Cable competition heating up

Local folks are getting what they wanted: competition in cable television. Ameritech-New Media and Continental Cablevision are making deals in one of the few areas of the country soon to have competing cable franchises.

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

The cable TV battle is on. It started last fall when new cable TV company Ameritech-New Media announced it would offer 80-90 basic channels, and service more responsive to customers when it goes on-line this spring.

The next major salvo followed this month. In a letter to subscribers, current cable provider Continental Cablevision has announced it's providing free PASS and the Disney Channel — for which subscribers outside this community pay around $15 per month.

The reason? Plymouth and Canton will soon be one of the few areas of the country with two competing cable TV systems.

David Onak of Ameritech-New Media said Continental's announcement of free PASS and Disney "is absolutely no surprise. We said all along competition would be good for consumers."

"We expect all kinds of promotional offers. You would do the same if your company had a history of poor service," Onak said.

Earlier this month, Continental bought longtime local cable TV provider Omnicom Cablevision, which had a reputation among some subscribers and government officials as behind the times with technology and lacking enthusiasm for serving the public.

Will Ameritech-New Media respond with free PASS and Disney as well, or other perks?

"We don't want to be specific for competitive reasons," Onak said. "We prefer them to not know which day we're starting service, their promotions might get better."

Bill Black, director of corporate affairs for Continental Cablevision, said, "We tested Disney as part of our service in Lansing. It wasn't a competitive market but the thought was customers would like that as part of basic service."

"Of course the best place to do that now is a competitive marketplace. Doing PASS and Disney as part of non-premium service is something that hasn't been done before," Black said.

Deciphering MEAP scores tough for parents

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Read 'em and weep. If understanding MEAP scores is challenging for you, you're not alone.

Even school officials acknowledge that results of the Michigan Educational Assessment Program mailed to Plymouth-Canton parents last week can be confusing.

For one thing, the old rules don't apply. The traditional zero to 100 percent scale has been replaced. But there is a reason, said Dave Rodwell, director of research and technology for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

"The test is designed to help the school district understand where they are with their instructional program. This report is essentially a way to help make a decision on how well a particular kid did on that test," said Rodwell.

Charts sent home to parents of fourth- and seventh-graders who took the MEAP reading and math tests indicate whether a child scored in the "low," "moderate" or "satisfactory" range.

Satisfactory is considered passing. Fifth-, eighth- and 11th-graders in Plymouth-Canton will be tested in the spring. Fifth- and eighth-graders will take the MEAP science exam and the MEAP writing test, which is brand new. Juniors will be the first to take the state's new proficiency test.

The only other standardized test administered in high school is the MEAP re-take for students who did poorly the first time.

Both the MEAP reading and math tests are untimed.

Former co-workers assist ailing friend

BY KEVIN BROWN

When emphysema forced Dan Hubbard to leave his maintenance job at Northland Container two years ago, co-workers came up with an idea to make his burden lighter.

"He had been such a good friend to all of us while he was here, we just decided to help him out. We took up collections for him," said Northland assistant controller Tammy Croxall.

"They came over every other month," Hubbard's wife Vickie said. She added that over two years her husband's former co-workers have given the family nearly $3,000.

"My husband would like to tell them they're the best people he ever worked for and he wanted to express his gratitude in some way," said Vickie Hubbard. "These people have just been tremendous."

The Hubbards live in Canton, Northland Container, of Plymouth

Township, distributes corrugated boxes and other moving supplies.

"What we did and we've still got it here, there was a jar in the outer office and we'd put money in that, it's periodically sent to him," Croxall said. "This year at Christmas we did something extra."

Vickie Hubbard said that when diagnosed, her husband was given roughly a year to live. That was two years ago.

"He gets up and can do little things, he just gets real short of breath," Vickie Hubbard said.

"He's not totally down yet, he can still get up and do little things. He's on oxygen all the time," she said. A hospice nurse comes once a week to help with his care.

Police confiscate marijuana bags

Plymouth Township police confiscated 10 small plastic bags each containing about an ounce of marijuana, after they were called to a noisy party Jan. 19.

According to a police incident report, they were called to the party at the Plymouth Hills Mobile Home Park at 11:45 p.m. Thirty-five teens at the party were told to leave or call their parents for rides.

Upon entering the home, police spotted and confiscated the marijuana, which they said belonged to a 16-year-old male who lived there. Police said they are considering seeking charges against the teen for marijuana possession.

Computer equipment stolen

A Pentium mainframe computer, color monitor, color copier and other equipment valued at more than $7,000 was reported stolen Wednesday after a break in at Systems Plus, 101 General Drive.

Plymouth Township police said a screen to a window of the business was found lying on the ground and the window had been opened, suggesting that's how thieves got in.

Barricades making parking a challenge

If you're a sledding enthusiast, runner or walker who frequents Edward Hines Park, you've no doubt had a difficult time parking due to the barricades that went up about 10 days ago.

"To the best of my knowledge, it's because the side drives were very slippery and ice-covered," said Sgt. Joe Mira of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. "It's very easy to lose control and hit something. We don't want to get anyone hit.

"Our officers were getting stuck all over the place," said Mira, of the Hines Park post. "Now that it's kind of warm and melting, I think we will probably keep them closed, simply because it will be really muddy and people will be getting stuck. It's basically for traffic safety. We don't want people getting stuck back there. We even had a water main break on one of the side drives near Haggerty. It was very, very icy."

Mira said the sheriffs aren't trying to discourage sledding. And, he said, it is Wayne County Parks and Recreation that calls the shots regarding sledding and road closures.

"We're just their enforcement arm. Basically, sledding is not allowed by the parks people, but they haven't put anything in writing saying one thing or another," said Mira. "People know it's going on; they're just remaining neutral on it."

"Some of the lakes have been opened for skating, and that is being promoted."

When the barricades will be removed "is hard to say," the sergeant said. "We'll wait until it dries out a little."

Township cops plug into new radio system

No more will the Plymouth Township Police Department's radio system be unable to reach officers in buildings or other "low spots" around the township.

On Wednesday, the township police switched from its 10-year-old VHF frequency system to a $185,000 digital system that allows police to communicate by hand-held radio from anywhere in the township.

Police Chief Carl Berry said the system has the capacity to link next year with a new Michigan State Police communications grid to allow township police to communicate by radio throughout the state.

Township Finance Director

Rosemary Harvey said the administration began planning for the new radio system two years ago when $50,000 was set aside for its future purchase.

A total of $80,000 collected by the township through a charge to 9-1-1 callers contributed to the purchase. Township officials also used $55,000 from the 1995 township general fund budget to buy the radio system.

Berry said a main advantage of the new digital system is it allows automatic switching to various frequencies "so you never have a busy channel."

The system cost includes a radio tower, base and hand-held radios and police car radios.

Elks pleased women have joined ranks

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks Plymouth Lodge No. 1780 made history Wednesday night.

Founded in 1949 at 41700 E. Ann Arbor Road, the lodge initiated its first two female members — Marion J. Creith and Audrey Lewis. Creith became the 7,155th Plymouth Elk at a solemn ceremony and dinner.

"It was a very impressive ritual," said Creith, who lived in Plymouth in from 1928 to 1955, when she and her late husband Ray moved to Redford Township.

Taking the lead: Longtime Plymouth resident Marion Creith, who now lives in Redford, was one of two women to become members of the Plymouth Elks last week.

"I didn't realize how I would feel" being initiated, said Creith. "It was a very different feeling. It's a wonderful feeling to be a member of this organization, mainly because they do so many good things for people."

The Elks are a philanthropic organization founded in 1867 in New York to benefit the less fortunate. The Plymouth Lodge draws heavily from Canton as well as Plymouth.

Elks lodges throughout the country raise funds to assist handicapped youth and veterans. In addition, Elks' contributions fund a hospital for handicapped youngsters. Only the federal government grants more scholarships than the Elks.

Creith and Lewis, a Livonia resident, were inducted along with four men. Their "class" was dedicated to the memory of Ray Creith, Creith's late husband who was once the Elks' state president. "I thought it was very fine of them to do that. I think he would be proud," said Creith, a retired underwriter.

Creith was a charter member of the Vivian's, the Elks' ladies auxiliary. About two dozen Vivian's surprised Creith and Lewis at the lodge Wednesday night. "Preceding the meeting, about 25 of my friends in the Vivian's came out to be there to support me and Audrey. I was surprised to see all the ladies there when I walked into the lounge," said Creith.

Creith also was surprised when Elk Robert Miller presented her with roses — a gift from her aunt, Jean Fullerton of Detroit, and sister, Grace Orr of Indiana.

The new Elks were warmly received by their fellow Elks, or "brothers." The women are being called "brothers," and Creith says that will likely be the case until by-laws are changed.

Exalted Ruler Jim Logsdon, after giving Creith a congratulatory kiss, joked that "this is the first time I've ever kissed an Elk."

"Audrey seemed to enjoy it very much," remarked Creith. "We sat together after the ceremony. We both breathed a sigh of relief when it was over."

"Marion will make a terrific Elk. She knows everything about the Elks," said Robert Schneider, an Elks officer who chairs the Major Project for handicapped children, and serves on the indoctrination committee. "And Bernie Donegan can clue Audrey in on different things." Donegan is a good friend of Lewis' and a fellow Elk.

Art Emanuele has been a Plymouth Elk for 20 years and welcomes women into the organization.

"I think it's great. It's a long time coming," said Emanuele, who was a good friend of Ray Creith's. "Some of the Elks were bitter, but I think they realize that today, you have to go with the trend. We knew that one day it was going to happen. I'm glad they have some women in there. I think they will be an asset, especially Marion. Ray was like 'Mr. Elk,' and Marion was his right hand."

■ The Elks are a philanthropic organization founded in 1867 in New York to benefit the less fortunate. The Plymouth Lodge draws heavily from Canton as well as Plymouth. Elks lodges throughout the country raise funds to assist handicapped youth and veterans.

Emanuele predicts that Creith will be an asset to the Elks. "She's a very softspoken young lady who I think will be very active, because she was very active in the Vivian's before she became an Elk. She was president of the Vivian's."

Creith is unsure whether her initiation will lead to more women wanting to become Plymouth Elks. "It's hard to say about other women. I haven't heard others express an interest," she said.

To be an Elk, a person must believe in God, but needn't be of a particular religious denomination. Candidates also must be American citizens. Membership can't be used to further business interests.

Bomb threats at school prompt evacuation Friday

More than 4,500 students and teachers were evacuated from Plymouth-Canton Educational Park Friday morning after 15 bomb threats were received.

The calls came into the main switchboard at Plymouth Salem High School, which services both Salem and Canton high schools.

The schools were evacuated for about 20 minutes shortly before 9 a.m.

No bomb went off, nor was one found.

Lt. Bill Lenaghan of the Canton Police said it's believed the "calls came from a cellular phone. We were never able to track down who was making the phone calls."

Responding to the bomb scare were several squad cars of Canton Police and Michigan State Police. The state police brought a bomb-sniffing dog from the Flat Rock post.

Salem principal Gerald Ostoin said, "I think we had a total of 15 calls. We believe they were from the same person."

"They were all traced to a cellular phone except for one or two that weren't" made from a mobile phone. "It's currently under investigation," said Ostoin.

The first of the calls was received at 7:44 a.m. Ostoin declined to disclose exactly what the caller said.

The mother of a Canton student said she was outraged that she wasn't informed about the bomb scare. She said she learned about the incident from her son well after the fact.

The parent said students "spent a good portion of the day outside, and over two hours in the cafeteria. Kids went to just two or three of their classes. I'm outraged the schools wouldn't give some sort of notice to parents and give us the opportunity to pick up our kids."

Ostoin denied that the students were outside for an extended period and added that "We have no way to contact 4,500 parents when things are happening left and right."

"Parents can rest assured the safety of students and staff is our paramount concern."

Ostoin said the schools follow a set plan for such incidents.

"We have a regular plan for incidents like this. The bomb was alleged to go off at 9 a.m. We evacuated a couple of minutes before that. Parents who did call were given a brief description of what happened, and if they chose to pick up their son or daughter, they could have done that."

Ostoin said that when students returned to the building, "it was third hour, but we had them remain in their second hours until fourth hour began."

"We were clearing a couple other sections of the building, and for that reason, we did house some kids in the cafeteria, but not for a two-hour period of time," the principal said.

"Kids were outside for 20 minutes while searches were ongoing. We realized it was very cold, so we wanted to make sure we had the searches done as soon as possible to get the kids back in."

Helping police with the search were administrators, custodial staff and security staff. They turned up nothing. A second search by Michigan State Police also located nothing.

Regarding the culprit(s) Ostoin said, "Whoever it is, we would follow the exact limit of the law and prosecute to the law's fullest extent."

Officials have "no knowledge at this point" as to who is responsible. "It wouldn't matter whether it was a student or someone else. We'll ask that they be prosecuted to fullest extent," said Ostoin.

"This is a situation where we are asking the community, police and firemen to get here as soon as possible. There could be a potential accident; a student or teacher may fall downstairs and suffer a physical injury, or a heart attack. We have too many people on our campus to take this situation lightly. Whoever did it, I would like to see that they be given full punishment."

Trustees to hear presentation on high school proficiency test

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education meets at 6 p.m. Monday, Jan. 29, at Gallimore Elementary, 8375 Sheldon in Canton.

A closed session to discuss negotiations is expected to last until 7 p.m.

Following the Pledge of Allegiance and adoption of the agenda will be the "VIPS" Award presentation. A 90-minute presentation will be given on the high school proficiency test and the fifth- and eighth-grade MEAP tests.

Minutes will be approved before the superintendent's report. Superintendent Charles Little will speak about the "election equipment plan and opportunity."

Citizens' non-agenda item comments and board requests and reports will follow. On the consent calendar are bills for payment, a new administrative hire and leaves and resignations.

Citizen participation and a closed session to discuss pending litigation and the Headlee Amendment will close the meeting.

Two new area codes planned by '98

BY BETH SUNDRLA JACHMAN
STAFF WRITER

The day's coming when your fingers will be doing more walking on the telephone.

Two more area codes will be added in the 810 and 313 dialing areas of southeast Michigan in the next two years, and within 10-15 years every call will be 11-digit dialing, according to Joseph O'Connor, president of Consumer Market Analysts, who is helping to implement the area codes.

More area codes are becoming necessary as cellular phones, computers, faxes, modems, pagers and alarm systems exhaust the phone numbers available.

While it was predicted in the early '90s that adding 810 would be enough to serve southeast Michigan for 15 years, new players have entered the picture. A recent deregulation rule allows companies to enter the local telephone market to provide service and the number of phone numbers is dwindling even faster.

As it did when 810 was added, a citizens advisory committee is reviewing plans for implementing the area codes. Public meetings will be scheduled in late February. Residents can give their input by attending a meeting or calling (800) 831-8989. The phone number is operational now.

After public input, the committee will make its final recommendation in March. Ameritech will submit that plan to the North American Numbering Plan group in March. At the end of April plans will begin for implementation.

Bellcore, a New Jersey organization owned by the five regional Bell Operating Companies, administers the numbering plan for the United States and audits the numbers to be sure numbers are used properly and aren't being squandered, O'Connor said.

The plan the citizens' committee comes up with has to meet guidelines:

■ The options must be technically and economically feasible.

■ Most, if not all, customers should be able to keep their current phone numbers.

■ If the new area codes split the current geographic boundaries they must follow easily recognizable boundaries, such as with the 810/313 split which generally followed Eight Mile Road.

■ The new design must allow all four area codes serving southeast Michigan to exhaust their capacity at about the same time.

The telephone infrastructure is not designed to follow city or county boundaries, because it was put in to service different areas, O'Connor said.

Customer perception is an important part of the changes in area codes, O'Connor said. Many people assume that dialing an area code means it's a long distance call and that the rates are going to increase.

But it's not an issue of rates, it's a change in the dialing of numbers, O'Connor said, in fact experts see a time when the area codes will run out and a new system of dialing will have to be implemented. The two new area codes for Michigan are expected to last 7-10 years. "But then no one really knows what's coming — we're making a guess," said Harry Semerjian, vice president of corporate planning at Ameritech.

Each area code has 792 exchanges and the exchanges are assigned in blocks of 10,000. Almost 200 exchanges were assigned in 313 and 810 in 1995.

As more and more area codes are added, the idea of an area code becomes a misnomer, because people can no longer identify an area code as Detroit or Chicago, O'Connor said.

If the changes occur too quickly people become confused, but there are the added inconveniences and costs of having to update stationery and business cards, O'Connor said.

For those who have concerns that the call they're making may not be local, the front of the telephone directory has a list of exchanges that are considered local calls, Semerjian said.

Adding area codes is not a Michigan phenomenon; 16 area codes were added in the United States in 1995 and 21 new area codes will be added in 1996, O'Connor said.

In fact, the traditional area code is changing, new ones longer follow the rule of having a 1 or 0 as the center digit. Businesses with a private branch exchange, or PBX, telephone system will have to upgrade or replace their equipment to recognize new area codes.

Even the 800 area code for toll-free calls is almost depleted and 888 will be added in March 1996, according to Semerjian.

Because cellular phones and pagers are becoming common, an idea was floated to use a new area code for wireless uses only, but that plan was struck down by the Federal Communications Commission, Semerjian said.

SC, U-D Mercy OK engineering program

BY BETH SUNDRLA JACHMAN

Schoolcraft College and the University of Detroit Mercy are entering into an agreement that can save students some money.

Schoolcraft's Board of Trustees on Wednesday approved an agreement that will ease the transition of Schoolcraft College engineering students into the University of Detroit Mercy's program to earn a bachelor's degree in chemical/plastics engineering.

"We think this is a pretty good arrangement," Conway Jeffress, vice president of instruction at Schoolcraft, said.

It's a straightforward dual enrollment in which students enrolled at Schoolcraft can finish at the University of Detroit Mercy, Jeffress said.

But the advantage to Schoolcraft students is that courses taken at Schoolcraft will be accepted as equivalents at U-D Mercy, and that will save them money.

Courses at Schoolcraft cost $48 per credit hour as compared to $312 per credit hour at U-D Mercy, Jeffress said.

It's a rigorous program, and it offers a cooperative education program that provides work experience, Jeffress said.

The program also allows for guaranteed admission at U-D Mercy as long as the student keeps at least a C grade in courses and follows the curriculum, Jeffress said.

Harry Greenleaf, a former Schoolcraft College trustee who works for U-D Mercy, approached Schoolcraft about the program,

A LOOK AT YOUR GUMS

Just because adults may be beyond the age when tooth decay usually occurs does not mean that they can let their guards down. Three-quarters of American adults develop gum disease at some point in their lives, and almost half of people between the ages of 18 and 64 lose one or more teeth due to periodontal disease, as it is known, because they are unaware of its symptoms or ignore them entirely. What are the warning signs of gum disease? They include: red, swollen, or tender gums; bleeding while brushing or flossing; gums that pull away from the teeth; teeth that are loose or separated from each other; plus between the gums and teeth; persistent bad breath; a change in your bite; and, a change in the way that partial dentures fit. If you experience any of these symptoms, schedule an appointment with the dentist before your condition grows worse.

Are your gums healthy? Are you due for a dental exam? Call us at LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES, where we offer the oral at heart. A periodic dental checkup serves as a means of addressing existing problems and detecting a host of other problems. System aids teachers

Beginning today, it will be a lot easier for Plymouth-Canton school employees to call in sick, and for the district to contact substitutes. The recently-purchased $40,000 system features three incoming and three outgoing lines.

In the past, employees were sometimes hard-pressed to call in, because they'd get a busy signal for extended periods of time.

Made by CRS Inc. of Dallas, Texas, the system will "more than double the current call-out times for securing substitute teachers, and also will allow substitutes to call in to acquire jobs," said Donna Feldt, executive secretary in the district's personnel department.

The system features a back-up a six-hour battery pack. "When 25 percent of the power is left, the machine calls the person we designate," said Feldt.

Addition OK'd

Plymouth Christian Academy is growing.

The private school, run by Calvary Baptist Church, received unanimous site plan approval Tuesday, Jan. 23, from Canton Township trustees to build a 7,000-square-foot addition comprising six new classrooms.

The school and church are located on 8.93 acres on the south side of Joy Road between Lilley and Morton Taylor.

The addition will also include expansion of the existing media center and restrooms.

Business Administrator Gil Stafford said construction will begin in April. If all goes well, the exterior will be complete before the end of the school year.

The whole job should be finished in time for the 1996-97 school year, Stafford said.

The reading exam is divided into two parts, one which deals with a story, and one that deals with information. Both contain 20 questions.

In the story selection, fourth-graders are ranked on a scale of 215, which means no questions were answered correctly, to 360, which means all 20 questions were correctly answered. A score of 300 or higher (13 correct) equates to a satisfactory ranking.

In the informational section, fourth-graders are ranked on a scale of 215 (none correct) to 345 (all 20 correct.) A passing score of 300 equates to 15 questions correct.

"From year to year, the number of items correct to pass the test is going to vary, but a score of 300 will always be passing," said Rodwell.

A student needs to pass both parts of the reading test to achieve a satisfactory score in reading.

The state uses a different scale for seventh-graders. In the story selection, a score of 204 corresponds to none correct, while a score of 339 correlates to 20 questions correctly answered. A passing score of 300 equates to 16 items correct.

The range for the informational selection ranges from 209 for none correct to 350 for 20 questions answered correctly. A ranking of 300 (15 items correctly answered) is considered satisfactory.

A "moderate" score means the student scored 300 or above on only one reading selection. A "low" ranking means the student scored below 300 on both selections.

Arts council organizing Valentine's jazz benefit

A jazz show to benefit the Plymouth Community Arts Council is the perfect cap to Valentine's Day week, organizers say. "We hope this event will be the perfect culmination of Valentine week," said PCAC publicity chairwoman Nancy Pilon. The event theme is "For the Love of Art."

Ursula Walker & the Buddy Budson Band, headliners at some Detroit clubs, will perform Saturday, Feb. 17, at Fox Hills Country Club. Walker performed in several Detroit-Montreal Jazz Festivals and won a CLIO award for best vocal performance on a commercial. Budson has backed performers including Buddy Rich, the Four Tops, Henri Mancini and Mel Torme.

Tickets are $45 per person and are available at Francis Jewelry Gallery, 470 Forest; Little Professor Book Center, 380 S. Main; and the PCAC office at 774 N. Sheldon Road daily from 9 a.m. to noon.

An art auction and cocktails will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a gourmet dinner at 8 p.m. followed by the performance and dancing. Pilon said money raised "will go toward the renovation of our building." The first phase of renovation of the former church has started.

Since opening the new headquarters about a year ago, "Our programs have tripled in size," Pilon said. "We need to have special art classrooms, we need to have offices, and a better space for recitals and auditorium space," Pilon said.

Walker and Budson were selected "because we thought we'd like to highlight jazz this year, they're premiere jazz performers in the area and have been for years," Pilon said.

The art auction features all original pieces including a wide selection of paintings, photos, watercolors, jewelry and glass.

Tickets are going fast, Pilon said, adding last year's program nearly sold out as 380 of 400 available tickets were sold.

While dancing is offered, Pilon said, "We don't want to stress it to the point people who don't dance won't feel comfortable."

Also in response to the challenge posed by Ameritech-New Media, Continental, with 52 channels, has announced it would expand to 74 channels March 1.

Ameritech-New Media had also announced plans to use fiber optic cable to allow more channel capacity. Continental responded with its own rebuilding program — which explains the trucks making their way around the community as crews install cable. Both companies say the rebuilding should be finished in the next few months.

Black said Continental as of March 1 will add to basic service ESPN 2, the History Channel, Cartoon Network, Home and Garden Television, Bravo and the Golf Channel. Basic service will remain at $21.59 per month.

At Ameritech-New Media, Onak said, "We can't really give you the line-up until we finalize it. We're holding out to get best possible deal from suppliers."

Onak said Ameritech-New Media will announce details of its cable TV service, including price, just before the system is activated.

"What I would tell consumers is they shouldn't consider signing any long-term offer with them (Continental) until they see what we have," Onak said.

"It's clear that we have to be competitively priced, our job is to switch, or sign up those who don't have it," he said.

Local government officials, who jointly employ a cable TV consultant to negotiate cable franchise agreements with providers, say they're glad two companies are competing to provide service.

questions to determine their "Knowledge about Reading."

"Knowledge about Reading measures as low, moderate or high the student's "ability to apply appropriate reading strategies on the test and identify literary techniques the author has used."

Information from these questions isn't used to determine students' overall performance, but to better understand the students' "Constructing Meaning" scores. The test evaluates students' "understanding of the goals and purposes for reading, author's intention and reading strategies, such as prediction, summarizing, organizing information, and application of phonics."

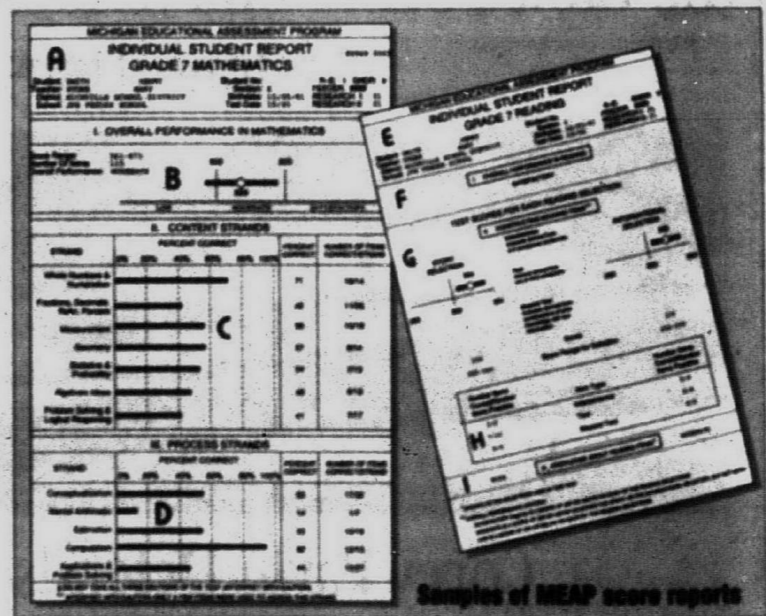

In math, fourth-graders were asked 92 questions and ranked on a scale ranging from 325 to 644. A score above 520 is considered satisfactory.

Seventh-graders are ranked on a scale of 341 to 671, with anything above 520 ranking as satisfactory. They were asked 115 questions. Rodwell said he was unsure how many correctly answered questions corresponded to 520.

A ranking of 500-520 is considered moderate, while below 500 is low.

The MEAP math test stresses concept development, computation, and problem solving. It ranks students in "content strands" such as whole numbers, fractions, geometry and algebraic ideas, and "process strands" including conceptualization, mental arithmetic, estimation and applications.

SC union chief wants to reopen negotiations

BY BETH SUNDRLA JACHMAN
STAFF WRITER

The president of a secretarial union which has been working without a contract since June 30, 1995, addressed the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees Wednesday, in an effort to get talks rolling again.

Talks broke off in November and Belinda Eleson, president of the 58-member Schoolcraft College Association of Office Personnel, said she hopes negotiations can begin again.

Eleson told the board in a short statement that union members are pleased that enrollment is up and also pleased that a group of employees from the Business Development Center were given raises.

Schoolcraft College officials have offered the secretaries and clerical workers the same package as other unions on campus and the other unions have settled, Schoolcraft President Richard McDowell said after the trustees meeting.

"We've always tried to be as generous as we can with people," McDowell said. The college has a strong sense of equity, he said. "What we give one group we give to others," he said.

"To their credit they (union members) continue to work hard and do what needs to be done," he said.

Eleson said after the meeting that she hopes to get the ball rolling on negotiations.

The union's three-year contract expired June 30. The college offered 2.5 percent raises, which were rejected.

"I know the other groups on campus have done better than that," Eleson said in November.

The secretaries are the last union on campus to settle, and they are always the last to settle, McDowell said.

When the union's contract expired last time, the union went a year and a half without a contract, Eleson said.

Commission to study county land sale

BY BETH SUNDRLA JACHMAN
STAFF WRITER

A plan to sell 80 acres of Wayne County-owned land in Northville Township is expected to go before the Wayne County Commission's Committee of the Whole Tuesday.

The county is proposing selling the land for $800,000 to Optical Imaging Systems, which bought 30 acres at Beck and Five Mile roads from the county in 1993. The 80 acres adjoins that site.

The county owns more than 900 acres in Northville Township, owes an estimated $1 million in delinquent taxes on the property and faces a tax sale in May. The OIS sale would help pay part of the taxes.

OIS, which manufactures flat panel displays that are used in military and commercial jet aircraft, built a $100 million facility on the property purchased in 1993. That facility will produce 40,000 displays a year and employ 300 people when in full production.

"We think it's very significant for Wayne County," Tim Johnson, director of the marketing and communications division of the county's Jobs and Economic Development Department, said of the proposed sale, which must be approved by the Wayne County Commission.

It puts the county at the center of an emerging industry, he said. "It's really putting Wayne County in a good position," he said.

County officials expect a spinoff of 2,000 jobs as suppliers locate in the western Wayne County area, especially in the I-275 and M-14 corridor, he said.

Plans to sell the property at $10,000 an acre, which is below the appraised value of $46,667 an acre, carry conditions.

Under terms of the sale, the company agrees to pay the $160,000 owed by the county in delinquent taxes on the property to Northville Township and the school district, according to a letter sent to the commission by Dewitt J. Henry, assistant county executive for Jobs and Economic Development.

The county owes the taxes after a ruling by the Michigan Tax Tribunal went against the county six months ago, according to Johnson. The county had appealed a ruling that government-owned property not being used for public purposes can be taxed, he said.

Provisions are being made to pay the rest of the taxes by May, Johnson said.

Other conditions of the OIS sale are that the company must begin construction within five years and must certify the investment of $300 million and the employment of at least 500 full-time equivalent employees within eight years, according to Henry's letter.

If the company doesn't meet the conditions, it must pay the difference between the purchase price and the appraised price, adjusted for inflation, or convey the property to the county for the purchase price, according to Henry's letter.

The county is trying to sell the rest of the property it owns in Northville Township, Johnson said. A team of private-sector development specialists is working on a master plan for the property, he said. The county hopes to have a plan ready next month to present to Northville Township, he said.

County Commissioner Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, chairs the commission's Committee on Economic Development, which voted last week to send the proposal on to the Committee of the Whole.

He said he favors the sale, but that some members of the committee had concerns that minority employees should be hired for the jobs at OIS.

McCotter said he doesn't know how the county will pay the rest of the delinquent taxes. The county has been trying to sell the property, which it has owned since the 1930s, for years.

Money has been approved for demolition of abandoned buildings and cleanup on the property, which has underground tunnels and a couple of gas wells, McCotter said. The site has had many uses over the years, including a community for troubled youths and the Wayne County Training School.

Northville Township officials want planned unit development on the site, and the county is trying to come up with a plan for that, McCotter said.

The commission's Committee of the Whole meets at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the Wayne County Building, 600 Randolph St. in Detroit.

Let's peek ahead at spring's style

What's hot for the spring and summer of '96? Get ready now, because the coming season promises a wealth of stylemakers that you probably won't be able to live without.

The challenge will be in choosing just the right essentials. I've taken the liberty of highlighting my 15 top picks for the season of the sun.

1. Color. Forget black and beige. Choose a simple sleeveless shell (remember shells?) in citron, lime, lemon, ice blue or vivid orange.

2. Silk shantung is the fabric of the hour. It adds shape and shine to a pair of narrow trousers. Try cigarette pants or capris.

3. Hipsters. If hip-hugging pants are not your style, opt for a dropped-waist dress.

4. Khakis. The new-for-'96 khaki pants have flat fronts and are worn low on the waist with a military-style belt.

5. Geek Chic. Yes, your Hush Puppies, mismatched stripes, surfer prints and Madras plaids are "way cool." In the East Village, they're even wearing recycled medical uniforms!

6. DKNY tube. Designer Donna Karan claims her jersey bias-cut tube skirt is ultra-slimming, "the most genius piece I have ever designed in my life," she's been quoted.

7. Sandals. Look for flat, strappy sandals and thongs. Think iridescent leather in barely there footwear.

8. The Sabrina Dress. The best examples are simple A-line shapes with nipped waists in black silk or periwinkle cotton.

9. Ballet flats. The graceful slipper comes in high-gloss patent or two-toned leather with the requisite little leather bow.

10. Wrap sunglasses. The sporty shape that curves around the face offers maximum protection in colors that range from classic tortoise shell to fire engine red.

11. A straw hat and bag. Simple shapes in natural colors will add dash to any spring ensemble.

12. Amber or tortoise shell faceted necklaces. They go with everything and look newer than sliver.

13. Opalescent lips and nails. Shine is the beauty statement of the season. Pearlized lip gloss, in colors like opal and metallic, is worn alone or over a creamy copper-hued lipstick. Metallic nails complement the shiny lips.

14. Spa treatments. Pamper yourself at home with spa essentials that are blended with marine ingredients to invigorate, hydrate and tone over-stressed skin. Try Ralph Lauren's SCULPT dry oil body spray or HYDRATE gel body moisturizer.

15. Sheath dress. According to Hudson's director of trend merchandising Mariana Keros, this is the one single item that says spring. Colors range from classic black to shiny pastels and bold tropical floral hues. Add a short boxy jacket if you wish.

Use the damp, dreary days of this winter to plan for the sunshine season. Spring merchandise should be arriving shortly.

Twelve Oaks begins a $10-million facelift

Michigan's highest-volume shopping center, Twelve Oaks in Novi, will not be undone by the opening of Somerset North mall in Troy in August. Twelve Oaks started a renovation project to glamorize and modernize the 18-year-old center.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Beginning today, Twelve Oaks shoppers will encounter construction crews and detour signs as the mall starts a multi-million dollar renovation project to be completed by August.

Mall manager Philip Morosco said Twelve Oaks is reconfiguring the center entranceways, adding a double-sized second elevator of marble, stainless steel and glass, completely remodeling the Customer Service Center, creating family restrooms, adding a pop-up book playland for toddlers, installing direct-access phone directories throughout the center, painting the mall's interior a bright off-white, and creating an exterior lighting system that acts as a beacon to draw evening shoppers to the center.

"We've planned every one of these enhancements with our customers in mind," he said. "It's all part of an ongoing process to keep Michigan's number one retail center fresh, exciting and customer convenient."

Morosco said the mall will keep regular business hours during the renovation, with 90-percent of the work being done after dark. The cost of the project was estimated at $10 million, but Morosco could not confirm the figure. The most noticeable changes will be the shopping center entrances which will feature Twelve Oaks' new logo — an oakleaf against a background grid.

The entrances will create a mood for shoppers as they walk across a paved patio to approach sliding glass doors under a weather-protected vestibule radiantly lit. Once inside, in-house telephones with direct lines to customer service representatives, provide immediate personal assistance to shoppers looking for restaurants or a place to borrow a stroller.

As soon as the new double-sized elevator is working at one end of the mall, the original glass elevator will be replaced at the other end to match it. Marble, glass and stainless steel will replace the wood-and-bar banisters currently in place throughout the mall's upper level.

"This shopping center was a Hudson's development when it opened in August 1977," explained Morosco. "About a year later it became a Taubman property. The changes planned will bring more Taubman-features to the center, resembling our other shopping centers, Lakeside in Sterling Heights and Fairlane in Dearborn." Morosco came to Twelve Oaks from Briarwood in Ann Arbor in 1987 to manage the center.

He pointed out several reasons for remodeling Twelve Oaks — the constant need to repair the aging entrance bricks, the demanding schedules of busy customers, the desire to remain on the cutting edge of local shopping venues.

"Of course, we expect the opening of Somerset North to impact our business due to the initial curiosity level," he said when questioned about the timing of a Twelve Oaks "grand opening" so near a Somerset North grand opening, Aug. 16, 1996. "There are clear market differences in the shopping centers. They would love to have our success. Where people shop will depend on the retail mix Somerset North ends up with."

Twelve Oaks marketing director Elaine Kah points with pride to her center's ability to attract upscale, Vertical moves: One phase of the Twelve Oaks renovation includes a second mall elevator, doubling the capacity to move shoppers between levels with enough room to accommodate strollers and wheelchairs.

first-in-the-market stores like Liz Claiborne's shop and the Eddie Bauer Home Collection. She said the center's 180 shops offer merchandise that draws shoppers from Lansing and Livingston County on a regular basis. The center's success has led many to complain about its traffic and lack of parking — issues the mall manager insists are outdated.

"There's plenty of parking at the center, though the choice ones in front of the department stores fill quickly. Shoppers just have to drive around the mall's perimeter to find more. The traffic issues were addressed in 1990 when Novi Road was widened," Morosco said.

The Twelve Oaks remodeling project was awarded to the Inland Company of Chicago.

Nearby at the 5-year-old Laurel Park Place in Livonia, mall manager Tim Grimske said Twelve Oaks' renovation seems right on time.

"Renovations are normal mall operation," he said. "Several generations of stores have come and gone in many centers as retailers work to keep things fresh."

Twelve Oaks Up Close

- Mall opened in August 1977 at Twelve Mile and Novi Road.
- Total retail space: 1,250,000-square feet.

- Owned by The Taubman Co. of Bloomfield Hills.
- Mall walkers welcome.
- Annual events include winter Festival of Bands, spring Peter Rabbit storybook display, summer 50s Festival, award-winning Crystal Forest holiday exhibit.

"We've planned every one of these enhancements with our customers in mind. It's... part of an ongoing process to keep... fresh, exciting and customer convenient."

Where can I find?

Several readers called with suggestions for locating some of the hard-to-find items mentioned two weeks ago.

Regarding smoked meats... A reader said Marketplace Meats in Union Lake has its own smokehouse where turkey, sausage, and beef is smoked. The shop also makes Hungarian and venison sausage, chicken, beef and turkey jerky. Call (810) 363-2041 for more information.

Helen Murphy of Farmington Hills said delicious smoked meats can be ordered from Burger's Smokehouse in Missouri 1-800-624-5426.

Julia Miloser of Livonia was searching for house dresses that button or zipper up the front for an elderly woman.

A reader pointed out that J.C. Penney has a special catalog filled with items for people living with disabilities. It contains many unique products, including clothes that fasten from the front with Velcro instead of buttons and snaps and zippers.

We're still shopping for these hard-to-find items:

- A laundry bag that attaches to the end of a multi-story laundry chute with a zipper on the bottom.

- A musical cake plate that plays Happy Birthday.

- Pants stretchers that minimize shrinking and ironing after washing.

- Clothes that fit the 18-inch (large size) GI Joe.

- A lid for a "Christmas Around The World" cookie jar purchased from the House of Lloyd's.

- If any shopper knows where to get any of these difficult items, please give Malls & Mainstreets a call at (810) 901-2567. We'll print your responses! You can fax an answer to (810) 644-1314. Or write Where Can I Find, c/o The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, 48009. New shopping challenges are also welcome through these avenues. Thank you!

the Federal Reserve's recent "Midwest Economic Report."

Some 67-percent of computer and electronics retailers reported increased sales. Among gift shops, 54-percent said they had higher sales in 1995. Apparel stores trailed the industry with 31-percent reporting increases and 61-percent reporting decreases.

Retail Realities: Catalogs

In 1744 Benjamin Franklin published the country's first catalog offering scientific and academic books. Other catalogs soon followed, facing the same concerns: finding customers who wanted the catalogs, getting merchandise to the customer, pulling off the necessary exchange of funds.

By 1856, mail-order giants began to develop. The Orvis Catalog hawked fishing equipment (it's still in business 150 years later, the oldest of the still-published).

Montgomery Ward's first edition hit the mail in 1872. It closed in 1985 to be resurrected in 1992 in a joint venture with Fingerhut.

Sears Roebuck's catalog came out in 1888 and became the planet's wishbook for 100 years.

Catalog companies now number in the thousands. In 1994, 12-billion copies of their publications went through the U.S. mails. In return, more than one-half of the country's adult population made at least one catalog purchase before the year was out.

Streamlining to be delayed a year

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

"There'll be a year's delay before the Michigan Legislature can simplify and reduce school elections."

"We want to slow down and make sure we do it right," said Rep. Bob Brackenridge, R-St. Joseph, head of a task force seeking to reduce the number of elections and election dates.

"I told the legislative committee of the Michigan Association of School Boards, and they see it coming," said Brackenridge, a former county clerk. "But it's like a string from a big ball of yarn. You pull it, and everything moves," said Brackenridge, a former Berrien County clerk.

"I intend to reintroduce this next January," he said, anticipating his own re-election to a fourth term.

Currently, school board members are elected on the second Monday in June each year (except in Detroit). School boards also schedule special tax and bond elections at various times with the approval of a county committee.

3 votes a year

Brackenridge has two goals: 1. To eliminate the need in many places of the city and township maintaining one set of election records and polling places while school districts maintain a second set of records and different polling places. He wants cities and townships to conduct all elections.

2. To reduce the number of elections of all types to three a year — for example, May, August and November. The only exceptions would be recall elections demanded by voters and special elections to fill congressional and legislative vacancies.

In his district, voters in one village voted nine times in a year — the village elections, township-state primary and election, and multiple school money elections.

Even where there are no villages, many voters become annoyed at repeated school district tax and bond elections. In Brackenridge's view, school districts would elect trustees annually in May and be confined to the May, August and November dates for ballot issues.

Meanwhile, Sen. Loren Bennett, R-Canton, has joined two outstate senators in a three-bill package of school election reforms. Their plan calls for electing school boards in November in even-numbered years — the same as for state and U.S. representatives and county boards.

The Senate bills also would assign cities and townships all election responsibility. Special school money questions would be confined to Tuesdays in April, August and November.

What's so complex?

What's so complex that Brackenridge wants another year of work?

■ Many cities' charters specify election dates — e.g., in March, April, August and September. While state law takes precedence over a city charter, legislators are reluctant to infringe on municipal home rule.

■ Villages have a different election schedule — Feb. 19 for the primary and March 11 for the general election this year.

■ Officials of the State Bar of Michigan would like to separate non-partisan judicial elections from the partisan, even-year elections in August and November. They're eyeing May, when school boards would be elected.

■ Phil Power, chairman of the company that owns this newspaper and a University of Michigan regent, is getting attention with his advocacy of a single "education election" in spring for school boards, community college boards, State Board of Education and the Big Three university boards.

Brackenridge has pulled together a "working group" of legislators and officials that already has met four times and will continue to meet through 1996.

He sums it up: "Election consolidation is as significant to the election laws as Proposal A of 1994 was to school finance."

Kaufman assumes SMART post

Richard Kaufman has put down his gavel at Wayne County Circuit Court and officially begins leading SMART today as the new general manager.

Kaufman follows Michael Duggan, who served as interim general manager of the regional bus system for four years. Duggan will continue as deputy county executive at Wayne County and become a member of the SMART board of directors.

"Rick has the ability to bring the best out of people and that's what this organization needs, strong leadership," said Matthew Wirgau, chairman of the SMART Board of Directors.

"I want SMART to be a community-based public transit system," Kaufman said in a press release. "I want our buses to be on time, our staff to be courteous to our customers, and our buses to run more efficiently. I will work hard with southeastern Michigan businesses to help get employees to their job openings, and reduce single occupant vehicles during rush hour by encouraging use of public transportation.

"I will continue pursuing consolidation of SMART and DDOT operations as much as is feasible for the benefit of both systems, allowing people from all three counties to travel more easily throughout the region," Kaufman said.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Here are answers to your questions

Comfort foods are popular this time of year, but so are healthful foods. Your calls have been an interesting mix of requests, hints and accolades.

Here's a sampling of reader calls and requests:
■ Beth of Farmington Hills wanted to know what was making her oil foam when she fried angel wings, a Polish pastry. Well Beth, the word I get from master Polish bakers is the reason your oil foams is excess flour. Make sure the oil is hot (about 365 degrees F.) and roll your dough about 1/8-inch thick. You're probably adding too much flour to your countertop when rolling out the dough to prevent sticking. The excess flour then "sizzles" off the dough when frying, and creates a foam.

You can prevent foaming by straining your oil when this happens through a triple layer of cheesecloth, a big paper coffee filter or a superfine strainer.

■ Martin Williams of Rochester told me Santa brought the Williams family a bread machine for Christmas. Martin wants a recipe for a bread mix he can make and prepackage in bags so when the urge hits to make a loaf, he doesn't have to pull a book, measure, sift, etc.

Well Martin, here's a basic recipe that makes a 1 1/2 pound loaf of bread. If your machine features an automatic yeast dispenser, you can add the yeast separately.

BASIC WHITE BREAD MIX

- 3 cups (15 ounces) unbleached all purpose flour
- 3 tablespoons powdered milk
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 teaspoons active dry yeast

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Place in a sealed container or plastic bag.

To make a 1 1/2 pound loaf, place mix in bread maker. Add 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons (9 fluid ounces) water, 2 tablespoons oil and 1 1/2 tablespoons honey. Select the basic wheat cycle, light setting and push start. Makes 1 1/2 pound loaf.

Chef's secret: For a more nutritious loaf, substitute 1 cup of whole wheat flour for the same amount of the unbleached all purpose flour.

Recipe source: "The Breadman's Healthy Sandwich Book by George Burnett," (copyright 1994. William Morrow & Co., $15).

■ Barb Mariniash of Canton is a busy working mother and wife who brown bags her lunch. She's trying to eat more beans and legumes to lower her cholesterol, and is looking for a transportable salad that's high in carbohydrates and low in fat.

Not asking for too much, are you Barb! Well, here's a streamlined version straight from one of the hottest selling books on the market.

FOUR BEAN SALAD

(Insalata di Fagioli)

- 1 can (16 ounces) black beans
- 1 can (16 ounces) red kidney beans
- 1 can (16 ounces) small lima beans
- 1 can (16 ounces) small white beans (i.e. Great Northern, Navy, etc.)
- 1 bunch green onions, thinly sliced
- 1 tablespoon fresh minced thyme or 1 teaspoon dried
- 1/2 cup minced parsley
- 6 medium tomatoes, chopped, or about 12 ounces diced, drained, canned tomatoes
- 2 tablespoons good vinegar (i.e. Balsamic)
- 1 teaspoon Dijon style mustard
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon fresh ground black pepper
- 1 1/2 tablespoons extra virgin olive oil

Place all the canned beans in a large colander and drain and rinse well. Place beans in a bowl. Add herbs and tomatoes. Combine vinegar, mustard, sugar, salt and pepper in a bowl and whisk.

Drizzle in olive oil. Pour mixture over beans and toss gently to coat. Refrigerate for 1 hour.

Toss before serving.

Serves 10. Each serving equals 111 calories, 2 grams fat, 17 grams carbohydrates and 6 grams protein.

TAMMIE GRAVES/STAFF ARTIST

Help you feel better when you're under the weather

BY PEGGY EVERTS
SPECIAL WRITER

It seems like everywhere I go people are sniffing, sneezing, hacking and coughing. This has been a rough season for colds and flu. Everybody has their own "treatment" for feeling better. Some like hot milk with honey, others prefer a good shot of whiskey. Mine has always been ginger ale and a nice bowl of chicken noodle soup.

There is so much written about nutrition these days - what's in, what's out, low-fat this, high-fiber that - it can be confusing! So what are some good comfort foods to eat when you're sick? Is it the same as when you're healthy? Yes and no.

First, when you're sick, eat whatever your body "tells you" would feel good. During times of illness, our bodies need the same nutrients as during times of wellness; maybe just in different amounts. For example:

■ Fluids - Never underestimate the power of fluids! Cold weather outside and dry air inside can wreak havoc on our bodies. You see, our bodies are about 60 to 65 percent water by weight. So, just one episode of diarrhea or one night of sweating out a fever, can cause us to lose huge amounts of body water (which is why we usually lose weight when we're really sick - it's fluid, not fat). So, drink up! Cool fluids like plain water or 100 percent juice are best.

Some non-caffeinated soda pop like my favorite ginger ale may also be soothing. Go easy on juice drinks, bottled flavored waters and caffeinated beverages. High sugar drinks and caffeine can rob your body of fluids because of their hyperosmolar (high water-loving) and diuretic (high urine-producing) effect.

■ Protein - Yes we can get too much of a good thing, but basically, protein is an important building block for our body. The problem is, we usually consume too much protein; our body uses what it needs, then stores the rest as fat. But when you're sick, some nice soft protein foods can help you feel better.

A scrambled egg with toast, a nice chicken casserole, or a tender beef stew are all nutritious and comforting foods. Watch out for meats and foods that are fried or really rich and creamy. These may not sit well in a queasy stomach and they tend to take a long time to digest so they make your nausea even worse.

■ Carbohydrate - Always our best friend - in good times and bad, the carbohydrate is ready to nourish. The very foundation of our diet, grains, vegetables and fruits will always work to the good of our health. A nice baked potato (cooked quickly in the microwave) moistened with some low-fat milk and seasoned with a little paprika can feel like a meal. A bowl of cereal with a banana or a nice hot dish of succotash can be light and nutritious. Some people can't handle coarse or acidic foods like raw vegetables or stewed tomatoes, but let your body be your guide.

■ Vitamins and minerals - We keep going back and forth on this issue. We need extra, we don't need extra. Which is it? Well, whether you're sick or well, a general multi-vitamin/mineral supplement probably won't hurt, and an orange or a glass of orange juice is good for you. But will mega doses of vitamin C can cure the common cold? I doubt it. Just stick to those sensational carbohydrates and lots of fluids and save your money for Valentine's Day goodies.

COOKING ON WEEKENDS

Classic twist: Comfort friends and family with Italian Beef Pot Roast, served over a bed of bow-tie pasta.

Fuss-free pot roast features Italian flavors

Plan a pot roast for weekends or other days when you have the time for the long simmering. A pot roast is cooked by braising, a virtually fuss-free cooking method which brings out the tenderness in less tender cuts of meat.

After browning with garlic, the roast is covered tightly and gently simmered in sauce and seasonings until it's fork tender.

It takes a couple of hours, but needs no stirring, not even a peek. Everyone will love the wonderful aroma wafting from the kitchen.

Begin with a boneless beef chuck shoulder, arm or blade pot roast, like the one that gave Mom's its rich, full flavor. Italian, with its all-around popularity, is the twist on tradition in Italian Beef Pot Roast, a recipe from the Michigan Beef Industry Commission. You make it Italian with prepared spaghetti sauce and seasonings, a side of pasta and a sprinkling of Parmesan cheese.

ITALIAN BEEF POT ROAST

- 3 to 4-pound boneless beef chuck shoulder, arm or blade pot roast
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 3 cloves garlic, crushed
- 1 jar (26 to 28 ounces) prepared thick and chunky spaghetti sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon crushed red pepper (optional)

- 6 cups uncooked farfalle (bow tie) or mostaccioli pasta
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch, dissolved in 1/4 cup water
- Grated Parmesan cheese

In large Dutch oven, heat oil over medium heat until hot. Add beef pot roast; brown evenly, adding garlic to pan while browning second side of roast. Pour off drippings. Stir in spaghetti sauce and pepper, if desired. Bring to a boil; reduce heat to low. Cover tightly and simmer 1-3/4 to 2-3/4 hours or until beef is tender.

Meanwhile cook pasta according to package directions, stirring peas into pasta water during last 5 minutes of cooking time. Keep warm.

Remove pot roast; keep warm. Skim off fat from cooking liquid. In same pan, combine cooking liquid and cornstarch mixture. Bring to a boil; cook and stir 2 minutes or until thickened and bubbly.

Arrange pasta mixture on serving platter. Carve pot roast into 1/4-inch thick slices; arrange over pasta. Spoon some of the sauce over top; sprinkle with cheese, as desired. Serve with remaining sauce.

Makes 10 to 12 servings.
Recipe from the Michigan Beef Industry Commission.

Pilaf: Janes Gang favorite

See Chef Larry Janes' column on Taste front.

A reader from Troy called for a rice recipe that "really tastes good" and can be calculated for diabetic exchange.

We make this at the Janes Gang house, and everyone always takes seconds.

PINE NUT PILAF

- 1/2 cup pine nuts (pignolis)
- 1 cup long grain white rice
- 2 teaspoons oil
- 1/2 cup minced onion
- 2 cups chicken broth or bouillon
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon ground sage (optional)

Place the pine nuts on a heavy baking sheet in a 350 degree F oven for 15 minutes or until they become very fragrant and lightly golden in color. Stir frequently to prevent burning.

Heat the oil in a heavy saucepan and add chopped onion. Cook until onion is golden and opaque, about 3-4 minutes. Stir in rice and continue mixing until rice is lightly toasted, about 2-3 minutes. Add the nutmeg and sage and mix well. Stir in the chicken broth.

Cook until the mixture begins to simmer. Remove from heat. Stir in pine nuts and cover tightly and reduce heat to a simmer. Cook until rice has absorbed most of the liquid and is fluffy and tender, about 20-25 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

Each serving is about 126 calories and approximately equals 1 starch serving, 1/4 fat serving.

I just had to pass along this tip that I discovered during the holidays. I was making a rather large pot of rice and left it on the burner a little too long. Needless to say, when I opened the lid, all I could smell was burnt rice.

I called momma for a remedy. She suggested I place two slices of fresh white bread in the pot on top of the rice, then cover the pot and wait three minutes.

It's a miracle, and it works, but I hope you never have to use it because cleaning the pot was a horrendous task!

Try these tips for better braising

Here are some tips for better braising from the Michigan Beef Industry Commission.

■ Browning the beef first gives the roast its rich color and flavor, but resist the temptation to turn up the heat and brown it quickly. The key is to brown the meat slowly and evenly.

■ Use just a small amount of liquid, usually no more than 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 cups.

■ Be sure to cover the pan tightly and keep it covered, so the steam can gently cook the meat until tender. Braising does take time, but very little attention. There's no need to stir or even lift the cover while the beef cooks.

■ Remember to simmer; do not let the liquid boil or the meat will toughen. When properly simmering, bubbles will form slowly and break apart just below the surface. To simmer, cook over low heat on top of the range or in the oven at 300 to 325 degrees F.

■ The meat is done when it's fork tender. Insert a fork toward the end of the cooking time; if it goes in easily, the roast is ready to serve.

■ Flavor it your way! The cooking liquid can be your choice of water, broth, fruit or vegetable juice, wine, prepared sauce or a combination of these.

Gripping tale takes balanced look at crime

By DAVID GOODMAN

Matthew Poncelet (Sean Penn) is a swaggering, hate-spouting murderer on Louisiana's death row who is fast running out of time.

Hoping to find a lawyer and escape impending death by lethal injection, he writes to his local church and is assigned to Sister Helen Prejean (Susan Sarandon), a Catholic nun who lives and works in a New Orleans housing project.

Writer-director Tim Robbins based "Dead Man Walking" on the memoirs of the real-life Prejean and her experiences counseling condemned men in their last days.

This gripping movie uses the relationship between Sister Helen and Poncelet to take an unflinching and balanced look at crime, punishment, the possibility of redemption and the moral questions raised by state-sanctioned killing.

It's the kind of film that requires great performances, with a narrative exposition driven by the kind of monologue scenes actors love. Such a subtle, character-based movie rises and falls on the quality of actors who bring the script to life and, fortunately, Robbins has the advantage of an exceptional cast.

Penn is riveting as the dense young Cajun accused of the rape and murder of a teenage couple as they sat necking in their car one night. And Sarandon sheds expensive makeup and sexy clothes to stirringly play the plucky, selfless woman of the cloth who volunteers to be the condemned man's "spiritual counsel."

With great acting mixed with such an intelligent script, this story about a killer's final days turns into one of the year's most absorbing and important movies.

The meetings between the unlikely couple and impact these disparate souls have on each other form the core of the dramatic action. In the beginning, Poncelet is defiant, seemingly immune to fear or remorse.

For Sister Helen, the meetings with this extremely unappealing specimen are a test of her faith, her opposition to the death penalty and her belief that "every person is worth more than his worst act."

She's appalled by Poncelet — his lewdness, racist diatribes and psychopathic lack of feeling — but she's determined to help him face death with dignity, even as her efforts perplex her upper-middle class family and alienate the children she teaches in the ghetto.

Robbins uses creative filming techniques to achieve a strangely intimate mood in the sometimes desultory, sometimes emotional visiting room sessions. There's one telling exchange as the pair sit on opposite sides of a glass barrier. Robbins shoots from an angle so one face is reflected in the heavy safety glass as the other is talking. Rapid cuts would have exacerbated a sense of emotional distance, but putting both faces in frame at the same time underscores the characters' importance to each other.

As the plot progresses from failed legal appeal to depictions of the bureaucratic minutia that make up the state's preparation for the execution, Sister Helen gradually breaks through Poncelet's bravado.

GRAMERCY PICTURES

Drama: Sister Helen Prejean (Susan Sarandon) lays a hand of compassion on the shoulder of inmate Matthew Poncelet (Sean Penn) in the Tim Robbins film "Dead Man Walking," a Gramercy Pictures release.

REVIEW

But even as the movie unravels Poncelet's hidden vulnerability particularly when his mother (Roberta Maxwell) breaks down clutching old photographs of her son at age 6 — Penn never really makes him the slightest bit likable.

Penn and Sarandon are perfectly backed by excellent actors in a variety of supporting roles.

Chiefs outlast Hawks; Rocks pound Spartans

Looking for the surprise team this season in volleyball?

Look no further than Plymouth Canton, which improved to 4-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association Wednesday with a thrilling, five-game victory at Farmington Hills Harrison.

The Chiefs rallied late behind their serving to escape with the 15-11, 12-15, 15-6, 10-15, 15-11 victory.

"We've done a lot of things different than last year and I've used a lot of different line-ups this season," said first-year coach Steve Anderson. "I am surprised the team is adjusting to so much change so easily."

The loss was Harrison's first in the WLAA as the Hawks slipped to 4-1.

VOLLEYBALL

The key to Canton's success has been its serving, which proved to be the difference against the Hawks. The Chiefs, who improved to 11-4-3 overall, recorded a total of 20 service aces.

After taking a 6-0 lead in the decisive fifth game, the Chiefs found themselves clinging to a slim 11-10 advantage. Behind the serving of Jessica Bradley, Canton was able to pull away for the win.

Bradley came off the bench to record three aces and 17 digs. Jessica Orleman was the leading hitter, collecting 16 kills and two solo blocks.

Kristie Drinkhahn finished with 12 kills, five aces and 28 digs, while Beth Ostach notched nine kills and two solo blocks. Amber Wells contributed 27 digs, five aces and 36 assists to kills.

Anderson also praised the all-around efforts of Courtney Wells, who filled in at several positions.

Anderson admitted that the toughest part of the Chiefs' schedule lurks ahead. Canton must still face Livonia Churchill and Plymouth Salem in two weeks, with Walled Lake Central three weeks away.

"Because we're not a big team, it will come down to serving and how smart we play," Anderson said.

Salem wins in three

Plymouth Salem kept pace with Canton, improving to 4-0 in the WLAA Wednesday with a 15-4, 15-4, 15-0 victory over visiting Livonia Stevenson.

The Rocks (21-4-2 overall) were led by senior Karissa Socia's 10 kills and Shellye Sills' nine kills, three solo blocks and two assist blocks.

Nicole Van Hees added eight kills and three assist blocks, while Amanda Abraham chipped in with four kills, six assist blocks and three solo blocks.

Karen Springsteen notched 18 assists to kills and recorded four service aces.

"The kids really played well and started passing the ball, which gave us the opportunity to run our offense," Salem coach Allie Suffety said.

Atop their divisions

Salem, Canton collect key division wins

Wherever Thursday's dual meet between unbeaten league powers Livonia Stevenson and Plymouth Salem ended up, the results weren't unexpected — the Rocks remain the WLAA's elite. Canton, however, showed considerable improvement in its win over Churchill.

BY RICHARD L. SHOOK
STAFF WRITER

When is a home win not a home win? Why, when it's on the road, of course.

If that confuses you, imagine reading in the paper that Livonia Stevenson is hosting Plymouth Salem's boys swim team — and finally watching the meet in Salem's pool.

Thus Salem's 109-74 victory Thursday night over Stevenson will forever be noted in the record books as a road win — even though it was contested in the Rocks' pool.

Actually, it wasn't such a strange feeling for Stevenson. The Spartans don't swim their "home" meets at home anyway. They swim their "home" events at either the Bentley or Churchill pools.

However this time Stevenson couldn't use its normal pool. They needed to be able to contest the diving event, which is outlawed at Bentley because that pool is too shallow.

Generally that's a "So What?" since Stevenson doesn't have any divers (where they going to practice?) on its team. Salem does, however, so rather than have its divers compete somewhere else, both coaches agreed to shift the meet to the Rocks' pool with its state-of-the-art timing system.

Diver Otto Geiseman notched a personal best of 250.50, so contesting the event was worth it to the Salem youngster.

Salem notched its sixth dual meet victory without a loss while Stevenson suffered its first loss in five meets.

"We didn't have any divers," assistant coach Jeff Shoemaker of the Spartans said. "That's a pretty big swing. We only had 13 guys and no divers so our guys are doing exceptionally well this year."

Stevenson pulled a fast one of sorts by inserting Steve Domin in the 50-yard freestyle, where he won with a time of 23.35.

"We knew they were strong in the sprint events," Shoemaker said. "So we knew we had to put someone there."

"Steve did a decent job Saturday (Jan. 20) in the Salem Invitational here. We were hoping that he'd step it up. He did that. He won the event."

He also captured the 100 butterfly in 56:17 while freshman Keith Falk won the 500 freestyle in 4:58.17 plus the 200 freestyle in 1:52.31.

Moving right along: Canton's swimmers continue to impress and improve, beating division rival Churchill Thursday with swims like Jason McMann's win in the 100 backstroke.

Jones fuels Rockets victory over Salem

BY NEAL ZIPSER
STAFF WRITER

After a quiet first half Friday, something woke up Albert Jones.

That's when the Westland John Glenn senior guard led his team to a 67-55 victory over visiting Plymouth Salem.

Jones, who accounted for only four free throws in the first half while sitting on the bench in foul trouble, led a furious second-half onslaught with 15 points.

With the win, Glenn took the lead atop the Western Lakes Activities Association. The Rockets, who have won seven of their last eight games, improved to 7-3 overall and 5-0 in the WLAA.

The Rockets moved ahead of Plymouth Canton, which lost to Northville 42-48. Glenn will host Canton Feb. 6, but the game is not circled on coach Mike Schuette's calendar. Glenn also has to get by Walled Lake Central Friday.

BASKETBALL

"The only game circled is Walled Lake Western (Tuesday)," the Glenn coach said. "Every team we play from now to the end of the season can beat us and the team is aware of that."

Jones finished with 19 points, eight rebounds and seven assists. The Rockets also received 16 points apiece from David Jarrett and De'Korey Albright.

Salem dropped its third straight conference game to fall to 5-6 overall and 2-3 in the conference.

Andres Lopez paced Salem with 19 points and eight rebounds. Phil Parker and Andy Power added 11 and 10 points, respectively. Mike Korduba chipped in with nine.

Both teams struggled early, but Salem was able to build leads of 9-2 and 17-9, before Glenn closed the deficit to 17-14 heading into the second quarter.

"I don't think we or Glenn looked good early," Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "We didn't come out with any intensity and were flat. Perhaps coming off two tough losses (against Central and Canton) had something to do with that."

Glenn stayed close thanks to Jarrett, who scored 11 of Glenn's first 16 points with Jones on the bench with two fouls. Behind five points each from Korduba and Parker, the Rocks clung to a slim 31-30 halftime advantage.

The key to Salem's success was 12 first-half offensive rebounds.

"Their offensive rebounding really hurt us in the first half," Schuette said. "We wanted to keep Lopez and Korduba off the boards and make sure Power always had a hand in his face when he took a shot."

Schuette's strategy worked in the second half — Salem grabbed only one offensive rebound and Power was held to one basket.

After Glenn began the second half on an 8-0 run, Salem countered with a 12-5 rally to tie the game at 43. But Glenn took the lead for good with an 11-0 rally.

Jones put the game away with a thunderous left-handed slam off a steal. He later found Albright with a behind the back pass which resulted in an Albright two-handed dunk.

SC women outlast Mott; Madonna men stumble

Problem was, Mott CC wasn't good enough to shoot itself back into Wednesday's women's basketball game at Schoolcraft College. The Lady Ocelots, however, were good enough — at least from the free throw line.

SC outshot the Bears at the line, converting 20-of-26 (77 percent) to Mott's 9-of-14 (64 percent), to hold on for a 64-58 Eastern Conference victory. The Lady Ocelots improved to 13-6 overall, 3-2 in the conference.

Becky Billicki's 23 points paced SC. Billicki hit 2-of-4 three-pointers and 9-of-10 free throws. Amy Pietila added 14 points and Julie Schmidt contributed 11 points and 11 rebounds. Sheilah Coulter totaled seven points and nine boards.

Mott got 15 points from Kristen Miller, with four others scoring eight. Angela Enslley, Holly Dolphin, Amy Culver and Cory Sutton. Cary Garman and Latanya Collins each nabbed 10 rebounds for the Bears.

SC led 27-22 at the half, limiting Mott to 10-of-38 (26 percent) shooting from the floor. The Ocelots, who converted just 20-of-68 shots from the field (28 percent) for the game, stayed in control in the second half by making 14-of-17 from the line (82 percent).

Mott CC 91, SC 65 (men): Mott CC's men's team proved against Schoolcraft College that it deserved its national ranking — at least during the second half Wednesday.

The Ocelots managed to make it respectable throughout the first half, trailing 33-29 at the break. But the game slipped away after that.

SC fell to 6-12 overall, 1-5 in the Eastern Conference with the setback.

Dave Paviak's 13 points led a group of four Ocelots to score in double figures. Jason Maschke (from Livonia Franklin) had 12, Tim Burns scored 11 and Rudy Hatfield (Livonia Churchill) netted 10. Doug Walters chipped in with eight points and five assists.

COLLEGES

Mott got 28 points from DeWayne Allen, 20 each from E.J. Haralson and Conya Robinson, and 11 from Jamon Johnson. Robinson and Allen led Mott's second-half surge, scoring 16 and 13, respectively.

The game was as close statistically as it was on the scoreboard after the first half. Neither team shot well (SC, 10-of-24, 42 percent; Mott, 11-of-30, 37 percent) and rebounding was nearly even (15-14, Mott).

The difference was that the Bears upgraded their game in the second half. SC didn't. Mott was 21-of-35 from the floor (60 percent) in the second half to the Ocelots' 15-of-36 (42 percent).

Michigan Christian 81, Madonna 73 (men): Despite strong offensive showings from Jeff Kennedy and Mike Maryanski, Madonna University's men's team slipped down the stretch in a homecourt loss to Michigan Christian Thursday.

The defeat dropped the Fighting Crusaders to 6-17 overall. Michigan Christian is 8-13.

Kennedy and Maryanski combined for 45 of Madonna's points, Kennedy scored 23 and Maryanski had 22. Kennedy also had six rebounds and two steals, while Maryanski blocked four shots. Dan Pertulla (Redford Thurston) added 13 points and six boards, but no other Crusader scored more than five.

Michigan Christian had five players reach double figures: Daman Henry and Kenyatta Baylor with 16 apiece, Ty Clark with 13, Paul Robak with 11 and Brian Thrift with 10. Jesse Heck chipped in three points, seven assists and four steals.

Chiefs lose both game and Hunter

Losing the game was bad enough. Losing your best player — arguably the best in the entire league — along with it seems grossly unfair.

When Plymouth Canton hosted Northville Friday in a Western Lakes Activities Association basketball game, no such thing was even considered possible. After all, the Mustangs had lost three of four previous WLAA games.

But the Chiefs have had a nasty habit of making what should be an easy time difficult. That's what happened against Northville, for 2 1/4 quarters. Then Ron Hunter, one of the league's premier players, came down on his foot funny after a dunk. He limped to the sideline, through for the evening.

BASKETBALL

So was Canton. The five-point lead the Chiefs had with Hunter on the floor faded, and they did too, losing 42-40.

The loss ended their 10-game win streak, leaving them at 10-1 overall and 4-1 in the WLAA. Northville is 7-4 overall, 2-3 in the league.

"I didn't think we played badly," said Canton coach Dan Young. "We just didn't get things done when we had to."

The game-winning points were scored with more than a minute left. Canton had a final shot to tie, but Matt Ammons missed, and a tip-in try by Mike Elsner and Brandon Hartke failed, too. Ammons and Mark Bray led Canton with 10 points apiece; Bray also grabbed six boards. Elsner finished with eight points and five rebounds, with Nick Hurley getting five points, seven assists and four boards. Hunter's line: five points, five rebounds, two assists.

Ben Szoster and Mark Sander provided nearly all the offense for the Mustangs, combining for 37 points (21 for Szoster, 16 for Sander).

It was uncertain how serious Hunter's foot injury was. He was scheduled to have it x-rayed Saturday. If he's lost for any length of time, Canton's league title hopes could be over. The Chiefs are already without their other top star, forward Rob Johnson, who injured a knee against Walled Lake Central. Johnson won't return much before tournament time, if at all.

Agape 74, Romulus Christian 58: Plymouth Agape Christian sat its three seniors and still had plenty to handle Romulus Christian Friday at Agape.

The victory improved Agape's record to 7-2 overall, 5-0 in the Metro Christian Conference. Romulus Christian is 1-7 overall, 1-3 in the MCC.

Jeremy Austin led Agape with 18 points and 10 rebounds. Steve Mecklenberg contributed 14 points. Romulus Christian got 25 points from Bryan Blakeship and 18 from Jason Halton.

Agape led 23-11 after one quarter and 48-28 at the half.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

SALEM EDGES GLENN

An outstanding performance from Kristin Kosik was almost too little for Plymouth Salem's gymnastics team Wednesday against visiting Westland John Glenn.

Kosik won three events and finished first in the all-around, and every bit of it was needed to boost the Rocks past Glenn, 135.7-135.6.

Kosik's wins came in the vault (9.0), the uneven parallel bars (9.0) and the floor exercise (9.6). She totaled 36.3 to win the all-around.

Brooke Kilby had a pair of seconds for Salem, in the vault (8.6) and balance beam, in which she tied Glenn's Stephanie Thompson (8.75 each). Kilby was also fourth in the bars (8.55) and fifth in the floor (8.9) to place third in the all-around (34.8).

Zoe Yockey took a second for Salem in the floor (9.3) and tied for third in the vault with the Rockets' Sarah Coombs (8.55). Yockey placed fifth in the all-around (33.85).

Coombs was Glenn's best, finishing first in the beam (8.8) and second in the all-around (35.2). Salem, now 4-1 in duals, is at Farmington at 7 p.m. tonight.

TOP SWIMMERS

Three members of the Plymouth-Canton Cruisers Swim Club earned high-point trophies at a recent U.S.S. swim meet held in Warren.

Kyle Silbernagel was the No. 1 point-scorer in the nine-year-old boys division, Ben Dzialo was second in the 10-year-old boys division, and Adam Sonnanstine was fourth in the 11-year-old boys division.

Silbernagel earned his honor with firsts in the 100-yard freestyle, 50 backstroke, 50 butterfly and 200 free; seconds in the 100 individual medley and 50 free; and fourths in the 100 back and 50 breaststroke.

Dzialo's second was based on his firsts in both the 50 and 200 free; seconds in the 100 free, 50 fly, 100 IM, 100 back and 50 breast; and third in the 50 back.

Sonnanstine's fourth came virtue of his second in the 50 free; third in the 50 breast; fourths in the 100 breast, 200 IM and 100 free; and fifths in the 200 free and 100 fly.

Salem gets split in WLAA duals

Finally, Plymouth Salem and Westland John Glenn met on the mat in a dual meet.

Perhaps the Rocks would have preferred another postponement. Twice earlier this season the Salem-vs.-Glenn meet had been cancelled, the first time due to weather. On Thursday at Salem, the Rocks and Rockets clashed as part of a Western Lakes Activities Association double-dual meet, with Salem going against Farmington as well.

Salem broke even on the evening, beating Farmington 43-31 but losing to Glenn, 44-31. The split left the Rocks with a 3-2 dual-meet record, 2-2 in the WLAA's Lakes Division. Six Salem wrestlers recorded two match wins apiece. Eric Coburn pinned Glenn's Greg Anderson in 2:25 at 119-pounds and Farmington's Martin Spinks in 4:48 at 125, while the Rocks' Sean Hughes decisively won Mike

WRESTLING

Schamak 6-0 at 125 and pinned Farmington's Tony Lema in 5:50 at 119. Dan Hamblin topped the Rocks' Kevin Costantino with a fall in 5:16 at 140, and pinned Farmington's Corey Perry in 1:18 at 148. Jeremy Breithaupt won twice at 160, beating Glenn's Charles Bonaszak in 2:59 and Farmington's Nate Adams in 3:26. Teono Wilson also won twice for Salem at 189, over Glenn's Matt Griglio by a 14-6 count and over the Falcons' Jabob Lawrence, 20-6. Clayton Walker did the same for the Rocks at 215, topping Glenn's Jeff Cook in 5:09 and Farmington's Brian White, 13-1.

In the victory over Farmington, Salem's other winners were James Greene, 19-8 over Aram Schiner at 140, and Dave Popeney, on a pin of Dean Gozanski in 1:09 at 152. The Rocks have a key Lakes Division dual meet Thursday when they host defending league champ Livonia Stevenson.

tremendously." CANTON 115, CHURCHILL 70: It was a night of personal bests for the Chiefs. Freshman Alex Rottgers "had a tremendous meet," coach Kyle Lott of Canton said. "He had personal bests in two wins and Jason McMann had personal bests in the butterfly and backstroke."

Rottgers recorded a 2:06.92 in the 200 individual medley and 1:04.4 in the 100 breaststroke. McMann was second to Churchill's Rob Grant (58.52) in the 100 butterfly but won the 100 backstroke in 1:01.7. Dave Berger's 24.36 paced a 1-2-3 sweep by the Chiefs in the 50 freestyle as B.J. Page and Steve Bollman performed well. Rob Brooks won the diving for Canton with a score of 193.5. "Our diver hit his lifetime best," Lott said. "We had a tremendous amount of best times."

"Matt Heiss lowered his best to 1:09.3 in the breaststroke, Page was 54.9 in the freestyle, Mike Dempsey got a 1:06.8 in the butterfly and Pat Krause was 1:01.5 in the same event and Le swam his 200-IM in 2:16.8."

The Chargers got victories from Mark Campbell in the 200 freestyle (1:51.5) and in the 100 freestyle (50.16). Matt Sorokac edged Canton's David Le, by .5 in taking the 500 freestyle with a time of 5:17.4.

Canton swept the relays. McMann, Rottgers, Krause and Page combined for 1:47.2 in the 200-medley relay. Berger, Kurtis Hornick, Don Miller and Don LeClair won the 200 freestyle relay in 1:37.8. LeClair, Berger, Page and McMann reached 3:35.70 in the 400 freestyle relay.

"We expected him to win," Shoemaker said of Falk's two wins by narrow margins over Salem's Kyle Petroskey and Mark Dettling, respectively. "He's been pretty consistent. He's just exceptional, a hard trainer."

"It was a good event," Salem coach Chuck Olson said. "Stevenson swam well. You can't ask for more than that."

"We haven't gotten any state qualifiers yet, but we've got a lot of guys right on the edge. They've been training hard and they're just about there."

"We're looking forward to the MISCA (Michigan Interscholastic Swim Coaches Association) event at Eastern Michigan. We're looking to hit some (qualifying) times there."

"It's a real fast event. It's the next big event we're pointing for."

Petroskey had an excellent meet for the Rocks, taking the 200 individual medley in 2:06.37. Nick Corden won the 100 freestyle in 51.87 while John McLenaghan took the 100 backstroke in 57.64.

The Spartans' Ted Burmeister was first in the 100 breaststroke with a time of 1:05.38 and contributed to Stevenson's winning 200 medley relay time of 1:44.24. Brian Butrico swam the backstroke, Burmeister the breaststroke, Domin the butterfly and Chad Crosby freestyle.

The Rocks won the other two relay events. Corden, Pat Morgan, Dettling and Petroskey won the 200 freestyle relay in 1:35.80 while Corden, Dettling, Petroskey and Tim Buchanan teamed for a winning 3:26.03 in the 400 freestyle relay.

"Andrew Locke, a freshman, had a nice meet for us," Olson said. "He had a personal best in the 100 breaststroke — and we need breaststrokers. We knew the meet wasn't going to be easy. It was actually better than the score showed."

"Jacob Varty, a sophomore, swam well for us," Shoemaker said. "His time drops are far better than they were last year at the end of the season. He's improved

Paseo coupe delivers value

By Anne Fracassa
Avanti NewsFeatures

Toyota's 1996 Paseo is a subcompact coupe that's perfect for the college-bound person who doesn't want to spend a lot on gas, options or the car itself.

It's a little sports car with a lot to offer.

And for 1996, the car's windows are bigger, giving passengers improved visibility.

The 4-cylinder 16-valve twin-cam engine generates 93 horsepower — just enough for a car of this size.

Even when mated to the automatic transmission, the Paseo has enough get-up-and-go to embarrass a few other 4-cylinders on the market right now.

The Paseo gets outstanding mileage.

It always has.

The latest figures show it gets between 30 and 37 mpg with a manual transmission.

With the automatic, those figures only decrease slightly.

First introduced in early 1991 as a 1992 model, the Paseo has smart styling and looks more like a little sports rocket than a teeny little coupe.

The interior has a lowered dashboard, giving a more spacious feeling than you'd feel in the older Paseos.

The current Paseo, like the early ones, is a great car.

Handling and responsiveness in tight maneuvering are absolutely superb due to front and rear stabilizer bars designed exclusively for the Paseo.

Fourteen-inch steel-belted performance tires add to the exceptional road feel on this car, which is extremely lightweight and just over 2,000 pounds.

For a vehicle of this size, the Paseo isn't very low to the ground, which enables most an easy way in and out of the front bucket seats.

Although billed as a 4-seater, with the front seats back enough for comfort, the rear seats barely exist. Children can fit; adults cannot.

Some nice amenities that are available as options on the 1996 car are anti-lock brakes, power windows and door locks, cruise control, a rear spoiler and pop-up sunroof.

Other options include CFC-free air conditioning, cruise control, a moonroof, alloy wheels and an "all-weather guard" equipment package that includes what Toyota calls a heavy-duty windshield wiper motor and washer tank.

As with most 2+2 offerings on the market since the mid-'70s, the rear seats fold down in the Paseo for increased cargo space. The rear seat also comes equipped with a security lock to protect cargo.

Standard equipment includes driver and passenger airbags, 3-point seat belts, front and rear crumple zones, side impact beams, a black windshield, dual outside mirrors, tinted glass and reclining seats.

It got the airbags and optional ABS for the first time in 1993.

The Paseo, which comes with a 36-month, 36,000-mile new-vehicle warranty on components, is available this year in white, black, red, pearl, green, turquoise and platinum.

The Mazda MX-3 and Nissan 200SX are the closest thing to competition the Paseo has. Hyundai's Scoupe was around the last two years or so, but the experiment is over. The Scoupe is dead.

But not the Paseo, a spinoff of the Corolla and the Tercel. This car is a breath of fresh air because it combines economy, sportiness and smart styling to score an impressive package at an affordable price. (Well-equipped Paseos are around $18,000.)

Toyota knows it's got a winner here.

Freebie: Get a refresher course on anti-lock brakes with a new brochure. "Keep Your Foot on the Brake" is free from the American Coalition For Traffic Safety Inc. by calling (703) 243-7501 or by writing 1110 N. Glebe Road, Suite 1020, Arlington, Va. 22201.

Quotable: Actor Morey Amsterdam, sharing his view of sports cars in a 1964 Dick Van Dyke episode: "Ya know what's wrong with bucket seats? Everybody's got a different-sized bucket."

Car Theft Rate Declines

(NU) - Reflecting the rise in private prosperity and a sharp increase in the use of security devices, the theft of automobiles in the United States has actually declined for three consecutive years but the trend may be shifting back toward more thefts.

Car thefts nationwide, according to FBI Uniform Crime Reports, dipped 8 percent in 1992; 9 percent in 1993; and 2 percent in 1994.

By region in 1994, the South dropped 2 percent, the Midwest just 1 percent and the West showed a 2 percent increase. In all cases, the trend was toward less decrease in thefts than the year before.

Among cities, those with populations of more than 1 million posted a sharp 6 percent decline in thefts; cities from 500,000 to 999,999 posted a 5 percent drop; and those with 250,000 to 499,999 saw a 2 percent decrease.

Only in smaller cities, from 100,000 to 249,999, did the number of thefts rise by 1 percent.

Here are the figures for the top 10 cities in numbers of car thefts in 1993. Car theft experts say the standings have changed little since then, but official figures are not yet available for 1994.

New York City suffered 112,464 car thefts; Los Angeles, 59,764; Chicago, 40,438; Philadelphia, 28,785; Detroit, 28,061; Houston, 27,519; San Diego, 19,319; Dallas, 17,465; Phoenix, 15,566; and Memphis, Tenn., 13,289.

In terms of total number of car thefts by state:

California more than doubles New York to lead the list with 319,295; New York at 151,949; Texas, 124,837; Florida, 122,516; Illinois, 65,351; Michigan, 58,291; New Jersey, 56,253; Pennsylvania 53,033; Massachusetts, 49,063; and Ohio, 48,276.

Police say that a significant part of the decline in thefts can be directly attributed to a steady increase in car owner awareness about how thieves work and the security systems that may foil them.

Some of the latest devices use intelligence technology and satellite communications to make properly protected vehicles harder to steal in the first place, and more easy to find if they are stolen.

Audiovox, a leading distributor of automobile security devices, offers free information on auto security systems. Call toll-free 1-800-645-7750.
