by calling the state MADD office, 517-631-6233.

Facts should back editorial

To the editor:
If you feel no apology is needed for your editorial about backroom politics, then how about some facts. On what street can I get the word about the two school board members who are going to resign this year? If you know please tell us.

However if your "rumor" is just that, then I wonder why a community newspaper would write such an editorial. Rumors will mar both the community and your newspaper. Facts will strengthen our community and your newspaper. The community has the right to know the truth and you have the responsibility to tell it.

I agree one of your major missions should be to take public bodies to task. But do so by telling the community that the "word on the street" has been verified, or at least questioned. Tell the community who you talked to and what they said. Then we can formulate our opinions based on the facts you gave us.

You have the power to influence our community. Please do it with fairness to all. If you do have some facts, I think the community would like to read them in your next editorial, and if you don't have any facts maybe an apology is in order. As you said, "That's the way things should be."

CBE claims attack at league forum

To the editor:
On Tuesday, May 29, the League of Women Voters held a forum for the Plymouth-Canton school board candidates. Having participated in three of these forums, I can say with some experience that this year's was probably the most intellectual and the one most attended. Also, the emotionally charged attacks common in the past seem to have subsided — almost. Almost, that is, except for the twisted misrepresentation made by one candidate referring to an alleged statement made by a "CBE candidate."

According to this candidate, a "CBE candidate" said that it is acceptable to harass, intimidate, and threaten supporters of other candidates. Since I was participating in the discussion where this statement was supposedly made, I can tell with certainty words were twisted and fabricated to the point that the meaning was changed by 180 degrees.

Since I am considered a "CBE candidate" I am calling for public retraction and apology. It is naive to expect anyone would approve of such tactics, and make such a statement.

Hopefully this candidate will give greater regard to the truth in the future. The public has a difficult enough time discerning the truth without blatant untruths being spouted.

It's time to say no to smoking

To the editor:
Everyone is always telling kids to "Just say no."

But what kind of a place is it when students can go to school and smoke, often in the presence of security guards and teachers?

Such is the case at CEP. In my opinion the same people that teach kids to say "no," should be the same ones to enforce it.

Celebrate Earth Day all year

To the editor:
Although Earth Day was a great success, I hope that people didn't just participate in it because being earth-friendly is "in," or because celebrities are in favor of saving Mother Earth. The reason behind Earth Day is not just a fad. Our earth is in critical condition and needs everyone's help to survive. If people stop being earth-friendly because a celebrity or two say it's not "in" any more, we won't have to worry. We'll all be dead.

Lobotomy not answer for schools

To the editor:

Do we want radical extremists selecting our next school superintendent? John Hoben, who just won the Superintendent of the Year Award, is rumored to be retiring soon. If Citizens for Better Education-backed candidates win, their election will have a profound effect on the district for many years to come. Who is the CBE and what do their candidates stand for? The frightening thing is that we don't really know.

The CBE claims it has a large membership; yet the membership remains anonymous. The CBE claims it is misunderstood; yet their candidates — Robert Anderson and Diane Stamp — refused to tell the Committee for Academic Freedom and Excellence (CAFE) what their views are.

The CBE says they want good schools — but they don't want ideas and values discussed. They continually criticize our award winning district; but have yet to present a written platform for change. Should not those who espouse the need for major change tell us what they'll do?

I wonder — in a CBE run district would Plato be taught? Would the ideas of Thomas Jefferson or Tom Paine be discussed, value laden as those ideas are? Would we teach the Civil War without discussing the values of the era?

Would our schools simply inform kids about Stalin, but not discuss his value system? I wonder. I suspect that this is not really CBE's intent. Rather, I fear that their true mission is to establish for your kids and mine, a system that is predicated on their own belief system, whatever that might be.

I would suggest that the issues surrounding this election are far more important than any millage, far more important than a decision on a new high school. The issues have to do with quality education and whether we will allow extremists — whose intentions are unclear — to stack the board by virtue of a split vote, thus affecting the district for many years to come.

I urge my fellow citizens to support Les Walker and Carl Battishill. Both candidates have clear histories of positive involvement in this district, they are supportive, yet demanding, and they have numerous endorsements, including the MEA, CAFE, most of the current and several past school board members. Because of the endorsements they have received, they also have the greatest chance to defeat Anderson and Stamp and thus move this district forward in excellence.

Yes, the district is imperfect, and some changes are warranted — but a lobotomy is not the answer. Vote No to Anderson and Stamp. Vote Yes for our kids by electing Battishill and Walker.

Where's FDR now?

The only thing we have to fear is fear itself
— Franklin Delano Roosevelt
March 4, 1933

Jack Gladden

OH, FDR, where are you now? When Eleanor's husband spoke those words during his first inaugural address more than 50 years ago, he was trying to reassure a country locked in the middle of a Great Depression that everything would be all right — if we just didn't succumb to our fears.

And there was plenty to be afraid of. The economy was in a shambles. Being unemployed was a way of life. Bread lines and soup lines were part of the scenery and so were the apple vendors standing on the street corner.

In the first 100 days of his administration, Roosevelt pushed his New Deal legislation through the Congress — the most sweeping social and economic reform measures the country had ever seen.

I WAS THINKING about this over the weekend when I read two distinctly different stories in the newspapers. One, datelined "Moscow," reported on that Russian city's tough restrictions prohibiting the sale of food and consumer goods to out-of-town buyers in an effort to stem panic buying.

The buying frenzy started after the government announced plans to raise food prices as part of a transition to a "regulated market system." The Russians are as scared of the changes taking place in their country — and in Eastern Europe generally — as Americans were during the Depression years.

Over here, meanwhile, another kind of fear is being addressed at a conference now under way at Michigan State University. The conference, which is jointly sponsored by the University's Center for Environmental Toxicology and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, plans to examine how consumers cope with fears and reality concerning the safety of food today.

Those attending — more than 300 are expected — will deal with such issues public concerns over alar on apples, salmonella in eggs and chickens, drug residues in milk, etc.

The conference coordinator, a professor in the toxicology center, said such a get-together is important because "there are so many divergent points of view of the problems of food safety."

"Neither the government voice (nor) industry voice agree, and the public has little confidence in each of them."

I DON'T MEAN to belittle concerns over food safety (or drugs or alcohol abuse or radon or any of the "dangers" that we read about every time we pick up a newspaper).

But our concerns are a far cry from those of the apple sellers of Roosevelt's day who didn't give a hoot about what kind of pesticides were used on the apples they were trying to sell for a penny so that maybe they could earn enough to buy a loaf of bread.

They are nothing compared with the terror that most of the world, including the United States, lived through during the years of World War II.

And they tend to pale when viewed alongside those fears being experienced by residents of Eastern Europe who are witnessing monumental changes in the structure of their various governments and who have no idea what those changes will mean to them.

Back when FDR told this country that our fears — no matter how justified they were — were not nearly as dangerous as the fear itself, most of the country trusted him and believed him. And we survived.

I think it's time somebody delivered the message again.

To prevent crime in Tucson, police use sensitive, highly sophisticated surveillance equipment: Tim, Rose, Gert, Anthony, Yvonne, and Ramon.

Citizen participation is critical to police effectiveness. Do you care about your neighborhood enough to help protect it?

The Case of The Tucson Tip-off.

In a particular neighborhood in Tucson, Arizona, folks were having a real problem with burglaries and break-ins. They started talking to each other about what they could do. They got fed up. About 400 people went to the police for advice. They learned about surveillance. They got to know their beat officers. Citizens and police became partners in crime prevention. In just three weeks, 17 arrests were made and burglaries went down 30%. And Tucson is only one case where people successfully worked to beat crime. Municipal residency rules may be outlawed

By Darrell Pressley
staff writer

A bill under consideration by the House Oversight Committee may remove the residency requirement law which prevents employees from living outside the city boundaries.

In western Wayne County only Livonia and Garden City have a residency requirement law in effect for their employees.

Plymouth, Redford and Canton do not require their employees to live in the city they work. Westland requires residency only for department heads.

The sponsor of the bill, Rep. Debbie Stabenow, D-Lansing said residency requirements are outdated because they were developed when city officials were concerned about response time of safety officers.

In Livonia and Garden City, those applying for a job do not have to live in the area. They do however have to move into the city within six months.

The residency issue rouses tension in some legislators, primarily those from Detroit and Flint, who say they envision further white flight and urban blight if city workers are given the freedom to choose to live elsewhere.

"It wouldn't have an effect on our department," said Chief Barney Knorp of the Livonia Fire Department. "We could still operate in the same manner as we do now."

Livonia or Garden City workers may get an exemption to live outside the city from the civil service commission for financial or other reasons.

Knorp said it is fairly easy to obtain a resident waiver for those who choose not to live in Livonia.

"Our residency requirement isn't that rigidly enforced," said Knorp. Firefighters, however, would probably be in favor of the bill that would give them the option to live outside the city, said Knorp. "I think the majority would like to have the choice."

Though it would be good to have the option, Knorp said he would rather have employees live in the city that they work in.

"If you work in the city you should live in the city," the chief said. Employees living in the city, "would more or less be right on the scene," he said.

The Michigan State Firefighters Union supports the bill.

"Each of these laws constrict firefighters and their families in making financial and family-related decision commonly enjoyed by other Michigan citizens," said Larry McColl, president of the state firefighters union.

Garden City would prefer to have its employees live in the area, said Ronald Showalter, city clerk and treasurer.

"People with a good job ought to be living here and be a part of the city," said Showalter.

Someone who lives 20 miles away might take a little longer in responding, the city clerk said.

"A person living in the city may be able to make a quicker response in an emergency."

Police officers often have been concerned about living in the same community because many fear retribution against their families, said Showalter.

But he doubts that even if the bill becomes law that most officers would move from the area.

"I don't think you'd see police moving out of town."

The freedom to choose where you want to live would be a nice thing, said James Frank, acting Garden City police chief.

With the transportation and the mobility of society as a whole, the response time for those living out of the city wouldn't be affected, the chief said.

taste buds

New treat is dairy product

First there was milk, a traditional dairy product found on every table in America. Then in the '70s, a French staple was imported for American markets and the yogurt boom began. Last year, puddings began popping up in the dairy case, trying to give yogurt a run for its money.

Watch out, America, here comes Pouden Vla! Just beginning to hit the dairy case in metro Detroit, this new dairy product imported straight from the Netherlands is trying to find a niche in your shopping cart and refrigerator shelves, and judging from advance tastings, Vla may become a household word.

So what is it, you ask? It's not ice cream, it's not yogurt, it's not pudding but it is a low-calorie, light, creamy dairy treat that can be eaten any time of the day over fruit, as a parfait, as a topping over cakes or simply by itself.

You can purchase this real dairy treat in the dairy case somewhere between the milk and the yogurt.

Pouden Vla is made with a "secret" compound imported directly from the Netherlands. Seems this stuff is such a hit over there per capita consumption in the Netherlands stands at more than 14 quarts annually, actually out-selling ice cream.

IN ALL HONESTY, however, I can't imagine this product taking the place of my favorite Haagen-Dazs, but I will say that it's trendy, has a great taste, is lower in calories than most yogurts and when poured over a bowl of fresh strawberries, sets this food writer's taste buds aflutter.

The product itself is imported in a dry form because import regulations prohibit dairy product transfers. The product is then mixed with good old-fashioned Michigan milk in Grand Rapids at the Country Fresh Dairy, packaged into pourable quart containers and shipped to local markets with a dated stamp for optimum freshness.

Pouden Vla is available in metro Detroit at all Kroger, Great Scott! and Shopping Center markets. It is rumored that within the month, Farmer Jack and A&P stores will have the product, but for the time being, if you are looking for an interesting twist to the dairy scene, pick up a quart and try it for yourself.

By the way, Pouden Vla can be used in many recipes. It can be heated, served right from the fridge or even frozen as a take-along in your picnic cooler. And if you're curious as to the health benefits of eating Vla, it has no preservatives, is low in cholesterol (only 13 mg. per four-ounce serving) and half the fat of ice cream. Coming in at just 100 calories per serving, Pouden Vla has far less than yogurt, ice cream or pudding.

Look for Pouden Vla in your grocer's dairy case and if you haven't seen it, ask them why. It's new products like this, made in Michigan with high standards and great taste appeal, that make our dairy industry one of the most successful in the country. Try it. You won't be disappointed.

Don't get in a jam

Michigan's crop of strawberries usually arrives the first week in June.

If you buy or gather more berries than you can consume, you may want to freeze some or make up homemade jam. Strawberries can be frozen for later use in freezer jam, says Sylvia Treitman, home economist of the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service.

Dish up prize recipes

JIM RIDER/staff photographer

Tasting panel agrees on Vegetable Casserole

By Ethel Simmons, staff writer

A VEGETABLE CASSEROLE recipe, submitted by Becky MacIntyre of Troy, took first prize in the Taste section's contest for a reader's favorite vegetable dish.

Second prize went to Linda Ann Chomin of Canton for Vegetarian Stuffed Green Peppers. Third place was Artichoke Vegetable Melange, submitted by Marian A. Bliznik of Farmington Hills.

The first-prize winner will receive a $25 gift certificate, and because she lives in Troy, we have chosen a certificate from Williams-Sonoma cooks' shop at Somerset Mall. The other two winners will receive cookbooks.

After three judges, myself included, chose finalists, Taste Buds chef-columnist Larry Janes prepared each of the three final recipes. The order of winners was arrived at by votes from a taste-testing panel — the newsroom staff at the Observer & Eccentric office in Livonia.

TASTERS VOTED overwhelmingly for the Vegetable Casserole as their favorite. "I've had the recipe for some years. It was given to me by a friend," said Becky MacIntyre, of her crunchy casserole.

MacIntyre's two step-children are "grown and gone," and she and husband Bill have two grandchildren. "I make the casserole for special occasions or groups things, or a large family gathering," she said.

Describing herself as a compulsive recipe-clipper, she declared, "At last count I have about 170 cookbooks." She particularly enjoys using a series of Southern Living cookbooks for inspiration. "I like Southern cooking. I'm from Kentucky originally," she said.

What makes her Vegetable Casserole unusual? "I think it's the walnuts and the topping," MacIntyre said. The topping combines butter, crumbs, cheese and walnuts. Vegetables inside the casserole include both zucchini and carrots. "I'm not that fond of zucchini," she said. "I think it's tasteless. My husband does like carrots." But the combination of all ingredients is delicious.

When she serves this recipe at potluck suppers and New Year's Eve parties, "Without fail every woman there wants the recipe."

MacIntyre works part time as a commercial actress and a print model, usually cast as "an upscale senior citizen." She is active in community theater and belongs to the Avon Players in Rochester Hills, Stagecrafters in Royal Oak and the Bloomfield Players in Bloomfield Hills.

THE TASTY Vegetarian Stuffed Peppers recipe was a natural for Linda Ann Chomin, who said, "I've been a vegetarian for 17 years. We first started — my mother, sister and I — when my mother had a heart attack and the doctor said to cut out meat. It was my mom's recipe. I got rid of the meat and substituted the protein — the cashews and Parmesan."

She points out that when you are a vegetarian, people

'I make the casserole for special occasions or groups things, or a large family gathering.'

— Becky MacIntyre, first-prize winner

ple assume you have a limited menu. "It's not true. Basically, it's the whole world cuisine. They don't eat a lot of meat because they don't have it available."

Chomin said when she goes shopping, people often are curious about vegetables or grains she has in her grocery cart. "They will ask, 'What is that thing?'" she said, "and they will ask how to cook it."

One of the ingredients in her stuffed peppers recipe is quinoa. She said she usually buys quinoa at the Good Food Company in Livonia (which also has a new location in Troy). "It's a real good, expensive supermarket for grains."

She said even her girlfriends don't know much about cooking with the different grains. "The girls at work will say, 'Can I go shopping with you?'" Chomin finds it's becoming more common to cook with grains, although actually, "The grains are ancient."

She works as a freelance copywriter for A.R. Brasch in Southfield. By working at home, she was able to care for her mother, who died in March of Alzheimer's. The recipe was her mom's. "It was a little silly, but I just wanted to submit the recipe for her," she said.

MARIAN BLIZNIK of Farmington Hills, who offers the third-prize-winning recipe, for Artichoke Vegetable Melange, was also one of four equal prize-winners in the Taste contest held last year for Comfort Foods. She called that recipe "The Best Rice Pudding."

Bliznik teaches third grade in Milford and has been a teacher for 19 years. "I go to Kitchen Glamour a lot and participate there," she said about her abilities as a cook. "I would like to teach cooking and nutrition classes sometime in the future."

Coming up with good vegetable dish recipes is easy for her because, "At least four days a week at our house we have meatless meals. I'm always looking for alternatives to meat."

"I found this recipe on one of my husband's travels, on one of our trips to California. Artichokes are plentiful there." She said her husband liked the recipe because, "It had a combination of vegetables, yet everything was distinct in flavor."

Each cooked artichoke has a colorful filling of zucchini, bell pepper, carrots and tomatoes. "It's light and low-calorie," she said of the dish, which is served with a refreshing dressing that pairs mayonnaise and yogurt, for dipping the leaves.

"It's always a hit when we entertain. A lot of people we've not tried fresh artichokes before," Bliznik said.

VEGETABLE CASSEROLE Becky MacIntyre Troy

Dinner guests always ask for this recipe whenever I serve it. It can easily be doubled to serve 12-15 people.

- 2 cups small carrot sticks
- 2 cups zucchini, sliced 1/4-inch thick
- 6 tablespoons butter, divided
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 1/2 cups half and half
- 2 chicken bouillon cubes, crumbled
- 1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon dill weed, divided
- Dash of nutmeg and pepper
- 1 jar tiny onions, drained
- 1 cup soft bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese

1/4 cup walnuts, coarsely chopped

Steam cook carrots and zucchini until almost tender. Set aside. Melt 2 tablespoons butter, stir in flour. Stir in half and half. Add bouillon, mustard, 1/4 teaspoon dill, nutmeg and pepper. Cook, stirring, until it comes to a boil. Remove from heat. Add carrots, zucchini and drained onions. Turn mixture into shallow baking dish. Melt remaining butter, toss with crumbs, cheese, walnuts and 1/2 teaspoon dill. Heap over vegetables. Bake uncovered at 375 degrees for 25-30 minutes — until topping is browned and sauce is bubbling.

VEGETARIAN STUFFED GREEN PEPPERS Linda Ann Chomin Canton

- 4-6 large green peppers
- 2 cups brown rice, cooked
- 1 cup quinoa, cooked (available at specialty markets; also see Note below)
- 1 medium onion, chopped and sauteed
- 10-12 mushrooms, sliced and sauteed
- 1/2 cup currants
- 1/2 cup cashews, chopped
- 1 cup Parmesan cheese, freshly grated
- Twist of freshly ground black peppercorns

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Place green peppers in a large pot and cover with cold water. Slowly, bring to a boil. Turn off heat. Remove peppers and place them in a strainer to drain. Mix together the brown rice, quinoa, sauteed onion and mushrooms, currants, cashews, Parmesan and black pepper for stuffing the peppers. Cut off the tops of the peppers or if you prefer you can slice the peppers lengthwise into halves. Stuff peppers with the filling. Stand peppers upright in 3-quart casserole.

Make tomato sauce by heating together: one 12-ounce can tomato paste and enough water to thin, approximately 4 cups. Then add 1/4 teaspoon crushed red peppers and 1 tablespoon honey. Simmer sauce for 5 minutes. Cover the stuffed peppers with tops, then ladle the entire amount of tomato sauce over the peppers. The peppers should be swimming in about 3 inches of tomato sauce. Cover casserole. Bake till steaming hot, about 45 minutes. Enjoy.

NOTE: Quinoa (keen-wa) is an ancient whole grain that dates back to the Incas. The Incas called it the mother grain. Quinoa was one of the three staple foods of the Inca civilization, along with corn and potatoes. It is grown 9,500 feet high in the Andes mountains of South America. Quinoa contains more high-quality protein than any other grain. It is light and delightfully delicious.

Shiitake mushrooms and nori add variety

AP — Shiitake mushrooms from the forests of Japan and nutrient-rich nori from the depths of the sea are delicious ingredients for a variety of dishes. Both products can be found at Oriental food shops and gourmet specialty stores.

Shiitake (pronounced shii-la-kay) are large cap mushrooms found on trees in Japan's moist, shady forests. These mushrooms, which are meaty and rich in flavor, can be served with steaks, chicken and pasta, in salads, soups and casseroles. Dried shiitake, the most available form from Japan, is considered by many to be more flavorful and aromatic than the fresh varieties. Shiitake is an excellent source of vitamin D.

Nori is a sea vegetable that has been a delicacy in the Orient since about 800 B.C. These thin sheets of dried algae are most familiar to Americans as the outside wrapper of sushi. However, nori is also used as a garnish and a seasoning. Nori provides protein, minerals and significant amounts of vitamin A, vitamin C and B-complex vitamins.

The following recipes for Fragile Salty Shrimp and Sweet Potato and Shiitake Pancakes were developed by food stylists Delores Custer and Mariann Sauvion. This delicate dish of sweet and salty flavors can be served as an appetizer or light entree.

Dried shiitake, the most available form from Japan, is considered by many to be more flavorful and aromatic than the fresh varieties.

- 1 1/2 pounds fresh shrimp with shell on
- 5 slices fresh ginger, cut 1/2-inch thick
- 2 cloves garlic, sliced
- 2 tablespoons dry sherry
- 1/2 teaspoon chili oil
- Oil for deep frying
- 2 tablespoons rice flour or cornstarch
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 8 sheets of nori, cut into thin strips, or 1/2 ounce pre-shredded nori
- 1/4 cup scallion, cut into strips

Wash shrimp. Remove legs, leaving shells intact, then devein by cutting down the back with sharp scissors, leaving shells on. Wash and pat dry.

In a medium bowl, mix together the ginger, garlic, sherry and chili oil. Marinate the shrimp in the ginger-garlic mixture for 20 minutes. Stir twice to evenly coat the shrimp.

Fill a deep fryer 1/2 full with oil. Heat to 400 degrees.

Mix together the rice flour and salt. Drain the shrimp and toss with the rice flour-salt mixture.

Fry nori in hot oil, removing with a slotted spoon when crisp. Increase oil temperature to 425 degrees. Add shrimp in 3-4 separate batches. As you add each batch reduce heat and stir shrimp as they are cooking. Arrange nori on platter and top with cooked shrimp. Sprinkle with scallion. Makes 4 servings.

SWEET POTATO AND SHIITAKE PANCAKES

- 1 cup shiitake, cut into strips
- 2 cups coarsely grated sweet potato
- 1/2 cup scallions, cut into strips
- 1 teaspoon grated fresh ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon hot chili oil
- 1 egg white, lightly beaten
- 4-5 tablespoons peanut or vegetable oil for frying

In medium bowl combine all ingredients except oil. Mix well to coat evenly. Heat frying pan on medium heat. Add 2 tablespoons of oil. Using 1/4 cup of the mixture for each pancake, place in a pan and flatten lightly. Cook 2-3 minutes on each side. Serve immediately. Makes 8 pancakes.

POUDEN APPLES UNDER A BLANKET

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 3 tablespoons boiling water
- To prepare crust: melt butter or margarine and toss with graham cracker crumbs. Press into a 9-inch pie plate. Bake at 350 degrees for 4-5 minutes. Cool, set aside.
- To prepare filling: dissolve unflavored gelatin in 3 tablespoons boiling water. Stir into Pouden Vla and mix well. Stir peanut butter into Vla mixture and pour into pie shell. Refrigerate several hours before serving.

POUDEN APPLES UNDER A BLANKET

- 4 large sour apples (i.e. Granny Smiths)

- 8 teaspoons sugar
- 8 teaspoons cinnamon
- 1 egg
- 2 cups vanilla Pouden Vla

Peel apples and remove core. Halve the apples and place in a lightly buttered ovenproof casserole. Combine sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle over the apples. Separate egg. Add egg yolk to Pouden Vla, mix well, set aside. Beat egg white until stiff but not dry. Gently fold into Vla mixture. Pour this mixture over the apples and bake at 300 degrees for 20 minutes. Serve immediately.

CHERRY VANILLA COUPES

- 2 cups fresh or frozen cherries
- 4 tablespoons sugar
- 2 cups vanilla Pouden Vla
- 8 teaspoons crushed vanilla wafers or graham crackers

Mix cleaned cherries with sugar, reserving a few for garnish. Layer Pouden Vla in tall skinny sherbet glasses alternating with Vla, cherries and crushed vanilla wafers. Garnish with additional cherries. Chill or serve immediately.

Ground turkey and taco fixings combine for Mexican Fiesta Pie, created by Sally Versaci of Bloomfield Hills.

Mexican Fiesta Pie was last-minute meal

June, a month traditionally favored by brides, students and, I dare say, teachers as well, is finally here. And what a joyful month it is, as the leaves on the trees are finally unfurled and able to wave freely in the soft breezes of early summer.

It is as if all of nature has joined together to celebrate its triumph over the dark and oftentimes harsh months that precede it, by hosting a spectacular party for us to enjoy. The fresh colors, scents and sounds of the season are nature's gifts to us, and remind us, as in the immortal words of James Russell Lowell, that there is nothing "so rare as a day in June."

Because the warm weather beckons us outside, it has also been said, at least at our house, "What is so rare as a decent dinner in June?" After all, who really wants to be stuck in a hot, stuffy kitchen when there is so much to do outside? But, thanks to Sally Versaci of Bloomfield Hills, this week's delicious Winner Dinner can be quickly prepared and still leave you with plenty of time to enjoy the beauty of the season.

Versaci created this recipe for Mexican Fiesta Pie one night in desperation when she had a package of ground turkey defrosting in the sink, a cupboard full of taco fixings and practically nothing else on hand. Her innovative dish was a hit with her three children and husband, and they all came back for seconds. Versaci serves the pie with carrot and celery sticks. She likes to end this meal with a fabulous-tasting dessert called Mountain Mama's Mudslide.

With a name like that, you know it is going to be terrific.

ALTHOUGH HER LIFE is very busy keeping up with her three teenagers, Versaci also works part-time as a restaurant interior designer. Her husband owns 15 Burger King restaurants in the Chicago and suburban Detroit area and, for the last 10 years, she has been in charge of all the decorating and remodeling projects that have been periodically undertaken at each restaurant.

An avid tennis player, she also has enjoyed taking painting classes at the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association. Versaci has a college degree in home economics but is planning to go back to school this fall and take classes, specializing in interior design. She looks toward the future and hopes to expand her decorating career once her children are fully grown and off on their own.

Thank you, Sally Versaci, for sharing your recipes with us and congratulations on being this week's Winner Dinner Winner. I wish you continued good luck with your career and family and hope you will keep this column in mind if you create any more new recipes.

And, as we begin a new week, isn't it nice to know that it isn't necessary to RSVP to Mother Nature's garden party. The only hostess gift she asks of us is that we simply open our eyes and enjoy the magnificent beauty she has created for us. After all, no one can top her when it comes to setting a beautiful "tableau."

MEXICAN FIESTA PIE
CARROT AND CELERY STICKS MOUNTAIN MAMA'S MUDSLIDE

Recipes

MEXICAN FIESTA PIE

Quick and easy to assemble, this dish serves 4-6 people. It can be made early in the day and refrigerated until dinnertime.

- 1 onion, chopped
- 1 1/2 pounds ground beef or turkey
- 1 package taco seasoning mix
- 1 package medium-sized flour tortillas
- 1 can refried beans, 16-ounce size
- 1 can peeled and chopped green chilies, 4-ounce size
- 2 cups shredded taco cheese (Colby and Monterey Jack)
- 2 cups crushed tortilla chips
- 2 medium tomatoes, chopped
- Taco sauce

Saute onion in small amount of oil until tender. Add ground meat and brown, stirring. Drain the grease off the meat and add the taco seasoning packet along with 1/2 cup of water. Simmer, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, place 3 flour tortillas on the bottom of a 9-inch pie pan, spreading the tortillas out to cover the entire bottom of the pan. Spread 1/2 of the refried beans over the tortillas. Add 1/2 of the green chilies. Cover with half the meat mixture and 1 cup of the cheese. Repeat the layers and to with crushed tortilla chips. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Top with chopped tomatoes and serve with taco sauce, if desired.

CARROT AND CELERY STICKS

So simple to make, just grate some carrots and wash some celery stalks and serve them any length you want to. Kids love to help make these.

"MOUNTAIN MAMA'S MUDSLIDE"

This yummy dessert was invented by Fran Cooper. She is happy to share the recipe as long as you and whomever you should pass it on to don't change the name. With a name like that, though, who would want to change it?

- 1 stick softened margarine
- 1 cup flour
- 1 1/2 cup chopped pecans
- 4-ounce package of cream cheese
- 1 cup confectioner's sugar
- 1 medium-sized Cool Whip container
- 2 cups cold milk
- 1 small package vanilla instant pudding
- 1 small package chocolate instant pudding
- 1 chocolate Hershey bar

Mix well: 1 stick softened margarine, 1 cup flour and 1 cup chopped pecans. Press in the bottom of a 9-by-13-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Cool completely.

Beat till fluffy: 4 ounces cream cheese and 1 cup confectioner's sugar.

Fold in: 1 cup Cool Whip from medium container. Spread over cooled crust. Mix: 2 cups cold milk, 1 small package vanilla instant pudding and 1 small package chocolate instant pudding.

Beat ingredients until very thick. Spread over the cream cheese mixture.

Top with remaining Cool Whip. Grate a Hershey bar over the top. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. Refrigerate overnight or at least 4 hours.

Most of Muscadets from Sevres-et-Maine

The environs of the city of Nantes in France's Loire Valley is home for Muscadet.

From the mouth of the Loire River on the Atlantic Ocean, the vineyards spread inland along 73 miles of the river's length and encompass three appellations: Muscadet, Muscadet de Sevres-et-Maine and Muscadet des Coteaux de la Loire.

Eighty-five percent of all Muscadets, originating from about 30,000 vineyard acres, are from the best appellation, Sevres-et-Maine. The origin of the name is two small rivers, the Sevres and the Maine, southeast of Nantes.

Research for the name "Muscadet" reveals both lore and half truth. Some authorities say that the wine took its name from the muscadet de Bourgogne grape variety. Others say that the wine is called Muscadet because it can have a musky aroma.

We don't believe either of these is correct. The grape variety for Muscadet production is the melon de Bourgogne, called pinot blanc in the United States. The wines of the region are definitely not musky.

In the region, wines are fermented and aged in large concrete vats or stainless steel tanks — that's correct, no wood. Once fermentation completes, the wine is left sur lie (on the lees) during the fall and winter months until it is bottled in early April.

THE LEES ARE the precipitates resulting from fermentation. They are composed principally of dead yeast cells. Wine in contact with the lees remains fresh and unoxidized while gaining body. This is similar to the way champagne gains its character by remaining in contact with the focus on wine

Eleanor and Ray Heald

WINE SELECTION OF THE WEEK

1987 Cuvée "LM," Louis Metaireau ($10.50). LM stands for Louis Metaireau and his personal selection from the vintage.

The sur lie bottle bouquet is evident over pear-like and citrusy fruit. The oak nuances are from the sur lie aging because the wine saw no oak. Superbly elegant and complex, this wine will make you a fan of Muscadet with fresh, poached salmon and a light, freshly prepared mayonnaise.

sediment in the bottle before it is disgorged.

If you research the literature on Muscadet, you can find statements such as "Muscadet is a light, fresh wine with distinctive fruit, which gains nothing by being aged." Or "Muscadet is not a wine to keep."

Authors of such statements must never have tasted great Muscadets, such as those produced by Louis Metaireau, with three-to-five-years bottle age.

Louis Metaireau et Ses Vignerons d'Art is a group of winemakers each owning their own vineyards. In 1972, they collectively purchased a 68-acre vineyard, the Domaine du Grand Mouton. By joining their capital and labor, they created a professional partnership which is unique to this day in Muscadet and in all of France. Yes, in a sense, it's a cooperative, but one with self-imposed discipline to bottle and sell only the best wine from its members.

In the heart of Sevre et Maine, Louis Metaireau and his associate winemakers annually produce about 83,000 cases. After a rigorous tasting process, only about 40 percent of this wine earns the honor of being labeled "Louis Metaireau."

BEFORE GOING to market, the wines of the associate members and the Grand Mouton estate are blind tasted and ranked in January after the harvest and again in September, a year after harvest. "Poor wines are KO'd by the group," contends Metaireau. "Each grower accepts the collective verdict."

KO'd wines go anonymously to a negociant for blending. This selection process is the key to Metaireau's fame. "It gives each vigneron (winegrower) the incentive to make the best possible Muscadet," maintains the energetic Metaireau.

Wines that pass the selection process are bottled by the individual vigneron and sold under the Metaireau label. Each vigneron indicates which wines come from the art of his hand by stamping his initials on the cork.

Three Louis Metaireau wines are currently available in the Detroit area. They are wines to accompany seafood, shellfish or seafood terrines.

The 1988 Cuvée "One" is the best cuvee from the 1988 rigorous vigneron blind tasting. At $12.25 per bottle, it is probably at least twice the price of some other Muscadets you can find. But remember, these lower-end wines might contain a few of Metaireau's KO'd cuvees.

It showcases pear and apple fruit aromas and flavors. With full palate expression, it is clean, crisp, refreshing and elegant. Serve it well chilled as an appetizer with a cold crab dish and watch the crispness excite your palate.

THE 1986 GRAND MOUTON ($9) will disprove those who say that Muscadet does not age. This wine is made from 60-year-old vines. As it maturated, it lost some of its fresh, exuberant fruit, but it has built an appealing, finessful bottle bouquet. Its broad palate impression created by the sur lie aging technique remains fresh and alive. The vibrant acidity makes it a superb match for scallops in a light cream sauce accented with curry.

For all the Metaireau wines, a cream base for warm cuisine, or mayonnaise — plain or dill — for a cold shellfish presentation takes the edge off the nervy acidity. Either cream or mayonnaise allows the wine to show its softer qualities, while remaining crisp and palate-cleansing.

Santa Fe sandwiches have hot pepper sauce

AP — This sandwich will bring your taste buds to attention. Hot pepper sauce and cilantro, a fresh herb popular in Southwestern cooking, add snap to plain mayonnaise.

SANTA FE SUBS

- 1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
- 1/4 cup sliced cilantro
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
- Several dashes bottled hot pepper sauce
- Four French rolls (7-to-8-inches long)
- 1/4 pound thinly sliced cooked beef
- One 7-ounce jar roasted sweet red peppers, drained
- One 4-ounce package Monterey Jack cheese with peppers, thinly sliced
- 1/4 cup sliced green onion

For sauce, in a small mixing bowl combine mayonnaise or salad dressing, cilantro, garlic powder and hot pepper sauce. Slice tops from rolls; set aside. Scoop out insides of roll bottoms. Spread with half the sauce, top with half the beef, red pepper and remaining beef. Place on baking sheet. Cover loosely with foil. Bake in 375-degree oven 12 to 15 minutes or until hot. Remove foil. Place cheese on top of beef. Spread roll tops with remaining sauce; place next to roll bottoms on baking sheet. Bake, uncovered, 4 to 5 minutes more or until cheese begins to melt. To serve, sprinkle green onion over cheese and cap with roll tops; cut in half. Makes 4 servings.

COCAINE. IT CAN COST YOU YOUR BRAIN

Pack love in picnic baskets, moving day baskets

Picnic baskets filled with lots of goodies and packed with love can make a big hit with family and friends. For the gourmet eaters, a beautifully packed picnic basket can be a gourmet delight.

Baskets are filled with lots of colorful picnic baskets, or be creative and make up your own picnic baskets using round, oval or egg shapes and all different sizes. These baskets also can be used as serving pieces for bread, fruit, crackers, olives, whatever. Sprinkle of colorful napkins, plates or silverware add to the appeal.

Moving day baskets for friends or family moving to another city or across town are indeed a welcome sight. Give them a break from running to the local fast food restaurant. Pack a basket filled with homemade goodies that can be a real moving feast.

Make a boring, difficult day very festive and fun. Don't plan on electricity for your meal or even furniture. Take along some blankets or folding chairs to sit and relax. Any box can be used as a table.

PIZZA BREAD sandwiches, fruit kabobs, tossed salad, fresh veggies with dip and cookies can be a welcome meal. If it's easier to take a brunch-type meal, consider bagels, muffins, fruit, cheeses, assorted crackers, French bread and popcorn for snacking during the afternoon.

Don't forget to pack beverages in an ice-filled cooler or a thermos of hot coffee. It's also a good idea to take along a couple of trash bags since these may already be packed. If you are taking along a bottle of wine, champagne or sparkling juice, bring a corkcrew and/or a bottle opener. (In moving day, who can find anything?

Chicken, shrimp or tuna salad, either for sandwiches or on a bed of lettuce, can be easy to pack. Keep in mind food safety. You don't want friends or family to get food poisoning from your good deed. Salads with meat, eggs or fish need to be kept in a cooler with lots of ice to ensure food safety. Cold foods must be kept below 40 degrees, hot foods above 140 degrees and, of course, keep foods clean.

For a real touch of class, purchase some inexpensive wine glasses or tumblers. Paper cups set many teeth on edge. Use colorful cloth napkins or terrycloth finger towels instead of paper. Decorate a pop bottle with sparkly paper and add a fresh flower for the centerpiece. Make moving day fun and festive for your friends or family.

Picnic baskets are also fun for Meadow Brook or Pine Knob or any outdoor activity. Instead of stopping for a fast food box or bag dinner, try something exciting. Use a large thermos for chilled soups such as gazpacho, vichyssoise, spinach or fruit soup. Serve with breadsticks, crackers, French bread, muffins or a varied selection of quick breads. Make mini-loaves of different kinds of breads like banana, cranberry, nut, lemon or zucchini ahead of time and freeze. These always are a hit with friends.

FINGER FOOD suggestions are guacamole and chips; cantaloupe wrapped with prosciutto; and kabobs of cheese, pickles, olives and small onions. Tidbits of shrimp, salmon and crab, and pate are easy to serve, but remember these must be kept cold. Fresh vegetable/relish trays should be kept cold, not for safety reasons but so they look fresh.

Marinate a molee of fresh vegetables in Italian salad dressing overnight to develop their flavor. This can be used as a main dish or side dish. A homemade taco salad (minus the big shell) or a combination pasta and vegetable salad are all meals themselves. On a hot night, how about a tomato stuffed with a cold shrimp salad? Luckily, these can all be transported easily.

Fresh fruits in the summer are always a big hit with picnic-goers who have a sweet tooth. Pound cake or angel food cake cut into cubes, served with fresh berries or a praline sauce, give an interesting twist to a picnic. Cookies or brownies are also favorite finger food desserts.

Whether your picnic is at the home of a friend who is moving, or in the backyard, around the pool, at the local park or at a concert, food safety is the most important consideration when deciding what foods to take along. Look at your picnic equipment to make sure cold foods stay cold and hot foods stay hot.

A picnic should be special, festive, fun and, most of all, it should be safe and easy to manage. And when the compliments roll in, you can say, "It wasn't any trouble at all."

Rocks in familiar role: district champs

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

If it's the month of June, one can safely assume Plymouth Salem is doing well or the baseball diamond.

The Rocks won their third district championship in the last four years Saturday, holding off Adrian 3-1 in the final at Westland John Glenn High School.

Salem cleared a major hurdle in its first game when it eliminated Ypsilanti 8-6, but the Rocks had to rally with four runs in the top of the seventh to do it.

"We know when we're pitching well, we can play with anybody," Salem coach John Gravin said. "I think we prepared well for Ypsilanti."

"They're known to have a hard-throwing staff, and we made some adjustments in practice this week and I think it paid off. We prepared specially to face hard throwers."

JEFF PALUK won the first game in relief of starter Rob Kowalski, and the Ypsilanti pitchers didn't like what they saw from the Salem batters.

Scott Rodgers and Dave Makowiec were 4-for-4 and did most of the damage for the Rocks, who will play league rival Farmington in the first round of the regional tournament Saturday at Wyandotte Roosevelt High School. The Falcons rallied from a 7-1 deficit to beat Redford Catholic Central at Southfield.

Rodgers hit two home runs and had four RBI, and Makowiec started Salem rallies in the fifth and seventh innings with a triple and double, respectively. Tracey Ewald chipped in two hits, including a bunt single to keep the seventh-inning rally alive.

Kowalski worked the first 5½ innings and allowed six runs on 10 hits and two walks. But he also struck out nine and battled throughout, according to Gravin. Paluk pitched a scoreless 1½ innings to get the win.

"It's usually the other way around," Gravin said. "Paluk is the one who usually starts and Robbie who relieves. We last used Paluk in relief in the big Taylor Center game. So we knew we could use him — and we had to."

Rodgers hit solo homers in the fourth and fifth innings, and Tom Noonan and Brian Rudolph also had RBI to give Salem a 4-2 lead, but the Braves went ahead 6-4 after six.

IN THE SEVENTH, Makowiec hit a lead-off double and scored on Noonan's single. Rodgers ripped a two-run double, and Eric Nielson hit into a double play but still drove in the fourth run.

"It was do-or-die time for us, and they never quit," Gravin said. "We've become a lot closer-knit bunch in the last few weeks." Salem has won 13 of its last 17 games and is 17-10 overall after beginning the season 4-6.

The Rocks beat Adrian 7-1 two weeks ago, but the Maples saved their ace, left-handed Dave Lock for the final after brushing aside Ann Arbor Huron, winner of only four games, in the first round.

The championship game was suspended because of rain with two out in the sixth and Salem leading 3-1. After a 15-minute delay, the game was completed with Adrian adding a run in the seventh.

Rodgers was the winning pitcher, going the distance. He had a no-hitter until the fifth and had allowed only two hits until the stoppage in play.

Kevin Craggs walked and scored Salem's first run on the second baseman's error in the second inning. In the third, Makowiec had an RBI groundout and Rodgers a run-producing single.

Kelly Holmes pitched 21 innings, striking out 22 batters, to keep Canton in the game at the John Glenn district tournament.

Canton marathoners bow out

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Plymouth Canton coach Dave Racer suspected early in Saturday's Class A regional softball tournament that a long afternoon awaited the Chiefs.

Not because his team was over-matched, but because it was so evenly matched with first-round opponent Belleville at Westland John Glenn High School.

And, for that reason, it was a long afternoon for all involved. Oh, how long it was!

"About the 12th or 14th inning, something went through my mind that said 'This game is going to end in the 21st inning,'" Racer said after the Tigers claimed an 8-2 victory over Canton in exactly that many innings.

After an exchange of runs in the 20th, Belleville finally got to Canton pitcher Kelly Holmes in the 21st, scoring six runs on four hits and two errors.

"I WAS HOPING someone would win the game on a hit," Belleville coach Peggy Curtis said, "instead of an error or passed ball and have some kid think she cost her team the ballgame."

The Chiefs (24-4) and Belleville (19-10) took nearly five hours to play their marathon contest, but it never lacked for suspense.

And a patient Ann Arbor Pioneer team had a keen interest in the outcome. After blanking Adrian 5-0 in the first game, the Pioneers waited until 5:10 p.m. to find out who they would play for the championship game. But the final had to be postponed until today because of rain.

Though there was a total of 27 hits in the Canton-Belleville game, it was dominated by the two pitchers, Holmes and Dawn Rochowiak, who also went the distance.

Holmes, a freshman, faced 95 batters and allowed 17 hits, but she also struck out 22 and walked only eight. Two of Canton's nine errors were costly, however.

"She just pitched a super game," Racer said. "She didn't give many walks today, and that's one of her faults. She threw one of the best games she's thrown."

"SHE WAS tired (in the final inning). Twenty-one innings — who wouldn't be. She pitched a hell of a game, but it should have been done in seven innings."

The Chiefs scored in the opening inning when Jennifer Vanootighem drew a lead-off walk and came home on Stacey Thompson's RBI single. But the Tigers pulled even in the third when Marcy Korgal singled to right field but the ball was booted, enabling Karrie Gebhardt to score from second.

Rochowiak pitched 18 scoreless innings after the first, holding the Chiefs to 10 hits and five walks. She also struck out 10 and hit three batters.

Belleville's defense made only three errors, but the offense failed to give her support in clutch situations, leaving 23 runners on base. Belleville left 15 stranded — at least one per inning — from the 10th through the 20th.

"I was so excited by the way our defense played," Curtis said. "We're a young team with only one senior, and we'd been giving up a lot of runs."

Coincidentally, both teams took advantage of the other's error in the 20th inning to extend their at-bats and keep the game tied at 2-2.

HOLMES MISHANDLED Tanya Kjellin's ground ball with two out, and the next batter, Korgal, singled to drive in Gebhardt from second again.

Pioneer hurried to begin its pre-game warm-ups, but the final was further delayed when Canton tied in the bottom of the 20th.

With two outs, Vanootighem was caught stealing at second, but shortstop Linda Pasek dropped the ball. Kris Ford walked, bringing Thompson, the team's best hitter, to the plate with Vanootighem now on third. Thompson's single to right field guaranteed another inning.

"Thompson had a chance to swing the bat," Racer said. "She was afraid I was going to pull a first and third steal. She asked me to give her a chance to swing the bat. You couldn't have a better hitter up there, and she came up with a hit."

"They've got a great shortstop, and any other shortstop wouldn't have made a play on (Jenny) Sekovich — and we win the game," he added. Pasek had to make a difficult play to throw Sekovich out at first and end Canton's half of the 20th inning.

Belleville loaded the bases with one out in the 21st. Three runs scored on two errors, and Kjellin, Kelly Rochon and Pasek had RBI singles. Rochon finished with five hits and Pasek three. Thompson had three hits, Bridget DeRosa and April Galici two each.

"In my estimation, I've never seen a Canton team play any harder than it did today," said Racer, who coached his last Canton softball game. He will coach the Madonna College team next year.

K'zoo Central topples Chiefs in regional final

Plymouth Canton had far more opportunities to score Saturday, but Kalamazoo Central only had to be right once.

The Maroon Giants' Kim Hermsberg squibbled a left-footed shot that tumbled past the Chiefs' netminder, Jori Welchans, in the fifth minute of the match. No. 1-ranked Canton (13-3-2) never recovered, losing 1-0 to Kalamazoo Central (17-1-1) in a girls Class A soccer regional championship game at Okemos High School.

A bit of déjà vu, perhaps: Two years ago, almost to the day, No. 1-ranked Kalamazoo Central was upset by Canton 4-1 at Okemos. Canton went on to win the Class A championship that year.

The Chiefs weren't interested in reminiscing of past glories afterward. The team promptly filed on the bus and headed east on I-96. The loss was difficult, especially in light of the many opportunities Canton had at equalizing.

Hermsberg's goal was not a thing of beauty. But, nonetheless, it was unsettling to the Chiefs. Canton never seemed to find its form, playing like a team with something to lose.

The Chiefs came into the match on the heels of being ranked No. 1 in the state in the final poll. Smith didn't feel the ranking had any effect on his team Saturday.

"What does the rankings have to do with it?" he said.

BUT THE Kalamazoo Central tally only five minutes into the match had everything to do with the loss.

"We stood back and watched the ball being kicked down the field," said Smith, describing the goal. "We never got into the ballgame. Maybe they dulled us. . . I don't know. We didn't play our best soccer, that's for sure."

"The girls worked hard, but something was missing." Yeah, like a Canton goal. The Chiefs' scoreless state wasn't from a lack of effort. In the second half, the Chiefs did everything but wrap the ball and have it shipped by U.P.S. into the back of the net.

Shots flew high and wide as Canton peppered the goal continually with no luck. Ironically, the Maroon Giants' goalkeeper Emily Horvath earned the shutout but made few saves.

Senior forward Jenny Russell and junior forward Lynn Nichols cranked a few shots towards the goal as did freshman Colleen Connell.

Otherwise, Kalamazoo Central's backline of Anna Sylwan and Julie Anderson kept the Canton forwards bottled up.

"We knew about Russell; it's Jenny Russell, right?" Kalamazoo Central coach George VanLinder said. "When we played them three years ago (actually two years ago), she killed us."

"We knew they play with two forwards. We figured if we could stop those two forwards and hold on, we had a good chance of winning."

LIKE MOST, VanLinder waited for the other soccer shoe to drop. Canton, an explosive offensive team, went into the second half with the wind at its back and certainly a higher skill level on its side.

The Chiefs carried the play for the opening 15 minutes of the second half. Shot after shot was unleashed, but nothing.

"We were panicking, I guess," Smith said. "Sometimes you shoot close, sometimes you shoot wide. Today, we weren't close."

Except for a wind-blown boot from midfield that hit the crossbar, he was right.

After the initial flurry, the Chiefs had to contend with the Maroon Giants' counter attack. Alicia Webster and Nikki Johnson both broke in alone but sent shots over the net.

From there, legs grew a little heavy and the ball became as elusive as a balloon on a windy day.

Despite the loss, Canton concluded one of its finest seasons. The team had only three seniors, defenders Erin Morgan and Becky Shankle and Russell.

"We had a very good season, no doubt for a young team," Smith said. "We just didn't want to end it like this."

Glenn repeats as WLAA champ

By Bill Parker staff writer

With seven individual champions, Westland John Glenn ran away with the Western Lakes Activities Association boys track title Wednesday at Livonia Churchill for the second consecutive season.

"At the start of the year, I didn't think we'd wind up here," Glenn coach Richard Gordon said. "There is great competition in this league. When you come to a meet like this, you can throw away your paper and pencil and forget about the dual-meet records because anything can happen."

"It's nice to repeat as conference champions, but it was a lot closer than what people thought. It (WLAA) brings out the best in the kids with all the tough competition."

Glenn, which won the Lakes Division title with a 5-0 record, won the league meet with 148 points. Churchill (second in Western Division at 4-1) placed second with 121 points followed by Plymouth Salem (second in Lakes at 4-1) with 106, Plymouth Canton (first in Western at 5-0) with 89 and Livonia Stevenson (third in Lakes at 3-1) with 63. (See statistical summary for complete results.)

IT TOOK THE Rockets a while to gain momentum, but when they finally fired up their engines there was no stopping the Rocket attack.

Glenn was fourth after the field events with 38 points and remained in fourth place after the first two running events. Beginning with the 100 dash and finishing with the 400, the Rockets put together five straight individual victories and stormed into the lead.

Last year's conference champ Andrew Dobbins DQed in the 100 dash, but teammate Randy Seach came through with a victory in 11.1, edging Stevenson's Chris Muzo. Seach and Dobbins teamed up with Ed Kwilos and Jason Pizzuti to win the 800 relay in 1:32.7.

Glenn's David Ryan, who had a previous best of 4:32.2, picked up an individual title in the 1,600 run, overtaking Walled Lake Central's Mark Kwiatkowski on the last corner to finish the race in 4:29. The victory clipped Churchill's lead over Glenn to 81-79.

The 400 relay team of Lamar Ellison, Pizzuti, Bryan Schultz and Dobbins gave the Rockets the lead for good with a conference championship in 45.0.

"I told the kids to remember the old saying 'Sometimes you have to lose a battle to win the war,'" Gordon said.

don said. "I told them to be patient. We always have people ahead of us early, but as the meet progresses we come on."

Glenn padded the lead with a one-two finish in the 400. Carl Lowe won the race in 49.9 and Seach placed second in 51.2.

Bill Griffiths won the high jump for the Rockets at 6-2 and Dobbins won the 200 in 23.0 to round out Glenn's individual champions. The 1,600 relay team and the 3,200 relay team placed second in 3:29.5 and 8:15.2, respectively. Ryan placed second in the 800 in 2:00.9 and Dan Lago placed third in the pole vault at 11-10.

"Randy Seach did a really nice job, getting us some points in the 100 after Andrew (Dobbins) DQed and giving us a nice one-two punch in the 400. That (400) was the turning point for us," Gordon said. "David Ryan also picked up some slack for us."

CHURCHILL FINISHED with one conference champion, but the Chargers had six second-place finishes and three thirds.

The 1,600 relay team of Eric Henderson, Chris Sepanski, Marcus Pierce and Chris Muzo picked up Churchill's only conference title in the last event of the meet, winning the race in 3:29.

"We've been second behind Glenn for two years in a row," Churchill coach Fred Price said. "In a tough, 12-team league like this one, I feel we are still a strong contender. We had a disappointing loss to Canton in the division, so the kids wanted to come out here and show everyone we could do it. Overall the kids performed extremely well."

The Chargers' strongest event was the 300 intermediate hurdles where they picked up 16 points with second- and fourth-place finishes. Pierce placed second in 40.6 and Muzo placed fourth in 40.7. Pierce also placed second in the high hurdles in 15.2 and Muzo was second in the 100 dash in 11.2.

SALEM FINISHED WITH a pair of champions. The 3,200 relay team picked up a conference title with a winning time of 8:15.2. Salem's strongest event was the long jump, however, where Leon Hister placed first with a leap of 21-8 3/4 inches and Jim Ramsay placed sixth with a jump of 20-3 1/4.

Three Salem jumpers scored in the high jump. K.C. Kirkpatrick and Cliff Lee tied for fourth at 6-0 and Ramsay picked up sixth-place points with a jump of 5-10.

Ramsay and Steve Burlison placed third (15.3) and fourth (15.4), respectively, in the high hurdles and the 400 relay team placed second in 45.0.

Plymouth Canton, the Western Division champ, earned first place in the discus when Dean Benedict threw 148-3. The Chiefs picked up 12 points in the long jump when Eric Miller placed second at 21-8 3/4 and Karl Wukie finished seventh at 20-1.

Mike DeJarnett and Mark Kroll combined for 10 points in the high jump by placing third (6-2) and seventh (5-8), respectively.

Canton also picked up third place points in both the 3,200 relay (8:15.6) and the 800 relay (2:01.7).

LIVONIA STEVENSON placed fifth and was led by three league champs. Adam Samulski won the pole vault at 11-10 (two misses), Jeff Allan won the high hurdles in 15.1 and Randy Westlake won the 800 in 2:00.1.

Farmington placed seventh and finished with a pair of champs. Jason Gutting won the shot put with a toss of 52-9 and Ben Goba won the 3,200 run in 9:37.8.

Rich Baish was the other league champion, winning the intermediate hurdles for Livonia Franklin in 40.1.

North Farmington was led by Craig Stoe, who placed third in the 800 (2:00.9) and David Gerts, who placed seventh in the 800 (2:03.1).

Scott Urbanski finished second in the 200 (23.1) to pace Walled Lake Western while teammates Bill Crosby and Jeff Grosso placed second (9:46.7) and third (9:52.9), respectively, in the 3,200 run.

Tony Shaieb placed second in both the discus (144-11) and the shot (49-2) to lead Farmington Hills Harrison, and Blazo Sarcevic added an eighth in the shot (45-5 1/4).

Mark Kwiatkowski carried Walled Lake Central with a second-place showing in the 3,200 run (4:30.2).

Aussie wins U.S. Open

THIS WAS THE week that was. It was the Ladies U.S. Open Tournament at Satellite Bowl in Dearborn Heights.

Two hundred and forty of the finest women bowlers in the world started last week for the honors and the big money. The Open offered the largest prize on the tour with $24,000 for first place and $120,000 in total prizes.

The starting field was cut to 60 semifinalists by Tuesday, and one of those to survive the cut was Mary Mohacsi of Livonia. Mary was doing very well to this point until knee problems forced her out of action.

Mohacsi is one of the truly great bowlers from the area, a member of the Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame and proprietor of the Right Approach pro shop at Merri Bowl Lanes in Livonia.

It would have been interesting to see how far she could have gone had not her knee problem occurred.

By Wednesday, the field had been chopped to 24 bowlers through eight-game, match-play competition to decide the final five for the TV finals.

DURING MATCH play, a bonus score of 30 points is awarded for each game won. This is added to the score, which is based on plus pins for each game over 200 (217 would be plus-17 pins) and minus pins for any score under 200.

The five who made the TV finals were Tish Johnson, Dana Miller-Mackie, Leanne Barrette, Aleta Sill and Dede Davidson. Some of the top scores during match play eliminations on Wednesday were Michelle Mullen 277, Leila Wagner 269 and 257, Cheryl Daniels 258, Barrette 263, Nikki Gianulias 259 and 256 and Davidson 257.

The tournament high game was a 300 during qualifying rounds by Barbara Batt. Both Sill and Davidson represented our area in the finals. Aleta is originally from Westland and now a resident of Dearborn Heights. Davidson hails from nearby Southgate.

Davidson had to fight off a late challenge by Mullin to retain her spot in the finals, beating out the sixth-place finisher by a slim margin of only three pins.

To say the televised finals were exciting could be the understatement of the year. To steal a line from ABC Sports, "The Thrill of Victory and the Agony of Defeat" would be a proper title, and Hollywood could have written the script.

The two local favorites, Sill and Davidson, squared off in the first match. Both bowlers had difficulty with the lane con-

10-pin alley

BOWLING HONOR ROLL

Country Lanes (Farmington Hills): Champion of Champions Tournament — Bill Reddick 725, Ken Glinski 701. Both bowlers are Farmington Hills residents. This was the first 700 series for each.

Monday Sweepers — Larry Franz was the winner. The Sweepers is an open competition for any league bowler. Action starts at 10 p.m. every Monday.

Drakeshire Lanes (Farmington Hills): Wednesday Summer Mixed Trio Classic League — Shawn Flannery 280.

Westland Bowl: Thursday Men's Summer Trio League — Dave Walker 279, Jeff Tesciman 277, Tony Banks 760, Bob Brown 748.

Super Bowl (Canton Twp): Battle of the Sexes — Pat Rzepecki 279 and 690, Dave Kowalski 256, Shirley Steele 245, Nicci Quzzort 638, Peggy Smiley 606.

The Battle of the Sexes takes place every Thursday night during the summer season.

ditions, but Aleta prevailed 191-180.

In the second match, the only right-hander in the finals, Barrette, just managed to slip by and eliminate Aleta by a single pin, 173-172, both bowlers still not able to find a strike line.

GAME 3 saw Miller-Mackie of Sydney, Australia, defeat Barrette 173-146 as Leanne struggled to get her shot to work. In the championship match, Miller-Mackie went up against the top seed, Tish Johnson of Panorama City, Calif.

Johnson missed a spare in the first frame, but Dana was open in the first three and was having a problem with the ball. She switched to a different ball half way through the game and made a remarkable comeback, stringing the strikes even though she had three Brooklyn strikes.

Johnson finished first at 189 and Miller-Mackie spared in the 10th frame with this situation: strike wins, nine is a tie and anything less loses. She gave her shot lots of room to finish, and it carried all 10 for the $24,000 top cash and U.S. Open green jacket.

Asked about her victory, Dana did not let the bad start discourage her. The quote "Never give up" couldn't have been more appropriate.

Miller-Mackie is now on route back to Australia where she will compete in more tournaments. She has won 19 of 37 bowling events Down Under. The U.S. Open was no fluke. This is one truly great competitor, and I let her know that she is now an honorary citizen of Livonia (in addition to being the U.S. Open champion).

A week ago we traveled to Traverse City to attend the Michigan State Y.A.B.A. scholarship tournament. There were quite a few young bowlers from the Observer and Eccentric area; however, the scores are not yet compiled. We'll just wait a bit to find out how the kids from our area did.

Plymouth's Lori Craig showed up at the U.S. Open bowling with professional status. If the name is unfamiliar to some readers, Lori was better known as Lorraine Anderson. Yes, the one who had all those high games in Ladies Classic League the past couple seasons and the first 300 ever by a female at Country Lanes.

Even though Lori did not make the cut at the Open, she is a great competitor, and I am sure we will hear from her in the pro ranks.

The Y.A.B.A. National Championships will take place in this area later this summer at Thunderbowl Lanes in Allen Park.

Representing Michigan will be Tamika Glenn of Farmington Hills in the girls scratch division and Julie Wright, also of Farmington Hills, who was runner-up to Tamika in the eliminations.

Actually, Julie will be bowling as the girls scratch division bowler from the Caribbean Islands. Paul Srumny is the boys scratch division bowler for Michigan. Tamika, Julie and Paul compete in the Sunday Youth Classic.

As more information comes in, the Y.A.B.A. Nationals will be mentioned in future columns.

As an adjunct to the Seagrams Coolers U.S. Open, the Amateur Women bowlers had a separate single-elimination tournament for those who did not make the final cut.

Tina Barber of Westland came through with victories over Viva Ervin, Margaret Smith, Mandy Wilson and Sandra Phipps to meet Melody Philippon for the championship. Melody took the final match by two pins over Tina, 214-212.

Leading scorers for Vardar included Erik Lawson (Ann Arbor), Dario Rauker (Westland) and Dominick Vella Jr. (Livonia). Dale Garrish (Troy), Scott Lamphear (Livonia) and goalie Jeff Cassar (Livonia) were the top defenders for the winners.

Also, Tom Baker (Plymouth), a member of the Midwest Regional team, displayed the talent that may place him on the national team this year by playing an outstanding final game.

Other team members included Brad Dennis (Brighton), Chris Galea and Mike Gentile (Livonia), Mike Giese (Farmington Hills), Brian Kalay (Ann Arbor), Jason Lipke (South Lyon), goalkeeper Mike Schroeder (Dearborn Heights), Erik Stemmer and Mike Widowiak (Canton), Matt Suckley (Sterling Heights) and Matt Voight (Troy). The team is coached by Mark Christensen.

The 1977 Michigan Wolves soccer team emerged unbeaten and unscored upon to win the 1990 Potomac Invitational Soccer Tournament in Potomac, Maryland.

In the final game, the Wolves turned back the Ohio Elite Team 4-0. The Wolves played part of the contest without the services of league-leading goalie Paul Dood, who broke his leg.

The tournament drew teams from Toronto, the New England states and Mississippi. One of the teams the Wolves defeated was the Mississippi State Olympic development team, 2-0.

Mercy wins shootout, regional

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Two teams with only a goal difference between them in three previous encounters? Better pack a lunch, cancel any evening dinner plans and count on a shootout.

On Saturday, Catholic League rivals Birmingham Marian and Farmington Hills Mercy even needed more than the standard number of penalty kicks to settle their Class A regional championship match. The Marlins won the shootout 4-3, beating the Mustangs 1-0 at Troy Athens High School to advance to the state quarterfinals.

Mercy (13-1-4) meets Rochester Adams on Wednesday at Sterling Heights Ford II High School. Marian finishes 12-1-3.

Evenly matched? The Bobsey Twins couldn't have done better with mirrors than Mercy and Marian.

After 30 minutes of overtime, both teams were in a scoreless deadlock. In the penalty kick shootout, both teams were tied 3-3, forcing a sudden-death situation.

Marlins' senior midfielder Anne Scullen rectified the problem. She hit a low shot to the right corner of the net on Mercy's sixth penalty shootout attempt. Mustangs freshman defender Stephanie Storen's shot then sailed over the bar.

JUNIOR FORWARD Dana Lehmkuhl, junior forward Kathryn Dudley and freshman midfielder Carrie Dziadosz scored on their shootout attempts for Mercy. Junior defender Jennifer Riker, sophomore midfielder Molly Ferguson and junior defender Kim Chenet answered for Marian.

"It was an evenly matched game," said Mercy coach Henry Klimes.

"You hate to see it end this way, but somebody has to win and somebody has to lose."

Mercy has had more shootouts than Al Capone recently. The team beat then No. 1-ranked Farmington, 1-0, last week in the district final on penalty kicks.

Saturday's game against Marian could have went into Sunday. Each team had an equal amount of opportunities. That was due mostly to the windy and rainy conditions.

The Mustangs opened the match with the wind at their backs and dominated. The team had six clean cracks at the net, including two shots from Ferguson.

Marlins' netminder Renee Larabell was equal to the task, saving all six shots. Mercy didn't have one shot on goal in the first 40 minutes.

"I really don't like to play against the wind because the ball is hard to judge," said Larabell, who took full control of the penalty area during the match. "I'm really happy we got out of the first half."

Oh Boy! Racing for gold

By Pat Schutte
staff writer

Mark Tate of Canton Township has finally made it. Like a baseball player patiently moving up through the minor leagues and finally getting that chance to play in the "big show," Tate has earned the right to sit on the porch with the big dogs of his sport.

Since age 13, Tate has been racing power boats... with a well-documented level of success.

From a $1,500, nine-foot long, five-horsepower, J-Stock Outboard Hydroplane, capable of speeds around 30 mph, Tate, under the careful tutelage of his racing family — father Joe Tate Jr. and grandfather Joe Tate Sr. — began weaving his way up through the ranks, leaving shattered records and opposing boats in his wake.

In 1979, Tate was voted the Marine Prop "Rider of the Year." In 1981, Tate broke the 850 cc five-mile competition record in St. Petersburg, Fla., by two mph.

That year he was also elected to the American Power Boat Association Inboard Hall of Fame. The following year he set another record in the five-mile competition record in the 1200 cc class.

And his most impressive record to date, in 1988 Tate was the first driver ever to qualify for the national finals in four different classes.

Yet, with all of his trophies, titles and records, Tate had not reached his goal, a goal that he has always had in the back of his mind — to drive one of those big guns, to race an unlimited hydroplane.

WELL, WHAT A coincidence. As the Detroit APBA Budweiser Gold Cup gets ready to celebrate 75 years of racing on the Detroit River this weekend, guess who's entered as the driver of the Oh Boy! Oberto unlimited hydroplane?

Here's a hint. Last year's Oh Boy! Oberto driver, George Woods, has since taken the helm of the Mr. Pringles boat. One guess, please.

Nice choice! Mark Tate, all of 30 years old, but having raced for 17 of those 30 years, will pilot the 6,000-pound, twin WWII aircraft engine, 2,500-horsepower, 200 mph-plus, Oh Boy! Oberto hydroplane on the APBA unlimited hydroplane circuit this summer.

And oh boy, is this self-employed industrial coatings expert fired up about it!

"I'm excited, but not very nervous... yet," said Tate a week before the first race of the season in Miami. "This is a goal that I have worked many, many years for."

The jump from the Grand Prix boats that Tate has driven, off and on since 1983, to the unlimited boats should be as natural as the progression from the little outboards he used to drive before he got into the in-board classes. Should be...

"We're talking about a boat that weighs almost two tons more, generates 1,400 more horses, and travels on the average of 60 mph faster," said Tate on the difference between a Grand Prix hydroplane and an unlimited hydroplane. "The trick will be to just relate to this and drive the horse to weight ratio accordingly."

THE GRAND Prix boats that race in the Detroit River run for the Silver Cup title, versus the unlimiteds that run for the Gold Cup title.

Tate's ready. The owner of Oh Boy! Oberto, Jim Harvey, chose Tate out of a field of other drivers with more unlimited experience (Tate has yet to drive one).

Please turn to Page 6

The throttle wide open, the recognizable rooster creates a fine mist behind the Oh Boy! Oberto unlimited hydroplane.

ROBERT PETERS

BILL HANSEN

Mark Tate reached a goal this year — racing an unlimited hydroplane — and when the Detroit APBA Budweiser Gold Cup kicks off this weekend, he'll be there, driving the Oh Boy! Oberto hydroplane.

Hydroplanes show 'spirit'

By Pat Schutte
staff writer

In what has come to be known as the "Superbowl" of hydroplane racing, Detroit is set to host its 75th anniversary Detroit American Power Boat Association Budweiser Gold Cup hydroplane race Thursday-Sunday, June 7-10, on the Detroit River — off Jefferson Avenue between Burns and Marquette Drive.

To be or not be: Dave Barry at 40

By Jill Hamilton
special writer

Pulitzer Prize winning humorist Dave Barry was at Borders Book Shop in Novi recently to sign his latest book, "Dave Barry Turns 40."

When he got to the store, he was the subject of immediate attention. A few clerks fawned over him, a couple of patrons shyly introduced themselves and legions of the press hounded him — the Observer & Eccentric and the Novi News, at least.

Barry managed to break away for a few minutes to talk about his job as what he calls "a writer of sophomoric humor."

Q: How do you react to all this attention?

Barry: Where people recognize me is in Miami because my picture's in the paper. When we go out to dinner, sometimes people will come over or buy me a beer — which is the real reason I got into journalism in the first place.

The absolute height of wilderness for an author on a book tour is equivalent to what would happen if you parachuted a reasonably low level rock star into a nearly vacant Alaskan village. Really famous writer — I'm not saying I'm one because I'm not — but a really, really famous writer would usually get a lot less attention walking through an airport than the local weather person would.

Newspaper fame is a low-level kind of fame — not that I'm complaining. I can't imagine what it would be like to be really, really well-known and have people saying, "Look! He's having creamy Italian dressing!"

MOVING PICTURES

Quaid (Arnold Schwarzenegger) is accosted by Tony (Dean Norris), a mutant, after meeting Melina (Rachel Ticotin) in "Total Recall."

Schwarzenegger's 'Recall' bombs as a motion picture

At the outset, it's quite clear that "Total Recall" (D, R, 109 minutes) is a simple-minded, multi-million dollar disappointment. One is hard pressed to understand where $60-70 million was spent on this production. Certainly, not on the dialogue.

Doug Quaid (Arnold Schwarzenegger) wakes from a nightmare to be comforted by his wife, Lori (Sharon Stone), who coos, "My poor baby."

Nobody, I repeat, nobody calls Schwarzenegger "poor baby." The film closes with equally puerile dialogue. Quaid asks: "What if it's a dream?" to which Melina (Rachel Ticotin) responds: "Kiss me quick before you wake up."

In between, there's more than 100 minutes of similar, amateur conversation, a plot that is distinguished only by its cliches and acting that ranges from offhand disinterest to the lumbering difficulty with which Arnold Schwarzenegger reads his lines. Apparently, he consumed all his talent in "Twins" and is now reduced to fighting, running and flexing his admirable muscles.

Quaid, a construction worker, dreams of Mars although he's never been there. In order to cleanse his mind of these strange dreams, he buys mental passage from a company that specializes in implanting travel fantasies. The process goes awry because there are unknown implants lurking in Quaid's brain.

THE PLOT also involves oppressed colonists on Mars. They mine trinitium largely for the benefit of the Martian dictator, Cohagen (Ronny Cox), who provides them with insufficient air and limited shielding from solar radiation.

That causes extensive mutations in their children and keeps the makeup department out of the mines and hard at work. A hooker with three breasts is typical of the childish use of their craft.

After Quaid's implant mishap, he's off to Mars in a late 21st century high-tech modernization of the old amnesia plot. He must discover who or what he is.

Along the way, Quaid contends with Cohagen's thugs led by Richter (Michael Ironside). This plot contrivance conveniently allows Quaid to get beaten except when he's beating on Richter's thugs or shooting them and the local dardemes.

The body count in "Total Recall" is quite awesome although the fight sequences tend to look very much like one another. They're interspersed with turgid, slow-paced dramatic scenes.

The production team didn't skimp on stage blood and there's gore galore with severed limbs, multiple bullet wounds and one particularly offensive scene where Quaid uses a dead body as a shield against bullets.

THE LOGIC here and elsewhere is pretty weak. Can a body effectively stop so many bullets? Would a Mars colony erect so many buildings with glass windows facing an airless planet? How do those windows filter solar radiation? Would Richter shoot out one of those windows? Can people survive for more than a moment on an airless surface? Is it possible to create an instant planetary atmosphere?

None of these seem reasonable and the film makes no attempt to justify such absurdities. Even science fiction needs to follow its own logic. When that logic is ignored, the project falls miserably, witness "Total Recall."

The incredible sums of money repeatedly spent don't show in this unimaginative story with its mediocre visual style, boring and repetitive stunts, effects that aren't very special and a lack of the spectacular polish generally associated with major sci-fi productions.

No doubt the film's excessive grossness and murky mental tactics will attract audiences. That's sad but then "Total Recall" is one of the saddest excuses for a motion picture to appear at a theater near you in a long time.

STILL PLAYING:

- "Back to the Future Part III" (A, PG, 106 minutes).
- This time Doc and Marty are back to the past in an extremely entertaining adventure in the old west.
- "Bird on a Wire" (A-, PG-13, 106 minutes).
- Mel Gibson and Goldie Hawn on thrilling cross-country search for nasty character trying to murder Gibson.
- "Cadilliac Man" (B-, R, 94 minutes).

Slow start detracts, from Robin Williams fine, comic performance as Cadillac salesman under pressure.

"Camille Claudel" (R).

Oscar-nominated (best actress and foreign film) story of Auguste Rodin's mistress, a sculptress in her own right.

"Cinema Paradiso" (A-, 120 minutes).

Excellent story of Alfredo (Phillippe Noiret), the projectionist in a small Sicilian town just after World War II.

"Crazy People" (C-, R, 90 minutes).

Ad exec (Dudley Moore) proves that mental patients are nicer than sane people but weak and underdeveloped structure undercuts that humorous.

"The Class of 1999" (*, R).

Futuristic disaster film with public schools as battlefield.

"Driving Miss Daisy" (A) (PG) 100 minutes.

Fine acting highlights personal drama of Jewish widow (Jessica Tandy) chauffeured by a black man (Morgan Freeman) set against southern changes from 1948-1973.

"Ernest Goes to Jail" (*, PG).

Because someone stole his identity.

"Fire Birds" (C-, PG-13, 81 minutes).

Assault helicopter pilots (Nicholas Cage and Sean Young) fight South American drug lords and fall in love.

"The First Power" (D, R, 95 minutes).

Executed serial killer returns for revenge against cop (Lou Diamond Phillips) who put him away in the first place.

"The Gods Must Be Crazy II" (B-, PG, 97 minutes).

Sequel is attractive but too much simple-minded comedy detracts from parable about conflict between industrial and natural societies.

"The Guardian" (R).

A strange, possessed babysitter gives new meaning to life in the suburbs.

"Hoese Party" (*).

Dance, dance, dance.

"The Hunt for Red October" (C-) (PG) 135 minutes.

Confusing underwater sequences are as murky as this tale of Soviet sub commander (Sean Connery) trying to defect.

"I Love You to Death" (C-, R, 96 minutes).

Excellent performances can't save this weakly plotted story of a wife's (Tracy Ullman) revenge on her unfaithful husband (Kevin Kline).

"The Little Mermaid" (A) (G) 80 minutes.

Disney animation of Hans Christian Andersen tale of a mermaid in love with a human.

"Pretty Woman" (A-, R, 120 minutes).

Charming, romantic fantasy with Wall Street mogul (Richard Gere) falling in love with prostitute (Julia Roberts).

"Q & A" (F, R, 134 minutes).

Violent, mean-spirited story about corrupt police and venal district attorneys. Very unpleasant.

"Rosalie Goes Shopping" (D, PG, 95 minutes).

This satire on conspicuous consumption in America falls flat.

"Short Time" (B, PG-13, 95 minutes).

Just prior to retirement, a conservative police detective (Dabney Coleman) learns he has a fatal disease. His reaction is comic and touching.

"Tales from the Darkside: The Movies" (R).

Four horror tales by Stephen King.

"Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles" (PG).

You guessed it. Lean, green and on the screen.

"Wild Orchard" (R, *).

Mickey Rourke in another of his stereotypical sleazebag roles.

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

Remembering de Antonio

By John Monaghan
special writer

Director Emile de Antonio gathered information and film footage that shed new light on familiar political subjects.

Before his untimely death last year, nine features had explored the Kennedy assassination, Richard Nixon, Sen. Joe McCarthy and the American involvement in Vietnam.

For the next two weekends, the Tele-Arts Theatre in downtown Detroit pays tribute to de Antonio by screening seven films. "Mr. Hoover and I" (1989), the director's final work, highlights the schedule.

Similar in some ways to the Flint-made "Roger and Me," this very personal documentary chronicles the FBI's interest in the documentary director. The son of an affluent doctor, de Antonio attended Harvard (the same class as JFK) and became an avowed Marxist.

In his bohemian years in the 1950s, he worked as a longshoreman, barge captain and philosophy professor. The FBI has information about de Antonio stemming back to his 18th birthday. Asked what he wanted to be when he grew up, de Antonio replied: "An eggplant."

HARASSMENT followed throughout his filmmaking career. During filmed interviews with members of a radical organization called The Weather Underground in the 1970s, the bureau tailed him, broke into his apartment, then took him to court. In 1975, de Antonio sued the FBI and obtained 10,000 pages from his files, the basis for "Mr. Hoover and I."

Much of the film was de Antonio speaking to the camera, sometimes in the middle of a haircut administered by his wife. Though often ponderous in its rambling construction, "Mr. Hoover and I" gives a certain closure to the director's career. The Tele-Arts is betting on "Mr. Hoover" to intrigue viewers enough to see the other films.

"The festival should appeal especially to people into left wing politics," said Tele-Arts manager Carl Allison. "By exposing the wrongs of politics and politicians, de Antonio felt he was serving his country. He was a real patriot."

De Antonio's first film was "Point of Order" in 1963. It brilliantly encapsulates 186 hours of TV footage from the Army-McCarthy hearings. Sen. Joe McCarthy's attempt to expose Communist elements in the military became his Waterloo.

Among the classic moments are McCarthy's giving the thumbs up sign when one of his few remaining supporters said that he would soon be president of the United States. As the hearings ran on, McCarthy grew more and more desperate, trying to drum up support with his dramatic anti-Communist rhetoric.

I HAVEN'T seen the other films, which include "Millhouse: A White Comedy" (1971), a pre-Watergate examination of Richard Nixon as a shameless political opportunist. "Underground" (1976) is the highly controversial look at the ideals and motives that shaped the radical Weather Underground political.

The only de Antonio film not surrounded by controversy was the 1972 "Painters Painting," face-to-face interviews with famous 20th century artists. Jackson Pollock, Willem de Kooning and Andy Warhol (all close friends of the director) are interviewed in black and white while color footage reveals the intensity of their work. Warhol called de Antonio "the only art teacher I ever had."

Successfully dogging Hollywood, de Antonio managed to drum up the financial funding and moral support of Martin Sheen, Shirley MacLaine and Warren Beatty. His works as a self-proclaimed "radical scavenger" are invaluable chronicles of post-war political thought.

Some Kids May Not Be Back At School Next Fall

Every 22 minutes, an alcohol-related car crash claims a life in the United States. In Michigan alone, 110 teenagers lost their lives in this way last year.

Help prevent these tragic statistics by supporting PROJECT GRADUATION this year. If you're a parent, pledge not to host parties for teenagers where alcohol is served, nor leave the house unattended where these parties may occur. If you're a friend, encourage other teens to celebrate safely, celebrate alcohol and drug-free.

PROJECT GRADUATION is a year-round effort to promote safe high school celebrations, including no teen drinking and driving. The campaign, supported by more than 30 voluntary community organizations and businesses including The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, is focused on raising awareness especially during the spring prom and graduation season.

STREET BEATS

Folks: Still folksy inspite of . . .

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

To prove his point, David N. Folks pulls out a Chicago entertainment newspaper. "Look here," said Folks, guiding his finger along the page of folk club listings.

Chances are the Birmingham Seaholm graduate could bring a paper from Boston, San Francisco, New York and find the same amount of opportunities for an up-and-coming folk artist. Not so in Detroit.

Folk music is limited to only a handful of clubs, such as the Ark in Ann Arbor and Four Green Fields in Royal Oak. A street music scene is non-existent.

In the face of that, releasing an independent folk cassette wouldn't seem so much like a calculated risk as a bad bet. Folks is not deterred, recently issuing "Childhood's End" on his own Portable Recordings label.

The nine-song tape is a collection of short, personal stories interwoven with a cornucopia of instrumentation. Aside, of course, from the standard acoustic guitar, Folks' music is rich with penny whistles and dulcimers.

Lyrical, the songwriter provides personal images of people met and time spent. "Joshua Maiden" was inspired after Folks performed at a nursing home. As he was singing, a native American resident began to sing as well. The older man's voice was so beautiful, Folks said, he stopped playing.

"GOOD INTENTIONS" came about after Folks ran into someone he knew on the street who was now homeless.

"My attitude about the songs is they're all about people in my psychological world," said Folks, who's working on his doctorate in clinical psychology at the University of Detroit. "I hope when people listen to the tape they will have similar feelings."

The lack of clubs featuring folk music hasn't deterred David N. Folks, who has produced his own nine-song cassette and helped organize the Songwriter's Forum.

But the problem is getting people to know about the tape. Even compared to local rock'n'roll artists, independent folk musicians have difficult time getting known.

The only opportunity to perform live comes on open-mike nights. As a result, artists cannot build a large following.

Folks along with a few others are trying to change that. Along with another songwriter, David Kurtz, Folks has started the Songwriter's Forum.

The forum is a network of artists who want to capitalize on the folk boom nationally — thanks to Tracy Chapman, Suzanne Vega and Michelle Shocked — by establishing a base here. The group has scheduled performances, including one Friday, June 8, at Birmingham Unitarian Church.

Also, Folks would like to see more clubs offer folk music and possibly one of the suburbs to start allowing street performers.

"I'm not someone who subscribes to the idea that people are not interested in acoustic music in this area," Folks said. "I think they're hungry for it."

"I THINK the fact there isn't a scene here is a plus. You have that opportunity to bring in something new."

Such optimism led Folks to sink some bucks into his own folk project. Until the release of "Childhood's End," he was producing several demo tapes on his own. He found they weren't getting results.

The difficult part was choosing nine songs. Folks has several numbers written, but decided to go with those that were favorites in clubs and those he had a personal attachment.

"There are songs I write that I don't play in public," he said. "It's a very emotional process for me. If the song is insincere or I can't get behind it, I abandoned it."

A Songwriter's Forum with David N. Folks, David Kurtz and Jay Webber will take place 7:30 p.m. Friday, June 8, at Birmingham Unitarian Church, Cone Pine Road and Woodward Avenue. Tickets are $5. For information, call 546-5153 or 693-7183.

Aquanettas: Making it with the I.R.S.

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Mention I.R.S., and most people shudder. The initials have Stephanie Seymour in nirvana.

The New York-raised ("New Yawk") drummer and back-up vocalist of the all-girl Aquanettas can't think of a better place to be than in the I.R.S. (as in record label, not tax collector) offices talking about her band's debut album, "Love With the Proper Stranger."

After all, this is a woman who was weaned on the Police and raised on the Go-Gos in the early 1980s. Both groups were on the I.R.S. label founded by Miles Copeland.

"Can I say something?" Seymour asked in a voice that more than reveals her upbringing. "The coolest thing was when I saw an I.R.S. man on my album. I said, 'Thank you, very much.'"

LABEL LOVE aside, the Aquanettas are drawing raves for their raw, '60-ish, pop-rock sound. Unlike most all-girl groups, one doesn't chew gum to the Aquanettas.

The album features an undertone of scraping, cityscape dwelling somewhat reminiscent of the early '80s New York punk scene led by the Ramones.

The Aquanettas — Jill Richmond, Claudine Troise, Stephanie Seymour and Deborah Schwartz — are right where they want to be with a new release and tour.

The pop-rock outfit is embarking on its first-ever national tour in support of "Love With the Proper Stranger." The group visits Wednesday, June 6, at Saint Andrew's Hall.

THE WHOLE notion of a national record deal (the album is co-released on Netzwerk Records out of Vancouver, B.C., Canada) and a tour has Seymour and her mates swimming in euphoria. Last year at this time, the Aquanettas were an unsigned group and performing only in the New York area.

After a representative from Netzwerk Records caught the group performing live at the New Music Seminar last year in July, he signed the band. The album was recorded in November in Vancouver ("The same place were k.d. lang recorded," Seymour said).

THE BAND evolved in as short of a time. Vocalist Debby Schwartz and guitarist Jill Richmond knew each other from their days in Los Angeles. Eventually, both found their way to New York, where they met up with bassist Claudine Troise.

Seymour joined the outfit last June, her first "real" band.

"I had known Claudine from school, sort of." Schwartz and Richmond wrote all the material on "Love With the Proper Stranger." Next time around, things may be different.

"WITH THE NEXT album, we'll all write. We've had a lot of stuff in the works that we haven't had any time to work on. Maybe we can work on it when we get back from the tour."

Of course, all-girl groups have the life expectancy of a sparkler in a wind tunnel. The Bangles and Go-Gos are classic examples.

Not to worry, assures Seymour. "We totally get along as the best of friends. When we were in Vancouver, we were together in this little hotel room for four weeks. We got along fine. I'm not worried about being in a band together."

REVIEWS

REPRESENTING THE MAMBO — Little Feat

It's safe to say that Little Feat's "Texas Twister," the lead-off track from the group's new "Representing the Mambo" album, is taking the country by storm. A searing toe-tapper, "Twister" shot right up to the summit of AOR play lists.

But the rest of the 11-track Warner Brothers LP comes and goes like a scattered spring shower — hit and miss.

That doesn't mean "Representing the Mambo" is a musical wallflower. It just doesn't quite match the weight of Feat's 1988 comeback, "Let It Roll."

First, the good news. This LP is chock full of witty, clever lyrics.

On the rockabilly "Woman in Love," Paul Barrere sings about a woman who is as "hot as a smokin' gun, a Saturday Night Special she packs plenty of fun/She got me sweat'n' bullets, on a cold winter night/I got one in the chamber, with the safety off."

And "there's nothing but chain link and barbed wire definin' the confusion" on "Teenage Warrior," the urgent, slow rocking story about a rebel that closes side one.

Musically, listeners can choose from the deliberate "Daily Grind," the shuffling title track, Steely Dan-like "Silver Screen" and country bar blues numbers such as "That's Her, She's Mine" and "Those Feat'll Steer Ya Wrong Sometimes."

LITTLE FEAT

Throughout are such tasty ingredients as Barrere's sometimes-subtle, sometimes-stinging lead guitar, the pounding rhythm section of bassist Kenny Gradner and guitarist Fred Tackett, the swirling keyboard work of Bill Payne and raw drumming from Richie Hayward.

Now for the bad news. Unfortunately, those highlights occasionally get lost through over-production. The lyrical content also is sometimes hurt by excess: On "Those Feat'll Steer Ya Wrong Sometimes," Craig Fuller, in one sentence, spews out the names of 23 cities the band once visited on a tour.

But those flaws don't trip up "Mambo" in the long run.

WEDDING PRESENT — Wedding Present

From England, Wedding Present have been around for a number of years and only now are making waves on this side of the pond. Take the guitar-filled sound of New Jersey's Feelles, throw in a couple of feet of The Fall, add a few drops of cynical English wit and some outrageously frantic guitar playing and you're on the Wedding Present honeymoon.

Aggressive rhythm guitar playing and tongue-in-cheek "Morrissey-esque" lyrics bemoaning the insecurities of relationships are their calling card.

With a marvelously deadpan vocal delivery, the opening track sets us up for what is to come: "You changed around the posters on your wall, I finished all but one glass of your wine." Wedding Present laments, "I can't get mad at you no matter how I try."

We are assaulted by an infectious barrage of guitars, in one instance for more than nine minutes, and I defy anyone to stop their bodies from bobbing or their minds from wondering how Wedding Present keeps it going for that length of time at that speed!

Their lyrics are in a humorous, first and second-party conversation style. Forgive this long example but tell me who hasn't had a conversation similar to the following:

"About what I said just before/ You know, your clothes on the floor/ I never meant to hurt you/I got carried away/I guess I've had a long day/I could sooner die than lose you over something like that/Oh please, next time just shut back, I didn't say I hate you . . . why can't I ever say what I mean . . . I'm not being unfair/OK, I am but who cares/well now at least we're talking."

The insecurity shows through on practically all of the songs in their lyrics but never in their music. It's giant, aggressive and frantic. They've got bloody big guitars.

a real sense of purpose. In "Let's Make a Pact," Hynde wants a promise that love will last: "Fill me up with glimpses of you/ and let the music begin . . . take me to the altar." The refrain, "Let's make a pact/one we'll never take back/let me prove that I'm true/let's make a pact" is filled with yearning. Hynde's baldly honest lyrics are almost uncomfortable to listen to because they are so plainly vulnerable.

In "Downtown (Akron)" Hynde sings of that right, good ol' Akron, Ohio, with a rousing chorus of "d-d-d-downtown Akron/A Pretender-filled version of Jimi Hendrix's obscure tune, "May This Be Love" rounds out the album.

FEAR & LOAFING

Twin peaks

She's beautiful. She's talented. And she's got a handlebar mustache.

According to a recent survey, Michigan high school students are gulping steroids at an alarming rate. Traditionally, male athletes like wrestlers and football players use anabolic steroids to increase muscle bulk and intimidate society. Now, teenage girls are using the drugs as a shortcut to a slimmer figure. Starting as early as junior high, co-eds take steroids to achieve the wasp waist and narrow hips so often associated with fashion models and famine victims.

Unfortunately, their suppliers fail to mention what steroids are — synthetic forms of the male hormone testosterone. So, as an unexpected bonus, the petite miss also gains a deep voice, facial hair and a powerful handshake.

But don't panic. Just because your teenage daughter looks like a man doesn't mean she won't be popular. In fact, some of our most popular leading men (Mel Gibson, Bruce Willis, PeeWee Herman, etc.) started out as pompadour girls who dabbled in steroids.

Speaking of the gender confusion, if you've ever seen female body-builders on TV, you already know two important facts:

- (1) Never watch this kind of program without an air sickness bag on your lap.
- (2) Steroids cause a woman's breast to disappear.

I'M NOT QUITE sure how they judge these freak shows, but it looks like the gal voted "least likely to need both pieces of her two-piece swimsuit" wins the trophy.

We're not just talking fried eggs here. We're talking Flat Earth Society, Total mammary inversion.

How things have changed! Back when I went to high school, girls took pills to get larger breasts, not smaller. Reputable magazines, like "Teen Throb" ran dozens of ads for potions, exercisers and vacuum pumps to increase bust size. Right there, beside the gizmos to remove nose hair safely, were products guaranteed to produce triple D torpedoes or you money back.

And if you doubted the written claims, there was always undeniable, un-retouched photographic proof to convince you.

The "BEFORE" picture showed some sunken-chested waif slaving over a hot typewriter while her better endowed co-worker was being chased around the desk by three handsome men.

same girl two months later, balancing five martinis on her giant, thrusting bosom. The handsome men from scene one are now kneeling before her, simultaneously drooling over her humungous hooters and proposing marriage.

Eventually, the Food and Drug Administration was forced to ban these advertisements. Apparently, while most of the gimmicks were outright frauds, some of them actually worked — too well in some cases.

PARENTS IN Southfield were awakened one night when their 13-year-old daughter complained she couldn't turn over in bed. Switching on her bedroom light, they were shocked to discover that the girl's breasts had grown to an astonishing seven feet in length, literally pinning her between the mattress and ceiling.

Shortly after this incident, Royal Jelly Enlarging Cream was taken off the market, forcing girls whose cups runneth under to carry vast amounts of Kleenex in places other than their purses.

While my generation worked on adding curves, today's teens are obsessed with removing them. Those physical features that make men and women so different (and puberty so difficult) are now casualties in the all-out war against body fat that begins far too early in life.

Q: What do you want to be when you grow up?

A: Like the people on cigarette billboards — happy, androgynous, emaciated.

Q: How old are you?

A: I'm not sure, but my cholesterol is down to 127. . . . I noticed your birthday cake.

A: IT'S HIGH high-fiber, psyllium husks. . . .

Q: What gifts do you want?

A: A masticating juicer, a treadmill and a high colonic.

Q: Any plans for summer vacation?

A: I'm opening a lemonade stand to pay for my liposuction. Most of the kids in my pre-school have already had a tummy tuck. When kindergarten starts, I'll be selling fruit-flavored, chewable steroids shaped like little dinosaurs. . . .

Q: Why dinosaurs?

A: As a warning — if you get too fat, you become extinct.

STREET SENSE

Don't make waves with him

Dear Barbara, I've never written a letter like this before. I guess you hear that often. Obviously, I am troubled or I would not be writing to you. I hope you can shed some insight.

This week I received a letter with a hand-cancelled postmark. It was done in such a way that I could not recognize the city that it was coming from. Inside it was a cartoon strip. The strip had two women talking to each other and one is saying to the other, "Alan is having an affair." A note was enclosed that said, "We thought you ought to know."

This is not the first time I have been told that my husband was having an affair. About a year ago, my oldest and dearest friend told me that he was, too. I didn't really believe her and have not spoken to her since.

I confronted my husband, who firmly denied it. I still don't believe he is seeing other women, but he does do suspicious things. He travels on business and says he doesn't know where he is staying. Often I don't know how to find him. I also travel often. We have both always had a lot of freedom. Our kids are grown and there isn't a lot of responsibility at home.

I do care if he is having an affair. I love him very much. I do not want my marriage to end.

Betrayed?

Dear Betrayed,

If you love him very much and don't want your marriage to end, then don't make trouble.

Barbara

Dear Barbara, There has been so much in your column recently about smoking. I am 28 and quit smoking one year ago. It was hard, but I do feel better. I smoked for 15 years before I quit. (I started early.) Will the bad effects of smoking ever be gone? Will I have negative health effects for the rest of my life?

Ex-smoker

Dear Ex-smoker, I don't know if you are a man or a woman, and in this situation, it does matter. Some research indicates that ex-smokers re-enter the normal mortality curve after five years. Other research indicates that it takes two years for men and three to four years for women. Congratulations on quitting!

Dave Barry: Doing 'homework' pays off

Q: YOUR COLUMN is syndicated through the Miami Herald. Do you work from the Herald's office?

Barry: I work at home mostly. Papers are designed not to work in, as far as I can tell. Too many people, too much stuff to do that's entertaining as opposed to writing which I've never found entertaining.

Where I work at the Herald, the Sunday magazine is called Tropic. There's a conference room which is funny because, well, if you knew the staff at Tropic, the idea of them having a conference room is funny. These are people who can't even have conversations. . . . so they set up a ping pong table. So when I go to the Tropic, that's really what goes on — ping pong.

Q: You don't like writing?

Barry: No! Does anyone? People who have to do it never like it — that's been my experience. Which isn't to say that I don't like being a writer — I would much rather be a writer than have a job. But the actual part of sitting down in front of a screen and thinking "Well, now what?" — I don't care for that. Especially because I never have anything to say.

If I had some strong feelings about world events or some coherent political philosophy or even just unusual interesting experiences to relate, I think I would have more confidence. But I know for a fact that I have nothing to say. For years, I haven't and for the foreseeable future I don't expect to.

Q: How do you come up with ideas then?

Barry: There's a building/garage/office at the end of my yard. I go in there with my coffee and my two dogs and the three of us sit there and try to have ideas. Quite frankly, they're not holding up their end. Over the years, I've had a much larger share of the ideas than either of them. I just sit there — that's mostly what it is — sitting there and thinking, "Hmmm, this sucks."

Q: How about fan mail?

Barry: Most of it's nice, some of it's weird — just mail from Mars — and some of it's from what I call the "humor impaired" — people who read what I wrote and because it's in the newspaper take it to be literally true and are alarmed if it's not.

Q: You do sometimes seem like you're getting away with something — and in so many major newspapers?

Barry: Well, it wasn't like that right away. I wasn't accepted by very big papers at the beginning. When I first started syndicating, I would talk to editors and they would often say, "Well, we like your column, but don't think our readers are really ready for it." Editors, I think, generally have a very low opinion of the IQ's of the reader because the ones who call in often are stupid.

Slowly, some of the larger papers started to run my column, then editors decided that it was OK. I don't think my column has changed much over the years. It didn't get any more tasteful, at least I hope not.

Q: So if we looked at one of your earlier columns, it would be pretty much the same style?

Barry: Yeah, pretty close. In fact, it's the same column actually — about every two years I just start running them all over again. So far no one's picked up on it because I think a lot of my readers are heavy drinkers.

Q: How do you feel about your earlier columns?

Barry: The farther back I go, the less likely I am to like what I wrote. I think I could have done better. But, I'm always thinking that. I think that's why I'm a columnist instead of a novelist — because I don't care that much. I don't want to keep looking back. I want to get on with something else.

Q: Right after college, you were hired by the Daily Local News?

Barry: Actually, right after college I was a conscientious objector for two years. But, then I got hired by the News.

Q: Before that?

Barry: When I was young, I did write what I thought were hilarious essays for the high school and college papers. But I certainly wasn't a legendary standout in that field.

Q: What happened after your stint with the Daily Local News?

Barry: I went to the Associated Press which does not encourage humor writing. Sometimes, I wonder if it even encouraged brain wave activity. Then I left the Associated Press to teach effective writing seminars to chemists and engineers around the country.

While I was doing that, I started writing a column for the Daily Local News. I started showing people my column and more and more papers started expressing an interest. By 1983, the Miami Herald was really interested and offered me a job.

I said no because I didn't want to get shot — not that everyone who moves to Miami gets shot, some of them get stabbed. So, I worked for the Herald but lived in Pennsylvania. In '86, we finally moved to Miami because we had come to really like it from traveling there, plus, by that time, we wanted to get shot and stabbed.

STREET CRACKS

His 'low-key' humor keeps 'em laughing

By Loraine McClish
staff writer

Ted Norkey is no stranger to Joey's Comedy Club in Livonia; he has performed there "a couple of times." That's why he can say he and the audience he meets in Livonia "get along just fine."

Norkey has an off-the-wall comedy style that is difficult to categorize and, much to his chagrin, has shot over some audience's heads.

"There are nights everything works and there are nights when you die, but the Livonia crowds like all of my jokes, or at least most of them. My comedy is low-key, subtle, straight stand up, but not that much intellectual. I disclaim being an intellectual."

"I just think differently than most people and my comedy comes from that. I guess not thinking like most people is what led to the show business career."

Thinking differently from most people has also led to his being described as "the comic's comic."

MUCH OF Norkey's act is ad lib. Many of those ad libs get incorporated into the act. And many one-liners have built on themselves to the point where they turn into bits.

He gave an example: "I put a dollar into a change machine and I haven't been the same since. That led to all over the place, but I'm all over the place anyway."

"I do some stuff that's self-deprecating, take some stuff from what- ever Newsweek or Omni has to say this week, do a bit about whales."

BORN AND raised in Jackson, Norkey said he got a late start on his career as a professional comedian, but is now plying his trade coast to coast.

"I have admired comedians ever since I can remember, and now I'm living out my fantasy. Not many can say that."

Norkey got his start about 12 years ago at Mark Ridley's Comedy Castle. For the next few years he worked as manager of a supply warehouse, plumber and comedian.

"I turned professional about eight years ago when the comedy boom blossomed — when comedy was snowballing in towns that didn't have a club opened several clubs."

NONETHELESS, "nobody wants to be a road comic all of their lives and never see the kids."

"When I'm gone it's from two to eight weeks at a time. The goal for all of us (comedians) is to break into the big time and when you do that you are probably going to have to make the move to Los Angeles."

"That's when you are in a new town and starting all over again. That's another fantasy to live and turn into reality."

Ted Norkey will perform at Joey's Comedy Club, Plymouth Road east of Levan, Livonia, Wednesday-Saturday, June 6-9. Show time is 9 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday; 8:30 and 10:45 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

Ted Norkey describes his comedy as low-key, subtle, straight stand up, but not 'intellectual. He disclaims "being an intellectual."

The world stands still for this 'cup'

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

World Cup, you say?

Yes, that's right. Maradona, Gullit, van Basten, Robson — they all will be there representing their respective countries in what is the grand international showcase for the game of soccer.

Who, you say?

Maradona, Gullit, Van Bas. Uh, we'll get to that later. Here are some facts.

The World Cup takes place every four years, this year starting Friday, June 8, in Italy. Some 24 countries will be represented, having spent the past two years qualifying, some as small as Costa Rica and others as large as the Soviet Union.

For the first time in 40 years, the United States will be there. Though playing against the likes of Italy, Czechoslovakia and Austria, the upstart U.S. contingent has been given about as much a chance as a six-pack staying cold on a foundry plate.

Favorites in the monthlong round-robin tournament include host Italy, Holland, Brazil and West Germany. Teams to watch out for are England and Argentina.

Whew. Got all that? Good, because this World Cup thing is big potatoes.

"THE REST of the world stands still when football matches are played," said Roger Faulkner, a longtime promoter of soccer in the area.

Faulkner will be in Rome and Florence, Italy, watching the American side. He's on the U.S. Soccer Federation's National Budget Committee, which oversees the financial affairs of the national team.

Faulkner will also provide radio reports to WJR-AM's J.P. McCarthy in the morning during his two-week stay.

Some of us, though, won't be as lucky. Fortunately, Turner Network Television plans to carry a package of games, including the final match at 2 p.m. Sunday, July 8.

PREVIOUS FINALS have been classics. One such match was the 1966 final, in which host England beat West Germany, 4-2, in extra time thanks to a three-goal performance by Geoff Hurst.

Faulkner remembers listening with glee to the match on Canadian radio on his way to Niagara Falls. But the World Cup that followed four years later really sticks out in his mind.

In 1970, Faulkner helped put together closed-circuit telecast at the Masonic Temple of the final from Mexico. Advance tickets didn't sell because no one knew who would be in the final.

When Brazil and Italy made it, twice as many people showed up as there were tickets available. Added to the hysteria was the television feed from Mexico that went out a minute to kick-off.

"I thought we were going to have a riot," Faulkner said. "Fortunately, the picture came back on."

When Brazil won 4-1, fans danced in the streets outside the Masonic.

ART EMANUELE/staff photographer

Nick O'Shea, owner of Soccer Store & More in Livonia and a former professional player, is pulling for Ireland in the 1990 World Cup competition.

SOME 20 years later, the number of Americans playing the game has exploded. They are only starting to get the fever of the world game.

Places such as the Soccer Locker in Farmington Hills and Soccer Store & More in Livonia are well-stocked with 1990 World Cup memorabilia, such as T-shirts, shorts and soccer balls.

"Interest in their favorite country picks up," said Nick O'Shea, who is owner of Soccer Store & More and is a former professional player. "We'll get people coming in asking for T-shirts for Ireland, England or whoever they're rooting for."

O'Shea is pulling for Ireland, which is in the same group as arch-rival England. He also hopes the United States does well, as does Sal Malek, owner of the Soccer Locker.

BOTH SEE this year's World Cup — not to mention the fact the United States hosts the international spectacle in 1994 — as a great boost for the game here.

"What it will do is give the game recognition," Malek said. "Without the U.S., the only people watching would be soccer people. Kids are becoming more aware of it. We need American heroes to promote the game."

American heroes who, it is hoped, will become as synonymous with the sport as Argentina's Diego Maradona, Holland's Ruud Gullit and Marco van Basten and England's Bryan Robson.

U.S. players such as goalkeeper Tony Meola and forward Paul Caligiuri are starting to get recognition. Bob Gansler's team is also charged up by a 3-1 win over Poland in a recent World Cup warm-up match.

"Obviously I'm not picking the United States to win it all," Faulkner said, "but they'll do better than expected."

Facts from the far post

Did you know:

● India qualified for the World Cup in 1950, but withdrew after the team wasn't granted permission to play in bare feet.

● Pope John Paul was a goalkeeper with the Polish amateur team Wostyla, singer Julio Iglesias played for Real Madrid's youth team, tennis standout Boris Becker for Bayern Munich's reserves and rock star Rod Stewart for Dundee United.

● The head of state for Liberia threatened members of his national team with execution if they didn't perform well against Gambia in an African Cup match Nov. 9, 1980. The game ended in a scoreless draw and the players lived to tell about it.

● A dog named Pickles sniffed out the original World Cup prize, the Jules Rimet Trophy, after it was stolen from an exhibit window in Westminster, England. The persistent pooch found the hardware under a bush in south London. Dog and owner collected a 6,000-pound reward.

● In the 1930 World Cup, a trainer for the USA ran out on the pitch to tend to an injured player when he tripped. A bottle of chloroform broke in his bag and knocked him cold. He was carried off the field while the injured player went unattended.

Tate makes life's dream into a reality

Tate's been around boats since before he could talk and was cleaning them and learning about them before he could drive them. And along with all his driving accomplishments, he's paid his dues... paid the reaper his dues, if you catch the drift.

"I've blown over four times, been spit out, barrel rolled, and I stuffed it once," said Tate as he hit the slow-motion button on his VCR remote and reviewed a crash in which he was attempting to set an outboard speed record (112 mph in a 13-foot boat).

Tate's boat took off out of the water like a jet lifting off a runway. But instead of soaring off into the sky, the boat violently flipped over 2 1/2 times in the air, sending Tate skipping across the water, before it smashed itself into several large pieces.

"Look, I was making bigger splashes than the boat," he said, reliving the moment for the umpteenth time on video tape. "When it was over (he had skipped 'like a stone' four to five times across the water), it felt like somebody had kicked the living 'you know what' out of me."

"I'D HAVE demolished that record if I could have made it."

Now, in the driver's eye (and stomach), what's it like to ride in one of these things. For the average "Recreation Joe," 40 mph in a boat is something to remember. But 150 mph?

"I'd have to say that it kind of feels like that first big hill on a roller coaster in your stomach... but without a bar to hold on to," said Tate. "Then things happen so fast that you don't even have time to relate to them... you just have to react."

This one time, Tate can still relate to a particular reaction, when he "stuffed it" (nose dived) at 110 mph. "I went right through the dashboard," he said. "I didn't think I was hurt that bad until I was eating dinner that night and lost control of my esophagus and couldn't swallow the food that was in my throat. That's the worst I've ever been injured. I had to go back to the hospital that night."

Less than two weeks later he was back at it.

ONE OF THE many witnesses at most of Tate's high-speed mishaps was his wife Sandy. A power boat driver herself when she met Mark, Sandy has since put the prop into neutral and focused her energy towards their 9-month old son Andrew. Does she still have the desire to get behind the wheel of a racing boat?

"I enjoy going to the races, but I'm dedicated to the baby," she said. "Anyway, Mark does enough racing for all of us."

Graduating in 1978 from Westland John Glenn High School, Tate's driving skills on the water sometimes carried over to the road and his fondness for cars.

"I guess I was just as reckless as any other guy my age," he said. "I definitely had my share of tickets."

Tate did manage to attend a car-racing school to legally quench his thirst for motorized excitement, and he still follows NASCAR and CART racing ("It would be neat to drive an Indy car someday," he admitted). But it's the water and the hydroplanes that keep calling his number.

"I'm quite young for the sport of unlimited racing, so I'll have the ability to do it for the next 10 years," Tate said. "This was a big year for shake-ups with unlimited owners and their drivers. I was fortunate enough to get one of the rides."

Gold Cup race draws a crowd

The Spirit of Detroit Association, the organization that stages the race, expects at least 12 unlimited class "thunderboats" for this year's Gold Cup race. And around two dozen Grand Prix boats are expected for the Silver Cup event.

Originating in 1915, the Gold Cup race exists much in the same way today as it did 75 years ago. Boats still travel clockwise around the course's 2.5-mile loop.

JUST FOR your memory banks, a hydroplane boat rides on three points. Two points are known as the "sponsons," which look like pontoons underneath the boat. The other point is the propeller.

So, "hydroplane" actually means that the boat is riding on a cushion of air above the water... really fast.

OPENING THE show for the unlimited hydroplanes will be the Grand Prix hydroplanes.

Powered by 500-cubic inch, supercharged Ford and Chevrolet engines, the Grand Prix hydroplanes will reach speeds in the ballpark of 190 mph on the shorter 1 1/4-mile course.

And in the past two years, the Grand Prix race was decided on the final lap. Race experts this year predict that there won't be a 5-mph difference separating the finalists.

Michigan will be well represented in both the Gold and Silver Cup races. In the Gold Cup, keep an eye on veteran driver Tom D'Eath, Fairhaven, two-time winner of the Gold Cup, piloting the Miss Budweiser unlimited entry. And rookie Tate.

THE GRAND PRIX class will showcase a father/son battle, as Bob and Jimmy King go at it with their boats, Alternative Glass Block. Defending national champion Jimmy will drive against his dad, Bob, in another King boat called Defiance.

West Bloomfield driver Paul Smith also will be right in the middle of the hunt for the Silver Cup title, with his boat, Square Wall Construction.

Tickets for the event range from $5 to $90 and are available at TicketMaster outlets (Hudson's and Harmony House) and most Manufacturer's Bank outlets. For more information, call 331-3672.

Operate home as summer B&B

Q: We have two students who are coming home again for the summer. I love them very much, but they don't cooperate very well and create so much clutter that, frankly, I dread it. Do you have any suggestions?

A: I asked Dolores Lamping, M.A., C.S.W. of Farmington Hills Counseling Services, and here are her comments. Extensive studies have been done to understand both human and animal relationships to space or "territory." As with animals who routinely mark their territories with scents, humans have a strong need for territory or ownership of space. People who work in shared offices, for instance, often go to great lengths to distinguish their areas with plants, pictures or other ways to show ownership of their domain.

Ms. Lamping has counseled many families whose students have become accustomed to having their own spaces at college while their parents have also gotten used to spreading out at home. Standards have been different, with parents' standards usually higher (although this sometimes reverses, with the students insisting on more neatness and cleanliness.) Just as it was an adjustment when they went away, now there must be another adaptation on their return.

The thought of home has served as an anchor of security while your students were away, and it is important to reaffirm a sense of welcome and belonging to re-establish strong bonds. If you have had negative experiences in the past, think of creative ways to deal with the situation now.

When your children were small there was no question about who was "in charge," but that has changed now that they are young adults. You can no longer relate to them as children, so perhaps you can consider your young adult to be a guest for 10 weeks. This would not be a parent/child relationship, but an adult/adult one.

If you ran a bread and breakfast (B&B) inn what would you expect of a guest? Which rooms could guests use and which would be off limits? Would pets be allowed? Smoking? Alcohol? What would the guest's responsibilities be? While staying in a hotel is an impersonal experience, a B&B is personal — you are sharing a family's space on a temporary basis. Behavior at a B&B isn't negotiable. You respect the surroundings and stay on a pre-accepted basis or you go elsewhere.

Pretend your students are guests at your own B&B. If you establish ahead of time in a cordial and friendly manner what you will and will not do organizing

and what is expected of your students (recognizing that both sides will have to give a little), being together can be a joy this summer.

I want to pay special tribute to my fine editor, Marie McGee, who passed away recently. Marie was always congenial to work with and I will forever have a warm place in my heart for her. My deepest sympathy to her family.

Gallery to look at co-op idea

Route 10 Gallery of Farmington Hills is looking for artists who would like to explore a new format to establish the gallery as an artists' cooperative.

The gallery, formerly the Homestead Gallery of Walled Lake, has represented 200 mostly Michigan artists in a wide variety of fine arts and crafts.

Incentives to artists include Corporate Sales Service.

Indian Village homes open

On Saturday, June 9, Indian Village will host its 18th consecutive home and garden tour. Through the tour, the community seeks to share the rich history and architectural wonders of this turn-of-the-century neighborhood.

Historical Indian Village consists of about 350 homes, built mostly between 1895 and the late 1920s, in a residential neighborhood three miles east of downtown Detroit, bounded by East Jefferson on the South, Mack Avenue on the north, and Seminole and Burns on the West and East (respectively).

Illustrious past residents of the village include Edsel Ford (Henry Ford II and Benson Ford were born here); Ernest Kanzler; Hiram Walker II; George Pierrrot, and Joseph Muer (grandfather of restaurateur Joe Muer).

This year's tour will feature nine homes, five gardens, three churches and a school.

Snacks and lunches will be offered at Village churches, and there will be bake sales, as well, for those who like to munch on a cookie while they walk.

Tickets for the tour are $10 per person, and may be purchased at Christ Lutheran Church, 2411 Iroquois at Vernor; Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian Church at Burns; and Waldorf School, 2555 Burns at Charlevoix.

Ticket price includes a tour book featuring a map of the area and description of the tour homes and gardens. A guided walking tour is available for $3 additional per person.

For information, call the tour hotline number 499-0537.

Dance program planned

The School of Dance at Center for Creative Studies — Institute of Music and Dance will present its first formal dance performance at 2 p.m. Sunday at Rackham Auditorium on Farnsworth in Detroit's Cultural Center.

Contemporary look for detached condos

A subdivision of 17 different detached condominium units custom designed by the same architect?

Unheard of, you say? Raj Bothra, 45, a Bloomfield Hills resident and chief of surgery at Holy Cross Hospital, and Irving Tobocman, 57, a Birmingham architect, intend to do just that in Waterford.

"It started out as a hobby," Bothra said. "I built my own house designed by Tobocman 12-13 years ago. I worked with him on the design and enjoyed it. My office building was done by Tobocman."

A second Tobocman house for Bothra followed on Gilbert Lake.

The doctor, who admires Tobocman's contemporary style, decided to take his hobby one step further and get into the development business, albeit on a small scale.

A Realtor found the site — about six acres on a peninsula at the end of Otter Lake not far from the juncture of Telegraph and Elizabeth Lake roads. Bothra calls the development Beverly Estates.

The project had to go condo because the road that services the subdivision couldn't meet county specifications due to soil conditions.

"WE'VE DONE thousands of apartments, townhouses, high rises, low rises," Tobocman said. "This is the first time anyone came to us and asked us to design a series of individual houses."

"It was a tremendous opportunity and we grabbed it." The condos will range from 2,500 to 5,000 square feet. Starting prices will range from $375,000 to $600,000.

"The remarkable element is the mix (of housing) on water," Tobocman said. "That's the reason for large glass areas on the water. Sides of houses are not glassy mostly for privacy and for contrast, also."

All condos will be two stories on the waterfront. Options include 3-4 bedrooms, 2½-3½ baths and exteriors of brick, Dryvit or wood.

The model on the site has glass across all three lower-level rooms overlooking Otter Lake — family room, kitchen/dining room, living room — and the three upstairs bedrooms.

The utility room is on the first level, along with a half-bath and a fireplace in the living room.

THE UPSTAIRS also has a den or fourth bedroom, two full baths and lots of closet space.

Contemporary design touches include floor-to-ceiling doors, white oak trim and moldings and silk wall covering in the downstairs bath.

Kapila Contracting of Farmington Hills built the model.

None of the 17 condos, to be built on pilings, will have basements due to nearness to the lake and the low water table.

The subdivision will be directly marketed to doctors and other professionals.

"It's not an easy sell at this point, but it's a good value," said Joseph Nahat, an agent with Re/Max. "These are much better homes than in the area. They will command a higher price so we have to have quality-minded people. To buy this kind of house will take an upper echelon person," Nahat said.

THE TOBOCMAN reputation and the water will draw buyers, Bothra said. Buyers must go with a Tobocman design but are allowed more leeway on a builder.

"It's very challenging," Tobocman said. "Whenever you do a group of anything, you don't want it to get boring."

"The configuration of lots — I don't know if any are rectangular — makes you think and usually leads to solutions you wouldn't normally come up with if you had a cookie-cutter subdivision," he said.

Tobocman said he's prepared about a half dozen designs for the subdivision. "They're subject to modifications. If they (buyers) want changes inside, no problem — room sizes, shapes, additions, deletions."

Bothra's detached condo project was better accepted by neighbors and township officials than previous cluster housing proposals submitted by other developers, said Ed Fisch, Waterford's planning director.
