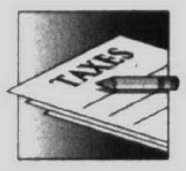
Recreation spat is brewing



Officials from the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township are meeting this week in an attempt to head off a confrontation over recreation fees.

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

If a plan approved by Plymouth City Commissioners takes effect, Plymouth Township residents will pay more to sign up for Plymouth parks and recreation programs.

The increases are needed to raise $180,000 for badly-needed street repair and to balance the city budget, said Steve Walters, city manager.

Township officials aren't crazy about the plan. City and township representatives are meeting at 4 p.m. today to discuss it.

Walters is hopeful that the township will become a financing partner in a joint parks and recreation department. Another option would be to eliminate programs, he said.

Jim Anulewicz, Plymouth Township director of public services, said the township and city have always enjoyed a cooperative relationship, and that he'd like to see that continue. While township officials would like to assist the city with its needs, they'd like to discuss any proposed increases, he said.

Tom Willette, Plymouth Parks and Recreation director, is hopeful there can be a meeting of the minds.

"We obviously are hoping to work out something amicably with the township," said Willette.

Under the suggested plan, participants in team sports such as softball, basketball and volleyball who don't live or work in the city would pay a non-resident fee of $45, up from $15.

There is no charge for residents, nor is a fee one proposed.

The non-resident fee for most classes and activities, currently $10, would increase to $30 or $40.

The $10 non-resident fee is on a par with what other area parks and rec programs charge.

Soccer fees for the fall youth league have already gone up. "The fee went from $40 for everybody to $40 for residents and $60 for non-

Art in the Park

Art lovers: The weather cooperated on Saturday for the kickoff of Art in the Park in downtown Plymouth. The crowds flocked to the park, looking at the wares of artists and craftspeople who set up their booths. There were paintings, and also pottery, stained glass, photography, jewelry, sculpture and woodwork. This year there was an added attraction. The Plymouth Poets hosted a Poetry Crawl during the event on Saturday. Poets were reading their works on the main stage in Kellogg Park and in nearby businesses. Above, D. Duncan, an artist, puts the finishing touches on a glass dragon, as Jean Nelson, left, and Barbara Long look at his work. At left, Joan Andrews and Christie Thompson compare different pieces of relief sculpture.

Red tape kept $6,000 from senior council

Members of the Plymouth Community Council on Aging are wondering why Plymouth Township is taking credit for allotting $6,000 to the agency when no funding has been received since 1994.

Last week, township Supervisor Kathleen Keen McCarthy, in speaking against Plymouth's proposed recreation fee increases for township residents, said, "We do provide $6,000 annually to assist in the costs of the Council on Aging, which sponsors many of the senior citizens programs."

The comment wasn't lost on seniors. "We didn't get it," said Mary Childs, president of the Council on Aging and former Plymouth mayor. "The last thing we received was in November 1994, which was really for the 1995 year.

"We've been expecting a check for 1996 for $6,000. That's what they said they would do. Perhaps it was an oversight, although we've written a couple letters. We're going to be getting low on funding," she said.

Phyllis Hess, Council on Aging program coordinator, concurred. "We filled out the necessary forms, but we haven't received a check since November 1994. We received nothing in 1993."

"They've announced that they've

Man flees Plymouth for freedom in Mexico

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Timothy Cruz of Plymouth Township is so disillusioned with life in the United States he's leaving the country for good.

The 1983 Plymouth Salem High School graduate flies to Mexico today, where he'll join his wife and 3-year-old son in Taxco.

"I don't see myself coming back here. As soon as I get off the plane in Mexico, I feel free," said Cruz, an artist and entrepreneur who makes custom furniture. "The irony is, I don't feel free here."

Cruz, who lived in Mexico for four years, said he noticed subtle changes when he returned to the U.S. in 1994. "There are all these social laws. Government has gotten too involved with peoples' lives," said the 31-year-old. "They're making everything a felony."

Cruz had planned to return to Mexico eventually. But an incident with police has embittered him and

Symphony names new director

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

The Plymouth Symphony is embarking on its 51st season with a new executive director, Bonnie Holyoak of Canton.

Holyoak, 47, replaces Christa Grix, the symphony's first director, who resigned recently for personal reasons.

There won't be much of a learning curve for Holyoak, who graduated magna cum laude with a public relations degree from Eastern Michigan University in December, 1995. Holyoak handled publicity for the Plymouth Symphony from November 1994 until her graduation.

"I am excited about helping the Plymouth Symphony take on new challenges and grow as it begins its 51st year as a community orchestra," said Holyoak, who has three daughters, a son and one grandchild.

"I want our symphony to continue as a well-loved community resource that will serve to ignite a desire in people of all ages to love music, encourage musicians, and push for music and cultural programs in the schools and the community."

Symphony Board President Dave Burnisky says the symphony is attempting to reach out to neighboring communities and hopes to be a resource of musical talent, entertainment, and education for the future.

"We want to represent not only Plymouth and Canton, but the entire western Wayne County area, and hope that Bonnie will be able to do this for us," Burnisky said.

Symphony supporters including Canton Treasurer Elaine Kirchgatter welcome Holyoak, but are sorry to see Grix go. "I thought Christa's relationship with the public and the newspapers was excellent. I thought she was doing a good job," said Kirchgatter.

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra recently celebrated its golden anniversary at Fox Hills Country Club in Plymouth Township. The $100-per-ticket "Night in Casablanca" featured entertainment by the Matt Michaels Orchestra and Elaine Glow Trio.

Mary Thomas, president of the fund-raising Plymouth Symphony League, said "It's wonderful having Bonnie. Anything we've asked her to do, she's done. I'm sure she'll be a big help and able to do a lot of things. She and her administrative assistant, Pat Dederian, are just super. They're doing a great job."

The recent Casablanca soiree helped fund PSO's "Endowment 2000" program.

The PSO recently received a shot in the arm with a $40,000 grant from Chrysler.

The non-profit PSO got its start in 1945 when Plymouth residents Evelyn and Carl Groschke invited a group of friends over to play their instruments and share a common interest in music.

Paul Wagner, then-head of the music program at Central High School (now Central Middle School), assisted, and the PSO was born. It has grown from 12 members to 95 members.

Plymouth woman, 108, saw much history

BY DIANE GALE
SPECIAL WRITER

When Beatrice Dickie was well past 100 years old she told her daughter that she didn't like to be in an assisted living facility, because there were too many old people.

"And she was the oldest one there," according to her daughter Margaret Lennebacker. "She wanted to be with her grandchildren and other young people."

Mrs. Dickie died July 7 in Plymouth. She was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and lived there with her husband, Hugh until she was 35. With their young daughter, Margaret, they emigrated to the United States.

"You don't live to be almost 109 without being a little feisty," Lennebacker said. "She was strong willed in a happy sort of way."

Mrs. Dickie lived in Detroit until 1979 when she moved to Plymouth. She lived alone in Lakepointe Village Apartments until she was almost 102 and broke a hip. Mrs. Dickie moved to American House assisted living in Livonia until January when she was moved to Plymouth Court Convalescent Center. Mrs. Dickie appeared in an American House advertisement.

"She was a wonderful lady," according to Emily Lloyd, assistant manager of American House. "For as frail as she was she was very determined. She was an awesome lady."

Lennebacker is struck by the countless ways the world has changed during her mother's lifetime.

"Just think of all the inventions that have come since she was born," Lennebacker said. "There were no automobiles, no electric lights, no washing machines or needless to say computers. I asked her once if she remembered when she first saw an automobile and she said: "Yes, the horseless carriage."

Even near the end of her life Mrs. Dickie kept a positive outlook.

"She was one amazing woman," Lennebacker said. "She was an optimist. She'd say I feel awful, but I'll feel better tomorrow."

She served as a Red Cross volunteer during World War II and belonged to many church groups. Most recently, she was a member of St. Michael Lutheran Church in Canton.

Over the years she has received many letters from dignitaries including Presidents Richard Nixon, George Bush, Ronald Reagan and Bill Clinton; Governors James Blanchard and John Engler. She also received a declaration from the House of Parliament in England.

Loved ones noted, however, that throughout the years family and friends were always the most important part of her life. Mrs. Dickie also loved to walk and travel throughout the United States. She loved roses.

In addition to her daughter, Mrs. Dickie is survived by her son, James of Salt Lake City, Utah; five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at St. Michael Lutheran Church with the pastor Drex Morton officiating. Burial was in Parkview Cemetery in Livonia.

Memorials may be given to St. Michael Lutheran Church or the charity of your choice.

Canton youth to attend American Legion program

Lawrence R. Nunn of Canton is among 96 young men from across the country taking part in an unique American Legion program that begins July 18.

Called Boys Nation, the nine-day event will give Nunn, 17, a senior at Plymouth Salem High School, a chance to learn about government at the highest national levels. He will learn about the rules of the U.S. Senate, visit major Washington landmarks and meet with lawmakers and with President Bill Clinton.

Clinton attended Boys Nation in 1963 and credits the program with sparking his interest in government.

This year's Boys Nation is 50th annual session. It will be held July 18-26 at Marymount University in Virginia.

Nunn's road to Boys Nation began earlier this summer when he attended Michigan Boys State, where he was elected governor.

The son of Larry Nunn, he has been a member of the football and track teams, chairman of the Students Against Drunk Driving at Plymouth Salem, as well as junior state champion in Tae Kwon Do. He plans to attend the U.S. Military Academy at West Point after graduation.

Farmer's market casualty of development

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

As communities change from country to city, there are several reliable signs along the way.

Canton officials squashed the annual cow chip toss five years ago, in part, because it was near impossible to find a cow in Canton, let alone chips.

And now the annual farmers market in the Kmart parking lot has but one participating farmer; Ross Hauk, Jr.

Hauk, along with his brother and father, farm more than 4,000 acres, but just 700 of them in Canton.

Their money crop is soy beans, but they also plant corn and other vegetables to sell at the farmers market.

The market is expected to open on the last Saturday in July and run through August. Hauk believes the hours will be 3-7 p.m. Wednesdays and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays. He should know, being the only farmer in the joint.

Last year the market was clearly drying up, but participants were more numerous.

James "Buster" Walker was there, but he's had enough. "He just turned 70, and he wants to take it a little easier," said wife Lenore Walker.

Vic Ferrari, who farms 30 acres on Cherry Hill west of Beck, was there last year, but finds Plymouth's "Gathering" more to his liking this summer.

"There seems to be more interest over in Plymouth," he said.

Ferrari said he won't miss the farmers market. "We run a roadside stand here, too, so it doesn't make much difference," he said.

Part-time farmer Greg Zdan is not as accepting of circumstances as Ferrari and Hauk.

Zdan, 41, makes his living running a Farmington forklift company called Specialty Material Handling, but farms six acres on Beck between Ford and Saltz for the fun of it.

"It goes beyond a hobby," he said. "I love doing it. It's a great way to relax in a strange kind of way."

Zdan will join Ferrari at the Plymouth Gathering this summer with his crops. "Canton has got to be the second choice next to Plymouth," he said. "(In Plymouth) they want the farmer types there."

Zdan's family has owned farm land in Canton since 1928, and Zdan grew up with a hoe in his hands. He laments the loss of the township's rural character.

"They bulldozed character and now they want to rebuild character with street lights and a downtown of strip malls and fast food joints," he said. "It's disheartening. I don't consider it to be progress."

Zdan doesn't want to be characterized as an intransigent rural commando, but he is "disgusted with what Canton is becoming."

The new subdivisions creep closer to Zdan's small farm, and his taxes rise along with the land's value to developers.

"What do we get when we're done?" Zdan asks. Then he answers his own question. "Westland is what Canton is becoming."

Man held on neglect charges

Plymouth police located a 35-year-old Plymouth man they've been seeking on child neglect charges when they pulled over a driver on Ann Arbor Road about 2:30 a.m. July 9.

An officer who saw the driver shortly after the motorist left the Press Box Tavern recognized him as someone wanted for several months on an outstanding warrant for child neglect. The driver had an improper license plate and a suspended driver's license.

The man's blood alcohol level was .239 percent. The man was booked and jailed, and his driver's license was destroyed.

Check writing

A 57-year-old Plymouth resident told police that someone made four unauthorized withdrawals from her checking account totalling $1,876.

The woman checked with her credit union and discovered that on four checks, her account number and someone else's name were printed on four checks. Addresses on the checks were in Oklahoma City and Moore City, Okla. The listed credit union was Commnity Federal Credit Union of Oklahoma City. One check was cashed at the Plaza Hotel in Southfield. The other three were cashed at Detroit-area offices of TWA and Southwest airlines.

The complainant said she sent away for mail order items out of New York recently. She believes the suspect(s) may have gotten her account number from the purchase. Police contacted the FBI in Detroit. The FBI said no follow up can be done by their agency due to the minor amount of cash involved.

Plymouth police said they can see no further investigation that can be completed, but passed the report on to the Detective Bureau for review.

Suspicious photographer

A 15-year-old Plymouth girl told police that while she was pumping gas at a station on N. Mill Street shortly before midnight July 7, a stranger took pictures of her.

The man is described as a white male in his early forties with dark hair, glasses and a baseball cap. He was driving a white Mustang.

Police searched the area, and Hines Park, with no results. Neither the complainant, nor her 19-year-old girlfriend, exchanged words with the man.

given us the money, and they haven't," said Archie Bunch, who helps staff the Council office. "We decided we ought to get the record straight."

The check is in the mail.

That's what Keen McCarthy says about $6,000 it passes on to the Council.

She acknowledged that there have been complaints from senior citizens in the Plymouth community about not getting the money.

"It's an accounting problem," said Keen McCarthy. "They will be getting $5,100 of their money this week."

The problem with getting the money is a complex one that involves federal block grants, she said.

The Council on Aging, with offices in City Hall, assists seniors and the disadvantaged from the city and township in many capacities. The non-profit group receives funding from the United Way and private donations. The city donates use of an office, and a meeting room at the Cultural Center.

The Council is also a social organization. Members meet at 1:30 p.m. on Mondays, October through June at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

"It doesn't matter whether you're from the city or township. We see what we can do for each other," said Childs. "Archie Bunch is the editor of our 'Senior Sentinel' newsletter. He has done a fantastic job."

The Council helps out with all sorts of things, including Meals on Wheels for homebound seniors.

CWW looks at Rouge proposal

BY BETH SUNDRLA JACHMAN
STAFF WRITER

Calling it the proactive approach rather than reactive, members of the Conference of Western Wayne Friday approved a plan for organizing communities for Rouge River cleanup.

In response to a series of hearings held in recent months in U.S. District Judge John Feikens' courtroom, CWW members have come up with a plan to form groups to address pollution problems in the Rouge River.

The plan was approved, but James Murray, director of Wayne County Department of Environment, is expected to make a similar proposal at the next hearing in Feikens' courtroom, scheduled for 10 a.m. Tuesday, July 16.

In a case that dates back to 1977, Feikens has been looking at a regional approach to cleaning up pollution in the river. Local communities have been forced to clean up dry weather discharges into the river, but are now faced with cleaning up wet weather discharges or paying fines for not being in compliance with the Clean Water Act.

The CWW, an 18-member consortium of communities in Western Wayne County, should be involved in the process, Tim Cronin, attorney for Canton and Plymouth Townships, told CWW members.

"These issues could potentially be very, very, very expensive," as what will be required of communities has not been defined, he said.

Kathleen Keen-McCarthy, Plymouth Township supervisor, served on the CWW's committee which came up with a plan.

Coming up with a plan that is more acceptable to conference members was more acceptable than other alternatives such as taking a wait-and-see approach, she said.

The CWW plan would establish five groupings of communities, in what Keen-McCarthy called a sub-sub-watershed approach. This approach groups together communities which have common issues, she said.

It would approach addressing the River Rouge pollution problem at the smaller group level. Communities in each group would then set up best management practices, she said.

The whole process would be overseen by the CWW board, according to the plan. Oversight by the board would provide direction for what the five groups are doing, she said.

Key elements of the plan, are that it is strictly voluntary, it recognizes the differences between communities, it gives government oversight to the local municipalities, it allows a phased approach to implementation, the groups are small enough the work together and it allows for creative financing options, Keen-McCarthy said.

The committee also met with Murray, who is proposing using a similar plan, with fewer groups, she said.

The CWW plans to work with Murray on his plan, after more details are revealed if it's accepted by Feikens, because the plans are similar, Keen-McCarthy said.

Communities hope to take a voluntary approach and work to find best-management practices instead of being forced to implement changes that may not work. "Before we spend billions of dollars, let's take a slower, more phased approach," Keen-McCarthy said.

Feikens' courtroom is in the Theodore Levin United States Courthouse, 231 W. Lafayette Blvd. in Detroit.

Also in Friday's meeting conference members discussed an upcoming vote at a joint meeting between the CWW, the Downriver Community Conference and the Conference of Eastern Wayne.

At a Thursday, July 18, meeting members of the three conferences will vote on whether to take a regional position on three tax increase proposals: a quarter mill proposal for parks by Wayne County, a 1 mill proposal for criminal justice by Wayne County and a cultural district tax pending in the state legislature.

A two-thirds vote from each conference is required for a regional position. The meeting will be held in Southgate.

Dentistry in the 90s
by Herbert M. Gardner, D.D.S. & Martha P. Zinderman, R.N., D.D.S.
MUSCLING IN ON TMD
It might be thought that astronomers would discover a new planet before someone uncovered a new muscle in the human body, but that is exactly what two dentists from the University of Maryland have done. It was the dentists's unorthodox dissecting technique with cadavers that led them to discover a muscle which begins at a bony structure behind the eye and attaches to the jaw. Not to be found in Gray's Anatomy, the newly discovered muscle was previously assumed to be a tendon connected to an overlapping, larger muscle. The discovery may carry some importance for those suffering from temporomandibular disorder (TMD). About 10% of TMD sufferers experience migraine-like headaches that start behind the eye, where the newly found muscle is anchored. Because relaxation techniques help relieve the pain, it is thought that unconsciously tightening the muscles causes the pain.
It is always exciting to find out about new ways to help relieve pain. This column is brought to you as a public service to help you understand today's modern dental care. If you have any questions about today's column, or would like to schedule an appointment, please call LIVONIA VILLAGE DENTAL ASSOCIATES AT 478-2110. We're located at 19171 Merriman Road, where we're currently accepting new patients. Smiles are our business. Office hours are Mon, Tue, Thu & Fri 8-5, Wed til 9pm.

P.S. After scientists have verified its existence, the newly discovered muscle mentioned above (to be called sphenomandibularis) will be catalogued into Gray's Anatomy to create the first new entry of a muscle in the 135-year history of the book.

strengthened his resolve to leave.

In August 1994, Cruz, his brother Tony, and Tony's 1-year-old daughter pulled into a local gas station. The brothers left the station in a squad car charged with ethnic intimidation after an altercation with another customer.

The patron, a 6-foot-five, 250-pound black man, was backing up to a pump, and appeared to be on course to hit the Cruzes' truck.

"He was looking over his right shoulder, and we were in his blind spot. The horn didn't work, so Tony (who was driving) yelled, 'Hey, stop!'" said Cruz.

The man made an obscene gesture as Tony drove to another pump. "Tony never saw the black guy coming, but he ran over with a car jack and hit Tony while Tony was pumping gas," said Cruz, who called 911.

Township police who responded recognized Tony Cruz as the person who'd stolen a township squad car a few years earlier.

"They arrested us, which was bewildering," said Cruz. "They didn't let me say a word. They didn't ask me any questions. They read us no Miranda rights. The cops left my niece sitting at the gas station by herself for an hour.

"The police based their report on the other guy's self-serving testimony. They didn't bother investigating and never took statements from us."

Police and township officials deny Cruz's accusations. They're fighting a $10 million lawsuit Cruz filed in the aftermath of his acquittal. The Cruzes were exonerated in Recorders Court on a directed verdict 10 months after the incident. Judge Cynthia Hathaway ruled there was not enough evidence to try the case.

Township Supervisor Kathleen Keen McCarthy said the township has no plans to settle what it calls a frivolous lawsuit.

Police Chief Carl Berry said, "We are in court. I don't know how much we can say. If I remember correctly, they refused to make statements at the time. They were talked with, I do know that."

Officers told Tony Cruz they were charging ethnic intimidation because it is a two-year felony, which would mean a trip to Recorders Court "where we'd have a jury of all black people," said Cruz.

Berry says "that would be an inappropriate comment by an officer. I'm sure no one made it."

The night of the incident, Channel 7 was on the Cruzes' doorstep, asking to speak with the brothers charged with ethnic intimidation. Cruz says the station was tipped off by Berry. Berry denies it.

Cruz's defense has bankrupted him. "I needed $8,000 for an attorney. To come up with that much cash, I had to liquidate my business. I'm starting from scratch."

Cruz says it's not the money. "It's the time lost in my life; time lost apart from my wife and son. It's something you can't put a price on."

At the time of his arrest, Cruz and his father, John Cruz of Plymouth Township, were designing jewelry. Their silver supplier was in Mexico, necessitating travel.

"After I was arrested, I was freed on bond. I wasn't allowed to leave the state. The business just faded away," added Cruz, who says he'll return here "as needed to see justice served."

"You can't have renegade cops with unlimited powers. There has to be some kind of responsibility. If you allow police to arrest anyone at will and charge them with very weak or no evidence, your society is starting to crumble. You can't just destroy someone's life."

residents," said Willette.

"Some people were not happy about it," said Willette. "Our soccer numbers are down somewhat.

"It's really not out of line in terms of what it costs to run a soccer program. If you look at Canton, Northville and other recreation programs, they're are all anywhere from $50-$60. Forty dollars was low, anyway."

No changes in the city's privately-run hockey program are scheduled.

Fees have never fully funded the parks and rec department. "The city has always subsidized the recreation department through tax dollars," said Willette. "But because of needed repairs not only on the streets but sewers, the city is just not able to continue contributing as much."

Historically, the department has taken in roughly $800,000 annually in fees and rentals. Expenditures have averaged about $1 million, and the city has made up the $300,000 difference.

"We've just reached a point where we can't afford it," said Walters. "We need to divert $180,000 for some pressing street repairs. That is why we turned to non-resident fee increases."

Walters is hopeful "we can work something out in terms of a community-based program. If the program was run on a commmunity basis the way it has been run on city basis, with each governmental unit contributing some money, we could keep the fees low and run programs as they have been."

As a financing partner, the township "would have a substantial say in how it was run," he added.

Plymouth-Canton school board member Sue Davis would like to see more of a cooperative spirit when it comes to recreational and library facilities in the community.

"Collectively among the communties, we need to figure out how we can somehow do some kind of collaborative activities, for instance with soccer clubs," said Davis, a Canton resident who has pressed for joint operation of community resources.

Open swimming in school pools remains one of the best bargains in Plymouth-Canton. Through July 26, Central Middle School holds open swimming from 1 p.m. - 3 p.m., Monday through Friday. The charge is $1 per hour for students, and $1.50 per hour for adults. The Canton High School pool also is open for swimming, from 6 p.m. - 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday until July 25. The charges are the same.

O'Hair says opponents can't bully him

Wayne County Prosecutor John O'Hair says he's not going to be intimidated by a campaign to dump him.

O'Hair held a press conference last week after literature carrying the slogan "Dump O'Hair" was distributed and a bar owner ticketed in an attempt to end "lap dancing" in several Wayne County bars stated that he would contribute $4,000 each time he is ticketed to the campaign to defeat O'Hair.

John Lee Hamilton, owner of three of the bars targeted in O'Hair's crackdown effort, has reportedly given $12,000 to the campaign to defeat O'Hair in retaliation for tickets issued to three dancers in his Southgate bar.

Attempts to reach Hamilton for comment were unsuccessful.

A campaign to get O'Hair defeated is being waged by the political action arm of the Budzyn & Nevers Defense Fund. The group blames O'Hair for the conviction of Walter Budzyn and Larry Nevers, two former Detroit police officers convicted in the beating death of Malice Green.

O'Hair faces Democratic opposition from Virgil Clark Smith in the Aug. 6 primary election.

Twelve bars advertising sexually oriented entertainment have been targeted for investigation in the past two months, and 28 people have been ticketed as part of Operation Laptop since April 24.

Operation Laptop is part of a special task force which began arresting and ticketing managers, customers and dancers for lewd behavior.

"We know we are hitting them in the pocketbook, and that's excellent," O'Hair said in a statement.

"The sleaze bars with their sexually explicit so-called entertainment are in clear violation of Michigan law. They are a blight on the neighborhoods and communities where they are located. The image they project is not one that attracts more desirable investment to the areas where they operate. They're a problem we don't want in Wayne County," O'Hair said in the statement.

O'Hair cites the Michigan Supreme Court decision in "Dizzy Duck,' a case involving the Dizzy Duck bar in Detroit as giving law enforcement the power to prosecute, saying that decision made clear the forms of dancing that are not permissible under Michigan law.

In lap dancing, topless waitresses dance on the laps of male customers in simulated sex acts.

The task force, which is now targeting lap dancing, is a joint operation of the county prosecutor, Sheriff Robert Ficano and police departments in several Wayne County communities.

From April to July, topless bars targeted included three in Dearborn, two in Southgate, four in Inkster, two in Romulus and one in Van Buren Township.

The surveillance of bars will continue, Ficano said.

O'Hair also announced last week that 24 suburban Wayne County police chiefs are supporting him for re-election to a third term as prosecutor, including John Santomauro of Canton Township, Michael Murray of Livonia, Robert Scoggins of Plymouth, Carl Berry of Plymouth Township.

Also, Harold Berriman of Belleville, Daniel J. Grant of Brownstown Township, Ronald F. Deziel of Dearborn, James Hunt of Ecorse, Michael Sorenson of Flat Rock, Bruce Kennedy of Grosse Pointe, Robert Ferber of Grosse Point Farms, Daniel J. Healy of Grosse Pointe Shores.

Also, James A. Caygill of Huron Township, Terry Colwell of Inkster, William Cashmore of Lincoln Park, James Brophy Sr. of Melvindale, Rodney Cannon of Northville, Marvin Snider of Northville Township, James Bartus of Riverview, Dennis Anderson of Rockwood, Charles Kirby of Romulus, Donald Calvin of Southgate, Clinton Brown of Sumpter Township and John Colligan of Wayne.

Program aids disadvantaged college students

The Michigan Department of Education and Madonna University are combining resources for "Diversity: Creating More Connections," a Madonna University program for disadvantaged students designed to increase retention and assure graduation from college.

The project will run from July 1, 1996, to June 30, 1997, and cost $81,984. Seventy percent, or $57,389, will come from the Office of Equity's Select Student Support Services Program. Madonna University will match the remaining 30 percent, or $24,595.

Student diversity discussion groups, aimed at improving campus climate through knowledge and understanding, will be held throughout the year. They will involve three faculty members and more than 200 students.

Through a hotline link with two telecounselors, 300 at-risk juniors and seniors will be contacted personally and assisted with any academic problem. They will be made aware of opportunities such as tutoring or group study sessions.

Gingrich to Clinton: Give waiver

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

House Speaker Newt Gingrich used a Republican fund-raising trip to Birmingham Tuesday to goad President Clinton into waiving federal welfare rules for Wisconsin and Michigan.

"Gov. John Engler has done a remarkable job of reforming welfare, reducing taxes, cutting unnecessary spending, and shrinking the bureaucracy," the GOP congressional leader said with Engler at his side in the Townsend Hotel.

"Tomorrow is the 30th day of the Wisconsin application for a welfare application. President Clinton said in his Saturday radio show he favored what Wisconsin was doing, then his deputy chief of staff said on Monday they hadn't even looked at it yet, and we've heard nothing more.

"We hope they will give Wisconsin a waiver so they can implement the Wisconsin Works program. He's had the Michigan plan about two weeks. We hope he will also give Michigan the waiver.

"Frankly, we don't think these waivers should be necessary. We passed a bill that would make it unnecessary for the states to go to Washington with hat in hand, asking for permission (to implement work and schooling rules for welfare recipients). Unfortunately, President Clinton vetoed welfare reform twice."

Although Gingrich is from Georgia and Senate majority leader Trent Lott from Mississippi, Gingrich and Engler said many of the GOP's strengths are the 32 Republican governors, many in New England and he Midwest.

Gingrich's profile of an ideal vice-presidential running mate for Bob Dole fit Engler's credentials _ as well as Ohio's George Voinovich, Wisconsin's Tommy Thompson and Illinois' Jim Edgar.

Engler said the Republican Governors Association is preparing "a small book on the achievements of Republican governors. . . We looked at states like Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and found they've done much good: high rates of employment, higher income growth, a lot of structural growth, fixing problems that have been out there for years.

"We'll look at the Republican success stories and say, 'Imagine if we we could do for America.'"

Gingrich was in the Townsend for a 15-minute news conference and a two-hour luncheon with a dozen major GOP contributors. Proceeds will go to the Republican National Committee, said John Truscott, Engler's press spokesman.

"Some of it will come back. Michigan will get a lot because it's such a key state," Truscott said. "It definitely will be one-on-one. You have a question, you're going to get an answer."

Truscott declined to name participants other than industrialist Heinz Prechter, adding: "They're not the kind who talk to the press." Truscott didn't reveal the room location or admission price.

In reply to questions, Gingrich said:

- Even pro-choice liberals view "partial-birth" abortions, in the seventh to ninth month, as "too extreme," comparing them to infanticide. Clinton vetoed a bill banning such abortions. Many pro-choice people oppose government-paid abortions and abortions because of the sex of the fetus, Gingrich said.
- His party has "a lot of room for pro-choice Republicans" like Govs. Christine Whitman of New Jersey and William Weld of Massachusetts _ "unlike Democrats, who literally censored their pro-life people Gov. Casey (of Pennsylvania in 1992)."
- Illegal immigrants should be deported, not given government benefits like public education and hospitalization. "I'm passionately in favor of legal immigration; we're a nation of immigrants."

Lawmakers look at bear hunt plan

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

State lawmakers are pushing a rival plan that asks voters to approve bear hunting under "scientific management."

It's designed as an alternative to "CUB" – a voter initiative to halt use of dogs and bait in bear hunting. With dogs and bait, hunters have a one in three chance of killing a bear; without them, one in 10.

Voters are likely to get to choose between the Legislature's bill and CUB's petition on Nov. 5.

CUB stands for Citizens United for Bear, a group that originally sought to keep hunters from trespassing on private property. Today hunters portray CUB's proposal as the first step toward ending all as hunting.

The House on July 2 gave 73-26 approval to SB 1033, a bill passed May 30 by the Senate and sponsored by Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion.

"The director of the Department of Natural Resources shall have the exclusive authority to regulate the taking of game," SB 1033 says, ordering the DNR chief to use "principles of scientific management." If voters approve, SB 1033 would take effect 10 days after the vote in declared official – sometime in late November.

Here is how area representatives voted:

Yes _ Lyn Bankes, R-Redford, Tom Kelly, D-Wayne, James Ryan, R-Redford, Deborah Whyman, R-Canton.

No _ none.

Absent _ Eileen DeHart, D-Westland, Gerald Law, R-Plymouth.

Bears are predatory and dangerous, said sponsor Jim McBryde, R-Mt. Pleasant, saying a bear was sighted in a school playground. "The hunter needs to be able to see a target. The only effective methods of hunting bear are bait and dogs," he said.

"The petition (CUB's initiative) doesn't eliminate bear hunting," countered Rep. John Freeman, D-Madison Heights. "It forbids radio collars on dogs."

Rep. Tim Walberg, R-Tipton, said CUB supporters don't mention how animals starve or are killed on roads when there is an overabundance. He urged voters to support "managing renewable natural resources" through hunting and fishing.

"Just tell folks it (CUB proposal) is bad. Don't confuse folks with different proposals," said Rep. Lynn Owen, D-Newport, arguing against the Legislature's rival proposal.

Rep. Tom Alley, D-West Branch, ranking Democrat on natural resources measures, said the CUB proposal is bad because it substitutes the ballot box for scientific management. "What you from southeastern Michigan are saying is that 'any issue we don't agree with, we'll put on the ballot.' That's not the way to do it."

The House chamber burst into laughter when Alley concluded: "I say there's politics here."

Rep. Paul Tesanovich, D-L'Anse, said one county alone had 144 nuisance bear complaints last year. "The DNR has to capture and release the bears 30 to 50 miles away," he said, favoring SB 1033.

"Why don't you just hunt the nuisance bears rather than go out with dogs and hunt bears that aren't nuisances?" asked Rep. Michael Bennane, D-Detroit, voting no.

The CUB group collected 341,000 signature on its petition to limit bear hunting. A state panel must decide whether the petitions are sufficient. Since 1963, voters have faced eight initiatives, passing five, including one requiring deposits on pop and beer cans and bottles.

DNR has placed Michigan's bear population at 10,000. Hunters kill about 1,500 a year – 95 percent by use of bait and/or dogs.

Festival to raise research money

The Budweiser/WRIF Rock'n Blues Festival will be presented at Greenmead Historical Park in Livonia July 27 to benefit the Alternating Hemiplegia Foundation.

Alternating Hemiplegia of Children is a rare childhood disease which very little is known about. The foundation was created to raise money to begin research. Some of the symptoms include developmental delay, episodes of paralysis, abnormalities of motor movement control, epilepsy and varying degrees of mental retardation.

Children's Hospital in Detroit is beginning research to determine the cause of the disease and how to treat it.

Performing at the Budweiser Rock'n Blues Festival are: Edgar Winter, Humble Pie, Corey Stevens and Texas Flood, In Drama, the Howling Diablos, Robert Noll, Black Market, Mimi Harris and the Snakes and Mud Puppy.

The festival begins at noon and ends at 11 p.m. Admission is free; parking is $5. Greenmead is on Newburgh Road, a quarter mile south of Eight Mile Road.

A raffle with a first prize of a 1996 Harley Davidson Soft Tail motorcycle, and a second prize of two tickets to anywhere in the United States compliments of Northwest Airlines will also be held. Price per raffle ticket is $10. Tickets will be available at the festival and at the Wine Barrel I and II in Livonia.

Proceeds from festival parking, concessions and merchandise sales and raffle tickets will benefit the Alternating Hemiplegia Foundation.

For more information, call (313) 459-6969.

Auction benefits youth programs

United Way Community Services' sixth annual "Making Dreams Happen" auction in June raised more than $73,000 for programs that involve youth in volunteer projects and community service.

More than 250 guests attended at the Risata/Second City in Detroit and bid on silent and live auction items ranging from an official Olympic Torch to autographed sports memorabilia and vacation packages.

"We're thrilled with the enthusiastic and generous support for this year's auction," Geneva Williams, chief operating officer at United Way Community Services, said. "The proceeds will directly benefit young people in our community by creating opportunities for them to engage in community service and volunteerism."

The live auction was emceed by Tom Sorrells, WDIV-TV4 meteorologist, and David Levy of Norman Levy and Associates served as auctioneer. Raffle prizes for the evening were two pairs of airline tickets, good for travel within the 48 continental United States.

4 students receive scholarships

Four P-CEP seniors are recipients of the Plymouth Rotary Club vocational-technical scholarships.

Receiving scholarships for the following vocations were Plymouth Canton High School seniors; James Kirila for electrical technology, Kevin Marcicki for fire fighting, Sandy Ansara for law enforcement and Carlos Bonilla for culinary arts.

Rotary Club co-chairpersons Daniel White and Donald Morgan said: "These scholarships were awarded as a result of the participation and dedication of many key P-CEP educators including Mary Kay Frey, Mark Bondy, Mark Siedlik, Carey Gary and Betty DuBois and many more.

"Words can't express the value these board employed professionals add to the purpose of this Rotary scholarship program," Morgan said.

"The Plymouth Rotary Club commends Plymouth-Canton Community Schools for its efforts to educate students in all reas, particularly in vocatinal-technical aras. We applaud the district because the Rotary membership is based upon members vocational category and whose dedication to "serve above self" must be demonstrated in that vocation."

White added: "Money for continuation of these Rotary scholarships is dependent upon all members of the community participating in the Plymouth Rotary Fall Festival Bar-B-Q and Plymouth Rotary Golf Classic. Bequests by the estates of Art Haar and Walter Panse and other donations to the Plymouth Rotary Foundation aid the financing of the scholarships.

NAVAL AVIATOR

Navy Airman Dennis C. Rohraff, son of Charlie W. Rohraff of Canton, has returned to San Diego, after completing a six-month deployment to the Western Pacific Ocean and Persian Gulf with Fighter Squadron 24 (VF-24) embarked aboard the aircraft carrier USS Nimitz.

Rohraff is one of 239 squadron members aboard the carrier who completed the nearly 45,000-mile voyage. Aircraft carriers, like USS Nimitz, are forward deployed around the world to maintain a U.S. prsence and provide deterrent to would-be aggressors and, if deterrence fails, offer the most versatile and powerful weapons systems available. Sailors and Marines like Rohraff are often the first to arrive in situations ranging from humanitarian relief efforts to combat operations.

While on deployment in the Persian Gulf, aircraft from VF-24 flew nearly 1,000 missions to enforce the international no-fly zone over southern Iraq. In response to Chinese military exercises near Taiwan, USS Nimitz and VF-24 shifted from the Persian Gulf to the East China Sea, relieving the aircraft carrier USS Independence and its airwing. In all, aircraft from Rohraff's squadron flew nearly 1,900 hours and completed 1,050 arrested landings aboard the carrier.

Rohraff and fellow squadron membes also visited Hong Kong, Singapore, Thailand and the United Arab Emirates, and participated in several community relations projects. The deployment was USS Nimitz's first with an integrated crew of men and women. The ship produced more than 65 million gallons of water for cooking, showering, general consumption and supplying the steam driven catapults and propulsion plant-enough water to supply the average American household for 600 years.

The 1987 graduate of Lakeland High School of White Lake, Mich. joined the Navy in July 1992.

CAPITOL CAPSULES

State lawmakers _ those who may be back next year plus "lame ducks" who are retiring or lose their primaries _ will be back in Lansing beginning Tuesday, Sept. 10, for a hard-work session.

Most momentous item will be more court reform _ transferring powers of probate court to circuit court and possibly a proposed constitutional amendment to set up a single "trial court" in place of circuit, probate, district and municipal courts.

House Speaker pro tem Frank Fitzgerald, R-Grand Ledge, lists these other major agenda items:

• Orphan shares _ "A funding package for the cleanup of abandoned, contaminated sites where responsible parties cannot be identified or are out of business." Lawmakers balked at Gov. John Engler's proposal to raid the natural resources trust fund for cleanups.

• Training _ "A single business tax credit for employers offering apprenticeship programs for the training and hiring of skilled workers."

• Young drivers _ "A final resolution to a graduated license system for novice drivers, requiring more supervised driving time and a probationary period before full license privileges are granted."

• Fuel tax _ "A package to increase state funding for roads, highways and public transportation."

Meanwhile, Fitzgerald, who ranks No. 2 on the organization chart, has taken himself out of the running for speaker of the House to succeed the retiring Paul Hillegonds. Announced candidates are majority floor leader Ken Sikkema of Grand Rapids and Judiciary Chair Michael Nye of Litchfield.

Active lame duck

Rep. John Jamian, R-Bloomfield Township, a lame-duck member who isn't seeking reelection, has scheduled five public hearings on his five-bill "patient bill of rights" package. Hearings in southeastern Michigan include:

• July 15, 10 a.m. to noon, Macomb Community College room K-234, 14500 Twelve Mile, Warren.

• Aug. 2, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., Novi Civic Center activities room, 45175 Ten Mile.

His House Bills 5570-74 require that patients be given necessary information to choose a health plan correctly and understand their covered benefits. It addresses the problem of exclusion of sick people from coverage and makes health plans more accountable, Jamian said.

"I do not want a physician treating me who has an incentive to limit the care I receive," Jamian added.

Road bill signed

Gov. Engler has signed a $2.1 billion budget bill for the state Department of Transportation that matches all available federal funds. Among the projects:

• Haggerty Connector _ extended from 12 Mile to 14 Mile in Novi, Oakland County.

• M-59 in Macomb County.

• US-27 freeway at St. Johns in Clinton County.

• Davison freeway in Detroit from the Lodge Freeway to Oakland Avenue.

An Engler boast: The budget whacks $9.8 million out of administration and puts it into maintenance.

Aid bill changed

Engler signed a new revenue sharing act that sharply changes the way the state shares its sales tax revenue with local units.

Beginning in fiscal 1998 _ which begins Oct. 1, 1997 _ the formula for cities, villages and townships will be changed to allocate growth revenues (not all revenues) on a per-capita basis. Since the 1970s, the state has used a "relative tax effort" formula which favors cities with high local tax rates such as Detroit.

Revenue sharing distributions will rise $54 million to $1.3 billion in fiscal 1997, which begins Oct. 1.

Adoptions slow

Adoptions through private agencies in 1995 increased just 3 percent above the 1994 level, according to the Michigan Federation of Private Child and Family Agencies.

The 65 agencies placed 1,967 children last year. Of these, 79 were adopted through agency-assisted direct consent, now permitted in Michigan under new laws that took effect in 1995.

"It's a little too early to measure any trends based on this first-year data," said Verlie Ruffit, associate director of the federation.

"Hopefully, we'll be able to see a trend of direct consent as another adoption alternative as more people learn about it."

Keep cool with no-frills grilling

With barbecue season in full swing, preparing delicious, healthy meals on the grill can make dinner no sweat. There's no need to dirty saucepans and skillets. If the grill gets really hot, it acts as a self-cleaning oven, and burns off most of the food residue. Go over it with a wire brush, and you're done. To make your grilling a little more enjoyable, I've compiled a few helpful hints that everyone, from the novice beginner to the seasoned pro, can truly appreciate.

Your grill is the most important piece of equipment for grilling. When shopping for a grill, look for a heavy, solid construction, such as a fire box made of heavy duty cast aluminum. For gas grills, avoid spending money on useless bells and whistles such as windows, gauges and timers. Windows cloud and dirty; gauges monitoring propane can be picked up cheaply wherever propane is sold, and a timer is virtually useless when it comes to grilling as cooking times vary wildly.

The reason your food tastes so good when grilled is not because of the fuel source but because the fat from the food drips down onto hot coals, lava rocks or heavy grates and returns in the form of smoke to help flavor the food. So what should you choose? A gas grill or a charcoal grill?

The one big drawback to gas grills is that they seldom can get as hot as a charcoal or wood grill fire. The one big drawback to coal-fired grills is the time it takes to procure, light, heat, cool down and clean up the ashes. My answer? I have both. I love the convenience of my gas grill, but enjoy the wide range of fluctuations my charcoal grill offers me.

Charcoal grills

There are five basic ways to fire up a charcoal grill. They include charcoal briquettes, which are the easiest to locate and the least expensive. Then there's the griller's dream, natural lump hardwood charcoal. This is unprocessed lumps of charcoal made from wood that has been burned by smoldering. Lump charcoal is expensive and becoming increasingly more difficult to locate. If I had my choice, I would always buy lump hardwood over briquettes. Mesquite charcoal is simply lump charcoal made from mesquite trees and shrubs from Mexico and the American Southwest. It lends a smoky, fiery taste to the flavor of food. It's expensive and difficult to locate.

Natural wood is the other most widely used fuel, especially when you want to incorporate a smoky taste into your food. Kiln-dried maple, oak and hickory are ideal and burn hotter than seasoned wood. Never use pine or fir as they give off resinous fumes, and NEVER use plywood, decking, boards or treated lumber. Lastly, wood chips such as cherry, maple, oak and hickory are sold in small packages and can be used to enhance the flavors in both charcoal and gas grills.

It is a relatively well-known fact that gas grills have burner knobs with high, medium and low settings that are somewhat inaccurate. The settings, however, are best used as a guide, with low and medium settings for larger cuts of meat, fish and poultry and high settings for quick searing and fast cooking. The heat of a charcoal fire will depend on the amount of coals used. Although the folks at Weber-Stevens, the largest maker of charcoal kettle grills, suggest using no more than 25 briquettes in their standard 22-inch grills, I have found that too much of a good thing is wasteful. Twenty-five coals are just enough to do a round of burgers while 35-45 really are best for cooking for an extended time. Anything more and the briquettes just turn to coal.

Accessories

When it comes to choosing basic accessories, you shouldn't have to go out and spend a king's ransom on goodies you'll never use. Think long and hard before purchasing fish grill racks, especially if all you ever cook are fish steaks and fillets. I wouldn't be caught dead next to my grill without a cheap spray bottle filled with water (to douse any flare-ups) and a set of long handled tongs, spatula and basting brush. Forget the two-pronged forks as the more you pick and poke at meat, fish or poultry on the grill the drier it becomes. I am especially fond of my long-handled horse-hair paint brush.

Hop to it • enjoy local MICRO BREWS

BY ELEANOR & RAY HEALD
SPECIAL WRITERS

Long gone are the days when hop lovers had to leave Michigan to experience the taste of microbrews. Since the 1992 law allowing licensed brewpubs in Michigan was passed, a number of them have opened. One of the most successful is the Royal Oak Brewery, 215 E. Fourth Street, (810) 544-1141 one block off Main Street's restaurant row next to the Comedy Castle. Brothers-in-law Drew Ciora and Mike Plesz bought and modernized a former antique store into an efficient and visible microbrewing area surrounded by a large 50-stool bar and 125-person restaurant. Ciora had experience managing several brewpubs in California and wanted a similar operation in action central, Royal Oak. His concern is not just the brew, well-crafted by brewer Wayne Burns, but also the pub grub. An ambitious menu gets its drive from executive chef Sylvester Gordon, whom Ciora convinced to leave a California brewpub to cook in Royal Oak.

The 28-year-old Burns once wondered if he'd find his niche. Born and raised in Birmingham, he studied physics at Michigan Tech. He gave that up for English, then nursing at Wayne State. A homebrewer for years, he saw potential in the explosion of U.S. microbreweries and enrolled in the Siebel Institute in Chicago, which has been teaching brewing science since 1872. Now armed with a diploma in malting and brewing science, he is well-qualified to craft some tasty suds.

Five different brews that change frequently are available on tap. A consistent patron favorite and generally available is The Northern Light. With pale-golden color and delicate hop character, it is refreshingly bitter. It's the lightest of the hand-crafted ales and makes a good thirst quencher or first draft. For this beer, Burns uses Czech Saaze hops, which made pilsner beer famous around the world.

Raspberry is a specialty beer with distinct fruity aroma and flavors. It's light and an easy quaff, definitely targeted for warmer weather. Hellesbock has hints of burnt sugar, typical of a bock. Its slight bitter touch in the finish makes it a good accompaniment to brewery sandwiches, specials such as ribs, chicken beer sausage or one of the wood-fired brick oven pizzas.

Nut Brown Ale is redolent with coffee and chocolate aromas and flavors. Made from dark-colored malt, it is rich, generously flavored and a brew-lover's delight. ESB (Extra Special Bitter) has a honeyed note from the yeast. It's creamy and comes across flavorful yet light.

We've noticed people wince in brewpubs when they saw that the microbrew they ordered was not clear. Burns' top-quality beers are properly filtered to achieve clarity, but not rob aromas or flavors. At Royal Oak Brewery, pints are $3, sampler size is $1 and pitchers are $8. Hours are 11:30 a.m. to midnight, until 1 a.m. Thursday, when there's live music until midnight, and until 2 a.m. Friday and Saturday. Sunday, it's noon to midnight.

The day is bright, the time is right – let's have a picnic! What a wonderful way to spend a meal. Whether yours is as simple as a "jug of wine, a loaf of bread and thou. . ." or as fancy as gourmet goods on linen, it's easy and fun to have a picnic just about anywhere.

The ingredients for a perfect picnic include a pleasant day, a comfortable location, and safe, nutritious food. To ensure safe food, keep cold foods cold – in the cooler, and hot foods hot – on the grill. Also, take only the quantity of food you'll eat at the outing. So rather than bringing the whole jar of mayonnaise, put some in a small, plastic container and keep it in the cooler.

Here are some tips for a fun picnic:

Packing:

- Pack an old sheet that can be spread on the ground or used as a tablecloth.
- Bring a container of wet towelettes for quick clean-up of hands. This is especially important if you're handling raw meats.
- A pocket knife does many jobs from opening packages, to cutting and slicing meats and cheeses.
- Rather than choose napkins that blow away in the wind, bring a roll of paper towels.
- Select serving dishes and containers for your prepared dishes that fit easily inside your cooler. Recently after preparing a number of dishes for a family reunion we discovered that none of the containers we had stored our food in fit inside any of our several coolers.
- Purchased plastic cooler blocks or bags can be stored in the freezer, always ready for an outing. These keep food dry and they stay cold loner than ice. Purchase these in several sizes and they will allow you to manipulate the space inside your cooler.
- Don't forget a garbage bag.

Grilling:

- Start the fire well in advance and be sure it is hot enough.
- Assemble the right tools. For most menu items, a long-handled spatula, tongs and a fork should be all you need.
- Cut the food into manageable pieces for the most thorough and fastest grilling and handling.
- Use separate plates for raw and cooked foods – especially meat, fish and poultry. Never mix raw and cooked foods on the same dish.
- Grill fish with skin side up first to be sure it gets thoroughly cooked.
- Remember that grilling with charcoal or wood is an inexact procedure. Be flexible and don't worry if the fire dictates that you eat earlier or later than planned.

Menu:

When we think of outdoor dining, the first foods that come to mind are usually hot dogs and hamburgers. Unfortunately, both can be high in fat and calories. Hot dogs are also

TUNA STROLLERS

- 6 Lavash loaves
- 12 ounce can water-packed chunk light tuna
- 6 lettuce leaves, ridge removed
- 1 tomato, cut into 6 slices, and then each slice into thirds
- Cucumber-dill dressing (recipe follows)

To assemble sandwich:

Lay out the lavash (may substitute a flour tortilla, or pita). Place all ingredients in a line from top to bottom, just slightly to one side of center. Place on the lavash in this order: the lettuce, followed by tuna salad, tomato, cucumber, pepper, onion, sprouts, etc. as desired.

When all the ingredients are in place, roll the lavash from the smaller side, tucking it as you do and roll it to the larger side. When rolled place it diagonally on a square of waxed paper and roll it up in the paper. Twist both ends to hold the sandwich securely. Place in sealed plastic bags. Chill, and keep cold until time to eat. To serve, cut each roll-up in half diagonally. Leave extra sandwiches in the cooler until ready to cut and serve. To eat, peel back the paper. Serves 6.

CUCUMBER-DILL DRESSING

- 1/3 cup plain nonfat yogurt
- 1/8 cup nonfat mayonnaise
- 1/4 cup diced cucumber
- 1 teaspoon minced fresh onion
- 1/4 teaspoon fresh dill

Mix all ingredients well. Cover and chill 30 minutes. Makes about 3/4 cup dressing. Stir into tuna just before assembling roll-ups.

TURKEY STROLLERS

- 6 Lavash loaves
- 1/2 pound baked turkey breast, shaved
- 6 lettuce leaves, ridge removed
- 1 tomato, cut into 6 slices, and then each slice into thirds
- 12 cucumber slices, halved
- 1/4 red pepper, cut into 12 slices lengthwise
- 2 green onions, finely sliced, lengthwise
- 1/4 cup alfalfa sprouts
- Cucumber Dill Spread (recipe follows)

To assemble sandwich:

Lay out the lavash (may substitute a flour tortilla, or a pita). Place all ingredients in a line from top to bottom, just slightly to one side of center. Place on the lavash in this order: the lettuce, followed by, turkey, tomato, cucumber, pepper, onion. Alongside the fillings spread approximately 2 tablespoons of dill spread from top to bottom.

When all the ingredients are in place, roll the lavash from the smaller side, tucking it as you do and roll it to the larger side. When rolled place it diagonally on a square of waxed paper and roll it up in the paper. Twist both ends to hold sandwich securely. Place in sealed plastic bags. Chill, and keep cold until time to eat. To serve, cut each roll-up in half diagonally. Leave extra sandwiches in the cooler until ready to cut and serve. To eat peel back the paper. Serves 6.

CUCUMBER DILL SPREAD

- 1 package (8 ounces) no-fat cream cheese, softened
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 2 teaspoons minced onion
- 1/2 teaspoon dill weed
- 1/4 teaspoon prepared horseradish
- Dash of hot pepper sauce
- 3/4 cup finely diced seeded cucumber

In a mixing bowl, beat cream cheese until smooth. Add lemon juice, onion, dill, horseradish and hot pepper sauce. Fold in cucumber.

Pack tasty lunches that can take the heat

BY PEGGY MARTINELLI-EVERTS
SPECIAL WRITER

When packing a lunch for your junior camper, food and nutrition and safety should be your two most important concerns, followed closely by "kid appeal." After all, it does no good to send a lunch that your child will pitch. But it's hard to create a nutritious meal when you know it will sit in the sun for several hours. If they can take a thermal lunch box, your eaters have put you one step ahead of the game. Add a water bottle filled with frozen juice or a frozen juice box and the sandwich, and other edibles will stay cold for hours. This may take some experimenting though. One of my friends' children recently came home complaining that the idea worked so well that he had no juice to drink at lunch – it was still frozen. To remedy this, his mom filled the bottle half-way with juice and froze it. In the morning she topped it off with more juice, and everything stayed cold (but not frozen) for lunch.

Here are a few ideas for nutritious lunches that hold up in the heat:

- Peanut butter tastes great when it is spread on chunks of celery. Just be sure to cut the celery into small-enough pieces so that chomping on the stringy membranes is not a concern.
- Pack a salami sandwich using frozen bread. By lunch time it will be ready to eat.
- Try a bagel with cream cheese. Accompany this with carrots and celery sticks and an apple or orange.
- You can freeze milk, too! Pack a water bottle 3/4 full with milk and freeze the night before.
- Go south of the border and try a Mexican quesadilla. Place a strip of white melting cheese (Muenster, Monterey Jack or mozzarella) in the middle of a flour tortilla. Fold it over and brown in a skillet sprayed with oil. Let the quesadillas cool and pack them in a sandwich bag. For variety you can add a little ham, pepperoni or other meat. If your kids like salsa, pack some on the side for dipping.
- Get creative with peanut butter sandwiches. Try peanut butter and honey or peanut butter and cream cheese. Cut the sandwiches into fun shapes with a cookie cutter.

Sample 'A Taste of History'

Baked Beef with Sippets of Bread, Grateful Pudding, Planked Shad, Molasses Hermits and Whoppie Pies are all on the menu July 18-21 as Henry Ford Museum & Greenfield Village in Dearborn serves up a "Taste of History," a celebration of historically-correct American dishes. Admission to Greenfield village is $12.50 adults, senior citizens, 62 and over, $11.50; children 5-12, $6.25 and children under 5 free. Call (313) 271-1620 for information. Directional signs are posted along I-75 and I-94, the Southfield Freeway, and Michigan Avenue.

During "Taste of History," visitors can watch foods being prepared in the historic homes at Greenfield Village. The chefs in these kitchens will prepare authentic recipes in the same manner as in the 1800s and 1900s; over a coal range, wood stove or open hearth. Visitors can then enjoy a "Taste of History" in a tent where, for a nominal fee, they can sample many of the foods prepared in the historic homes and kitchens.

very high in sodium. Instead, expand your horizons and get a little creative:

- Grill lean cuts such as sirloin, rib eye, top round, loin or skinless poultry or marinated fish.
- Prepare meat sandwiches with smoked turkey or lean ham, lean roast beef or turkey bologna.
- Bring along some meat or mixed salads to eat alone or between bread. Favorites include chicken, ham, shrimp, crab, tuna or turkey salad. Prepare them with the freshest ingredients, easy on the mayonnaise or salad dressing and mixed with finely chopped vegetables such as onion, peppers or celery.
- Fill up sandwich-size plastic bags or plastic bowls with nibble-size pieces of raw carrots, celery, zucchini, mushrooms, broccoli, cauliflower and cucumber. Small jars of baby dill pickles, stuffed olives and roasted peppers add variety and flavor to the meal.

THE DEVIL'S CHICKEN

- 1 4-pound chicken, split in half, backbone removed
- 1/2 cup dry white wine
- 1 medium onion, peeled
- 1 clove garlic
- 1 tablespoon cayenne pepper

Prepare chicken and place in a glass bowl. In a blender or food processor, combine wine, onion, garlic and cayenne and process until smooth. Pour over chicken and toss to coat. Place in the refrigerator, uncovered for at least 1 hour, preferably two. Prepare grill and place chicken halves on a hot grill, turning once after about 15 minutes of cooking time. Continue cooking until juices run clear. Serves 4.

INDONESIAN GRILLED FISH

- 1 pound swordfish steaks
- 2 teaspoons fresh grated ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon ground tumeric
- 1 teaspoon ground coriander
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- Juice of 2 limes (about 1/4 cup)

Combine ginger, tumeric, coriander and brown sugar and mix well. Rub over the swordfish steaks and grill as desired over a prepared grill. Just before serving, douse the fish with the juice of the fresh limes. Serves 4.

GRILLED STUFFED TOMATOES

- 2 cloves garlic, peeled and chopped fine
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
- 3 ripe but firm tomatoes, sliced in half horizontally
- Salt and fresh ground pepper to taste
- 1/2 cup seasoned bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup olive oil

Prepare a low charcoal fire or preheat a gas grill for 15 on low heat. Sprinkle the garlic and parsley on the tomatoes. Salt and pepper to taste. Sprinkle the bread crumbs on top and drizzle with the olive oil. Place the tomatoes, bread crumb side up on the grill and cook without turning until they are lightly browned on top, about 15 minutes. Serves 4.

GRILLED PORK CHOPS

- 1 cup olive oil
- 4 garlic cloves, peeled and finely minced
- 1 onion, peeled and finely chopped
- 1/4 cup fresh oregano, finely chopped
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 14-16 thin pork chops, cut about 1/4-inch thick

Mix the olive oil, garlic, onion and oregano in a bowl. Stir in salt and pepper and pour into a square glass dish. Dip both sides of the pork chops in this mixture and allow to marinate in it for at least 4 hours or overnight, covered, in the refrigerator. Remove the chops 15 minutes before grilling. Prepare a medium heat fire or preheat a gas grill to medium heat. Remove the chops from the marinade and discard the marinade. Place the chops on the grill. Cook, turning once, until golden brown with blackened grid marks, about 10 minutes. Serves 6.

Susan's Cap: This chapeau was designed by Susan Thomas to be an attractive cross between an engineer's cap and a baseball cap, to mask hair loss.

Special products aid special needs

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

This column is dedicated to the more than 1.5 million people in Michigan living with arthritis, and all women dealing with chemotherapy treatments... Special thanks to Karen MacDonald of the Taubman Company who did most of the legwork.

The Arthritis Foundation reports that causes of the disease, as well as cures, are still unknown. Most sufferers ease the pain with medication. However, there are also special products available to ease daily chores, too. And even more special products have been designed for people fighting cancer.

Preparing a meal can be less painful for those with arthritis if they use the correct implements. The Oxo Co. produces a line of "Good Grip" kitchen utensils that feature thick (about 1 1/2-inch in diameter) rubber-coated handles. Easy to hold, these peelers, parers, and utility knives have been recognized by the Arthritis Foundation and are available locally at Hudson's $4-$15.

To minimize stress on hand and finger joints, replace heavy ceramic mixing bowls with lightweight, plastic ones that can be lifted and carried easily.

Lechter's stores at Fairlane, Lakeside, Twelve Oaks and Oakland malls carry a varied selection.

Pick the personals

Those who have special requirements when buying clothes should make use of a Personal Shopper available at most of the area's department stores including Jacobson's, Lord & Taylor, Hudson's, Neiman Marcus, and Saks Fifth Avenue. Customers can call the store, describe the items sought, and make an appointment to see the merchandise assembled by the personal shopper. This free service can probably be requested from smaller shops, too.

Arthritis pain can be minimized by using joints in ways that avoid stress. Using a long-handled shoe horn to put on footwear can lessen stress on back muscles. The Town Cobbler at Briarwood in Ann Arbor carries a shoe horn with a handle that is almost two-feet long, $8. The store also carries elastic shoe laces that stretch to make ordinary shoes easier to slip on and off.

The laces come in black and brown, $4.

Up with smart tools

An umbrella that opens and closes with the touch of a button can make a rainy day less gloomy. Brookstone stores at Fairlane, Lakeside and Somerset Collection feature one for $25. Brookstone also sells ergonomic gardening tools made of die-cast aluminum with a trigger-grip handle to provide extra leverage and prevent hand fatigue. A set is $25.

The Touch Lamp Light control by Archer, virtually eliminates groping for light switches. Connected to a wall socket and a floor or table lamp, this device turns a light on or off with a simple touch to any part of the lamp. Radio Shack stocks the item for $30.

The Easy Dial Memory Phone at Sears stores offers extra large key pads, one-touch telephone dialing for eight phone numbers, handset volume control, and an extra loud ringer control. It's hearing aid compatible, too, $30.

Natural Wonders offers "The Sensa Pen" for $45-$125. This pen made of chrome or copper, has a thick barrel that is encircled by a rubber cushion near the pen point. Store manager Tina Maddox, reported that "people love the pen, because the rubber cushion molds to the shape of your finger and the weight of the pen is distributed so that the point is heavier, making it easy to hold. The pen is lightweight to begin with."

Shop Natural Wonders at Lakeside, Briarwood, Fairlane, Lakeside, Twelve Oaks and the Somerset Collection.

For other ways to cope with arthritis, contact the Arthritis Foundation 1-800-283-7800.

Coping with cancer

Susan Thomas' products were created after a personal battle with breast cancer. They include turbans, totes and fanny packs to hold post operative necessities like drainage tubes. Thomas of Birmingham, sells her products through specialty boutiques like The Women's Health Center, Southfield; Annette's Unique Boutique, Troy; The Bobette Shop, Waterford; Feke Wigs Dearborn Heights; The London Room, Farmington; Roxie's Salon, West Bloomfield.

To order items direct call 1-800-497-7005. A portion of the sales go to the Medical Oncology Fund at Grace Hospital.

Custom family cookbooks should keep comfort foods warm for generations

BY SALLY TATO
STAFF WRITER

In her kitchen, stacks of them stuff a built-in shelf near her stove and spare room is becoming sparse.

But she hopes she can still cram a few more in before she has to remove part of the batch...Yvette Paletta is a cookbook junkie.

So much so that the Orchard Lake resident started her own personalized cookbook business two years ago. "It feeds my addiction," said Paletta who has collected cookbooks for 10 years.

Newly wed in 1992, Paletta said she suddenly realized that she had a husband to cook for but none of the family recipes. So she called her mom in Florida everyday, fervently copying down recipes for dinner that night and for future use. Then it hit her.

"I thought, 'You know I'm going to put together my own little book," she said. So she collected some family favorites, pieced them together with anecdotes and quotes, then passed them out to 11 of her sister-in-laws. It was then that she cooked up the idea of starting her own business.

"I call it Personal Touch Cookbooks because I'll give it a personal touch and work with my clients," she said. "It enables me to apply my own knowledge and creativity."

Using her personal computer, printer, scanner, laminator and binding machine, Paletta combines style information and recipes submitted by her clients into an 8 1/2-by-5 1/2 inch vanity-sized cookbook.

Unlike traditional community cookbooks though, Paletta doesn't stack recipes. She's adamant about having only one recipe per page and ending each with a quote.

And with a low minimum order requirement of 10 books, Paletta says she can be more flexible with her clients' needs. "You can do this for ladies' clubs, girlfriends, birthday presents and Christmas or Hanukkah presents," she said. "It's a wonderful gift."

And not everyone has to be Julia Child to appreciate it.

"Even if the person isn't a cook, it's a keepsake," Paletta said. "Everybody has really treasured family recipes and this is a way of preserving them."

Fran Bertin knows the importance of that. Her son Brian sold personalized cookbooks as part of his senior fund-raiser at St. Mary's Preparatory school in Orchard Lake this year.

"We requested recipes from parents of all the students," said Bertin of White Lake Township. "We included the name of the recipe, and the name of the parents and students and the graduation date. We were very excited with the outcome. I think Yvette's presentation was attractive. It was eye-catching. It was in the school colors and had a picture of the school on it."

A 1980 graduate of the University of Michigan, Paletta dabbled in broadcast advertising before taking a job in the field of computers. Now she uses her skills in her own business.

"I took the creativity I learned in advertising and combined it with my computer skills," she said. "You need a producer for this and that is me." And although Paletta has done work for fund-raisers, she hopes to tap into the individual consumer market.

"I'm trying to get away from fund-raisers. I can compete with the product but not the (bulk) price," she said.

Personal Touch Cookbook rates and completion times vary. For cookbooks 30 pages or less, prices are $25 for the first book and $8.50 for each additional copy. Books 31-50 pages are $35 for the first copy and $9.50 for each additional copy. Fund-raiser rates are quoted separately and individually.

Paletta is currently taking orders for the December holiday season. "Food is the epicenter of our lives. So why not capture it?" she said.

For additional information contact Paletta at (810) 682-5013.

Custom cookbooks: Yvette Paletta of Orchard Lake, places for posterity, your favorite family recipes. Her formula for a homespun cookbook combines quotes and quips on the culinary.

Area boxer holds his ground

Nate Shelton, a Westland boxer, stirred the fight crowd as he came from behind to win Friday.

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

The Golden Gloves International Boxing Festival was a little short on the foreign competition and bouts Friday night at the Farmington Hills Ice Arena.

But the event still provided some ringside thrills for the fighters and audience of 150 spectators.

The Canadian team failed to show, which reduced the number of bouts to five, but the only Observerland entry -- Nate Shelton of Westland -- was among the winners.

Shelton won a split decision over taller, heavier, older Ray Roza of Dearborn Sports and Fitness in a super heavyweight contest.

At 6-foot and 225 pounds, the 1996 graduate of Livonia Franklin High School looked overmatched against Roza, a Jerry Cooney clone at 6-6 and 245.

That seemed especially the case when Roza started the bout with a flurry of solid punches and had Shelton covering his head and backing into the rope.

"Everybody was telling me he was just a boxer," Shelton said. "But he came out brawling. He stunned me early, but I knew I'd get him later. I stopped boxing with him and started banging with him."

After nearly being KOed by Roza's longer reach in the first round, Shelton hung in and made a slow but steady comeback until he had turned the fight in his favor.

Eventually, his persistence and perseverance had the crowd, which seemed ready to write him off in the first round, cheering for him by the third.

Shelton, who trains at the Motor City Boxing Club in Detroit and has a 3-4 record, changed his strategy and actually took the fight to Roza, moving in close to nullify his opponent's longer punches.

By the third round, Roza had clearly tired and took a standing 10-second count himself just before the bout ended.

"I had shorter arms, so I had to throw upper cuts and try to smother his punches," Shelton said. "That's why I had to start banging and get under his punches.

"I had to try beating him at his own game. I knew he would hit hard, but he didn't scare me; I've faced bigger."

Rice leads DCI to 7-6 win over Caesars

BASEBALL

Jason Rice was a one-man wrecking crew Wednesday, leading second-place Decision Consultants, Inc. to a 7-6 Livonia Collegiate Baseball League victory over Little Caesars in a game played a Ford Field.

The catcher from Michigan State and Northville High went 3-for-3, including a pair of triples and two RBI.

Rice tripled in the bottom of the second inning and came home on a throwing error on an attempted pick-off of teammate Matt Mylnarek.

In the third inning, Greg Ryan singled, advanced to second on an error and eventually scored on Rice's RBI single.

Caesars scored three times in the top of the fourth to gain a brief 3-2 advantage.

Jay Harrington reached base on an outfield error and Kevin Uzarski singled. Both runners scored on a two-run double by Aaron Babicz, the former Redford Catholic Central High and now gridder at Hillsdale College. Catcher Aaron Cagnon (Wayne Memorial/Central Michigan), then singled in Babicz.

Cagnon went 3-for-4 with two RBI.

DCI tied it in the bottom half of the inning when Ryan singled in Eric Marcott (Plymouth Canton/Madonna University).

Caesars regained the lead in the fifth by scoring three times.

Jason Schniers (Livonia Franklin/Henry Ford CC), just back from Alaska, walked, stole second, advanced to third on a fielders choice and scored on a double steal with Jay Harrington, who had singled.

Babicz then walked, Aaron Racey (Livonia Stevenson) reached base on an error and Cagnon followed with a single to make it 6-5 in the fifth.

But in the bottom of the sixth, Ryan doubled and Rice tripled him home to knot the count at 6-all.

Three straight walks, including the third to Delano Voletti (Madonna), forced Rice home with the game-winner.

Joel Fabris, who shut down Caesars over the final two innings, got the victory. Steve Williams went 4 1/3 before giving way in the fifth to Mitch Jabczynski.

Kevin Uzarski, who gave up five earned runs and was the victim of four errors, took the loss. He gave up nine hits in 5 1/3 innings. Brian Cotner and Harrington each pitched 1/3 of an inning.

Falcon loss makes race tighter

Final-period goals by Mike Forbis and Dan Trainor transformed a defeat into victory for the Broncos Thursday, who edged the Wildcats 9-8 in a Metro Summer Hockey League game at Plymouth Cultural Center.

The win allowed the Broncos to stay just in front of the Spartans, whose upset win over the Bakes Conference-leading Falcons a night earlier had tied them - briefly - with the Broncos for first place in the Eagle Conference.

The Broncos improved to 5-2-0 with their win over the Wildcats, for 10 points. The Spartans are 4-1-0 for eight points.

Thursday's game was a seesaw affair, with the Broncos breaking on top, opening up a 6-1 lead after one period. Brian Consolino scored three goals and Bill Trainor added two more in the first-period surge.

But the 'Cats rallied. Four goals in the last five minutes of the second period, then two more in the first minute of the third, enabled them to turn a 7-2 deficit into an 8-7 lead.

Bob Nagy and Antoli Buliga each netted two of their three goals in the game in that time span, Nagy's goal with 14:19 left in the third tying it at 7-all and Buliga's score 11 seconds later putting the 'Cats ahead.

The lead didn't last long, however. Forbis scored 11 seconds after Buliga to re-tie the game at 8-8. Dan Trainor's game-winner came with 8:28 to go.

The Wildcats also got a goal and two assists from Joe Joseph, a goal and an assist from Bobby Davis, three assists from Grant Judd, and two assists from Andy Weidenbach. John Trainor was in goal all the way for the Broncos.

Tony Tuzzolino and Josh Wiegand each wreaked havoc on the Falcons, collecting three goals and two assists apiece, as the Spartans opened up a 4-0 lead after one period.

Goals by Dan Hunt and Brian Calka allowed the Falcons to narrow the gap to 4-2 in the second period, but a Wiegand goal to close the period and five unanswered scores by the Spartans in the third period led to the rout.

Brady Priest also scored twice for the Spartans, with Dane Esterline and Mike Schmidt adding one goals and two assists apiece. Jake Wiegand contributed two assists.

Robert Harrison was in goal for the Spartans, limiting the high-scoring Falcons to just two goals.

Fury tourney-title string at 4

SOCCER

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

The Farmington Fury, an under-14 boys soccer team, surpassed all expectations while achieving one victory after another during a highly successful season.

Coach Ron Meteyer's team won four consecutive tournaments, including the Wolverine at Schoolcraft College in its most recent triumph on the Fourth of July weekend.

"It'sdifficult to win one tournament," Meteyer said. "It's almost unheard of to win four in a row."

The Fury began its streak by winning in Canton (Ohio) last fall. Farmington won the Canton (Michigan) Invitational in May and the Findlay (Ohio) Tournament in June.

"We had lost tournamentsjust about every way we could," Meteyer said. "When we won the first one, we had said 'Enough of this business; we're going to win. We're going to have some fun' -- we saw the NFL Hall of Fame in Canton -- 'but let's really concentrate and focus on what we have to do, and we did.'"

The Fury will disband as its players go their respective ways to play for their high school teams and different club teams next season.

"When we won two, we said 'The string has to break sometime,'" Meteyer said. "When we won three, we thought 'Gosh, this can't go on.'

"It's probably just as well it's ending. I don't know how much longer we could keep this intensity level going. We'll see if it carries over to their high school season and the players continue it there."

The Fury players are Brian Buell, Jarret Kruse, Kyle Meteyer, Danny Mooney, Eric Phillips and Justin Street of Farmington Hills and North Farmington High School; Jon Kambouris and Aaron Scheidies of Farmington, Eric Kelley of Redford Union, Phil Lechowicz of Livonia Stevenson, Alan Mukhtar and Jim Young of Farmington Hills and Walled Lake Western, Samir Janveja of Bloomfield Hills and Detroit Country Day, Brian Guzowski (Detroit Catholic Central) and Kyle Price of Canton, Drew Carroll and Greg Braziunas (CC) of Novi.

The Fury, a premier team in Little Caesars Division III, won its last three games in the Wolverine after tying the Dearborn Heights Pirates 1-1 in the opener Friday.

Mukhtar took a cross from Sreet to give Farmington a 1-0 in the first game following a scoreless first half.

The Pirates had only two shots on goal, but one was all they needed. On an east-west field in the late evening sun, the Fury players lost sight of an airborne ball long enough for the Pirates to capitalize.

Despite that goal, defenders Young, Meteyer, Guzowski, Kelley and Kruse played a big role in holding down the Dearborn Heights attack, according to coach Meteyer.

"Wehadn't faced a situation where we lost or tied the first game," he said, adding the Fury was challenged to come back and win the rest of its games.

Farmington rebounded with a 7-0 victory over the Windsor Caboto Vipers on Saturday.

Kambouris and Street scored two goals apiece; Price, Guzowski and Phillips accounted for one each. Janveja and Mukhtar assisted on two scoring plays each, Lechowicz, Mooney and Carroll one.

The Fury won its pool-play title Saturday with a 5-1 defeat of Jersy Dean from Sault Ste. Marie (Ontario), which failed to stop Farmington despite employing a good offsides trap.

"We put our fastest men on the side, and that was their weakness," Meteyer said.

Lechowicz convereted a penalty kick for the first goal. Jersy Deantied thescore, but Janveja made it 2-1 at halftime. Janveja scored two more in the second half and Mukhtar one. Mukhtar also had two assists.

The Fury faced Jersy Dean again in the final and won 5-1. The Canadian team tried to double team Janveja early in the game and got an emotional life early in the when Janveja was stopped on a penalty kick.

"We beat Dean the first day because of strong midfield play," Meteyer said. "This time we elief on our defense. Every time they entered our half of the field, thedefense stoppedthe ball.

The Fury broke a 1-1 halftime tie with second-half gols by Phillips, Mukhtar, Street and Janveja.

"In the second half, the defense waskeeping the ball out of our end, but Buell had to make a couple of great saves."

A wrist aid could help

TEN PIN ALLEY

AL HARRISON

Everybody wants to improve his/her game. Some will read books on bowling; others might watch videotape, and some will even go out and have professional lessons.

Regardless of how they do it, if anyone can step up his/her average a few notches, it's worth the time, effort and expense.

Of course, it's the good old summertime now, and that means it's also the ideal time to try out something new. The simple solution for many bowlers' problems might be in the wrist.

There are many wrist devices on the market, and a visit to any of the local pro shops will reveal a huge choice of products designed to enhance the delivery in one way or another.

Mark Moore of DiLaura Brothers, who supplies just abut every type of wrist device to the pro shops, says, "If you can throw a good ball without one, then don't even try it. If you don't get a good roll, or have trouble with the release, a good wrist device could definitely help."

And, of course, there is the obvious reason. A weak or sore wrist would benefit from the right type of device.

A wrist support might be hard to get accustomed to at first, and that's why the summertime is perfect for trying out something different.

The following list is based on many of the more popular types available in the shops.

Pro Release is a fully adjustable device, which offers a wide choice of positions and a lot of support.

Team Cobra has three models: Scorpion II, Eagle II and Cobra II. The latter two are for more advanced bowlers. They remove quickly (the preferred way for shooting some spares) and create a very good roll. The new series (II) features an adjustable power dial.

Robby's and Robby's Plus help support the back of the wrist. They help get you to the proper release point for more roll.

The Gladiator firms up the wrist for a more powerful roll. Master Products has several wrist devices from the simple velcro-wrap Master Wrister, which will help a weak wrist, to the Deluxe Glove, designed to grip the ball better.

The Master Wrist Mate provides additional support for the fingers, giving more lift. Ebonite has a variety of wrist devices, some of which look identical to the Cobra line, and a few different gloves for extra support at the wrist.

Columbia 300 has a SMS Force Ten-Plus wrist-wrap device to support a weak wrist and help prevent problems such as tendinitis and Carpal Tunnel Syndrome.

Pro Band Sports has the Bandit. It's not used on the wrist but just below the elbow, which relieves the aforementioned symptoms while helping to protect against the same ailments.

"I recommend a wrist device to many bowlers who have trouble keeping a firm wrist or good release," said Mary Mohacsi, owner of the Right Approach Pro Shop.

She has all kinds of demos available, so a person can come into the shop and try it out right there on the lanes and get an idea which kind is right for them. The shop is located in Merri Bowl Lanes on Five Mile and Merriman in Livonia.

Many of the pro shops around town have demos available. That makes it possible to try out a few of these to see if they are right for you. Or, as Uncle Ed always said, "Try it, you'll like it."

Young kids, big rewards

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Lou Pirronello decided to coach a 10-under baseball team this summer instead of the 17 and 18-year old team he's had the last several years.

What Pirronello is finding is coaching kids nearly half as old can be twice as rewarding.

Not that Pirronello, a Livonia resident, didn't enjoy some of his past teams, which have always played under the sponsorship of his company Concealed Security Systems. In fact, last year's Concealed Security team won a regional and advanced all the way to the Connie Mack World Series in Farmington, N.M.

But he's finding his new endeavor to be more rewarding, knowing that 9 and 10 year olds are very impressionable. Pirronello's youngsters have been quick learners, celebrating the Fourth of July weekend with a championship at the DeDonatis Firecracker Classic at Halmich Park in Warren.

The Concealed Security Dodgers are 28-9 overall and tied for first place with North Farmington West Bloomfield in the Little Caesars Baseball Federation League with a 14-3 record.

"Not to take anything away from Connie Mack baseball or coaching experiences at Farmington High and Madonna University, because there are many fond memories and good friendships there, but coaching my son Mark and the other 10 year olds on this team is much more enjoyable than I ever expected," Pirronello said. "The determination and extra effort these little guys give is amazing. They always give 100 percent, run everything out, they dive for balls they can't reach and root loud for their teammates. They are fun to watch. It's baseball in its purest form."

Because most of Pirronello's players only previous experience has been in house leagues, where leadoffs, bunting and steals are not allowed at such a young age, it was important to get ready for the season before going outdoors.

Pirronello picked his team from indoor tryouts during the winter when teaching fundamentals and basic baseball rules were as important as selecting talent.

This was another difference from coaching Connie Mack players, who spent their off-season dealing with their high school coaches.

"Not only did we break down the mechanics of fielding, throwing and hitting, but we had to teach them how to lead off, steal a base and how to hold runners on base," Pirronello said. "It all seems worth it now because they have learned so much in just one season. Truthfully, the 10 year old is much easier to instruct and correct than the 18 year old. Any bad habits they have are easy to remove."

Making the all-tournament team at last week's tournament were Brian Dutton (Redford), Shaun Murray (Redford), C.T. Rigley (Redford), Kyle Miller (Farmington Hills), Anthony Volpe (Farmington) and Jason Krug (Redford).

The Dodgers beat Dublin, Ohio, 9-1, in the championship game behind the one-hit pitching of Krug, a recent addition to the team. Krug finished out his commitment with his house league team in Redford before joining Concealed Security.

He had six strikeouts and one walk before suffering a sprained ankle running out a grounder to first base. Miller pitched the final inning.

Murray and Dutton each went 2-for-3 to lead the Dodgers. Volpe had two RBI while going 1-2.

The most suspense took place in the semifinals, where the Dodgers beat Tri-County, 6-5. Tri-County brought a 40-2 record into the tournament.

The Dodgers broke a 5-5 tie in the bottom of the sixth. Dutton struck out, but the catcher dropped the pitch and Dutton advanced all the way to third when the throw to first base from the catcher went into right field.

Krug's single just inside the line scored Dutton with the winning run.

Defense is what helped Concealed set up the winning rally.

Tri-County loaded the bases on a pair of singles and a walk with no outs in the top of the sixth. But a line shot was caught by Andrew Soley (Farmington) at second base and he threw to first baseman Greg Hocking (Farmington) to complete a double play. The next batter struck out to end the threat.

In the fifth, Tri-County loaded the bases against Rigley, who bore down and got the next two batters on strikes to end that threat without a run scoring.

The Dodgers received RBI doubles from Krug and Dutton and an RBI single by Volpe.

The Dodgers advanced to the playoff round after finishing pool play with a 3-1 record.

They started with a 12-1 four-inning mercy win over the Rochester Yankees. Krug was the winning pitcher with a three hitter. Miller was 3-4 with three RBI and Rigley was 2-4 with one RBI.

A 3-to-1 choice

CC's Smiley likes versatility offered in lacrosse

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

■ LACROSSE

If you thought recent Redford Catholic Central graduate Mike Smiley was aggressive on the football field, you should see him with a lacrosse stick in his hand.

Smiley, an all-state defensive end for the Class AA state-champion CC football team, outdid himself in lacrosse.

Smiley was one of four Michigan players named to the United States Lacrosse Coaches Association All-American team. Also earning mention were Birmingham Brother Rice's Jeremy Metz, Birmingham Seaholm's Jordan Herrick and Troy Athens' Dustin Lesley.

Smiley is headed to Michigan State University, where he will join the lacrosse team and spend the fall months watching the football team from the stands.

Football has become his second-favorite sport behind lacrosse, which will eventually help pay for his education at MSU. Most of the scholarship money for lacrosse players is divided up among the juniors and seniors on the MSU roster.

"Lacrosse is like three sports in one," said Smiley, a 3.0 student who scored 23 on the ACT test. "It's like football because of the aggression, soccer because of the running and hockey because of the skilled positions."

The Livonia resident anchored the Shamrocks' defense, generally regarded as the best in the state. Also playing in front of goalkeeper Bryan Jeffords on the back line of defense were seniors Tom Valenti and Nick Lachapelle.

The defensive-minded Shamrocks finished the 1996 season with a 17-3 record, losing in the Division I state championship game to Birmingham Brother Rice.

Smiley and Jeffords each made the Division I all-state first team and were joined by teammates Dan McClellan, a junior attacker, Steve Mondry, a senior midfielder, and Nick Kaleniecki, a junior defensive midfielder.

Earning second-team honors were Tom Smiley, a senior midfielder and Mike's twin brother, and Valenti, who will play at the University of Pennsylvania.

As a football player, Smiley recorded 70 tackles, including five sacks, and opened holes on the offensive line for the Shamrocks' rushing attack.

Using a stick as well as his hands and quick feet made him even more effective in lacrosse .

"He is very physical and has a great stick," said CC coach Scott Tynan, the Division I all-state Coach of the Year. "With him, it was like having another coach on the field."

Smiley didn't begin playing organized lacrosse until his freshman year at CC, but he and his twin brother were introduced to the sport at an early age. Their older brother Jim and cousins Mark and Jeff Schwartz also played for the Shamrocks.

Smiley started for the junior varsity as a sophomore and was moved up to the varsity by the end of that year. He earned second team all-state honors as a junior when the Shamrocks stumbled to a 7-8 record.

The Smileys learned their trade with neighborhood friends Wollschlager and Joel Rioux (an honorable mention all-state selection from CC), which made them fortunate since lacrosse isn't the kind of sport that a whole neighborhood of children play.

When no one else is around, Mike said he practices by throwing the ball against the brick wall on the side of the house.

"Dad doesn't like it because I tear the bricks apart," Smiley said. "That's where I work on my off hand."

Smiley scored only one goal and had three assists this season.

The goal is easy to remember.

It came when the Shamrocks were enjoying a comfortable lead and just after Smiley had joined the lineup on the fly, as players do during line changes in ice hockey.

"I grabbed an attacker's stick off the sidelines, Woschlager told me to play attack, so I jumped in there and scored," Smiley recalled. "Coach joked that he found a new position for me, but he never did."

Defenders carry the largest sticks on the lacrosse field. Smiley said he has become more adept at handling a larger stick because of his familiarity with smaller sticks used by attackers.

"I used to play short stick during winter leagues because I didn't want to lug bigger sticks around," Smiley said.

Smiley recently returned from orientation at MSU. He enjoyed his official visit last winter, and was glad to know the Spartans are graduating three defenders.

"I wouldn't say they're exactly weak there, but things will open up, that's what I heard," Smiley said. "It's a good place to start off. I'm walking into a good position."

Smiley will join an MSU team that finished the 1996 season with an 8-4 overall record, including a 2-2 record in the Great Western Lacrosse League.

After starting the season with two losses, the Spartans reeled off seven-straight wins, including a 13-12 overtime victory over Rutgers.

Brian Rice, a 1993 CC graduate and Farmington Hills resident, contributed four goals in nine games.

Rice is the only CC product on the Spartans' roster this year.

"He told me they have a lot of kids from (Warren) DeLaSalle and Brother Rice and he's the only one from CC," Smiley said, knowing about the schools' rivalries in the Catholic League Central Division. "He said I've got to go up and give him help."

Kalnecki and McClellan should be the backbone of the Shamrocks' '97 team, expected to be stronger than this year's team.

"The season coming up is going to be phenomenal," said CC assistant coach Mark Schwartz, who played on the Shamrocks' only lacrosse state champion team in 1988. "We were midwest champs that year. We only have one (state title) and we're trying to get another (banner) up there."

Mold meld in sweeping a pair from Country Day

■ SOFTBALL

The one-two pitching punch of Jenny Sikora and Sarah Carson was again good enough to keep the Motor City Mold unbeaten against all competition in the Incredible Fastpitch Softball League.

Both pitchers hurled one-hitters as the Mold pummeled Detroit Country Day twice, 16-2 and 14-1, Thursday at Plymouth Canton HS.

Sikora walked five and struck out six in her one-hit win. Carson was equally effective, walking five and striking out two.

In the first-game win, Nikki Kovachevich led the offense by going 3-for-3 at the plate and driving in three runs. Amy LaGrow and Angela Litwin each had two hits and two RBI, and Amber LaGrow collected two hits and one RBI.

Sikora's bat paced the Mold in the second game. She went 4-for-4 and drove in four runs. Carson aided her own cause by collecting two hits and two RBI.

Tara Biro, Donna Logsdon, Melanie Mikosz and Liz Elsner each contributed two hits. Biro had three RBI, and Logsdon and Mikosz each chipped in with two.

The win pushed the Mold's record to 12-2 overall, 9-0 in the league.

goal, third-period surge enabled the Lakers to surpass the Bulldogs Wednesday at Plymouth.

Ron Pietila led the attack for the Lakers, getting two goals and two assists - one of each coming in the decisive third period. Dave Daavettila and Charlie Ciuffetelli each added a goal and an assist, and Mike Harris and Bobby Jones had a goal each. Keith Pietila chipped in with two assists.

The Bulldogs got two goals and two assists from Jack McCoy, and a goal and an assist apiece from Dustin Sventy and John Brodhun.

Shawn Miller and Rickey Marnon teammed in goal for the Lakers, with Miller blanking the Bulldogs over the last 7:13 of the second period and all of the third.

Sonoma stands out in a crowd

By Anne Fracassa
Avanti NewsFeatures

ROAD TEST By Anne Fracassa

"That's a pretty purple truck," my 4-year-old squealed when I brought home the 1996 GMC Sonoma. She sounded like her See-and-Say toy that introduces the color purple by yelling, "Mrs. Fox loves her purple truck."

You've got to have a pre-schooler to understand.

Anyway, the "radar purple" is really pretty. It certainly stands out in a crowd.

And as crowded as the small pickup vehicle class is, GMC wants the Sonoma to stand out from the competition. GMC promotes the Sonoma as a "no-apologies-necessary-get-out-of-my-way-I'm-coming-through" truck.

And get out of its way, you should. This is a no-nonsense truck that's built for serious work — and quite a bit of fun.

There are a lot of options to choose from, depending on how you plan to use this truck. It comes as a 2-door regular cab, 2-door club cab or in 2- or 4-wheel-drive. You also have a choice of two box lengths and three trim levels.

The Sonoma was first introduced in 1982 as a 2-wheel-drive model. The Insta-trac 4-wheel-drive was added a year later.

It was last redesigned and re-engineered during the 1994 model year, but this year, the Sonoma has a bunch of new features and refinements.

Most importantly, the club cab Sonoma has that nifty third door this year. It's an option, but certainly worth every penny. This one is a little different and I like it better: The third door is located at the rear of the driver's door, making it much more convenient than it had been.

The handle to the third door is recessed within the door and you've got to open the driver's door to access it. It opens up wide — actually 100 degrees — to give you plenty of access to the rear space in the truck. What a great option.

Also new this year on the Sonoma is a sportside box. Its 6-foot design can be chosen with regular and extended cabs and with either the 2- or 4-wheel-drive models.

The Sport Suspension system is also new for 1996 and GMC hopes it gives Sonoma a competitive advantage to people who want comfort. Sonoma is already the smoothest riding and most comfortable truck on the market.

The Sport Suspension system may make it the best handling as well. This system has a stiff structure, soft spring rates and high damping control to give it the handling feel of a sporty passenger vehicle. It's rounded out with frame reinforcements, gas-charged shock absorbers, fat tires, wide wheels and anti-roll bars in both the front and rear. There's even a rear-axle vibration damper to keep the Sonoma quiet on the road.

The base engine on the Sonoma is a 2.2-liter 4 cylinder that has cast aluminum cylinder heads. It's rated at 118 horsepower. Optional engines include a 175-horsepower V6 and a 180-horse V6. The 175 is standard on the 4-wheel-drive models.

I liked the 175-horse V6. It performed well during inclement weather and was outstanding on dry pavement. It accelerated and responded when you wanted it to and without so much as a whimper.

Another new feature on the Sonoma — and it's a first for any GM-built truck — is a lightweight two-part intake manifold design. As usual, the bottom half is cast aluminum, but the upper half of the manifold is made of molded composite material. The new composite material provides weight savings, thermal insulation, noise reduction and improved air flow. The distributor housing is also made of composite material.

Another plus: The Sonoma is perfect for anyone who hates car maintenance. It's got platinum-tipped spark plugs that can go 100,000 miles without changing, standardized hose sizes, a quieter cooling fan, long-life water pump bearing and coolant that doesn't have to be changed for five years or 100,000 miles.

The Sonoma is also outfitted with OBD II — second-generation on-board diagnostics. That means its easier to repair if service is ever needed.

Standard on the Sonoma is a brand new 5-speed manual transmission. Backlash has been reduced, as have shift effort and throw. The shift knob has also been moved downward an inch and a half and it's also been moved 5.4 inches to the rear, providing a lot more comfort.

Even on the base model — SL — the standard equipment list is long. Take a look: Brake/transmission interlock, daytime running lamps, driver's side air bag, dual mirrors, AM/FM stereo with digital clock, five 15-inch steel wheels (no temporary spare in this one), 4-wheel anti-lock brakes, intermittent wipers, tinted glass, side door beams and 7-wire trailering harness.

The Sonoma is a comfortable commute truck, can work hard when you want it to and can take you to the theater in style at the end of the day.

It's worth a look.

1996 GMC Sonoma
Vehicle class: Small pickup.
Power: 2.2-liter 4-cylinder engine.
Mileage range: 16 city / 27 highway.
